

GEORGE R.

GEORGE the Second by the Grace of God, King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. To all whom these Presents shall come, Greeting:

WHEREAS Our trusty and well-beloved Joseph Pote of Eton, in our County of Bucks, Bookseller, Citizen, and Stationer of London, has by his Petition humbly represented unto Us, that he hath with great Labour and Expence printed, and is now ready to publish, in one Volume in Quarto, a Book entitled, The History and Antiquities of Windsor Castle, and the Royal College and Chapel of St. George, with the Institution, Laws, and Ceremonies of the most noble Order of the Garter; also an Account of the Town and Corporation of Windsor, the Royal Apartments and Paintings therein, the Ceremonies of the Installation of a Knight of the Garter, with a Catalogue of the Knights Companions, and their several Stiles and Titles at large, from their Plates in St. George's Chapel; the Succession of the Deans and Prebends, the Monumental and Antient Inscriptions; with other Particulars not mentioned by any Author. The whole entirely new wrote, and illustrated with many Cuts. The said Petitioner also has farther humbly represented, that he is also printing a lesser Work on the same Subject, and extracted from the above History, in French and English, for the Use and Accommodation of Strangers, and other Persons, who visit this Royal Castle, entitled, Les Delices de Windsor, or a Description of Windsor Castle, and the Royal Apartments and Paintings therein, with a Description of St. George's Chapel, and other Particulars relating thereto deserving publick Notice. Both which Works the Petitioner apprehends will be of publick Utility and Advantage: And that the Right and Property in the said Books is solely in him the said Petitioner; and that he may enjoy the Fruits and Profits of his great Labour and Expence in publishing these two Works above mentioned, without the Lett, Hindrance, or Infringement of any other Person whatsoever; He therefore has most humbly prayed Us, to grant unto him, his Heirs, Executors, Administrators, and Assigns, Our Royal Licence and Privilege for the sole printing and publishing the said two Books severally above-named, for the Term of fourteen Years, strictly forbidding any Person to print the said two Books, or any Part thereof, without the Consent and Allowance of him the said Petitioner, his Heirs, Executors, Administrators, or Assigns, first had and obtained, under his, or their Hands and Seals: Also that We would prohibit and forbid the Importation, vending, or selling any Copy, or Copies, of either of the said Books, printed beyond the Seas, during the said Term of fourteen Years, and grant unto him this Our Royal Licence and Privilege, agreeable to the Laws of the Land and common Practice: We being willing to give all due Encouragement to these Undertakings, are graciously pleased to condescend to his Request, and We do therefore by these Presents, agreeable to the Statute in that Behalf made and provided, grant unto him the said Joseph Pote, his Heirs, Executors, Administrators, and Assigns, Our Licence for the sole printing and publishing of the said Works for the Term of fourteen Years, to be computed from the Date hereof, strictly forbidding all Our Subjects, within Our Kingdoms, or Dominions, to reprint, or abridge the same, either in the like, or in any size or manner whatsoever: or to import, buy, vend, utter, or distribute, any Copies thereof, reprinted beyond the Seas, during the aforesaid Term of fourteen Years, without the Consent or Approbation of the said Joseph Pote, his Heirs, Executors, Administrators, and Assigns, under their Hands and Seals, first had and obtained, as they will answer the contrary at their Peril, whereof the Commissioners, and other Officers of Our Customs, the Master, Wardens, and Company of Stationers are to take notice, that due Obedience may be rendered to Our Pleasure herein declared. Given at Our Court at St. James's, the Twentieth Day of April, 1749, in the Twenty-second Year of Our Reign.

P R E F A C E.

THE Writer of the following History has it not to plead, that he undertook this Work at the request of Friends, or so much as his own inclination, but can truly say his proper profession, at this time obliged him, to engage in an Undertaking, which has cost him no small trouble, and an expence he little dreamt of.

It is sometime since Mr. Mapletost, one of the Officers of St. George's Chapel, by a commendable diligence, had collected the several Monumental, and other Inscriptions in that Church: These, with some Extracts from Mr. Ashmole, relating to the College, and the Order of the Garter, were at first intended to be published, and Proposals were printed accordingly.

The favourable reception of the Proposals, and a due attention to the Subject, soon caused a Resolution to be taken to depart from this first purpose, and to compile entirely a new History of the several Particulars within this Royal Castle, and, as a necessary Introduction, to give an account also of the Town and Corporation of Windsor; and, as no Gentleman of sufficient leisure, or Inclination occurred, that would enter upon an undertaking of this nature, and it was too late to depart from the engagements to the

the Public, necessity, not choice, obliged the Bookseller to act himself, in the double capacity of Author and Printer.

However uncommon this may be, it is hoped no prejudice will arise on this declaration, it being with no small reluctance, that this History is not sent abroad Anonymus, but the consideration of several historical Facts herein asserted, contrary to opinions hitherto generally received, and many other particulars throughout the whole History, had rendered it impossible to remain a secret.

The Author is also sensible, at first sight this Work will appear under other disadvantages; and after Mr. Ashmole, and the more recent publication of the late Mr. Anstis, it may possibly be thought by many, nothing farther can be said relating to Windsor: Those Gentlemen have certainly deserved well of the Publick, by their diligent and industrious Collections, for the Advancement and Splendor of the most noble Order of the Garter, of which they were worthy Officers, and whoever treats on that Subject must be greatly obliged to their respective Performances, and in that part of the present History which relates to this most noble Order, they are frequently made use of, and acknowledged as the best Authority; but to the generality of Readers, and those, whom neither Office, or other Connection, does not require the most exact knowledge of every ceremonial of Honour relating to that Order, the Histories of those Gentlemen must appear too minute, and circumstantial, to be read with pleasure, and for the Information of those Readers particularly, the present History is intended.

Besides, Mr. Ashmole has been long since published, and Mr. Anstis is confined altogether to the most early times of the Order, and neither of those Gentlemen have any relation to many parts of the present History; and in that part wherein the Order of the Garter is particularly treated of, will be found many particulars, not before mentioned by those Gentlemen, or any other Writer: The Collection of the Titles at large especially, of the Knights Companions, from the Plates of their Arms, as they now stand ranged in the Choir of St. George's Chapel, has never yet been attempted, and this certainly is a most necessary and useful Memorial of Honour, of great importance to that noble Society, and of no small use use in History, insomuch that it is matter of wonder, an omission of the kind should so long remain, and these Plates escape the attention of Gentlemen, whose peculiar Profession leads them to do all honour to this most noble Order.

However unpleasant the task, no pains has been spared to render this Register of Honour exact, and to ascertain the Arms of those Knights, on whose Plates there are no Inscriptions: The like diligence has not been wanting in every other part of this Work; but to avoid a multiplicity of words, nothing farther will be added, and the Reader is recommended to the Table of Contents for the several particulars of this History, which must now speak for itself, and however executed, has, as is intimated before, been carried on at an expence and trouble, beyond measure, in proportion to the Proposals first printed*; and the care of the Writer has been, as far as his ability, or opportunity of information would admit, fully to explain each Subject, and notwithstanding the great variety, to omit nothing material, and at the same time not to insert, what to the generality of Readers, might be thought superfluous and unnecessary; and from this Endeavour at least, he hopes for a favourable construction of this Performance, and if no great errors are committed, an allowance for smaller failings.

The Reader will readily perceive to whom this History is indebted for the several Plates; in a particular manner the Printer holds himself obliged to those noble and worthy Personages, and acknowledges the favour of the several Subscribers.

* According to the Proposals, the whole Work was to be comprised in thirty Sheets, whereas the present History consists of threescore Sheets, besides the Cuts, and this accounts for the exceeding of time in the publication.

C H A P T E R I.

Of the TOWN and CORPORATION of WINDSOR.

 INDSOR is situated in Ripplefinere Hundred, at the East end of the County of Berks, on a rising hill on the banks of the River Thames, and has always had the additional term of New, to distinguish it from Old Windsor, a pleasant Village in the neighbourhood, and formerly of more note, for in the reign of William I. we read there were an hundred Houses, whereof twenty-two were exempt from Tax, out of the rest there went thirty Shillings.

Cambden rightly conjectures that the remarkable winding course or shore of the River here, gave rise to the name; being by the Saxons called Winslerhopa. From this place the new Town took its Name, and in ancient Writings was called Wyndleshora, by Leland Windelesore, and by contraction long since Windsor, and became famous in succeeding ages, by the favour and residence of our Princes; and being appointed the seat of the most noble Order of the Garter.

On the opposite side of the River to New Windsor, is Eton, in the County of Bucks; and by the conveniency of a timber Bridge, which admits of a ready communication, they indeed seem, but as one and the same Town.

The earliest authentick notice we have of Windsor, is from that instrument of donation which King Edward the Confessor made thereof, among other Lands, to the Monastery of St. Peter, at Westminster; wherein it is declared, that the King, (Monast. Angl. Tom. 1.) for the hope of eternal reward, the remission of all his sins, the sins of his Father, Mother, and all his Ancestors, to the praise of Almighty God, granted as an endowment and perpetual inheritance, to the use of the Monks there, that served God, Wyndleshora, (situate within, yet at the East point of the County of Berks) with all its appurtenances.

But it continued not long in their possession, for King William the Conqueror, the first year of his reign, being greatly enamoured of the pleasant situation of the place, and, (Ex præf. Rot. Cart. antiq.) for that it seemed exceeding profitable and commodious, because situate so near the Thames, the Wood fit for Game, and many other particulars lying there meet and necessary for Kings, yea a place very convenient for his reception; invited Eadwin the then Abbot, and the Monks, to accept in exchange for it Wokendun, in Craford Hundred, in the County of Essex; a Mansion called ferings, with all its Members and Hamlets, in Aerdcene Hundred, in the same County; together with fourteen Sokenmen and their Lands, and one Freeholder in Churestaple Hundred, who held one yard Land, belonging to the said Mansion, with three Houses in Colereastræ; and hereupon was it again returned to the Crown, where it hath ever since remained.

King William was no sooner in possession of Windsor, than he began to make this his residence for hunting, and for that purpose, early built a royal Seat or Castle on the summit of the hill; (for in the fourth year of his reign, Anno 1070, he kept his court, and ordered a Synod to be held here, at Whitsuntide.) This Castle, by Domesday Book, is said to contain half a Hide of Land, parcel of the Mannor of Clewer, a Village a mile West of Windsor. King William also designed the Parks, and and made large Forests for the chase, to the extent of many miles, and established strict Laws for the due keeping and preservation of Deer and other Game.

This Castle King Henry I. Son of King William fortified, and added many goodly buildings thereto; and to entertain himself with the pleasure thereof, did in the tenth year of his reign, summon all his Nobility thither, where he held his Whitsuntide, with great state and magnificence.

Shortly after, in a Charter of peace between King Stephen and Duke Henry (afterwards King Henry II.) this Castle is called Mota de Windesor, the Fortrefs of Windfor. Hugh de Pudsey, Bishop of Durham, and Earl of Northumberland, being appointed Regent of the Kingdom, Anno 1189. when King Richard I. went into the Holy Land, resided at Windfor, as a place of great strength. King Edward I. with his Queen Eleanor, took great delight in this royal Castle, and had four Children born here; and by the royal residence, and increase of Inhabitants, New Windfor became a considerable Town; Anno 1276, this Prince, in the fifth year of his reign, by Charter, declared Windfor a free Borough, and granted the Inhabitants several Privileges. This Charter is in the Bodleian Library at Oxon, among Mr. Dodsworth's MS. Collections, and is as follows;

EDWARDUS, Dei Gratia, &c. salutem: Sciatis quod concessimus pro nobis et heredibus nostris, quod villa nostra de Nova Windesore, de cetero liber Burgus sit, et quod probi homines nostri ejusdem Villæ, et eorum Heredes et Successores liberi Burgenses sint, et Gildam Mercatoriam habeant, et eisdem Libertatibus et liberis Consuetudinibus utantur in eodem Burgo, quibus alii Burgenses aliorum Burgorum nostrorum in Regno nostro rationabiliter usi sunt, et quod quieti sint de Theoloneo prestando in omnibus Burgis, et Villis, et Dominiis, per totum Regnum nostrum predictum, et quod habeant Porcos suos proprios de pannagio, quod dicitur Fencake, quietos in Burgo predicto. Et quod Justiciarii nostri in Comitatu Berks itinerantes, tam ad Communia Placita, quam ad Placita Forestarum, Itinera sua de cetero teneant in eodem Burgo. Et etiam quod Capitalis Gaola nostra ejusdem Comitatus sit in ipso Burgo liberatio dicte Gaole semper facienda ibidem. Quare volumus, et firmiter precipimus, &c. Hiis testibus, &c. Dat. per Manum nostram apud Windesore, 28 Die Maii, Anno Regni nostri quinto.

4 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Henry VI. Anno Regni 17<sup>o</sup> granted a Charter to this Burgh, wherein the above Charter of King Edward is literally inserted and confirmed. (Inter Arch. Villæ.) Also Anno Regni 23<sup>o</sup> he granted another Charter of Privileges. (Ibid.)

Edward IV. in the seventh year of his reign, granted a Charter to this Borough, in these Words; Concedimus Edmundo Pury nunc Majori, necnon Tho. Sherman et Willielmo Stephen Ballivis dictæ Villæ de Nova Windsor, et Burgensibus, et Inhabitantibus ejusdem Villæ, quod ipsi Burgenses, et Inhabitantes, (i. e. the Burgeses-Resident, that dwell in the Town) de Cætero sint in perpetuum unum Corpus in Re et Nomine, et Una Communitas perpetua Corporata de uno Majore et duobus Ballivis, ac Burgensibus ejusdem Villæ, ipsique Major Ballivi et Burgenses successionem habeant perpetuam, et quod ipsi Major Ballivi et Burgenses, et Successores sui per nomine Majoris, Ballivorum, et Burgensium de Nova Windsor placitare et implacitari, &c. And that these Burgeses were a select Number of the chief Inhabitants of the Town, it appears by the Town Books, in which the Transactions of the Burgh and Corporation have been noted, and from time to time set down.

These Burgeses at first were the King's Tenants, as appears by a former Charter of Edward IV. viz. Anno Regni 2<sup>o</sup> (Lit. Pat.) Sciatis, Quod cum Edwardus nuper Rex Angliæ primus post Conquestum, concesserit pro se et hæredibus suis, Quod Villa sua de Nova Windsor deinceps Liber Burgus esset, et quod probi homines sui ejusdem Villæ et eorum Hæredes, et Successores, Liberi Burgenses essent, et Gildam Mercatoriam haberent, &c.

Ann. 15<sup>o</sup> Henry VII. 23<sup>o</sup> Henry VIII. 3<sup>o</sup> Edward VI. Charters, or Grants of Privileges were granted to this Burgh. (Int. Arch. Villæ.) wherein the former Charters are confirmed, and in like manner it is granted, quod Liberi Burgenses essent, et Gildam Mercatoriam haberent, &c.

This Trading Gild, Fellowship, Community or Fraternity, with the Privileges belonging to it, was in those times, says Brady (Hist. of Burghs) the constitution of a Burgh, and was always a select Number, distributed into several Ranks and Orders: And the whole Fraternity or Fellowship, of the Gild of New Windsor, according to the antient usage and custom of the Town, is explained and confirmed by Charter of James I. 26<sup>o</sup> Aug. Anno Regni 1<sup>o</sup>. In this last Charter, the old Name of the Burgh or Corporation is continued, viz. the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgeses of New Windsor, &c. And twenty-eight, or

or not above thirty, of the best, and most worthy Inhabitants of the Burgh, are appointed to be the number of the Fraternity of the Guildhall of the Burgh, and to be the Common-Council of the Burgh, and assistant to the Mayor and Bayliffs of the same Burgh, in all matters and things touching the same. Of these twenty-eight or thirty Brethren, thirteen were to be called Fellows, or Benebers of the Guildhall; and of those thirteen, ten were to be called Aldermen, or chief Benchers, out of which the Mayor is to be chosen, and the two Bayliffs out of the Brethren of the Burgh.

Here says Brady (ut supra) is the mystery of the Community or Corporation unfolded; That it consists of a Mayor, two Bayliffs, and twenty-eight or thirty Brethren of the Guildhall, who were the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses, according to the antient usage and custom of the Town; and that this is the true meaning of the word Communitas, Community, or (as vulgarly translated) the Commonalty.

In the civil Wars in the reign of King Charles I. and the several usurpations of power that afterwards ensued, Windsor shared the common fate of the Nation, both as a Corporation, and Royal Seat; the antient Charters and Privileges of the former, were little regarded, but made subject to the will and construction of lawless Power; and the latter, from being the glory and delight of Princes, became the Prison of its Royal Sovereign; the royal Apartments, and antient Chapel, subject to the rapine and plunder of avaritious and furious Men, at a time, when hypocrisy and mad zeal passed for Religion, and general devastation was deemed a Publick Good.

On the happy Restoration of the Royal Family, and the Kingdom to its antient Order, and uniform Government, King Charles II. Feb. 9. Anno Regni 16<sup>o</sup> granted the Corporation a New Charter, and therein confirmed all the antient Charters, Rights, and Privileges of the Burgh, by the name of the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses of Windsor, as follows, (Ex Archivis Villæ.)

Insuper volumus ac per presentes ordinamus, et de uberiori gratia nostra speciali pro nobis hereditibus et successoribus nostris concedimus et confirmamus, prefato Majori Ballivis et Burgenfibus et successoribus suis quod in perpetuum sint et erint in Burgo predicto viginti octo homines vel aliquis alius numerus, non excedens numerum triginta in numero, tantum de melioribus et probioribus Inhabitantibus ejusdem Burgi de tempore in tempus in hujusmodi

Et ulterius voluimus ac per presentes pro nobis heredibus et successoribus nostris ordinamus quod de cetero in perpetuum sint et erunt in Burgo predicto duo Ballivi in numero tantum de fratribus Burgi predicti in forma his literis Patentibus specificata eligendi, et constituendi, &c.*

King

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 7

King James II. in the first year of his Reign, gave this Town a new Charter, more agreeable to the temper and disposition of that mistaken Prince; but upon the happy Revolution, this Charter was repealed, and the Borough established in its antient Privileges, agreeable to this last Charter of King Charles II.

By these several Charters of our Princes, the Town and Corporation of Windsor have long had, and enjoyed divers Liberties, Franchises, Immunities, and Pre-eminences; as also by prescription and custom, the principal of which at this day used and enjoyed are; that “ There shall and may be, twenty-eight Men in number, or any “ other number not exceeding thirty, to be elected and constituted out “ of the better and more substantial Inhabitants of the said Borough, and “ to be called Brethren of the said Guildhall of the said Borough; thirteen “ of the said twenty-eight or thirty Brethren to be called Benchers, and “ ten of those Benchers to be called and stiled Aldermen, and out of “ the number of these ten Aldermen, one to be yearly chosen Mayor,

“ or chief Magistrate of the said Borough; and when his said Office
“ of Mayor is finished, he is to remain and be one of the Aldermen, or “ Chief Benchers, till such times as he is chosen Mayor again, which “ often happens, &c.

“ There are likewise two Bayliffs to be chosen out of the younger “ Brethren yearly by the Mayor and Aldermen.

“ The Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses, are to chuse one eminent and “ discreet Man, to be the Capital, or High Steward; and also one other “ discreet and learned Man, to be the Under Steward, and Common Clerk “ of the said Borough: And also have power to make By-Laws, Rules,
“ and Ordinances, for the more due, and better Government of the said “ Borough, &c.

“ The Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses, to have and hold within the “ said Borough, one Court of Record, every Monday, in every Week, “ before the Mayor, Aldermen, Bayliffs, and Under Steward; or at least “ three or more of them, of whom the Mayor to be one. This “ Court may hold all manner of Pleas, Actions, Suits, and Demands, “ as well personal as mixt; of all manner of Trespasses, by Force of “ Arms, and all other Trespasses; and of all manner of Debts, Pleas “ upon Case, Deceits, Accounts, Debt upon Covenant, detaining of “ Charters, Writings and Immunities, and Chattels; of taking and “ detaining

8 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

“ detaining Beasts and Cattle, and all other Contracts whatsoever; and
 “ of all Causes, and Things emerging, or hereafter happening to “ emerge within the said Borough, the Suburbs, Liberties, and Pre“ cincts thereof; altho’ the said Trespasses, Debts, Accounts, Cove“ nants, Deceits, Detentions, or other Contracts, do amount, or do “ not amount to, or do exceed the sum or value of forty Shillings;
 “ and that such Pleas, Complaints, Suits, and Actions, shall be there heard
 “ and determined before the Mayor, Aldermen, and Bayliffs, &c. or “ any three or more of them, of whom the said Mayor for the time “ being must be one.

“ The said Mayor, Aldermen, Bayliffs, and Under Steward, or any “ three of them, the Mayor always to be one, may in open Court, no“ minate and appoint, as many discreet and fit Men to be Attornies to “ attend the Court of Record, as shall seem reasonable to the said “ Mayor, Aldermen, &c. so that the number do not exceed four.

“ There are two Justices of the Peace for the said Borough, the Mayor “ being always one, during the time of his Mayoralty, and the other is “ either one of the Aldermen, or the Under Steward, nominated year“ ly by the Younger Brethren, and elected by the Aldermen and Benchers;
 “ and the said Justices have power to hold Sessions, in the same man“ ner and form as all other Justices in the Kingdom.

“ The Mayor is likewise Clerk of the Market, in such manner, that
 “ the Clerk of his Majesty’s Household, shall in no wise concern himself “ with the Assize of Bread, Wine, or Ale, &c. within the said Bo“ rough, or Precincts thereof; nor shall he presume to enter the said “ Borough to execute any thing relating to his Office.

“ There is likewise granted by the said several Kings of England
 “ and Great Britain, to the said Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses, a power
 “ to have a Market on Saturday, in every Week throughout the whole “ Year; and also three Fairs yearly, the first begins at the Feast of St.
 “ John the Baptist, the second at the Feast of St. Edward, which is a “ fortnight after the Feast of St. Michael, and the third on Tuesday in “ Easter-week; and each Fair continues two Days, that is, the Day of “ each Feast, and the Day after; and the said Mayor, &c. have power
 “ to hold a Court of Pye Powder, during the said Fairs, to determine “ any Differences, or Disturbances which may happen in the said “ Fairs, between the Merchants and Tradesmen, &c. together with all “ Tolls,

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 9

"Tolls, Stallage, Pickage, Fines, and Amerciaments belonging to the said Fairs, &c.

"The Mayor is Coroner of the Burgh, and has power to summon Juries, take Inquest, and to execute in all Cases, the office of Coroner within the said Borough and Liberties; and the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses, have likewise power to erect a Gaol, and the Bayliffs of the Borough are the Keepers of the said Gaol, who have return of all Writs of Affize, as of all other, and all manner of Writs, Bills, and Warrants, &c. of the King's Majesty; and all Summons, Estreats, and Precepts, &c. of the Exchequer; and the Estreats, and Precepts of the Justice in Eyre; as well Pleas of the Forest, as Common Pleas, of other Justices whatsoever; and also of Attachments, as well of Pleas of the Crown as others, in the said Borough, Suburbs, and Precincts thereof; and the execution of them is to be made by the said Bayliffs for the Time being: So that no Sheriff, Under-Sheriff, or other Minister belonging to the Crown, shall enter into the said Borough, Suburbs, or Precincts thereof, to do any thing or things relating to their Office, or Offices, unless in default of the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses, &c."

The said Mayor, &c. pay into the Receipt of his Majesty's Exchequer (or to those to whom it is granted) 10 l. per Annum, for all their lawful Privileges, Franchises, Immunities, Quittances, Executions, and Jurisdctions, they formerly, and at present enjoy by any Incorporation, or any lawful Custom or Prescription to them and their Heirs for ever.

The Corporation also, pays annually to the Crown, the Sum of 4 l. 5 s. 3 d. farthing, a Quit Rent for the Manour of Underoar, or Underour, which they hold by Charter of King Charles II. including all and singular the Messuages, Mills, Houses, Edifices, Buildings, Barns, Stables, Pigeon Houses, Orchards, Gardens, Curtillages, Lands, Tenements, Meadow, Pasture Grounds, Commons, Demean Lands, Wafts, Bush-wood, Furzes, Lees, Marches, Woods, Under-woods, Tythes of Sheaves of Corn, Grain, Hay, Wool, and Lambs, and all other Tythes whatsoever, as well small as great; and also Oblations, Obventions, Fruits, Profits, Waters, Fisheries, &c. with all Jurisdctions ditions and Hereditaments, by whatsoever Names they are called or known to be, situate, lying, or being, arising, growing, or emerging, within the County of Berks, to the said Manour, except nevertheless, Right to the King, his Heirs and Successors, of all Advowsons, Donations, and Right of Patronage, of all and singular Churches, Vicaridges, Chapels, and Ecclesiastical Benefices whatsoever, belonging to the said Manour and Premises.

It plainly appears, by these ample and large Privileges, granted at different times, and by different Princes, how much they delighted to favour this place of their royal residence, which with the pleasant situation of the place itself, and the delightful Country adjacent, long since made Windsor a handsome and populous Town, consisting of several Streets, in which are many Gentlemens Houses and good Buildings: The four principal Streets are, Castle-street, on the East; Prescod-street, on the West; High-street, on the South; and Thames-street, on the North; all which Streets center, or terminate in the middle of the Town; where formerly, viz. Anno 1380. 4<sup>o</sup> Richard II. was erected, a handsome Cross, according to the custom of those times, by John Sadeler, which was repaired, and a Crucifix fixed on the top, Anno 1635, by Godfrey Goodman, sometime Canon of Windsor, and Bishop of Gloucester, which at that time gave offence, and probably occasioned it to be demolished in 1641. What escaped the fury of those times, was taken down soon after the present Town-Hall was built, and no Vestigia now remain, but the Name; and all Proclamations and publick Orders are still read and declared at this place.

The Guildhall, or Town-House, is situate in the principal part of the Town; and is a neat and handsome Building, supported and adorned with Columns and Arches of Portland Stone, erected in the Year 1686, from the design, or plan of Sir Thomas Fitts, Surveyor of the Cinque Ports, at the Expence of 2006 l. 14 s. 4 d. which was all paid by the Corporation, except the Sum of 680 l. 7 s. 6 d. which was generously subscribed by the several following Gentlemen, towards the building this publick Edifice.

William

The Hall is a handsome large Room, well adapted for the meeting of the Mayor and Corporation, for the Business of the Borough; it is adorned with the Pictures of King Charles I. King Charles II. King James II. King William III. Queen Mary, Queen Anne; also of Archbishop Laud, Theodore Randue, Esq; and other Benefactors.

In the year 1707, the Corporation, out of a singular regard to Queen Anne, (who constantly made Windsor her Summer residence) erected in a niche, at the North end of the Town-House, the Statue of her Majesty, vested in her royal Robes, with the Globe, and other Ensigns of Regalia; and underneath, in the freeze of the entablature of the lesser Columns and Arches, is the following Inscription;

Anno Regni fui VI<sup>o</sup>

Dom. 1707.

Arte tua, Sculptor, non est imitabilis ANNA;

ANNÆ vis similem sculpere? Sculpe Deam.

S. Chapman, Prætor.

And in a like niche on the South side, is the Statue of her Majesty's royal Consort, Prince George of Denmark, in a Roman military Habit, and underneath is the following Inscription;

12 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Serenissimo Principi
GEORGIO Principi Daniæ,
Heroi omni sæculo venerando,
Christophorus Wren, Arm.
Posuit. MDCCXIII.

In the Area, underneath this Town-Hall, is kept a weekly Market, on every Saturday, which is well supplied with Corn, Meat, and all other Provisions.

Near this Edifice, on the East side of the High-street, is the Parish Church, dedicated to St. John Baptist: It is a Vicaridge in the Deanery of Reading, and Diocess of Salisbury; formerly belonging to the Abbey of Bisbam, in Berks, (Monast. Anglic. Tom. 3.) and sometime to the Abbey of Waltham, in Essex, (Leland Collect. Tom. I.) at present the Patronage is in the Crown. The Church is a spacious ancient Building, and has within it many neat and stately Monuments of several good Families, viz. Brabam, Starkey, Foot, Hale, Topham, and the late worthy Lord Chief Justice Reeve, and his Lady; but a particular detail of them, being foreign to the present purpose of this introductory account, we shall take no notice of them in this place, but only make mention of the several Benefactors, and Benefactions to this Church and Corporation, as we find them entered in a MS. on Vellum, in the North Chancel, and of late inscribed on two Tables, and hung up in the middle Isle of the Church.

William Exvington, Esq; of New Windsor, by his Will, dated March 4, 1487, gave to the Vicar, and his Successors, the Vicaridge House over-against the Church.

February 15, 1503, John Thompson, and William Huntred, Chaplains, and John Comb, Gent. by a Deed, gave to the Corporation of New Windsor, four Tenements, and a Garden, in Sheet-street; the Corporation to chuse, and on their default, the Church Wardens are to elect, eight poor Men or Women to inhabit in them. These People are said only to have been Feoffees in trust from William Paynell, and Thomas Hunt, who are judged the true Benefactors.

Thomas

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 13

Thomas Brotherton, alias Hunt, by a Deed, bearing date August 25, 1510, for the support of four Alms-Houses, in Sheet-street, gave fourteen Acres of Pasture and Wood Ground, called Butter-Stoakes; three Acres and a half of Arable Land, in Church-Field; two Acres of Wood Ground, called Scott's-Grove; one Acre of Arable, in a field called Pidwell; and one parcel of Meadow, lying at Stakes, all in the Parish of Warfield, Berks; also two Acres of Land in Warfield-common-field, called Ferris-Hill, at a yearly rent of two Shillings per Annum.

Thomas Jenkinson, of New Windsor, Gent. by his last Will, made about the year 1596; gave five Acres and a half of Land, in the Parish of Ruscomb, Berks, called East-Mead, and the Eyot for ever, to the intent and purpose, that the Rents and Profits thereof should be distributed amongst the poor Inhabitants, by the Mayor, and the three senior Aldermen, and Minister, for the time being.

Thomas Needham, of this Parish, Gent. by his last Will, dated August 1, 1603; gave to the Vicar, and Church-Wardens, and to their Successors for ever, three Houses, in New Windsor, two near the Church-Gate, and one in Prescod-street, to twelve poor Persons not living in the Alms-Houses, to receive the rents every Sunday after morning prayer; the Vicar, and Church-Wardens, Trustees.

Thomas Aldem, Gent. 1604, gave a Close, near Puttocks-Gate in this Parish, to build a Pest-House.

It appears, by a decree of the Commissioners for charitable uses, held in the Vestry of the Parish Church of Clewer, April the 6th, Anno Regni 7<sup>o</sup> Jac. I. That the Commissioners decreed one John Phippes, owner of a Tenement in Moor-street, and of a Tenement, and four Acres of Land at Clewer; his Heirs, Executors, &c. should stand chargeable with the following Payments, viz. ten Shillings, to be paid quarterly to the Poor of New Windsor; six Shillings, to the two poorest Couples that shall be married within the year; and three Shillings and Four-pence, to the Church, payable at Easter: Which several Sums were decreed to be in full of the Benefactions designed by the last Will of Henry Franklin, made Anno 17<sup>o</sup> Reg. Eliz.

14 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

William Larde, 1618, gave to the Poor of this Parish, out of the Garden next to the Pest-House, three Shillings and Four-pence per Annum.

Dr. Challoner, Rector of Agmondesham, in Buckinghamshire, by his Will, about 1621; gave, after the decease of Christian his Wife, an Annuity of six Pounds, out of his Estates in East-Oakley, Fisfield, and Bray; to be distributed half yearly, to twelve of the godliest Poor of this Parish; to be chosen by the Dean of Windsor, the Mayor, and Minister.

The most Rev. Father in God, William Laud, late Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, by his last Will and Testament, did direct and appoint, that fifty Pounds per Ann. should be bought, and the revenue thereof employed, for the binding poor Boys of this Parish, Apprentices; and for marrying poor Maidens of the Town of New Windsor: Which Charity was carried into execution by Sir John Robinson, Bart. and other his Executors; by purchasing several Fee Farm Rents, and settling the same to the uses aforesaid; as more at large appears by the Deed of Settlement, bearing date October 2, 1672.

Andrew Windsor, Esq; late of Bentley, in the County of Southampton, by his last Will and Testament, bearing date August 2, 1653; did give and bequeath unto the Dean, and Mayor of New Windsor, and their Successors and Assigns for ever, the Sum of two hundred Pounds; and appointed the same to be laid out in the buying of Lands, or to be preserved as a Stock, whereby the Poor might be continually employed in making of Cloth: Which Money was accordingly received, and a rent charge of fourteen Pounds per Ann. was in lieu thereof, charged upon Windsor Mill; which Mill, being sold and conveyed to her Majesty Queen Anne, by the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgeesses of New Windsor. They by their Deed, dated June 24, 1705, settled a like rent charge of fourteen Pound per Ann. to be for ever, issuing, and payable out of the Butchers Shambles, in the Market Place of New Windsor, aforesaid.

William Day, Son of Matthew Day, Alderman of this Town; gave a House and Garden, in Prescod-street, by a Deed dated August 16, 1664;

1664; the Issues and Profits thereof to be distributed among the poor Inhabitants, by the Mayor, and three senior Aldermen: Also four Acres of Meadow Ground, by a Deed, bearing date July 28, 1668, called Mead-Hay, in Langley, in the County of Bucks, to the Mayor, three senior Aldermen, and Chamberlain, to the intent and purpose aforesaid.

Richard Gallis, of this Parish, Gent. gave by Indenture, dated July 30, 1666, a Legacy to this Corporation; with which was bought Munday-Close, lying between Woodbridge-Lane, and Moat-Park, in this Parish: The revenues of which he assigned to the support of seven Alms-Houses; the Corporation, Trustees.

Doctor John Heaver, Vicar of this Parish, one of the Canons of Windsor, and Fellow of Eton College; gave fifty Pounds, the interest to be applied to apprentice poor Boys in the Parish.

Mrs. Agnes Urmston, 1671, gave four Acres and a half in Mead-Field, in the Parish of Langley, in the County of Bucks, to purchase Bread for the Poor; the Church-Wardens, Trustees.

This Parish bought of Francis Ridley, Esq; of Windsor Castle, for thirty-six Pounds, by Indenture dated May 20, 1673; one Acre, and Rood and an half of Meadow, lying in Mead-Hay, in the Parish of Langley-Marsh, in Bucks: The profits to be applied to the use of the Poor, for ever; the Corporation, Trustees.

Katherine Carey, late Wife of John Carey, Esq; of Stanwell, in Middlesex, by a Deed dated August 1, 1673; gave one hundred Pounds, to be distributed to six poor Widows, at the discretion of John Carey, and Giles Gent, Esqrs. John Carey, by a Deed dated December 20, 1679, also charged an Annuity of six Pounds per Ann. for ever, on the Catherine-Wheel, at Colnbrook: The election of the Widows of this Parish, to be in the Mayor and Burgeffes, in a common Hall held for that end.

Richard Reeve, of Dagnell, in Buckinghamshire, Gent. by a Deed dated October 11, 1676; gave to this Corporation, a Close of Pasture Ground, in the Parish of Whingfield, in this County, containing five Acres

16 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Acres of Land; the Corporation, and Overseers, Trustees; who are to nominate fifty poor People, who receive no other Charity; to be paid yearly, on January the 12th, and on July the 12th, one Shilling in Bread; all to continue during their lives, and their vacancies to be supplied by the aforesaid Trustees.

The same Gentleman, by a Deed, dated August 20, 1688; gave four Brick Tenements, or Alms-Houses, near the Pitts-Fields, with the Gardens, for the use of four poor Men or Women during their lives; (except removed for any heinous crime.) To be elected by the Mayor, two senior Aldermen, Chamberlain, Vicar, and the two senior Church-Wardens, within two months after any vacancy; and upon their default, the election to lapse to the Dean and Canons of Windfor. The Persons to be elected are to be upwards of fifty years of age, Members of the established Church of England, and not to marry after their election, upon pain of expulsion.

The same Gentleman, by his last Will, dated December 9, 1688; gave two hundred Pounds, to purchase Lands for the support of the Alms-Houses; and one hundred Pounds, towards finishing of the new Market House of this Corporation.

William Galland, late of New Windfor, Gent. by his last Will, dated April 13, 1693; gave three Pounds per Ann. out of a House called the Three Tuns, near the Market House; to be paid at two half yearly payments, and laid out in Bread for the Poor, at the discretion of the Mayor, and the three senior Aldermen; the Church-Wardens and Overseers of the Poor, Trustees.

Mrs. Margaret Osborne, by her last Will, gave twenty-five Pounds, towards the founding of a stock of Corn, and Coals, for the Poor of this Parish; the Corporation, Trustees.

William Child, Doctor of Musick, Organist of his Majesty's Chapel Royal, at Whitehall, and of his Majesty's free Chapel, at Windfor, sixty-five years, 1696; gave fifty Pounds to this Corporation, for such charitable uses as the Mayor, &c. shall think fit: With which they have settled an annual charge of five Pounds, towards binding one poor Boy Apprentice yearly.

Mrs.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 17

Mrs. Mary Barker, 1704, gave one hundred and twenty Pounds towards building the Charity School; in this Parish.

Mrs. Elizabeth Metcalfe, of Isleworth, in Middlesex, Widow, by her Will, dated October 14, 1709, gave eighty Pounds; the interest of which is to be given to four poor House-Keepers, not receiving Alms; two to be elected by the Vicar, and two by the Overseers, to be paid half yearly.

John Clark, late Mayor of this Town, by his Will, dated December 27, 1710, gave sixty Pounds towards building the Charity School, in the Church-yard, or elsewhere, as the Trustees shall think fit. And by a Codicil, dated February 4, 1711-12, fifty Shillings more was charged on his dwelling House in New Windsor; to be paid eight Days after Sbrove-Tuesday, to twenty poor House Keepers, not receiving Alms; at the discretion of the Minister, and Church-Wardens for the time being.

Theodore Randue, Esq; by his last Will and Testament, 1724, gave to the Charity School of this Parish five hundred Pounds; for augmenting the Vicaridge of this Parish two hundred Pounds; also to the Corporation of New Windsor the sum of one thousand Pounds, for an addition to Archbishop Laud's Charity; to this, his Executors, Richard Topham, Esq; and the Rev. Dr. Jones, Canon of Windsor, by a discretionary power in his last Will, made a farther addition of two hundred and fifty Pounds. With this twelve hundred and fifty Pounds, the Corporation purchased a Land Estate in Wingfield, and Bray Parishes, and annually dispose of fifty Pounds in manner following, viz. To five Boys that were put Apprentice by Archbishop Laud's Charity, and have duly served their respective times, ten Pounds each; and every third year, the same fifty Pounds, is given equally to three Maidens, born in Windsor, that have faithfully lived in one service three entire years: The young Men and Maidens are elected by the Corporation, in the same manner as Archbishop Laud's Donation is given.

Richard Hale, M. D. 1728, gave to the Charity School five hundred Pounds.

18 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Mrs. Barbara Jordan, 1730, gave to three Old Maids, not taking Alms of this Parish, three Pounds per Annum.

Richard Topham, Esq; by his last Will and Testament, 1730, gave five hundred Pounds to build a Work-House, to employ the Poor; and one hundred Pounds to the Charity School; also eight Pounds per Ann. for ever, to be thus divided at Christmas, viz. ten Shillings to twelve poor House-Keepers, not taking Alms of this Parish, and ten Shillings each, to four poor Persons legally settled in Mr. Richard Reeve's Alms-Houses.

Mrs. Arabella Reeve, 1732, gave five hundred Pounds, or more if wanted, to complete the Work-House designed by her Brother, Richard Topham, Esq; and six Pounds annually, for ever, on the 16th of November, to six poor Widows, lame or blind, born and inhabiting in this Parish; the Corporation, Trustees. Also one hundred twelve-penny Loaves annually, on the 20th of May, to one hundred of the poorest People of this Parish; the Church-Wardens, and Overseers, Trustees.

The Right Hon. the Lord Chief Justice Reeve completed the Work-House; and in the year 1736, gave one hundred Pounds to the Charity School.

Grants from the Crown to this Parish, viz.

By a Grant from King William and Queen Mary, July 27, 1693, Anno Regni 5th; the sum of fifty Pounds per Annum, was settled towards the maintenance of the Church and Poor; payable to the Mayor, and Church-Wardens quarterly, out of the rents and revenues of the honour of Windsor Castle.

By another Grant from King William, April 17, 1700, Anno Regni 12th; was settled the sum of fifty Pounds per Annum more, payable without impost or charge quarterly, to the Mayor, and Church-Wardens; being in lieu and compensation for certain Lands, inclosed in the little Park; and also the profits of thirty-one Acres of Land, lying between the Park-wall, and the River Thames; which was usually let at the yearly Rent of twenty-six Pounds per Annum. These Grants were removed into the Pension-Office, in the reign of George I. And one hundred hundred Pounds is payable per Annum to the Overseers of the Poor; and twenty Pounds per Annum to the Church-Wardens; by virtue of a Receipt signed by the Mayor.

It may be proper to observe here that there is but one Church in this large and populous Parish; and that, besides the publick worship of God herein performed, Prayers and Divine Service are also performed four times every day at St. George's Chapel in the Castle, to which the Inhabitants at all times resort; and that the Dissenters of the several denominations are here but few, and of small account. The Presbyterians formerly had a Meeting-House, but that has been long since laid aside, and made use of as a Ware-House for Linen Cloth or other stores.

On the North side of the Church-yard, was erected in the year 1706, a neat Edifice for a Free School, for thirty Boys and twenty Girls, belonging to this Parish; who are cloathed, and instructed in writing, accompts, and the principles of the Christian Religion. This Charity is supported by several Legacies, but chiefly by Subscription of the Inhabitants: The Dean of Windsor, and the two senior Prebends of the College in residence, and the Mayor, and two senior Aldermen of the Corporation for the time being, are the Trustees, for the over-looking and governing this Charity.

On the East side of the Town, his Grace the Duke of St. Albans has a stately and handsome Seat with beautiful Gardens that extend to the Park wall, and his Grace is at present making farther improvements by opening a view into the High-street of the Town. Many Gentlemen and families of estate also, constantly reside either in the Town, or in lodgings in the Castle, during the absence of the Royal Family. The late Queen Anne when Princess of Denmark, and under the displeasure of King William III. purchased a small neat House on the Castle hill, adjoining to the little Park, which she made her Summer retreat; and after her accession to the Throne, when her Majesty constantly resided at Windsor every Summer, would daily withdraw from the royal Lodgings, and the state and splendor of a great and victorious Court, to enjoy a happy retirement in this House and Gardens.

20 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

The Park lies on the East side of the Town also, into which you enter, on the side of this House, by a handsome Gate or Rustic Portal. This Park is a great ornament to Windsor, and is called the Little or House Park, to distinguish it from another adjoining of much larger extent; it is computed to be four miles in circumference, and contains near 500 Acres of Land, was enlarged and inclosed by a brick wall in the reign of the late King William III. and is most delightful for the many shady walks, especially that called Queen Elizabeth's Walk; which on the Summer evenings, is chiefly frequented by the best company: The fine plain on the top of the hill, was made level for bowling in King Charles II. time, (an exercise in which that Prince much delighted) and from hence, is an extended prospect over a most beautiful and well cultivated Country, and the River Thames; the lower part of this Park, under the Terras on the North side of the Castle, was designed and laid out for a Garden in the reign of Queen Anne, but on the demise of that Princess, not brought to perfection. Here is constantly a good stock of Deer, and the Keeper's Lodge at the farther end next the road side, is a delightful Habitation with fine Gardens.

On the opposite side of the Road is Frogmore, a handsome House and Gardens, belonging to the late Duke of Northumberland, natural Son of King Charles II. In this House Marshal Belleisle resided, when lately in England, after he had been for some time Prisoner in the Round Tower of the Castle.

This naturally leads us to make mention of the Great Park, on the South side of the Town, and into which you enter by a most noble Road or Long Walk, made in a direct line, to the top of a delightful Hill, near three miles distant. This Park is fourteen miles in circumference, is also well stocked with Deer and all sorts of Game, and has most pleasant Ridings, and shady Walks regularly planted with Trees; and tho' Art has not been wanting to adorn and make pleasant this royal Park, the whole is so decorated and embellished by Nature, that it surpasses all the Gardens of Art. The Ranger or Keeper's Lodge, was built in the reign of King Charles II. and was for a long time in the possession of the late Duke of Marlborough and his family, till the death of the Hon. Mr. John Spencer, Brother to the present Duke of Marlborough;
on

on whose decease, Anno 1746, this House, with the Office of Ranger of the Park, was by his Majesty granted to his Royal Highness the DUKE OF CUMBERLAND; and by the great and noble improvements now making by his Royal Highness to this Lodge and Gardens; this most pleasant Villa seems to promise for the future, not only to be the delight, but habitation of Princes.

Cranburn-Lodge in this neighbourhood, belongs also to the Crown, and was made a most delightful Seat by Richard late Earl of Ranelagh; considerable improvements have also been made both to the House and Gardens by the present Duke of St. Albans, who now holds it by Grant from his Majesty: The situation and architecture of the House, are very beautifull, and the well designed order and beauty of the Gardens, are visible marks of an elegant Taste; the extensive views also from the Terrace Walk and Apartments, over Windsor even to London, on the East, and the whole Country many miles round on the West, form the most delightful Prospects; nor can a finer Landkip be imagined than is seen from this House, and Gardens which both art and nature have joined to make a most agreeable Habitation.

The above-named Earl of Ranelagh, erected Ann 1709, on the neighbouring Plain, a handsome School, with a Chapel for divine service, and amply endowed it with Estates in Ireland, for the cloathing and instructing of twenty Boys, and twenty Girls belonging to the neighbouring parish of Wingfeild, and the liberties of Cranburn, in reading, writing, and the principles of the Christian Religion: This foundation for many years after the Earl's decease, laboured under many difficulties, but was at length happily recovered and established, by the diligence and application of the Rev. Mr. Waterfon the Master.

Fern Hill, at a small distance cannot here be passed by without particular notice, both on account of its fine situation, and being the Seat of the late worthy Lieutenant-General Clayton, who bravely, tho' unfortunately fell in the Field of Battle, fighting for the Liberties of Europe, under his royal and victorious Master at Dettingen, June 17, 1743. The pleasant situation of the House on a rising Hill, the beautifull tifull Greenſwerd, and agreeable Plantations equally attract and entertain the Eye, and merit a particular deſcription; but it would be foreign to our preſent purpoſe to enlarge farther in this place: It is therefore we are obliged to deſiſt, but not without firſt obſerving, that no juſt Idea can be formed, of the many beauties that offer to our View, both in the Park, and this adjacent Foreſt, by the beſt deſcription in Proſe; our great Engliſh Poet only, can properly paint out theſe ſylvan Scenes, and delightful Habitations, when, in his excellent Poem on this ſubject, he ſays;

*The groves of Eden, vaniſhed now ſo long Live in deſcription, and look green in ſong:
Theſe, was my breſt inſpired with equal flame,
Like them in beauty, ſhould be like in fame.
Here hills and vales, the woodland and the plain,
Here earth and water ſeem to meet again.
Not Chaos like, together cruſhed and bruised,
But as the world, harmoniouſly confuſed:
Where order in variety we ſee,
And where, tho' all things differ, all agree.
Here waving groves a chequered ſcene diſplay,
And part admit, and part exclude the day; —
There, interſperſed in lawns and opening glades
Thin trees ariſe, that ſhun each other's ſhades.
Here in full light the ruſſet plains extend;
There wrap'd in clouds, the bleuiſh hills aſcend:
Eve'n the wild beath diſplays her purple dyes,
And 'midſt the deſart, fruitful fields ariſe,
That crown'd with tufted trees and ſpringing corn,
Like verdant iſles the ſable waſte adorn. —*

*Not proud Olympus yields a nobler ſight
Tho' Gods aſſembled grace his tow'ring height,
Than what more humble mountains offer here,
Where in their bleſſings, all thoſe Gods appear.*

But to return to the Town. In the year 1736, pursuant to the Will of Richard Topham, Esq; aforementioned, was erected in Sheet-street, a Work-House, for the employment and maintenance of the Poor of this Parish; on the ground given heretofore by Thomas Aldem, Gent, for a Pest-House; which, the Corporation for this purpose, let by Lease for five thousand years, to the late Right Hon. Lord Chief Justice Reeve, Mr. Topham's Executor, who compleated the whole, and defrayed the overplus expence; and the House and Ground is made over to Trustees, for the use of a Work-House for the Poor, nevertheless, in case of the Plague, at any future time during the Lease, the House and Ground is to revert to the intent and purpose of the said Thomas Aldem.

Having now near finished this intended account of the Town and Corporation of Windsor, it remains to observe, That this Borough early enjoyed the Privilege of sending Burgesses to Parliament, and that the most antient Return of Burgesses, from the Records of the Tower and the Rolls, are

30. Edward I. Two Burgesses returned for New Windsor.

7. Edward II. Two Burgesses returned for Windsor.

In theſe Returns, the Parliament Burgesses we find were choſe by the Mayor, and Community of the Burgesses of the Borough, and the common Seal of all and ſingular the Burgesses and Commonalty, which had voices in Elections affixed thereto; but about twenty-four years after, viz. 7. E. IV. the Return is much different, and after this Form, viz.

All which Returns are by the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burghesses, and under the common Seal, and most of them dated in the Guild-Hall of Windsor.

The last mentioned Indenture of Return for Parliament Burghesses the 15th of King Charles I. 1639, runs thus: This Indenture made the 6th day of March, in the 15th year, &c. between the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burghesses of the Burgh of New Windsor on the one part, and George Puresfoy, Esq; High Sherfff of the County of Berks on the other part; witnesseth, That the said Mayor, Bayliffs and Burghesses, with their mutual free assent, and consent, have elected and chosen Sir Arthur Ingram, and Sir Richard Harrison, Burghesses, &c.

And the like Return is in the 39th year of Queen Elizabeth, and for the most part all the reigns of King James I. and King Charles I. until the Year 1641, &c.

By these and other Records it seems, the Returns of Members to serve in Parliament, had sometimes been made by the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burghesses, not exceeding thirty; and sometimes by the Mayor, Bayliffs,

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 25

Bayliffs, Burgesses, and Inhabitants at large, but more commonly by the former only, till the year 1640, when at a Committee of Elections, Serjeant Maynard reported, and it was resolved, "That all the Inhabitants had a Right to elect."

Upon the Restoration, 13. Carol. II. Richard Brabam, Esq; and Sir Thomas Higsons, were return'd to Parliament, by the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses, and upon the dispute of the Election in Parliament, it was reported by Serjeant Charlton, and resolved, "That the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses, not above thirty in number, have only the right to elect:" And it was made to appear, from the Book of Entries of the Town of Windsor, that three several Elections in Queen Elizabeth's reign, were by number, not exceeding thirty.

These different resolutions frequently occasioned double Returns to Parliament: And March 19, Anno 1678, a Petition of Richard Winwood and Samuel Starkey, Esqrs. was brought into Parliament, complaining of an undue Return of Sir John Ernle, Knight, and John Powney, Esq; as Burgesses for the said Borough; and a Committee was appointed to enquire into the matter of the said Petition, and report the same to the House.

It appeared on the examination of the Witnesses, that Sir John Ernle and Mr. Powney, had been unanimously elected on the 27th of February preceeding, by the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgesses, in the Town-Hall; and that Mr. Winwood and Mr. Starkey, were the same day elected by above two hundred of the Inhabitants at the Market-Cross. The question on the debate was, whether "the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses, not exceeding the number of thirty," or whether "the Inhabitants at large, had right to vote in Elections of Members to Parliament for the said Borough." And several Records and Returns to Parliament were produced, to support the sole right of the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses; as also the right of the Inhabitants at large, whereupon the Committee came to the following resolutions, viz.

1. "That the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgesses of New Windsor, have not the right of electing Members to serve in Parliament for the said Borough."

2. "That

5. "That Mr. Winwood and Mr. Starkey are not duly elected to serve, &c."

Note, The Committee divided on the fifth resolution. Yea's 125. No's 131.

6. "That the late election of Members to serve, &c. is a void election."

The first, second, third, and fourth resolutions were, upon the question severally put, agreed unto by the House.

And the fifth resolution being read a second time, and the question put, that the House doth agree with the Committee therein, the House divided, Yea's 153. No's 189.

And resolved by the House, That Mr. Winwood and Mr. Starkey, are duly elected to serve in the present Parliament for the Borough of New Windsor. And Ordered, That the Clerk of the Crown, and the Mayor of the Borough of New Windsor, do attend on Monday morning next at ten o'clock, and amend the said Return. Again, Anno 1689, 2 Maii. Upon the Petition of William Adderley, Esq; against the Return of Henry Powle, Esq; for New Windsor; the Committee came to these resolutions, viz.

1. That it is the opinion of this Committee, "That the right of electing Burgesses to serve in Parliament, is in the Mayor, Bayliffs, and select number of Burgesses only.

2. "That Henry Powle is duly elected to serve in Parliament."

by the majority of legal Electors, and a Return was demanded from the Mayor of such their Election: But that notwithstanding, the said Mayor hath taken upon him unduly to return Baptist May and Sir Christopher Wren, in prejudice to the Petitioners; read and referred.

Also a Petition of the Inhabitants of the said Borough, That a Precept being directed to the Mayor and Burgeses of New Windsor, and a day appointed for the Election. The Petitioners being the general Burgeses and Inhabitants of the said Borough, appeared at the Market-Cross, and duly elected Sir Charles Porter and William Adderley, Esq; for their Burgeses; but the Mayor hath unduly returned, (ut supra) and praying consideration, and that the House would assert their ancient right, by causing the Mayor to amend the said Return; was likewise read and referred to the Committee of Privileges and Elections.

The merits of this Return rested upon the like question with the former, whether "the right of Election was in the Mayor, Bayliffs, and Burgeses, or in the Inhabitants paying scot and lot:" and several Records and Returns to Parliament were produced in behalf, and to justify the Return of Baptist May and Sir Christopher Wren, and also to make good and support the right of the Petitioners; and upon consideration of the whole matter the Committee came to the following resolutions.

1. Resolved, "That the right of electing of Burgeses to serve in Parliament for the Borough of New Windsor, is in the Mayor, Bayliffs, and select number of Burgeses only.

2. Resolved, "That Sir Christopher Wren and Baptist May, Esq; are duly elected Burgeses to serve in this present Parliament for the said Borough of New Windsor."

Which resolutions being severally read, and the question being put, That the House do agree with the Committee therein; the House divided. Yea's 140 No's 152. So it pass'd in the negative, i. e. not to agree with the Committee. And

Resolved, "That Sir Charles Porter and William Adderley, Esq; are duly elected Burgeses to serve in this present Parliament for the said Borough of New Windsor."

Ordered, That the Clerk of the Crown do attend this House upon Monday morning next, with the Return for New Windsor to amend the same, according to the said resolutions. And

28 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Ordered, That the Mayor of the Borough of New Windsor do attend this House upon Monday morning next, to amend the Return of Burgesses for the said Borough.

Anno 1690, 19 Maii. The Clerk of the Crown, and the Mayor of New Windsor, attending according to the several orders of Saturday last, were called in, and the Mayor made a Return of an Indenture, by which Sir Charles Porter and William Adderley, Esq; were elected. And thereupon the Clerk of the Crown took off from the file the Indenture, by which Sir Christopher Wren and Baptist May, Esq; were returned, and filed the other Indenture instead thereof.

Since this time the Election of Members to serve in Parliament for this Borough, has constantly been openly made at the Market-Place, by the Mayor, Bayliffs, Burgesses, and all the Inhabitants paying scot and lot; and the same has been confirmed by the following resolutions in Parliament, on two succeeding disputed Elections, viz.

Anno 1715, April 14. On the Petition in Parliament of Sir Henry Ashurst, and Samuel Travers, Esq; against the Return of Christopher Wren, and Robert Gayer, Esqrs. It was resolved by the House;

“ That the right of electing Members to Parliament for the Borough of New Windsor, is in the Inhabitants paying scot and lot.”

And the Committee resolved, and the House agreed;

I. “ That Christopher Wren, and Robert Gayer, Esqrs. were not duly elected.”

II. “ That Sir Henry Ashurst, and Samuel Travers, Esq; were duly elected Burgesses for the Borough of New Windsor.”

Anno 1737, March 23. On the double Return of the Right Hon. Lord Vere Beauclerck, and Richard Oldfield, Esq; It was resolved by the House;

“ That the right of electing Members for the Borough of New Windsor, is in the Inhabitants paying scot and lot.” And

March 27. It was resolved by the House that Lord Vere Beauclerck was duly elected.

The Members of the present Parliament are,
The Right Honourable Henry Fox, Esq; Secretary of War.

The

The Right Honourable Lord George Beauclerk, Brother to his Grace the Duke of St. Albans, and Colonel of a Regiment of Foot.

The Town of Windsor gives name to two noble Families of this Kingdom, viz. the Right Honourable the Earl of Plymouth, and the Lord Montjoy and Windsor, of the Isle of Wight; whose ancestor Walter, son of Otto, a noble Roman in Italy, came into England with William I. and was by him made a Baron, and Castellan (Constable) of the Castle of Windsor, and Keeper of the Forest in Berkshire. The Earl of Kildare, in the Kingdom of Ireland, is also descended from the said Walter de Windsor. Men of note of this Town are,

Roger of Windsor, native of this Town, was Historian to King Henry III.

Oliver King, Bishop of Bath and Wells, resided in this Town: He was educated at Eton, and Anno 1450, admitted into King's College Cambridge; was Register of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, and principal Secretary to King Henry VI. Prince Edward his Son, King Edward IV. and King Henry VII. Anno 1492, he was consecrated Bishop of Exeter, and 1495, made Bishop of Bath and Wells: He died January 24, 1503, and was buried in St. George's Chapel, where we shall have occasion to make farther mention of him.

Thomas Ramme, was born in Windsor, educated also at Eton, and was admitted Fellow of King's College Cambridge Anno 1588; afterwards became Chaplain to Charles Lord Montjoy, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and Anno 1628, was made Bishop of Ferns and Leglin, in that Kingdom: And the following Inhabitants, if not Natives, will always be mentioned with honour in this Town.

Richard Topham, Esq; a Gentleman of extensive learning, and fine taste in books, painting, and the more polite arts: His Judgment was equally shewn in a well chosen Library, and a noble collection of Drawings, which at a great expence, and uncommon application, he procured from the Originals at Rome, and other parts of Italy: Mr. Topham died in in the year 1730, and his noble Library and Drawings were given by his Executors, the Lord Chief Justice Reeve, and Dr. Mead, to Eton College: His Benefactions to this Town we have had occasion to mention before.

The said Sir Thomas Reeve, Knt. Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, constantly resided at Windsor; whose great abilities in the Law raised him to the supreme judicature of this Kingdom, and whose justice, benevolence, and humanity, gained him the general esteem and love of Mankind: His Lordship died at Windsor, February 14, 1736, and was buried on the South side of the Altar, in the Parish Church, to whose memory Dr. Mead has erected a noble Marble Monument, which we here present to our Readers, by the Favour of his Lordship's Heir, Thomas Reeve, Esq; of this Town, and thereby have no farther occasion to enlarge on the many excellent qualities of this great and good Man.

The most noble Lady, Diana Dutches Dowager of St. Albans, eldest Daughter and Coheir to Aubery de Vere, the last Earl of Oxford, of that ancient and noble Family. Her Grace constantly resided at Windsor, and by a Life spent in piety and good works, became the greatest character of the present, and a pattern for future Ages: Her Grace died January 15, 1741, and was buried in St. George's Chapel.

The Officers of this Corporation are chosen annually, and the Mayor enters on his Office the first Monday in October:

The present Mayor, Mr. John Snowden, sen.

High Steward of the Borough, His Grace the Duke of St. Albans.

Under Steward or Recorder, James Hayes, Esq;

Clerk of the Corporation, Mr. Brookland.

We shall finish this account of Windsor, with observing, that where the account of the Benefactors, &c. is enlarged, and differs from the MS. aforementioned, or the Tables in the Church, it is upon more authentick and better information; and also that the Vicaridge is a Living discharged

CHAPTER II.

Of the CASTLE.

IN the foregoing Chapter, it is observed that William I. no sooner became in possession of Windsor, than he built a Castle or royal Seat on the summit of the Hill; This was afterwards improved with many fair Buildings, and enlarged by his Son King Henry I. who inclosed the whole with a Wall, and first built a Chapel, of which we shall treat in the next Chapter, and compleated his royal Father's first design, insomuch that it is said by many Authors, that he new built the Castle of Windsor; the whole extent of the building or enclosed ground, according to Doomsday-Book, is said to contain half a Hide of Land, (Castellum de Windefores est in dimidia Hida *.)

If this Prince did not new build, it may with probable assurance be asserted, that he entirely compleated, and finished the buildings of this Castle; for after his reign, we no where find any mention of this Castle, but as a place of great strength; and it was frequently inhabited by succeeding

* The distribution of England by Hides of Land, is very ancient, mention being made thereof in the Laws of King Jna, Chap. 14. a Hide of Land is as much Land as may be ploughed with one Plough in a Year, Terms de Ley. A Hide of Land contains an hundred Acres, Crompton Jurisd. fol. 220. seq. Here must be a mistake, for according to a late measurement by B. Langley, the Circumference of the whole Castle is 4180 Feet, the Length from East to West is 1480 Feet, and the Area, or superficial quantity of Ground on which it stands, exclusive of the Terras Walks, is 12 Acres, 2 Roods, and 30 Poles.

32 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

succeeding Princes, both on account of its pleasant Situation, and being a strong Fortrefs and place of defence. King Henry II. Anno 1710, held a Parliament at this Castle, at which was present the great English Barons, the King's chief Tenants, also William King of Scotland, and his Brother David. It has been before remarked, that the Bishop of Durham, and Earl of Northumberland, Regent of the Kingdom, Anno 1189, during the absence of King Richard I. resided here as a place of great strength and security, as well as royalty. King John, Brother and Successor to Richard, most probably for the same reasons, Anno 1215, lodged in this Castle, during the warm contests between him and the Barons; and to this, it may with reason be conjectured, that Runney, or Running-Mead, near Old Windsor, in this Neighbourhood, was appointed the place for the meeting of the King and the Barons on June 15, this year; where the King solemnly signed the great Charter of the Liberties of England, Magna Charta, also the Charta de Foresta. But King John soon after shewing a disposition to break this most solemn Act; in the year following, viz. 1216, this Castle was besieged by the Barons, but without success; the Garrison obliging the Barons to raise the Siege. In the contest between his Son and Successor King Henry III. and the Barons, Anno 1263, Windsor Castle was by treaty delivered up to the latter; but the same year by surprize was recovered, and made the place of rendezvous of the King's party.

The Kings Edward I. and II. resided at Windsor, rather on account of its state and grandeur than a place of defence, and had many Children born in this Castle; particularly as more worthy of note here, Edward Son of King Edward II. and Isabella, Daughter of Philip the fair, King of France, was born here, November 13, 1312, and from this place of his Birth called Edward of Windsor; a Prince famous in History, and of great renown among the Kings of England, by the name of Edward III. The affection this Prince bore to this his native place, was exceeding great, and in pursuance of his truly noble and royal Designs, he, Anno 1360, caused the old Castle to be entirely taken down, except the three Towers on the West end in the lower Ward, and rebuilt the present stately Castle, and made it the Seat of the noble Order of the Garter.

Mr.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 33

Mr. Asmole, in his History of this noble Order, has so fully treated of this subject, that we shall in this Place, particularly follow him, who says, "That to the end this great Undertaking might be honestly and duly performed, King Edward by Letters Patent, in the 23d year of his reign, appointed John Peyntour, Richard de Rochell, Robert de Bernham, and other Surveyors, whom he assigned to press Hewers of Stone, Carpenters, and other Artificers; also to provide Stone, Timber, and other Materials.

Also in the 25th year of his reign he assigned by Patent, John Brocas, Oliver de Burdeux with others, jointly and severally, to survey the Workmen and the Works, and to encourage those that did their duty, but to compel others that were idle and slothful.

Ann. Reg. 27. John de Alkebull, and Walter Palmer were commission'd to provide Stone, Timber, Lead, Iron, and all other necessaries for the work; and to impress Carriages for their conveyance to Windsor.

William de Wyckham (who afterwards attained to the dignity of Bishop of Winchester, and was the second Prelate of the Garter) had a Supervisor's, or Surveyor's place granted to him by Letters Patent, bearing test at Westminster the 30th of October, Anno 30 Ed. III. He had like powers given him with those Surveyors first above-named, and a Grant of the same Fee as had been formerly allowed to Robert de Bernham, viz. one Shilling a Day while he staid at Windsor in his employment; two Shillings a Day when he went elsewhere about that business; and three Shillings a Week for his Clerk: Which allowances had been first of all made to Richard de Rochell.

Anno 33, Edw. III. he had bestowed upon him the chief custody and surveyorship of this Castle, of the Manours of Old and New Windsor, and of several Castles, Manours, and Houses, enumerated in his Letters Patent; with power to appoint and dispose of all Workmen; buy necessaries for Reparation; provide Carpenters, Masons, and other Artificers; also Stone, Timber, &c. And in those Manours to hold Leets, and other Courts, Pleas of Trespas and Misdemeanors, to enquire of the King's liberties, rights, and all things appertaining thereunto.

34 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

It may be presumed, that about the thirty-fourth year of this King's reign, the most considerable enlargement of the Castle was made; seeing, there were then great store of the best Diggers and Hewers of Stone, imprest in London, and out of divers Counties in England, by virtue of Writs, directed to several Sheriffs (dated the 14th of April, in that year) with command to send them to Windsor, by the Sunday next after the Feast of St. George at the farthest, there to be employed at the King's Wages, so long as was necessary, viz.

LEICEST. and WORCEST. -	40	NORTHAMPTON, - - - - -	40
CAMBRIDGE, and HUNTING.	40

Herewith the Sheriffs were commanded to take sufficient security of these Workmen, not to depart from Windsor, without the Licence of William de Wyckham (who was appointed to return the same security into the Court of Chancery) and all this, under the penalty of one hundred Pounds to each respective Sheriff.

And because divers of these Workmen, for gain and advantage, had afterwards clandestinely left Windsor, and were entertained by other Persons, upon greater Wages, to the King's great damage, and manifest retarding of his Work: Writs were therefore directed to the Sheriffs of London, with command to make Proclamation, to inhibit any Person, whether Clerk or Layman, under forfeiture of all they had forfeitable, for employing and retaining any of them; as also to arrest such as had so run away, and commit them to Newgate, and from time to time to return their Names into Chancery.

But a great number of Workmen dying of a great Pestilence, other Writs were issued (March 30, Anno 36 Ed. III.) to the Sheriffs of several Counties; (not of the former number) That under the penalty of two hundred Pounds each, they should send to Windsor, able and skilful Masons, and Diggers of Stone, to be there on Sunday the Utas of Easter at farthest, to be employed in the Works; namely, to the Sheriffs of

It was the thirty-seventh year of this King's reign, before the Buildings were ready for glasing, and then Henry de Stamerne, and John Brampton, were employed to buy Glafs in all places of the Kingdom, where it was to be sold; to impress twenty-four Glasiers, and convey them to London, to work there at the King's Wages, and twelve Glasiers for Windsor, to be employed in like manner within the Castle.

In this year also the Work went on effectually, as may be guess'd from the great store of Workmen press'd for this service, as also Carriages for Stone and Timber, much of the Stone being digg'd out of the Quarries of Wellesford, Kelwell, and Careby; and the next year, not only in these, but in the Quarries of Heseleberg, and Demelby; and the following year out of the Quarry of Melton.

From hence to the 43d year of this King's reign, we find Artificers were yearly press'd, and the buildings of this Castle seriously pursued, but after we meet with nothing in that kind mentioned to be done, until the 48th year, and thence not any thing during his reign; So that it is to be presumed, this famous Building for magnificence and strength, was the greatest Part finished in his said 43d year, that is to say, the King's Palace, the great Hall of St. George, the Lodgings on the East and South side of the upper Baily or Ward, the Keep or Tower in the middle Ward, the Chapel of St. George, the Houses for the Custos and Canons in the lower Ward, together with the whole circumference of the Walls, and their several Towers and Gates, as now they stand.

In succeeding Times, some other additions were made to the Buildings within the Castle: In particular, King Henry VII. added that stately Fabrick, adjoining to the King's Lodgings in the upper Ward. King Henry VIII. new built the great Gate, at the entrance into the lower Ward. King Edward VI. began, and Queen Mary perfected the bringing the Water from Blackmore Park, in Wingfield Parish, into a Fountain of curious Workmanship, erected in the middle of the upper Ward, which served all the Castle; Queen Elizabeth made a Terrace-Walk on the North side of the Castle, from whence there is a pleasant prospect down upon Eton College, the Thames, and neighbouring Country; and King Charles I. Anno 1636, built the Gate at the East end of the said Terrace, leading into the Park.

And here our learned Cambden's elegant Description of this Castle's situation, must not be omitted: "For from an high Hill (saith he) that riseth with a gentle Ascent, it enjoyeth a most delightful Prospect round about; for right in the Front, it overlooketh a Vale, lying out far and wide, garnished with Corn Fields, flourishing with Meadows, deck'd with Groves on either side, and water'd with the most mild and calm River Thames; behind it arise Hills every where, neither rough nor over high, attired as it were with Woods, and even dedicated, as it were by Nature, to Hunting and Game."

Thus far Mr. Ashmole, who brings the several additions made to this Castle by succeeding Princes, down to the 11th. of King Charles I. Whatever farther improvements that Prince might design, the Civil Wars, that so fatally employed the remainder of his reign, rendered abortive; and this Castle at length became the Prison of its Sovereign, viz. from December 12, 1648, to January 19 following, when all things being ripe for the ensuing Tragedy, this Prince was removed to St. James's in his way to the Scaffold.

After the execrable Murder of this unfortunate Prince, certainly meriting a better fate! This Castle felt the sad effects of the national convulsion, and under many avaritious and lawless Masters was spoiled, and brought to great decay, insomuch that on the happy Restoration, Anno 1660. King Charles II. found it necessary to repair the Castle entirely, and from the bad consequences of plunder and neglect, raised it to its present state and splendor.

It is certain Windsor owes much to this Prince, who most part of his reign, here kept his Court in the Summer season, and spared no expence pence to render this princely Castle worthy the royal residence; the face of the upper Court was entirely new changed, and brought into its present order and beauty, the royal Lodgings were richly furnished, the Windows enlarged and made regular, a large Magazine of Arms for greater state was erected, and disposed in most beautiful order, and the several Apartments greatly adorned and decorated by large and beautiful Paintings; insomuch that this Castle, for its situation, state, and grandeur, may justly vie with the most boasted Palace of foreign Princes, and has constantly been the admiration of all Visitors.

As we purpose to finish this Chapter with a plan of this Castle, and the several Buildings, on a new and exact survey, and to give a particular description of the royal Apartments at the end of this Work, for the benefit of Strangers, who frequently resort hither, it is necessary only to remark at present, that

This Castle is divided into two Courts or Wards, with a large Keep or Round Tower between them, called the middle Ward, being heretofore separated from the lower Ward, by a strong Wall and Draw-bridge: The whole is of large extent as observed above, and has many Towers and strong Batteries for its defence, tho' at present the strength of this Castle is considerably abated, by the currency of many years, and the excellency of our national Constitution, whereby Fortresses and strong Holds are not frequent in this Kingdom, and a happy unity between the Prince and Subject is the great security of both.

The upper Court or Ward contains on the North the royal Apartments, and the Chapel and Hall of St. George; on the East and South sides are the several Apartments of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the Royal Family, and the great Officers of the Crown. In the Area or middle of this Court is erected, by a faithful and grateful subject, a noble equestrian Statue in Copper, of his Majesty King Charles II. in the Habit of a Roman Cæsar, on a Statuary Marble Pedestal, curiously carved in Basso Relievo, with various kinds of Fruit, Fish, Shipping, and other ornaments to great perfection: On the East side on a Shield is the following Inscription;

CAROLO

CAROLO SECUNDO,

Regum Optimo,

Tobias Rustat,

Hanc Effigiem humilime,

Dedit et Dedicavit,

Anno Domini MDCLXXX.

1679 fudit.

Underneath this Statue is a deep Well, and Water Engine of a very curious nature, contrived by Sir Samuel Moreland in this Prince's reign; and it is worth observing, that this royal Palace, notwithstanding its situation, is fully supplied (from this, and a new erected Engine on the river Thames in the reign of Queen Anne) in all the different Apartments with that necessary Element.

King Charles II. also enlarged the Terrass or Walk, made on the North side of the Castle by Queen Elizabeth, and carried a like Terrass round the East and South sides of the upper Court or Ward, and in the year 1676, as appears by the date on the East Rampart, new faced the whole Terrass with a noble and solid Rampart of Free-Stone, with beautiful and easy slopes to the lower part of the Park underneath. This Terrass measures 1870 feet in length, and may with Justice be said to be the noblest Walk in Europe, both with regard to the strength and grandeur of the Building, and the fine and extensive prospect over the river Thames, and a most beautiful and rich Country; and it must be here confessed, that this charming Hill, seems by nature designed for royal Majesty, and with an august State to overlook all the adjacent Country, for as Sir John Denham beautifully says, Windsor the next (where Mars with Venus dwells, Beauty with strength) above the valley swells

Into my eye, and doth it self present
With such an easie and unforc'd ascent,

That

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 39

*That no stupendious precipice denies Access, no horror turns away our eyes;
But such a Rise, as doth at once invite
A pleasure, and a reverence from the sight,
Thy mighty Masters emblem, in whose face
Sat meekness, heightn'd with majestick grace,
Such seems thy gentle height, made only proud
To be the basis of that pompous load,
Than which a nobler weight no mountain bears,
But Atlas only which supports the spheares.* Coopers Hill.

The Keep, or Round Tower, which forms the West side of the upper Court, is the Lodging of the Constable or Governor, built in the form of an Amphitheatre on the highest part of the Mount; the Ascent into the Lodgings is by a large flight of stone Steps; the Apartments are large and noble; and here also is a Guard-Room, or Magazine of Arms for the greater state of this Officer, who has the intire government of this Castle, and is an Officer of great antiquity, honour, and power. This Mount King Charles II. began to face with strong Brick, but that part only next the lower Court was executed.

The lower Court is larger than the upper, and may be said to be divided into two parts, by St. George's Chapel, which stands in the middle; on the South and West sides of the outer part of this Court, are the Houses of the Alms, or Poor Knights of Windsor; on the North, or inner side, are the several Houses and Apartments of the Dean and Canons, also of the Minor Canons, Clerks, and other Officers of this Foundation; but as these several Particulars are the subject of the ensuing History, they will hereafter be largely treated of in distinct Chapters.

In this Ward are also several Towers, belonging to the Officers of the Crown when the Court is at Windsor, which will be fully explain'd in the Plan; also a large Guard-Room, and a Company of Foot-Guards constantly do duty here under the command of an Officer, but at all times subject to the Constable or Governor of the Castle; to whom alone pertains the sole command of the place, or any Garrison here, as also of the Magazine of Arms, Stores, and Houses.

The

40 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

The Constable was first appointed by King John, and is an Office of great honour and power, as is before observed; his office is partly Military, and partly Civil; as a military Officer, he is obliged to defend this Castle against all Enemies, whether foreign or domestick, hath the charge of prisoners brought hither; and is answerable for them, and for all that is in the Castle to the King. To assist him in the due execution of his Office, is appointed a Deputy, or Lieutenant Governor, who in his absence holds equal command with the Governor himself, and has Lodgings appointed for his residence at the entrance of the Round Tower.

As a civil Officer, the Constable is Judge of a court of Record, held there by Prescription, for the determination of Pleas between party and party, arising within the Precincts of the Forest of Windsor and Liberties thereof, which compriseth many Towns, over the Inhabitants whereof this Court hath Jurisdiction, to any sum or contract, by way of action at the common Law, and all legal Processes, Judgments, and Executions issue out in his name.

For this part of his Office also, he hath a Deputy learned in the Law, who is called Steward of the Court of Record, and is Keeper of the Constable's Seal of Office, with which all things issuing out of it are sealed. This Officer supplies the Constable's place, as Judge of that Court of Pleas, from whose Judgment the appeal is by Writ of Error returnable in the King's-Bench, or Common-Pleas at Westminster.

The Constable of this Castle is likewise chief Forester and Warden of the Forest of Windsor, which is 120 miles in compass: He hath under him one or more Lieutenants at his pleasure, with several other Officers, and hath power to imprison any Trespasser in Vert or Venison, being convicted according to the Law of the Forest, having a Prison in the Castle for that purpose, called the Cole-hole.

This command of his, is not only great, but full of pleasure, (especially to such as take delight in Hunting) for he hath the freedom of using the Sports of the Forest when he pleaseth, which none else can do, unless the King's licence, or Constable's leave be first obtained obtained. He signs all Warrants to kill Deer, except those signed by the King, also Warrants to fell timber and wood; moreover as Warden of the Forest, he holds a Court every six weeks, for the more due regulation, and order of the several parts of the Forest, to which the Tenants are obliged to pay due obedience.

The present Governor, or Constable is, His Grace the Duke of St. Albans.

Deputy Governor, Coll. Olivier.

Judge of the Court of Record, George Proctor Esq;

But to return. King Charles II. left little to be done to this Castle, except the Painting of the Apartments, which was carried on by his Successors King James II. and William III. in whose reign the whole was compleated, and will be particularly described at the end of this History. The former of these last mentioned Princes, during his residence at this Palace, gave an uncommon spectacle to his Subjects on July 3, 1687. by the publick Entry of a Nuntio from the Pope, but that Prince had the mortification to see, notwithstanding the Ceremony was conducted with much state and outward shew, rather than entertain, it gave offence to a People, too sensible to be deluded by the idle parade of Popish Pageantry; and farther, at Court, his Grace the Duke of Somerset, then Lord of the Bed-chamber in waiting, refused to attend that Gentleman to his Audience, and chose rather to incur his Sovereign's displeasure, than to perform a task unsuitable to his High Rank, and contrary to the Laws of the Kingdom.

Lastly, Queen Anne made several additions to this Castle, particularly the flight of Steps on the East side of the Terras; and, though the Court has seldom resided at Windsor in the Reigns of his late and present Majesty, considerable sums have been granted for the necessary Repair of this Castle and the Royal Apartments.

In the course of this History, little matter has offered for the entertainment of the studious in Antiquity; the well-known story of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table at Windsor, having been generally given up, especially by later Historians: This notwithstanding, I shall observe, that in the Preface to the Black Book, or Register of the

42 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Garter, which will frequently be made use of in this History, mention is made of this Prince, who has been deservedly noted and famous, and in whose reign the riches and power of the Britons largely encreased, who also began that noble Tower [at Windsor] and there instituted his Round Table: Neither am I unacquainted with the conjecture of Cæsar's Passage here over the Thames, supported by Polydor Vergil, Illud fluminis vadum fuisse ultra Vindeboram pagum, Hist. Angl. p. 29. but to leave these matters to the more knowing in Antiquity, with far better assurance may we come down to the Saxons, whose Residence at Windsor is with greater certainty noted by Historians, and the Place itself to have received its Name from that People; King Edward the Confessor especially, has been generally allowed to keep his Court here; and to what has been already said concerning this Prince being in possession of Windsor, I shall add the following story, as it is related by Bishop Kennet from Will. Malsb. One Wulwin, surnamed Spillicora, Son of Wulman de Nuregarshale cutting down fuelle in the woode Bruelle, (now Brill in Bucks) after hard labouring fell into a sleep, and by a settlement of blood in his eyes lost his sight for seventeen years, and then upon the strength of a dream he went round to eighty seven Churches to beg relief from the respective Saints, and at last came blind to the King's Court at Windsor, and was cur'd by a touch of the King's hand; after which he was Keeper of the King's Palace at Windsor, for several years after the death of his Royal healer. Hist of Ambrosd. p. 53.

Whatever credit this story may gain according to the temper of the Reader, it certainly is a confirmation that the Saxon Princes resided at Windsor, but it is most probable, that the present Village of Old Windsor, about a mile distant from this new Town, was the habitation of the Saxons, from the frequent digging up antient Ruins in that neighbourhood, which cannot otherwise be accounted for; and that the beauties of this neighbouring Hill, caused succeeding Monarchs to make this Spot their Royal Residence; and if the present Town of Windsor yields to its neighbour in Antiquity, it has sufficient amends by its renowned Castle, famous in every Nation, and the most celebrated residence of the Kings of England for near seven hundred years past, the Scene of great and heroick Actions, and the Seat of Honour, of the most noble and illustrious Order of Knighthood in the World; and in the words of an antient Author, whether you regard the wholsomeness of

Upon a late repair of one of the Towers in the upper Court or Ward, formerly set apart for State Prisoners, and called the Devil's Tower, but of late altered, and made into handsome Apartments for the Maids of Honour, was found on a stone in the window, an Inscription in Italian, which has been carefully taken off, and is here represented; some parts of the stone were broke by the workmen before it was discovered, whereby it is rendered somewhat imperfect.

This Inscription I sent to that worthy Antiquary Dr. Rawlinson, with an intimation, that by the Reading it seemed to be the Petition of some Italian Prisoner, probably in the Wars of Edw. III. who, not being a subject to the Prince with whom that King was at war, might possibly think himself unjustly detained pro Ragione [di Stato] contra Giustitia.

In a Letter from that Gentleman soon after, he says, from a Friend to whom I sent your Italian Inscription I received the following Answer, which I think fit to communicate to you in his words. "The Inscription seems wrote on the place where the Italian was a prisoner, but I cannot see he was a Prisoner of War, because he says he was so, contrary to justice; as there is no name of the person, it is hard to guess who was the man, or in what time he was prisoner, Italian Manuscripts might enable me to guess by the form of the letters, in which of the Edward's; for it might as well be in the time of Edward I. as Edward III. or some Italian concerned in the Assassination of Henry Earl of Cornwall, Son of Richard King of the Romans, or any other on a different occasion" — Thus far my friend, says Dr. Rawlinson, and his hint is just as to the character, and old Italian MSS are so rare amongst us, that if you will send me a few, I will procure opinions from abroad, as soon as you will enable me by sending a few copies. The Copies were sent according to Dr. Rawlinson's desire, in hopes, as he expresses it, that different opinions might strike out some light; but as no return from abroad has been yet received, I leave this Inscription for the amusement of those Gentlemen whose inclination leads them to these studies.

As a particular description of the Royal Apartments, and St. George's Hall will be referred to a future Chapter, I shall only observe farther in general, that the several Foundations within this Royal Castle are as follow:

- I. The most noble Order of the Garter; which consists of the Sovereign and twenty-five Knights-Companions.
- II. The Royal College of St. George, consists of a Dean, twelve Canons, or Prebends, seven Minor Canons, eleven Clerks, one Organist, one Verger, and two Sacristis.

III. The

46 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

III. The Alms-Knights; who are eighteen in number, viz. thirteen of the Royal Foundation, and five of the Foundation of Sir Peter le Maire, in the reign of King James I.

The Houses of these Poor Knights are on the South and West sides of the lower Court, in the manner, as Camden says, of the Grecian Prytaneum, or Residence of those that had deserved well of their Country, by a life spent in War, or in the service of the Crown, which was the intention of the royal and warlike Founder King Edward III. though of late not so strictly attended to.

For the rest, the Reader is referred to the Plan annexed, wherein every Part of this noble Castle is fully shewn, and the Royal Apartments distinctly described, and it only remains to mention that the whole of this noble Building is surrounded by a strong and regular Rampart of stone, and the outward Gate on the Hill next to the Town, was built An. 14. Reg. Eliz. as appears by this Inscription:

ELIZABETHÆ REGINÆ XIII.

It may perhaps be thought an omission, not to take notice here of the well-known Apothegm of the Architect William of Wickham, Bishop of Winchester, who was principally employed, as is before noticed, by King Edward III. in building this Castle, which when he had finished, in one of the Towers he caused to be cut this doubtful Sentence:

THIS MADE WICKHAM.

Which was reported to the King, as if that Prelate assumed to Himself the Honour of building this Royal Castle, and had he not, by a ready explication assured his Royal Master, that He intended no Meaning derogatory to his Sovereign, but only an Acknowledgment, that this Building had made him great in the favour of his Prince, and was the cause of his present high station, the Prelate had probably fell under the displeasure of that Monarch by this Inscription, which possibly in time might have occasioned a double Interpretation.

CHAPTER III. Of the CHAPEL of St. GEORGE.

THE Chapel of St. George is situate in the lower Ward or Court of this princely Castle. King Henry I. first erected a Chapel here, and dedicated it to King Edward the Confessor. King Edward II. founded also a Chapel in the Park adjoining; but neither of these were endowed or incorporated.

King Edward III. soon after he had founded the College (of which we shall treat in the next Chapter) in consequence of his great design, and for the greater honour of this his royal Habitation, caused the former Chapels to be taken down, and one more large and stately Structure to be erected; and for the due and speedy execution of this his pious and truly noble purpose, in the twenty-fourth year of his reign, he granted to John de Sponlee, the office of Master of the Stone-hewers; and gave him power, not only to take and press, as well within liberties as without, so many Masons and other Artificers as were necessary, and to convey them to Windsor, to work at the King's pay, but to arrest and imprison such as should disobey or refuse, until the King took other order; with a command to all Sheriffs, Mayors, Bailiffs, &c. to be assisting to him on the King's behalf.

The following year this King assigned James de Dorchester, Sub-Constable of the Castle, to keep a controll upon all the Provisions whatsoever, bought for the works of the Chapel; as also on the payments made for the same, and all other things relating thereunto.

Together with this Fabrick he erected several Houses near adjoining, for the Custos and Canons to inhabit in: And afterwards King Henry IV. gave to them a void place in the Castle called the Wodehawe, on the West end of this lower Ward, for building of Houses and Chambers for the Vicars, Clerks, Choristers, and the other Ministers, assigned to the service of the Chapel.

But King Edward IV. (whose inclination to, and kindness for this place was extraordinary) finding upon survey, that the former Foundation and Walls of the Chapel of St. George, were in his time very much decayed and consumed; and esteeming the Fabrick not large or stately enough, designed to build one more noble and excellent: To this purpose he constituted Richard Beauchamp, Bishop of Salisbury, Master and Surveyor of the Work: And taking notice, that divers of the officary Houses, and other irregular Buildings and old Walls stood in his way, and hindered the design he had to enlarge the Structure, gave the Bishop power wholly to remove all such impediments, and to demolish and dig up their Foundations, particularly those ancient Buildings on the East side of the Chapel, which reached unto the Walls on the North side of the Castle, where the Towers commonly called Clure ys Tower, and Le Amener ys Tower, and Warner ys Tower were situated; as also on the South Side of the Chapel, unto the Belfrey exclusively, and to employ the Stone, Timber, and other Materials thereof, upon such Edifices in the Castle as he should think most convenient.

With what diligence and sedulity, and how well the Bishop performed this office and employment, appears from the testimony given him by the King, in the preamble of the Patent, by which he shortly after constituted him Chancellor of the Garter: "That out of meer love towards the Order, he had given himself the leisure daily to attend the advancement and progress of this goodly Fabrick." From the new Foundation thus laid by King Edward IV. arose (like a Phoenix out of its ashes) the elegant and beauteous structure now standing, enlarged in length at least one hundred fathom, tho' it attained not its beauty and perfection 'till the reign of King Henry VIII. together with the Dean and Canons Houses, situate on the North side of the Chapel, and those for the Petty Canons, raised at the West end thereof, in form of a Petter-lock (one of King Edward IV. royal Badges) and so vulgarly called.

In

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 51

In Henry VII. reign, Sir Reginald Bray (one of the Knights Companions of the Order) became a liberal Benefactor towards finishing the body of this Chapel, and building the middle Chapel on the South side thereof, still called by his Name (where his Body lies interred) as is manifest, not only from his last Will, but also from his Arms, Crest, and the initial Letters of his Christian and Surname, cut in Stone, and placed in divers parts of the Roof.

By Indenture, dated June 5, in the twenty-first year of this King's reign, John Hylmer, and William Vertue, Freemasons, undertook the vaulting of the Roof of the Choir (that curious and excellent piece of Architecture) for seven hundred Pounds, and to finish it by Christmas, Anno 1508.

In his Son and Successors reign, the Rood-loft and Lanthorn were erected, with the contributions raised amongst the Knights Companions, Anno 8. Henry VIII.

There were formerly within this Chapel of St. George several Chantries, enendowed with Lands and other Revenues, appointed for the maintenance of Chaplains and Priests, to sing Masses there, for the Souls of the several Founders and their Kindred; as First,

William of Wickham, Bishop of Winchester, gave two hundred Marks for buying of twenty Marks Rent per Ann. to sustain a Chaplain to celebrate Mass in this Chapel, for the health of his Soul, the Soul of King Edward III. of the said Bishop's Father, Mother, and all his Benefactors. The Covenants between him and the Dean and Chapter for performing thereof, bear date at Windsor, the 29th of May, Anno 3, Henry IV.

The 26th of November, Anno 18, Edward IV. the Feoffees of Richard Duke of Gloucester, confirmed and delivered to the Dean and Chapter, the Manours of Benfieldbury in the County of Essex, Knapp-ton in the County of Norfolk, and Chellsworth in the County of Suffolk; and thereupon appointed (among other things) that they and their Successors, should cause yearly for ever, a Mass to be daily celebrated in this Chapel, for the good estate of the said Duke, and of Ann his Dutcheſs, while they lived, and their Souls when dead; as also for the Souls of their Parents and Benefactors.

By Indenture, bearing date March 30, Anno 21. Edward IV. Sir Tho. Seyntleger, Knt. Husband to Ann Dutcheſs of Exeter, Sister to King Edward IV. appointed several Obiits to be held yearly in this Chapel, to pray for the healthful estate of King Edward IV. and for his beloved Wife Elizabeth Queen of England, while they lived, and for their Souls when they shall pass out of this World; and for the good estate of Cicely Dutcheſs of York, Mother to Edward IV. while she lived, and for her Soul when she shall pass out of this World; and for the Soul of the most famous Prince Richard, Duke of York; and also for the good estate of the above Sir Thomas Seyntleger, Knt. and the worshipful Father in God Richard Bishop of Salisbury, while they lived, and also for their Souls after their decease, and for the Soul of his Wife Ann Dutcheſs of Exeter, and all Christians Souls: This to be performed by two secular Priests, in a Chapel called the Middle North, or Rutland Chapel; several of that noble Family being buried in this Chapel, of which, in the following account of the Monuments.

By the last Will of King Edward IV. a Chantry was ordained to be founded of two Priests, to serve at his Tomb, to whom was appointed an exhibition of twenty Marks yearly apiece; they were called King Edward's Chantry-Priests.

The Chantry of Thomas Paſche (one of the Canons of this Chapel) was founded for a Priest to pray daily for his Soul, and the Soul of William Hermer, another of the Canons there) as also for the good estate of Mr. John Arundel, and Mr. John Seymore, Canons, and of Mr. Thomas Brotherton, and their Souls, after they shall depart this life.

There was another Chantry-Priest assigned to pray for the Souls of the said Paſche and Hermer, and of John Plumer, Verger of the Chapel, and Agatha his Wife; which devotion was appointed to be performed at the Altar on the North side of the new Church, and the settlement thereof, bears date the 18th of March, Anno 9, Henry VII.

March

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 53

March 1, Anno 12, Henry VII. Margaret Countess of Richmond, obtained Licence from the King, that she, or her Executors, might found a Chantry of four Chaplains, to pray for her Soul, the Souls of her Parents and Ancestors, and all faithful Souls departed: The celebration was to be performed in a place near the East part of the new Work of the Chapel; and the 18th of July, Anno 13, Henry VII. the Dean and Canons granted, that the Countess or her Executor, should erect such a Chantry in the Chapel, as is before mentioned.

King Henry VII. by Indenture, bearing date December 17, Anno Regni 20<sup>o</sup>, granted the annual sum of six Pounds thirteen Shillings and Four-pence, to the Dean and Canons of Windsor, to pray for the good and prosperous estate of him the said King Henry and his Kingdom, every year on the 11th of February; and for the good estate of the excellent Princess Elizabeth Queen of England, at that time his Wife, and for their Children and Issue; for the Souls of the right excellent Edmonde Earl of Richmond, Father to our said Sovereign Lord the King; and of all the progenitors and ancestors of the said King; and for the Soul of the right excellent Princess Margaret Countess of Richmond and Derby, Mother to the said Sovereign Lord the King; and also to pray for the Soul of the said King Henry after his decease; and for the Soul of the said Queen Elizabeth after her decease; for the Souls of their Children and Issue, and all Christian Souls.

By Indenture, bearing date July 30, in the 21st year of the reign of King Henry VII. Charles Somerset, Knt. Lord Herbert, and of Gower, and Elizabeth his Wife, Daughter and sole Heir of William late Earl of Huntington, gave an Obiit, to pray for the Souls and good estate of this Lord and Lady during their lives, and for their Souls after their decease; also for the Souls of Henry Duke of Somerset, and William Herbert, Earl of Huntington; and for the Souls of the Mothers of the said Sir Charles, and Lady Elizabeth his Wife, and all Christian Souls. This Obiit to be performed in a Chapel at the lower end of the South Isle, in the body of the Church; where the bodies of the said Lord and Lady lay. On the North side of St. George's Chapel, was formerly a little House, but now decayed, built for the habitation of this Chantry Priest;

Priest; and over the door thereof, was the Founders Arms within a Garter, cut upon Stone. The foundation of this Chantry is dated July 30, Anno 21. Henry VII.

By another Indenture bearing date the 21st day of February, in the 23d year of Henry VII. Katherine Hastings, late Wife and Executrix of the Right Hon. William Lord Hastings, Chamberlain to K. Edward IV. and Sir Edward Hastings, Knt. Lord Hastings and Hungerford, Son and Heir of the said William Lord Hastings, gave an Obiit in this Chapel, to be perform'd June 13, in a Chapel built at the expence of the above Lord Hastings, to pray for the Souls of this Lord and Lady, and also for the Souls of his Lordship's Father and Mother, and his Ancestors; and likewise for the Soul of King Edward IV. and Queen Elizabeth his Wife; and after the death of the said Edward Lord Hastings, and Mary his Wife, for their Souls, and for all Christian Souls, to be perform'd by one Secular Priest in a Chapel on the North Isle about the middle of the Choir, where the body of his Lordship's Father lies interred, as appears by his Armes on several parts of this Chantry-Chapel, which will be taken notice of in the monumental Inscriptions. Adjoining to the House built for the Lord Herbert's Chantry Priest, is another like building, erected for this Chantry Priest; and over the door was the Lord Hastings Arms, cut also upon Stone, surrounded with a Garter.

Besides these several Chantries founded at different Times, there were heretofore held and celebrated in this Chapel of St. George, several Anniversaries or Obiits for the remembrance of pious Persons, and other Benefactors to this Church; Mr. Ashmole, in his History, mentions each particular name, but as the observation of them has long since been laid aside, we shall pass them over, and observe that since the Reformation four general Obiits only, are observed annually, viz. on the Sunday next proceeding the four quarterly Feast Days, viz. March 25, June 24, September 29, and December 25, in commemoration of the Founders, Patrons, and Benefactors to this Church, and the Order of the Garter; at which Times, a particular Service is made use of, and the several Officers of the Church have an additional Stipend.

We shall here however take notice that King Henry VIII. by his Will, bearing date December 30, 1546, in the 38th year of his reign, appointed four solemn Obiits to be kept yearly after his decease in this College of Windsor, and as this probably is the last appointment of this kind in this kingdom, and there being also several orders relating to his Interrment in this Church, and other particulars which may be agreeable to the Reader, we shall here insert the former part of his Will in his own Words; tho' have reason to believe, a small part of it only was ever executed.

IN the name of God, and of the glorious and blessed Virgin our Lady Saint Mary, and of all the holy company of heaven.

We Henry by the grace of God King of *England, Fraunce and Irland*e, defender of the faith, and in erth ymediately under God the supreme hed of the church of *England and Irland*e of that name theight, calling to our remembrance the great gifts and benefits of almighty God given unto us in this transitory lief, give unto him our most lowly and humble thanks, knowledging ourself insufficient in any part to deserve or recompence the same. But feare that we have not worthely received the same.

And considering further also with ourself, that we be, as all mankind is, mortal and born in Sinne, believing nevertheles, and hoping that every christien creature lyving here in this transitory and wretched woorld under God, dying in stedfast and perfaict faith, endeavouring and exercising himself to execute in his lief tyme, if he have leisur, such good dedes and charitable works, as scripture commandeth, and as may be to the honour and pleaseur of God, is ordeyned by Christe passion to be saved, and to atteyn eternall lief; of which nombre we verily trust by his grace to be oon.

And that every creature, the more high that he is in estate, honor, and authorite in this woorld, the more he is bound to love, serve, and thank God, and the more diligently to endeavour himself to do good and charitable works to the lawde, honour, and praise of almighty God, and the profit of his fowle.

We also calling to our remembrance the dignite, estate, honor, rule, and gouernance, that almighty God hath called us unto in this woorld, and that neither we, nor any other creature mortall knowish the tyme, place, place, whenne, ne where it shall pleas almighty God to call him out of this transitory woorld. Willing therefore and minding with Gods grace before our passage out of the same, to dispose and ordre our latter mynd, will, and testament in that sort, as we trust it shall be acceptable to almighty God, our only Saviour Iesus Christ, and all the hole company of heaven, and the due satisfaction of all godly brethren in erth. Have therefore, now being of hole and persaiet mynde, adhering holy to the right faith of Christ and his doctrine, repenting also our old and detestable lief, and being in persaiet will and mynd by his grace never to return to the same, nor such like; and minding by Gods grace never to vary therefro as long as any remembraunce, breth, or inward knowledge doth, or may remayn within this mortall body, moost humbly and hartly do commend and bequeyeth our soull to almighty God, who in personne of the Sonne redeamed the same with his moost precious body and blood in tyme of his passion. And for our better remembraunce thereof, hath left here with us in his church militant, the consecration and administration of his precious body and blood; to our no little consolation and comfort, if we as thankfully accept the same, as he lovingly, and undeserved on man's behalf, hath ordeyned it for our only benefit, and not his. Also we do instantly require and desire the blessed Virgin Mary his mother, with all the ho'e company of heaven, continually to pray for us, and with us, whiles we lyve in this woorld, and in the time of passing out of the same, that we may the sooner atteyn everlasting lief after our departure out of this transitory lief, which we do both hope and clayme by Christs passion and woord. And as for my body, which whenne the soul is departed, shall thenne remayn as a Cadaver, and so return to the vile matter it was made of; wer it not for the rowme and dignitye, which God hath called us unto; and that we woold not be noted an infringer of honest wordly policies and custumes, whenne they be not contrary to gode lawes; we woold be content to have it buried in any place for christien folke, were it never so vile; for it is but ashes, and to ashes it shall again. Nevertheles, bicaus we woold be lothe in the reputation of the people, to do injurye to the dignitye, which we unworthily are called unto:

We are content, and also by these presentes our last will and testament do will and ordeyn, that our body be buried and enterred in the Quere of our college of Windefour, midway between the Statte and the high Auttare, and there to be made and sette, assoon as conveniently may be doon after our deceasse, by our executours, at our coste and charge, if it be not doon by us in our lief time, an honorable tomb for our bones to rest in, which is well onward, and almoost made therefor alredye, with a fayre grate about it; in which we will also, that the bones and body of our true and loving wief Queene Jane be put also; and that there be provided, ordeyned, made, and sett, at the coste and charge of us, or of our executours, if it be not doon in our lief, a convenient Aulter, honorably prepared, and apparailled with all manner of thinges requisite and necessary for dayly masses, there to be sayd perpetuelly, while the world shall endure.

Also we will, that the tombes and aultars of King Henry VI. and also of King Edward IV. our great Uncle and Graunt-father, be made more princely, in the same place where they now be, at our charge.

And also will and specially desyre and requyre, that where and whensoever it shall pleas God to call us out of this world transitory to his infinite mercy and grace, be it beyond the see, or in any other place without our realme of England, or within the same, that our executours, assoon as conveniently they may, shall cause all divine service accustomed for dead folke to be celebrate for us, in the nixt and most propire place where it shall fortune us to depart out of this transitory lief.

And over that we will, that whensoever or wheresoever it shall pleas God to call us out of this transitory lief to his infinite mercy and grace, be it within this realme, or without, that our executours, in as goodly, brief, and convenient hast, as they reasonably canne, or may, ordeyn, prepare, and cause our body to be removed, conveyed, and brought into the sayd college of Windefour; and the service of Placebo and Dirige, with a sermon and masse on the morowe, at our coste and charge, devoutly to be done, observed, and solemply kept, there to be buried and enterred in the place appointed for our sayd tombe, or to be made for the same entent; and all this to be doon, in as devout wise, as canne, or may be doon; and we will and charge our executours, that they dispose and give an aulmes to the moost poore and nedy people, that may be found, commyn beggars, as moch as may be, avoyde, in as short space as possibly they may, after our departure out of this transitory

Also we woll, that with as convenient spede as may be doon after our departure out of this world, if it be not doon in our life, that the Deane and Channons of our free chaple of Sainct George, within our castle of Windeſour, shall have manours, lande, tenement, and spiritual promotions, to the yerly value of fixe hundred pounce, over all charge made sure to them, to them and their successours for ever, upon these conditions hereafter ensuyng.

And for the due and full accomplishment and parformaunce of all other things conteyned with the same, in the forme of an indenture, signed with our own hande, which shall be passed by way of covenant for that purpose, betwen the sayd Deane and Channons, and our executours, if it passe not betwen us and the sayd Deane and Channons in our lief; that is to saye, the sayd Dean and Channons, and their successours for ever, shall fynde twoo priests to saye Masses at the sayd aulter, to be made where we have before appointed our tombe to be made and stand; and also, after our decease, keepe yerely four solempe Obits for us within the sayd college of Windeſour; and at every of the same Obits, to cause a solempe sermon to be made.

And also, at every of the sayd Obits, to give to poore people in aulmes, tenne pounds.

And also to give for ever yerly, to thirtene poore men, which shall be called Poore Knights, to every of them twelf-pens every day, and ones in the yere yerely for ever, a long gounce of white cloth, with the garter upon the brest, embrodered with a shelde and croffe of Sainct George within the garter, and a mantel of red cloth; and to such one of the sayd thirtene Poor Knights, as shall be appointed to be hed and governour of them, 3*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* yerely for ever, over and beside the sayd twelf-pennes by the day.

And also to cause every Sunday in the yere for ever, a sermon to be made for ever at Windeſour aforeſayd, as in the sayd indenture and covenant shall be more fully and particularly expressed. Willing, charging, ing, and requyring our sonne Prince Edward, all our executours and counsellours, which shall be named hereafter, and all other our heirs and successours, which shall be Kings of this realme, as they shall answer before Almighty God at the dreadful day of judgment, that they, and every of them do see, that the seyd indenture and assurance to be made betwene us and the sayd Deane and Channons, or betwene them and our executours, and all things therein conteyned, may be duely put in execution, and observed and kept for ever perpetuelly, according to this our last will and testament.

But to proceed; opposite to the North door of this Church was founded, An. 11. Hen. VIII. a House called the New Commons, by James Denton, one of the Canons of the College, and sometime Dean of Litchfield, for the lodging and dieting of those Chantry Priests, Choristers, and Stipendary Priests, who had no certain place within the College, wherein to hold Commons, but were constrained daily to eat their Meals in houses of the Town: This House was provided with all proper utensils, and the whole charge amounted to 489*l.* 7*s.* 1*d.* In the statutes he ordained for their rule and government, he directed certain Prayers to be said by them when they entered the Chapel; and after his death to pray for his Soul, and the Souls of all the faithful departed. Over the door is yet to be seen the following Inscription.

Mr. Asbmole in this place observes, " that it was usual in former ages, especially for those of the military profession, after they had spent their youth and manhood in the service of their King and Country, to bestow the remainder of their lives in Prayers for both, and the salvation of their own Souls: And therefore to cherish the piety of well-disposed Knights-Companions of the noble Order of the Garter, who for devotion sake were induced to retire to Windsor, Permission was given them by King Edward's Statutes of Institution, Article 31, to make their continual abode there, nevertheless to maintain themselves out of their own Estates, not at the College charge.

This Article is confirmed by the Statutes of King Henry V. to which those of King Henry VIII. add, " That the Sovereign should assign
I 2 " them

60 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

“ them convenient habitations within the Castle.” The like favour upon like occasion was afforded to other devout Knights, though not of the Order; but the Lodgings to be such as the Sovereign and Knights-Companion should decree.

It is no where mentioned that any of the Knights-Companions made use of the benefit of this Article: But in another nature, and for their better accommodation at the Grand Feast of the Order, and other solemnities held at Windsor, they moved the Sovereign in Chapter the 22d of May, Anno 14 Car. I. That they may have Rooms for Lodging assigned them, in the great, or upper Court, (which they offer'd to repair at their own charge) since all the Officers of the Order had Lodgings in the Castle, but the Knights Companions none. This motion was not disliked by the Sovereign, so it might be without exclusion of the great Officers of State; concerning whom he declared, “ That he “ would not have them removed from him at any time;” and thereupon it was left to further consideration.

Having thus amply treated of the building of this Chapel, and the several establishments peculiar to it, I shall here by the favour of the Reverend the Dean and Prebends, insert the South View of this Chapel as at present, whereby the Reader will be enabled to form a better idea of this famous Fabrick, than by any particular Description.

Adjoining to the East end is a fair Edifice, of like Building with this Chapel of St. George, erected, not by Cardinal Woolsey, as has generally prevailed, and as such mentioned by Mr. Ashmole, Bishop Ker, and other Authors of Credit, but by King Henry VII. for a Burial-place for himself; and, according to the fashion of those times, upon the King's application to the Pope, a Bull from that See was granted, wherein it is said, Proponat unam Capellam in Ecclesia S. Georgii, in qua sepulturam suam eligere intendit, de propriis bonis suis fundare et construere. Rymer. Fæd. Vol. 12. p. 565, seq.

King Henry, it seems however, afterwards laid aside his intention of making this new-erected Dormitory, or Chapel, the place of his Interment; and began that more noble Work at Westminster; to this purpose Leland says, Quum Henricus septimus memoria mortis tactus, locum sepulturæ suæ aptum quæreret, diruto Eadewardino templo veteri illo, novum a fundamentis loco eodem construxit, quod et hodie vocat;

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 61

cat; mutaverat enim de sepulchro sententiam, ac alterum Visimonasterii inchoavit. Not. ad Cyg. Cant. vide Itin. Vol. 9 p. 100. Add to this, if Cardinal Woolsey had built this Edifice, without doubt there would have been some appearance (as in his stately Building at Oxford) of his high dignity, either in Church or State, but on the contrary by the Portcullis, Rose, and other Royal Badges in several parts of this Building, it plainly appears, that not the Cardinal, but King Henry VII. erected this Fabrick.

Farther also, the Tomb erected in this Building, has been generally mistaken, and said to be built by the Cardinal for his Royal Master King Henry VIII. and a present Historian, following the opinion of former Writers, has confounded this Tomb, erected by the Cardinal in this additional Building, with one designed, and in some part carried on by King Henry VIII. for himself, in the Choir of St. George's Chapel, and described at large by Speed in his Chronicle.

This Error in Historians might easily arise from common report, or not duly considering, that the Prince and the Minister might carry on two such stately Tombs in one and the same Place. But to set this matter also right, this Fabrick remaining vacant, on the change of Henry the VIIth's mind to Westminster, as is above noted, the Cardinal in full favour with his Prince, and in the zenith of power, readily obtained a Grant of it from his indulgent Master Henry VIII. and with a profusion of expence unknown in former times, designed a most sumptuous Monument for his own interment, and not for his Royal Master; as has been the common received opinion: This is evident from the Instructions he gave to his Servant Ralph Sadler, on his retirement to York after his Fall, in a Commission to Cromwell, to procure the sending hither, (i. e. to York) of mine Image, with such part of the Tomb as it shall please the King that I shall have, to the intent that now being at my Church at York, I may order and dispose the same for my Burial. Fiddes's Life of Woolsey, p. 257. Coll.

Lord Bacon also, in his Life of Henry VIII. says, Woolsey was buried in the Abbey Church at York, Nov. 30, 1530, and not where he had begun a Monument for himself long since; which one Benedetto, a Statuary of Florence took in hand, An. 1524. and continued till 1529. receiving for so much as was already done 4250 Ducats, the design whereof was was so glorious, that it farre exceeded that of King Henry VII. And in Fiddes's Collect. above-cited, mention is made of a Letter from Antonio Cavallery to the Cardinal, wherein he says, That for gilding part of this Tomb, which is already done, (being the half) he hath laid out 380 l. 13 s. Sterling. He seems also to doubt whether the Cardinal meant to have the rest of the Tomb perfected, which if he does not mean, he would have him to order the Gilder leave to go home to Antwerp, and also to Benedict, a Carver, to return into Italy.

After this, K. Charles I. designed to enlarge and make this Chapel a proper Dormitory for himself and succeeding Princes, but by bad times, that Prince's thoughts were diverted another way, and the place was defaced, and the unfinished Tomb demolished by the Rebels April 6. 1646. and all the Statues and Figures of gilt Copper of exquisite Workmanship, made for the ornament of the Tomb, taken from thence, and sold to carry on the Rebellion.

Lastly, in the reign of K. James II. this Chapel was fitted up for the service of Popery, and Mass was publicly performed here; and Verrio the famous Painter, who had been many years employed in painting the royal Apartments, painted this Chapel also, and is said to have herein exceeded all his other labours. Pity it is, that this Chapel, which might be an Ornament, should be suffered to run to ruin, and stand a mark of publick Resentment, for being once employed in a service disagreeable to a Protestant people; but certain it is, since that Prince's reign, it has been entirely neglected, tho' the care and repair of it is peculiar to the Crown, being no Appendage to the Collegiate Church. As the Painting on the Cieling promises in a short time to be entirely decayed, and has been regarded as part of the best of Verrio's performances, a short description of it will here be given.

K. James II. in the Robes of the Garter, holding a Scepter in his Hand, is seated triumphant on an Arch treading down a Hydra; near this Prince is represented Mars destroying and beating down Faction, Fury, Rebellion, &c. over his head is held an Imperial Crown by the Figures of Time and Peace; and above this is the representation of Plenty holding a scrowl with this Inscription, Concordia Fratrum. On the right hand is Jupiter attended by a Group of Figures, one of whom holds a Cro.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 63

a Crozier to represent the Church; also a Mercury relating the glory of the Monarch.

At the East end is Fame, holding in her right hand an Oval of King Charles I. in her left hand the same of King Charles II. Over the head of the first of these Princes, is a scrawl inscribed Calamitas Publica.

There are other representations of Plenty and Peace; also the Rose and Thistle, denoting the Union of the two Kingdoms; the Emblems of the Order of the Garter; and the Chapel is in many places ornamented and finely painted; all which by neglect, is now hastening to decay.

We shall next proceed to give the Reader an account of the inside of St. George's Chapel, which has been at all times esteemed for its neatness and great beauty; the Stone Roof especially is reckoned a most excellent piece of Workmanship, rarely to be equaled; it is an Elipsis supported by Pillars of ancient Gothick Architecture, whose Ribs and Groins support the whole Ceiling with admirable beauty and elegance. Every part of this lofty Ceiling has a different device to great perfection, or the Arms peculiar to several Sovereigns of the Kingdom; particularly the Arms of King Edward the Confessor, Edward III. Henry VI. Edward IV. Henry VII. and Henry VIII. also the Arms of France and England quarterly, the Holy Cross, the Shield or Cross of St. George, the Rose, Portcullis, Lion Rampant, Unicorn, Fleur de lis, Dragon, Prince's Feather, &c. also the Arms of Bourchier, Stafford, Hastings, Beaufort, Manners, and other noble Families.

The Arms and Crest also, with various devices peculiar to Sir Reginald Bray, Knt. of the Garter, and of Dr. Vrswick, Dean of this Chapel (both of whom we shall soon have occasion farther to mention) are particularly more frequent in different parts of the Roof, and the said Sir Reginald Bray especially, will appear a very singular and great Benefactor to this Church.

Besides

64 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Besides these several Arms and Devices; on the Roof of the middle Isle are cut many initial Letters relating to the royal Name, H. R. or the Names of the two last mentioned, and other Benefactors, cut in this fashion.

On the North.

R. A. C. K. R. E. R.

On the South.

H. R. B. V. A.

Others are cut in this manner within a Label, inscribed

Domine saluum fac Regem.

This Letter also appears in many places on the Ceiling; as does also the Prince of Wales's Bearing, or Feathers, with the usual Motto, Ich Dien.

It would be tedious, and give but small satisfaction to the Reader, to relate here the many particulars on the several parts of this curious Ceiling, which has always attracted the attention of the most knowing Architect, and been esteemed equal to any Building of the like kind in Europe: It is however proper not to pass by without due notice, that part of the Ceiling in the nave or middle Arch of this Chapel, where are curiously designed and blazoned, the Arms of Henry VIII. Sovereign, and the several Knights-Companions of the Garter, Anno 1528, as appears by the date under the royal Arms, being the 19th of that Prince.

In

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR: 65

In the Center are the Arms of the Sovereign within the Garter, and in the same Circle, 1. The Cross of St George, Patron of this most Noble Order. 2. The Arms of Charles V. Emperor of Germany. 3. Francis I. King of France. 4. Ferdinand Infanta of Spain, and King of the Romans; at this time Knights-Companions of this noble Order. The Arms of the other noble Knights-Companions, with those of the Prelate, are regularly disposed, and the blazonry remains at this distance of time fresh and entire.

Many other particulars of this Ceiling are worthy of remark, and to mention one instance only, at the East end of the South Isle on the Centre stone of the Arch is curiously cut, a representation of King Edward IV. and Richard Beauchamp Bishop of Salisbury, on their Knees before the Holy Cross in this wise.

And in an Arch adjoining formerly laid a Missall or Breviary, as appears by this Inscription underneath.

This Bishop lies buried in the Arch opposite to this Inscription, of which hereafter; other antient Inscriptions are found in this Church; there are also several small Chapels, both of which I shall proceed to mention. At this East end of this South Isle is Lincoln Chapel, so called from the noble family of Clinton Earls of Lincoln buried therein, of which farther mention will be made in the account of the Monuments; somewhat lower in the same Isle, is a small Chapel, or Chantry, dedicated to St. John Baptist, erected Anno 1522 by John Oxenbridge, Canon and Benefactor to this Church; the screen is in the Gothick taste, very neat and beautifull, and within is represented in ancient Painting, the History of John the Baptist, with other decorations; lower down, in the same Isle, are painted on large pannels of Oak, neatly carved and decorated, with the several Devices and Bearings peculiar to each Prince, the figures at full length, of

I. Prince Edward, Son to K. Henry VI. underneath his feet this Inscription.

III. King Edward V.

Rex Edwardus Quintus.

IV. King Henry VII.

In a lable underneath these Paintings, is the following Inscription:

Orate pro Dno Olivero Kyng, Juris . . . . Professore, ac Illustris Edwardi primogeniti Regis Henrici septi, et Serenissimorum Regum Edwardi quarti, Edwardi quinti, Henrici septimi, Principali Secretario, dignissimi Ordinis Carterii

Cartæ Regiæ, et hujus sacri Collegii Canonico, An. Dni. 1489. Et postea per dictum Illustrissimum Regem Henr. septim. Anno Dni. 1492. ad sedem Eboracensem commendato.

Opposite to these Paintings, is a small Chapel wherein is deposited the Body of the said Oliver King, of whom more hereafter; Nearunto adjoining, in the middle of this South Isle, is a spacious Chapel, built by Sir Reginald Bray, Knight of the Garter, and worthy of all honourable mention in this place, both on account of the many great civil employments he held under the Princes Henry VII. and VIII. and in in regard to this Church, to which he was not only a great Benefactor himself, but a principal Promoter and Conductor of the finishing, and bringing to perfection the present Building: This right worthy Knight was buried in this Chapel, and his Arms and Crest appear in many parts of the Building, especially on the handsome Stone Screne, which divides this Chapel from the body of the Church. Many eminent Persons besides are buried in this Chapel; of which notice will be taken in the proper place; and Divine Service is daily perform'd here every Morning and Evening.

At the West end of this Isle is a small Chapel, dedicated to the Virgin Mary, commonly called Beaufort Chapel, many of that noble Family being buried here, of which hereafter; and opposite to this, in the North Isle, is a like Chapel, commonly called the Bread, or Urswyck's Chapel, from Dr. Christopher Urswyck, sometime Canon of this Church, and joint promoter with Sir Reginald Bray, in finishing this Fabrick; This Gentleman was also a faithfull Servant to Henry VII. before his Accession to the Crown, and was afterward employed by that Prince on many Embassies to foreign Princes on the most important Affairs of State. Anno, 1495 he was appointed Dean of this Church, and was in so great favour with that Prince, that he was offered the greatest ecclesiastical Honours; all which he not only refused, but Anno 1505, resigned the Deanery of this Church, and all other his preferments, and contented himself with the duties of a private Parsonage at Hackney, near London, at which place he died, and was buried Anno Dom. 1521. His Epitaph may be found in Weaver's Funeral Monuments, and on the outside of this Chaple is the following Inscription.

68 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Orate pro animabus Regis Henrici 7<sup>mi</sup>. et Christofori Arlwyk, quondam ejus Elemosinarum magni, et istius Collegii Decani. Ave Maria, &c. Et benedicta, sit tissima (sic Orig.) tua mater Anna, ex qua sine macula processit tua purissima caro Virginea. Amen. || God have Mercy on the Soulls of King Harry the 7th. In the middle of this North Isle is a spacious Chapel, answering to Bray's Chapel, (and by the Arms of that Knight, in like manner seen here also, probably built by him) called the North, or Rutland Chapel, the Ancestors of that noble family being buried here, as will be particularly mentioned in another place; farther West in this Isle is a small Chapel dedicated to St. Stephen, usually also called Hastings's Chapel, being built by Elizabeth the Wife of William Lord Hastings, Chamberlain to King Edward IV. who for his true affection to that Prince and his Children, was unjustly put to death by Richard III. and here buried as is before mentioned p. 54. Within this Chapel is the History of St. Stephen, painted in pannels, and yet well preserved.

In the first pannel is St. Stephen preaching to the People, and underneath this Inscription.

Predicat hic Christum, || denatus honore videri
Arguit et mulcet, || doctrina corda virorum.

In a second Pannel, He is before the Tribunal of Herod, and underneath is this reading.

Invidie facibus || succensa patenter Herodi,
Instat et acculat || Stephanum plebs impia iustum.

In the third pannel is the Stoning of this holy Martyr, and underneath this Inscription.

Sponte sua servat || Saulus vestes lapidantium,
Sara pluuunt tortu || Prothomartir pro quibus orans.

In

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 69

In the fourth pannel this Holy Martyr is represented dead, and his beatification, and underneath is written.

In Domino moritur & datur
Ex quo vita perennis.

Near adjoining is the Monument of King Edward IV. of which hereafter; in an Arch at the head of this tomb, is an ancient Painting, being a representation of our Saviour and his Apostles, attended by the heavenly Host, but much defaced, and scarce visible at present; and at the East end of this Isle is the Chapter House of the College, which will be frequently mentioned in the ensuing part of this History: In this room is a Painting at full length, by a masterly hand, of the most renowned and victorius Monarch Edward III. in his robes of State; in his right hand he holds a sword, bearing the Crowns of France and Scotland, in token of the many conquests he gained over those Nations, and round the frame is written this Inscription.

EDWARDUS TERTIUS INVICTISSIMUS ANGLIÆ REX, HUIUS
CHAPELIE ET NOBILISSIMI ORDINIS GARTERII FUNDATOR.

On one side of this Painting is kept the all-conquering Sword of this Great Prince; and the Knights of the Garter, at their Installation are with great Ceremony introduced into this Chapter-House, and invested with the Habit and Ensigns of that most noble Order, before they proceed to the more solemn Act of Installation, as will at large be noticed in the subsequent part of this History.

Lastly, though worthy of principal note, is the Choir, the most venerable, and solemn part of this Chapel, set apart for the more immediate service of God, and the repository of Honour of this most noble Order of Knighthood; this Choir was built by K. Edw. III. and shews the grandeur and noble spirit of that pious and magnanimous Prince, and not less the genius and industry of the Artists of those days, by the many curious Carvings, and various kinds of Imagery, and other Ornaments, which are to be found in every part of this antient Choir: On each side:

side are the Stalls of the Sovereign and Knights-Companions of the most noble Order of the Garter, with the Helmet, Mantling, Crest, and Sword of each Knight, set up over his Stall, on a Canopy of ancient carving curiously wrought, and above the Canopy is affixed the Banner or Arms of the Knight, properly blazoned on silk; and farther, on the back of the Stalls are the Stiles, or Titles of the Knights, with their Arms also, neatly engraved and blazoned on Copper. The former of these Ensigns of Honour are removed according to the succession of the Knight in the Order, and after his Decease, and at the Installation of his Successor (if not performed before by order of the Sovereign) the Banner, Helmet, Sword, &c. of the deceased Knight, are solemnly, and with great Ceremony, offered up at the Altar, but the Plate of his Titles remains in the Stall, as a perpetual Memorial of Honour to the deceased Knight.

The Sovereign's Stall is on the right-hand of the entrance of the Choir, and is covered with purple velvet and cloth of gold, and has a Canopy, and compleat furniture of the same; his Banner also is of velvet, and his Mantling is of gold brocade: the Prince's Stall is on the left, and has no distinction from the rest of the Knights-Companions, the whole Society, according to the Statutes of the Institution, being Companions and Collegues, equall in honour and power; but as the principal part of this History will be taken up in treating of this illustrious Society of Knights, I shall at present confine myself to the Chapel only, and take notice of the beautiful Painting at the Altar, being a representation of the last Supper; this Altar was heretofore adorned with cloth of gold and purple damask, the gift of K. Charles II. soon after the Restoration. Cloath of Arras, containing the History of St. George, has been heretofore used at the Solemnization of the Feast of St. George; and in the Chapter-house, is a fine piece of Tapestry, from an Original of Titian, of our Saviour and his Disciples at Emaus, which was appropriated to the use of the Altar till the year 1707, when on moving the wainscot of Uxwich's Chapel, was found the present Painting of the last Supper: This had formerly been secreted in this place, in the times of plunder; and being highly approved of by Sir James Thornhill, Verrio, and other eminent Masters, was repaired, and the whole Altar disposed in the present decent order, and becoming neatness.

This

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 71

This Altar formerly was rich both in costly furniture and vessels of gold, from the benevolence of the Sovereigns and Knights-Companions, and other pious Benefactors; but to wave the mention of earlier times, In the year 1642, the Ornaments and Vessels belonging to this Chapel, and appropriated to the use of the Altar, amounting to 3580 Ounces of wrought Plate of the most curious workmanship, were seized under colour of Parliamentary Authority, by Captain Fogg, on a general Plunder of this Royal Foundation.

This Sacrilege was in some measure made up to the College on the Restoration, by the bounty and good pleasure of the Sovereign and Knights-Companions, who contributed chearfully to supply the Altar with all things necessary to its decent service and ornament: The royal example was also followed by other well-disposed Persons, and the Altar at present is furnished with several noble pieces of Plate, curiously wrought and gilt, dedicated to the honour of God, and the service of the Sovereign, and Knights-Companions of the most noble Order of the Garter.

Near the Altar is the Queen's Gallery, for the use of the Ladies at an Installation, and the Choir is separated from the body of the Church at the West end, by a large Screen, or Organ-gallery, erected ann. Dom. 1613, And a handsome Organ was new erected, on the general Repair of the Chapel, on the Restoration of King Charles II.

Adjoining to the Organ is a handsome Arch of stone, called the Rood-loft, erected in the reign of K. Henry VIII. A place well known, and of singular use to promote superstition, and impose upon the minds of the credulous in the dark ages of Popery.

In a Vault under the marble pavement of this Choir, are buried the bodies of King Henry VIII. and his Queen Jane Seymour, K. Charles I. and a daughter of the late Queen Anne: In the South and North Isles, near the Altar, are also buried the bodies of King Henry VI. and King Edward IV. but of these hereafter, when we come to treat of the Monuments and illustrious Persons buried in this Chapel.

The carved work of this Choir is worthy of particular note, especially the Canopies over the Stalls of the Knights of the Garter,

72 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Garter, and the other parts of the carved work allude to some Scripture History, or the History of St. George. The Arrangements of the seats in this Choir are well disposed, for the service of Divine Worship, which is performed in this Choir every Morning and Evening, in the most solemn decency and order; and at all times obeisance is paid to the Sovereign's Stall, the same as if he was present in person: The lower seats are appointed to the Poor Knights of Windsor, who attend the publick Service, in the Mantles of the Order, being of Murrey cloth with the Cross of St. George on the left shoulder, and by the laws of the Order, the whole Society is obliged to pray daily for the prosperity of the Sovereign and Knights-Companions of the most noble Order of the Garter.

Among other particulars in the carving of this Choir, and not the least worthy of notice, is this Inscription neatly cut in old English character, on a girth on this outer side of the upper seats, or stalls, being the xxth Psalm in Latin, a Prayer, or a Petition for the Royal Founder King Edward III. and the future Sovereigns of the Order of the Garter.

Concluding with the 9th verse of the lxxxiiiid Psalm.

Protector noster aspice Deus; et respice in faciem Christi tui.

I now conclude this account of the Chapel of St. George; and to avoid interruption in this History, shall defer the Monuments to a future chapter; and by the favour of the worthy and Reverend the Dean and Canons, here present the Reader with a view of the West end also of this Chapel, and only mention the noble Window, which was formerly finely stained, and ornamented with curious Paintings, and destroyed, not by Time, but by the more wasteful hand of ill-judging Men, in the worst of times; but to pass this over in silence, recommend only a due Attention to this ancient Structure, it being universally acknowledged that the Architecture of this beautiful and stately Chapel, is not exceeded by any Building in this, or probably other Nation.

CHAPTER IV.

Of the Foundation of the COLLEGE.

IN the foregoing Chapter it is observed that King Henry I. erected a Chapel within the Castle, and therein founded a College for eight Canons, neither endowed nor incorporate, but maintained by an annual Pension out of the King's Exchequer. King Edward II. in the 6th year of his reign, founded here also a Chantry for four Chaplains and two Clerks, to pray for his Soul, and the Souls of all his Progenitors; as likewise a Chapel in the Park of Windsor, under the same ordination, for four more Chaplains, whom his Son King Edward III. Anno Regni 3. removed, and joined to those other before settled in the Chapel of the Castle, and built Habitations for their better accommodation, on the South side thereof.

But the Foundation that we shall treat of here, King Edward III. laid, by his Letters Patent, bearing test at Westminster, August 6, Anno Regni 22, about three quarters of a year before he instituted the most Noble Order of the Garter. (For being inflamed with the zeal of a pious Devotion, and desiring by a good kind of commerce to exchange earthly for heavenly, and transitory for eternal things) at his own royal charge, he new founded the ancient Chapel, in honour, and to the praise of the omnipotent God, the glorious Virgin Mary, St. George the Martyr, and St. Edward the Confessor; and by his kingly authority, and as much as in him lay, ordained, that to King Henry's eight Canons, there should be added one Custos, fifteen more Canons, and twenty-four Alms-Knights, together with other Ministers, all under the Government nevertheless of the Custos; and these to be maintained out of the Revenues wherewith this Chapel was, and should be endowed.

74 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

This royal institution of the King was approved and confirmed by Pope Clement VI. by his Bull dated at Avignon, pridie Calendas Decembris, in the 9th year of his Papacy, Anno 1351; and therein, according to the desire of the King, the Pope granted to Simon Islip, Archbishop of Canterbury, and William de Edington, Bishop of Winchester, authority and power to ordain and institute the College, and also to ordain, institute, and appoint within this Chapel, as should seem good to them, a certain number of Canons, Priests, Clerks, Knights, and Officers, continually to attend upon the Service of God, of which Canons and Priests, one shall have the title of Custos, and preside over the rest.

On that day twelve-month the Statutes and Ordinances of the College bear date; being made by virtue of the Pope's authority, the King's command, the consent of the Bishop of Salisbury, (in whose Diocese the Chapel is situate) and of the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury: By which Statutes the Bishop of Winchester, one of the Pope's Delegates (for we find not the Archbishop's name used in them) did ordain and institute a College, within the Chapel of St. George, consisting of one Custos, twelve secular Canons, thirteen Priests or Vicars, four Clerks, six Choristers, and twenty-six Alms-Knights, besides other Officers. And to this Custos and College, by the name of Custos and College of the free Chapel of St. George, within the Castle of Windsor, for the most part, but sometimes of Custos and College of Chaplains, or otherwise of Custos and Chaplains of the same Chapel, were the donation of Advowsons, and temporal Endowments, commonly made and granted.

CHAPTER V.

Of the DEAN, CANONS, Petty - CANONS, CLERKS, and CHORISTERS.

SHORTLY after the Foundation of the College, by the King's Letters Patent, viz. November 14, Anno 22, Edw. III. the King constituted John de la Chambre, Custos of the Chapel of St. George; but he enjoyed this dignity not above half a year, for the 18th of June ensuing, the Letters Patent, for constituting William Mugg, Custos bear test: So that in truth, John de la Chambre was the first Custos; tho' in the preamble to the Letters Patent, pass'd under the great Seal of England, with consent of Lords and Commons in Parliament, Anno 8, Hen. VI. William Mugg is there said to be the first, and so hath been since accounted.

But it seems the Catalogue of Custodes and Decani took commencement at the institution of the College, by papal (not kingly) authority, and tho' William Mugg (in like manner as John de la Chambre) had been constituted Custos above three years before, yet being then again nominated by the King to receive institution from the Bishop of Winchester, upon his ordaining the College, he came to be accounted the first Custos, as being so under that institution; and consequently, John de la Chambre not taken notice of.

By this title of Custos, were those that succeeded de la Chambre and Mugg, presented by the King, till the last year of King Henry IV. when Thomas Kingston was the first of them presented by the name of Dean; and his Successor John Arundell, observing that divers of the Lands and Endowments of the College, were sometimes granted thereunto by the name of Custos, at other times of Dean and Custos, or lastly of Dean only: And doubting that this variation and diversity of

76 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Names might beget some damage to the College, especially being both beside and against the form of the Foundation (wherein the title of Custos was only used) he applied himself by a petition to the Parliament beforemention'd; whereupon King Henry VI. being pleased to provide for the security of the College in this particular, did, by Letters Patent, Anno Reg. 8. under the great Seal of England, grant and declare, that the said Arundell should be Custos five Decanus for his life, and enjoy all Rights thereunto belonging; and for the future, he and every other Custos of the Chapel for the time being, should be called Custodes five Decani, viz. Wardens, or Deans of the free Chapel of St. George, within the Castle of Windsor; and that the Custos, or Dean and Canons thereof, and their Successors, by the name of Custos, or Dean and Canons of the said free Chapel, should have and hold to them and their Successors for ever, all Lands, Tenements, Rents, Possessions, &c. As also all manner of Liberties, Franchises, Immunities, &c. granted to the College at any time before.

Hereby was instituted a kind of a new Incorporation of this Chapel, by the title of Custos, or Dean and Canons only; and the whole state of the College, together with its Possessions, strengthened and constituted in a manner de novo: At least this was a great step to the compleat incorporating them by King Edward IV. when, through the interest of Richard Beauchamp, Bishop of Salisbury, then also Dean of Windsor, and Chancellor of the Noble Order of the Garter, their was obtained from the said King, Letters Patent bearing Teste at Windsor, December 6, in the 19th year of his Reign, for incorporating the Custos, or Dean and Canons and their Successors, by the name of Dean and Canons of the free Chapel of St. George within the Castle of Windsor, and that thenceforward they should be one Body Corporate in thing and name, and have a perpetual Succession.

Furthermore, that they and their Successors, should by the same name, be Persons capable in Law, to purchase, receive, and take Lands, Tenements, Rents, Reversions, Services, Liberties, Franchises, and Privileges, or other Possessions whatsoever, to be held and possess in Fee and Perpetuity: As also to have a common Seal, for the affairs and Causes of them and their Successors. And that they and their Successors, cessors, by the name of Dean and Canons, &c. might plead and be impleaded, pursue all manner of Causes and Actions, real and mixt, challenge all Franchises and Liberties, and answer and be answered, before any Spiritual or Temporal Judges.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 77

But for the avoiding all further doubts, which might be taken for any occasion or cause, touching the Dean and Canons of this Chapel in their Corporation on Capacity, or Possessions, and for the more surety of them in all their temporal Endowments; the Letters Patent of Incorporation, were within three years after, viz. Anno 22, Edward IV. past into an Act of Parliament, which yet remains in force.

We shall next speak of the Authority and Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction of the Custos or Decanus: For as he is constituted (both by the Bull of Pope Clement VI. and the Institution of the College thereupon) President over the rest of the College, to govern, direct and order them, their Goods and Estates; so is he to exercise all manner of Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction over them, with a reservation of power of Appeal to the Chancellor of England, Visitor of that College.

Moreover, where any of them live inordinately or unpeaceably, he, with the advice of the Chapter (in cases where no particular penalty is appointed to be inflicted) hath power to reprehend or correct at discretion. And in case where discord ariseth among any of them, shall within eight days reconcile the parties, or do justice; Lastly, he has power (after the third time of admonition) to expell from the College, all sowers of Discord, Backbiters, and Whisperers, that are below the Degree of a Canon.

And to the end there may be no defect in Government at any time, during his non-residence, it is provided by the Statutes of the College, that when he hath occasion to be absent from thence, above eight days or more, he shall before his departure constitute one of the Canons Resident (whom he please) for his Deputy, who during his absence (having the title of Lieutenant) shall in all things exercise and execute his Office: For we are to note, that the said Statutes allow him sixty days for non residence; the Royal Visitation held Anno 1552, enlarged that that time to one hundred and ten days, and the Lord Chancellor Hyde gave him liberty of six weeks absence, to attend the affairs of his Deanery of Wolverhampton.

But in the vacancy of the Custos, whatever power or authority belongs unto him, the same is then devolv'd upon the Chapter of the College; which Chapter ought within two days, after the vacancy known, to elect one of the Resident Canons, under the title of President, to govern the College and direct all affairs relating thereunto, until there be provided another Custos.

Leaving the Custos settled under the title of Decanus (which latter he is only known by at this day) we are now to speak of the Canons, whose number by the Letters Patent of Foundation, where appointed to be four and twenty, including the Custos; but upon Institution of the College by the Bishop of Winchester, there was then ordained (as hath been noted) one Custos, twelve Secular Canons, and thirteen Priests or Vicars, in all twenty-six; being the very number before ordained by the Statutes of Institution of the Order of the Garter, and answerable to the just number of the Knights-Companions of that most Noble Order. And for a further distinction between these Canons-Secular, and the Priests, the first twelve are in a Bull of Pope Innocent VIII called Majores Canonici, the other Canonici Minores, or Petty Canons.

To these twelve Seculars were assigned so many Prebendships in the Chapel of St. George (as also Stalls in the Choir, and Places in the Chapter) together with that; held by the Custos, whence of later times, they are frequently called Prebends as well as Canons, and their Dignities, Canonships and Prebendships. Every Prebend hath a sacerdotal Power given him by the Statutes of the College, and in regard of this, those Statutes further ordained, that each Canon of the Chapel being a Prebend, if not at that time a Priest, should within a year after he hath enjoyed his Prebendship, be so ordained; otherwise (without further admonition) to be deprived thereof.

By the fore-mention'd Bull of Pope Clement VI. there is reserved to the Founder, his Heirs and Successors, the right of presenting the Canons,

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 79

Canons, Priests, Clerks, Alms-Knights, and Ministers belonging to the College; and thereupon we find it noted, that he nominated and presented William Mugg, and four other Presbyters to the Bishop of Winchester, to institute them Canons and Prebends, into the Canonships and Prebendships of the Chapel, which the Bishop did accordingly; and then gave the said William Mugg institution to the place of Custos, upon the Founders nomination and presentation also.

Notwithstanding which, it appears by the Institution of the Garter, that the first Canons where presented to the Custos by the first Founders of the Order, viz. the five and twenty first Knights-Companions, every one of them being permitted by the Sovereign's favour to present a Canon; yet was it therewithal provided, That neither the Knights-Companions, who thus first presented, nor any one of their Successors from that time, should present to the vacant Canonships, but the Sovereign only. To which end, in another place, the Custos was obliged when any of the Canons died, (the Sovereign being out of the Kingdom) to signify the same to him by Letter, that so he might appoint whom he thought fit to succeed him.

But upon whomsoever these Dignities are conferred, they ought to be Admitted, Instituted, and Installed, by the Custos or Dean, or his Lieutenant, to whom at the time of their Installation, they are to be obliged by Oath, to yield Canonical Obedience, and observe the Statutes of the College, so far as it concerns them. The form of their Admittance is annexed to those Statutes.

The principal duty of these Canons (so also of the Vicars, Clerks, Alms-Knights and Ministers of the College) is continually and personally to attend upon the Service of God, in the Chapel of St. George; and upon each day's omission of a Canon-resident, it was ordained, that he should forfeit his quotidian distribution, viz. twelve pence. Nor do we find any licence of Non-residence, or discontinuance given to any of the Canons by the College Statutes, but only to the Custos, and that but for sixty days in the whole year (as is before remembered) howbeit there is mention of Canons-resident and Non-residents in the said Statutes; to the Non-residents there are great defalcations appointed ed to be made, and good reason for it, because the Resident-Canons, bear not only the burden of that duty belonging to the Chapel and College, but the expence of Hospitality, and other works of Charity, occasioned from their residing at Windsor.

Nevertheless the effect of a favourable Indulgence towards the Canons was introduced by degrees, and when Richard Beauchamp, Bishop of Salisbury, had obtained power by a Bull from Sextus IV. to make new Statutes in the College, he in this particular dispensed with the old ones, and March 5, 1478, gave to the Dean, and every Canon and their Successors, fourteen days of Non-residence in every Term, viz. fifty-six days in the year. By the visitation held Anno 1552, these days are enlarged to eighty, and the Lord Chancellor Hatton yet further indulged them with two hundred and two days, which liberty the late Lord Chancellor Hyde confirmed; and consequently there remains one hundred and sixty-three days in the year, in which the Canons ought to be Resident at Windsor: Each Canons great Residence is twenty-one days, the looser Residence in conjunction with the greater is one hundred and sixty-three days, i. e. twenty-one of these one hundred and sixty-three are to kept without interruption, and with hospitality according to the Statute.

They are particularly obliged, humbly to pray for the prosperity of the Sovereign of the most Noble Order of the Garter, from time to time, as also for the happy estate of the Order; and if any Knight Companion, or other Person, should out of devotion, bestow ten Pounds per Annum revenue, or more, in Lands, or otherwise, so that he might be partaker of the Prayers, appointed for the Benefactors of the College, his Name was ordained to be inscribed among them, and himself also prayed for; which article, tho' King Henry V. confirmed, yet he provided, that neither the Custos or Canons, should thenceforth admit of any such charge upon the College, without the consent of the Sovereign, his Deputy, or the Knights Companions of the Order.

To this let us adjoin the care taken by the Injunctions of February 8, Anno 4, Edward VI. for commemorating the Bounty of the Benefactors of this College to posterity; for there is enjoined, "That from " thence-,

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 81

" thenceforth upon the Tuesday, next after the third Sunday in Lent,
" and on the first Tuesdays in June, September, and December, some " one of the College, should in a brief Sermon commend the Munifi-
" cence, not only of the Founder, and of King Henry VIII. but of all " other Noblemen, whose bountifulness had appeared in their pious
" acts; and set forth how greatly God is to be glorified, who by them " had bestowed so many Benefits on the College; as also exhort his " auditors to use their Gifts to the glory of God, increase of virtue
" and learning, and the pious intent of Benefactors; and lastly, pray
" the Almighty so to stir up the hearts of the living, to bestow some " part of their substance likewise, to the increase of Religion, and " setting forth of his glory.

Thus far of the Canons Ecclesiastical Duty; but those things which relate to their Civil Obligations are to attend the Sovereign (or his Deputy) and the Knights-Companions, at the grand Feast of St. George, whensoever celebrated at Windsor, as also at the Feast of Installation; or when the Sovereign upon any other solemn occasion shall come to the Chapel of St. George to offer; or lastly, when any of the Knights-Companions (being on a Journey near the Castle) come thither to offer likewise.

As touching their part in the Ceremonies observed upon any of these occasions, we shall hereafter note them down in their proper places; and only mention here the Robe appointed for them to wear at these times over their Ecclesiastical Habit. This by the Statutes of Institution is appointed to be a Mantle, and though these mention not the matter whereof it was made (which at this day is Taffaty, of the fashion of the three inferior officers of the Order) yet they set down the colour to be Murrey, as also that the Arms of St. George should be placed within a Rundle on the right shoulder thereof.

Those who are now called Petty Canons, have no nominal nor other distinction in the Founders Patent of Foundation, from those other afterwards called Canonici Majores, but both go under the title of Canons only; in the Bull of Pope Clement VI. (which recites the substance of the Founders Patent) in reference to the transferring his authority to the Archbishop of Canterbury, and Bishop of Winchester, for instituting the College, they are called Presbyteri; and by the said Bishop,

82 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

shop, in the very words of his Institution, Presbyteri seu Vicarii, but in the Foundational Statutes of the Order of the Garter, are stiled Vicarii only.

Their number at the first Institution was thirteen, and the same number appears to be continued, being taken notice of in all the Exemplars of the Statutes of the Order. Only King Henry VIIIth's. English Statutes mention eight Petty Canons, besides thirteen Vicars (but the Latin takes notice only of thirteen Priests, part of them are there called Canonici Minores, and other part Vicarii) afterwards the Injunctions of the King's Commissioners dated November 23, Anno 1, Edw. VI. appointed twelve Priests, and they to be called Petty Canons: That is, four to be added to the former eight, mentioned in King Henry VIIIth's Statutes, which the said Article directed to be done in this manner, viz. That at the first avoidance of the next Vicar, his Stipend should be equally divided among three of the eldest Vicars, who thereupon were to be called Petty Canons; and when the room of another Vicar became void, the five Marks of his Stipend should be appointed to the next senior Vicar (who was likewise to be stiled Petty Canon) and this direction being observed, the number of twelve Petty Canons became compleated. Yet in Queen Elizabeth's Ordinances for the continual charge, the number of Petty Canons thereby provided for, are noted to be thirteen, agreeable to the ancient number of Vicars; but at this day there are but seven, and one of them to be Sub-chanter.

The Vicars at their admission (according to the appointment both of the Statutes of the College, and those of the Order) are bound to be Priests, or at least Deacons, from whence they are next to be ordained Priests, viz. the next time appointed for Ordination. Those Statutes bound them also to continual personal residence, and if absent without a lawful cause, from Mattens, they were amerced two pence apiece for each omission, and two pence a time more, if not at every grand Mass, and one penny for their absence from every Canonical Hour, the Mass of the Virgin Mary, or for the defunct: All which forfeitures were to be deducted out of their Salary, and divided among those Vicars, who gave their attendance in the aforesaid duties. But the Injunctions Anno 1, Edward VI. appointed the forfeit of absence from form Mattens, to be one penny halfpenny, and from either Proceſſion, Communion, or Evening Song, the like Sum, to be paid to the Poor Men's Box.

And not only they, but all other Miniſters of the Chapel, if abſent from the College above twenty days, without juſt cauſe approved of by the Reſident Canons, or do behave themſelves ſcandalouſly in life or converſation, are by the Statutes of the College to be expelled, after the fact proved before the Cuſtos or his Lieutenant; but if any of them abſent themſelves for leſs than twenty days, without the like approbation, then to be puniſhed at diſcretion.

Each of theſe Vicars had at firſt but the annual penſion of eight Pounds ſterling, paid after this manner, viz. every Kalendar Month eight Shillings for their diet, and that which then remained at the quarter's end, went towards furniſhing them with other neceſſaries. Afterwards King Edward IV. encreaſed their penſions to twenty Marks apiece: To which Queen Elizabeth in augmentation of their Livings (they then being called Petty Canons) added thirteen Shillings and Four-pence per Annum to each of them, out of the lands ſettled on the College by King Edward VI. as appears by the Book of Eſtabliſhment made by her, among the certain diſburſments. And now their yearly penſions are lately encreaſed by the College to thirty Pounds. One of theſe Petty Canons is choſen from among the reſt, to be Dean's Vicar, to whoſe duty belongs the cure of Souls, Marrying, Burying, &c.

To theſe Petty Canons it is requiſite that we ſubjoin the Clerks, who after the Foundation of the College by King Edward III. were took into the Choir for the ſervice thereof. As firſt the Quatuor Clerici, remembered in the Preface to the Statutes of the College, whereof one was to be inſtituted a Deacon, and another a Sub-Deacon, before their admiſſion: And theſe two where next in Deſignation, and accordingly promoted to the Vicars places; but for the other two, it was ſufficient if they had inſtitution into leſſer Orders, in which they were to continue. Each of the two firſt of theſe had eight Marks yearly penſion, and the two laſt but ſix.

84 The History and Antiquities of WINDSOR.

King Edward IV. increased their number to thirteen, and allowed them ten Pounds per Annum apiece. The same number do we find mentioned in Henry VIII. Statutes of the Order, and by the Injunctions November 23, Anno 1, Edward VI. made by the King's Commissioners, they were encreased to fifteen, but here, appointed to be Laymen, wearing Surplices in the Choir, each having an allowance of ten Pounds annually for his service.

In the 23d article of the Injunctions of February 28, Anno 4, Edward VI. a course is prescribed to bring these fifteen Clerks to twenty, but in Queen Elizabeth's Establishment, they were again reduced to thirteen, which number is still continued, (one of them being Organist, hath a double Clerk's place, and consequently reckoned for two of the thirteen) and an augmentation to each of two Pounds thirteen Shillings and Four-pence Half-penny Farthing yearly; which being at first opposed by the Dean and Prebends, they at length (Anno 5, Elizabeth) consented to allow them forty Shillings per Annum apiece, not out of the new lands, but out of other payments, which the Dean and Canons should otherwise yearly receive. Anno 1662, their annual pensions were increased, and their present Sallary is twenty-two Pounds apiece.

They are obliged to be present in the Choir at all times of Service, as are the Petty Canons, and under the same forfeitures; nor may they, or the Petty Canons go out of Town, without the Dean's or his Lieutenant's licence, nor then neither, above three at once, except for very weighty cause, least the Choir should be unfurnished of a convenient number to perform the daily Service.

Secondly, There were appointed for the further service of the Choir six Choristers, and they to be likewise Clerks, or at the time of their admission to have been instituted of the Clerical Order, to each of which were allowed five Marks Sterling annually, or to the value thereof in common money. And in like manner as the Deacon and Sub-Deacon were placed in the College, only in addition to the Vicars, and designed to succeed them as vacancies happened, so also were there six secular secular Children, endued with clear and tuneable voices, admitted and designed to succeed the Choristers, when their voices altered.

King Edward IV. enlarged the number of Choristers to thirteen, and allowed them annually six Marks apiece; and tho' this number was confirm'd by King Henry VIII. Statutes, yet the Injunctions, dated Feb. 8, Anno 4, Edward VI. reduced them to ten, nevertheless by Queen Elizabeth's Establishment, the former number of thirteen was restored, and thereby was given in augmentation among them all, three Pounds eleven Shillings and Eight-pence: Howbeit they were since brought to eight, and their present exhibition is twelve Shillings a month to each.

CHAPTER VI.

Of the ALMS-KNIGHTS.

THE Alms-Knights come next to be spoken of, wherein to avoid confusion, we shall consider them, 1st, under the foundation of King Edward III. 2<sup>dly</sup>, when separated from that, by Act of Parliament; and lastly, as they were established anew by Queen Elizabeth,

First then, King Edward III. out of the great respect he bore to Military Honour (of which he himself had gained a large share) and due regard had of valiant Men, chiefly such as had behaved themselves bravely in his Wars, yet afterwards happen'd to fall in decay; took care for their relief and comfortable subsistence in old age, by making room for them within this his Foundation, and uniting them under one Corporation and Joint Body, with the Custos and Canons: These were called Milites pauperes, and since vulgarly Poor, or Alms-Knights; the number at first were twenty-four, as were the Custos and Canons, at the first Foundation of the College, but shortly after, upon his instituting the Princely Society of Knights of the most Noble Order of the Garter, ter, consisting of twenty-six, there were added two more to the former number (as there was to the first Canons) to make them of like number with the Knight-Companions of that Order; which number of twenty-six we after find settled at the ordination of the College by the Bishop of Winchester, the Pope's Delegate.

86 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

The charitable intention of the royal Founder, was to provide for such only as were truly Objects of Charity, and therefore he describes (even in the Instrument of Foundation) what kind of Men they shall be, viz. Poor-Knights, weak in Body, indigent and decayed; and to like effect is their qualification inserted in the Statutes of Institution of the most Noble Order of the Garter, viz. such as through adverse fortune were brought to that extremity, that they had not of their own wherewith to sustain them, or live so genteely as became a military condition: But this being thought not enough, the same is repeated (probably for greater caution) in King Henry V. and King Henry VIII. Statutes, to prevent diverting the Founder's pious intention, and against admittance of such as are otherwise able to live of themselves; which conjecture is not improbable, because we find the ancient Statutes of the College ordained (as also the orders of Queen Elizabeth) that in case there should happen to fall to any of the Alms-Knights, either Lands or Rents, by succession or any other way, to the yearly value of twenty Pounds or more; then such Knight should immediately be removed from the College, and made incapable of receiving any Profits or Emoluments thence, and another Alms-Knight preferr'd into his place.

Their presentation when first admitted, was by the same hands that presented the first Canons; viz. each Knight-Companion of the Order presented his Alms-Knight; nevertheless it was then also ordered, that from thenceforward, every Election should remain at the disposal of the Sovereign of this most Noble Order.

To each of these Alms-Knights was appointed for their habit, a red Mantle, with a Scutcheon of St. George, but without any Garter to surround it.

Their

Their exhibition from the College at first, was twelve-pence each for every day they were at service in the Chapel, or abode in the College, and forty Shillings per Annum for other necessities: It being the like allowance as was appointed to each of the Canon Residents, which shews the quality and esteem then had of these Alms-Knights.

Their duty was to attend the service of God, and pray for the prosperity of the Sovereign, and Knights-Companions of the Order; to be every day present at high Mass, the Masses of the Virgin Mary, as also at Vespers and Compline, from the beginning to the end, except any lawful occasion did impede: But it was ordained, that for every day's absence from the Chapel, they should be debarred of receiving the twelve-pence per Diem; and whatsoever was raised from such Forfeitures, should be converted to the use of the rest of the Alms-Knights then being in the Castle of Windsor.

Notwithstanding which Decree, it appears that the Dean did afterwards take upon him the dispose of these mulcts at his pleasure, which occasioned the Alms-Knights to complain to Adam, Lord Bishop of St. David's, Chancellor of England, and Visitor of the College, who among other of his Injunctions, dated October 8, Anno 2. Ric. II. commanded that the mulcts should be equally distributed among those Alms-Knights who did attend at divine Service in the Chapel, as the Statute had enjoined; and besides, the like complaint being made for the Dean's disposing of Donations, and other Liberalities of the Knights-Companions, so that the Alms-Knights had no part thereof towards their sustentation; this Chancellor also appointed an equal distribution of them among the Alms-Knights and Canons, until the King and his Council should otherwise determine.

It seems farther (about the beginning of the reign of K. Henry VI.) these quotidian distributions, and the forty Shillings per Annum assigned them, had been unpaid by reason of some dissensions and quarrels that had arisen between the Dean, Canons, and Alms Knights; but upon complaint to John, Archbishop of York, Lord Chancellor of England, Visitor of the College, by the Injunctions issued upon his visitation, Anno 10. Henry VI. the Arrears of both were appointed to be forthwith paid.

88 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

paid without charge; and in case the Treasurer of the College became negligent in future payments, he was to incur the loss of his own quotidians, from the time of his voluntary delay; the same to be divided among the Alms-Knights.

These and other differences between the Dean, Canons, and Alms-Knights, grew at length so wide, that they could not be reconciled; insomuch as in the Act of Parliament, Anno 22. Edward IV. for the incorporation of the Custos and Canons, by the name of Dean and Canons, the Alms-Knights were not only omitted, but this Clause inserted, "That the Dean and Canons, and their Successors, should for evermore be utterly quit and discharged from all manner of exhibition
"or charge of, or for any of the said Knights." And this was obtained upon pretence, that the King had greatly increased the number of the Ministers of the Chapel, so that the revenue was not sufficient to maintain both them and the Alms-Knights; as also that the King had otherwise provided for the Alms-Knights: But we elsewhere find some other cause, and this afterwards alledged by the Dean and Canons, in their answer to the Knight's Petition for repeal of the said Act, viz. that William Omeray, and John Kendall, Alms-Knights, laboured much before this Act passed, to be incorporate by themselves, to get Lands settled on them, to be exempt from the obedience and rule of the Dean and Canons, and governed by Ordinances made among themselves.

In the second place, this Act being thus obtained, and the Alms-Knights divided from the body of the College, as also struck off from the benefit of the Quotidians, Portions, and Fees, assigned by the foundation of King Edward III. how they next subsisted doth not fully enough appear: But so soon as King Henry VII. came to the Crown, they petitioned the King and Parliament, for repeal of the Act, Anno 22. Edward IV. affirming it was gained without their knowledge, or being called thereunto: To which Petition the Dean and Canons answered, and the Alms-Knights replied, but it seems all they could alledge did not induce the Parliament to repeal the Act; but on the contrary, the Dean and Canons some years after obtained an exemplification thereof, under the great Seal, dated February 4. Anno 18. Henry VII.

And

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 89

And it is clear from King Henry VIII. letter to the College, which takes notice of their discharge from any exhibition to the Alms-Knights, by virtue of the said Act; that what the College did in that kind, after this Act passed, was meerly upon courtesy, and not obliged thereunto; for he thanks them for granting a Pension of twenty Marks to Peter Narbone, whom he had recommended to an Alms-Knights place, and promised they should be no further burthened with Alms-Knights, but that he would settle Lands upon them for their Maintenance, and free the College from the said Pension.

Besides, when Mr. Narbone had the Pension granted him, it was by an Indenture made between Nicholas West, then Dean of Windsor, and the Canons on the one part, and the said Peter on the other, dated July 18, Anno 3. Hen. VIII. wherein he covenanted, that when the King should settle any lands on the College for sustentation of such Knights, then the grant of the Pension should be void, and of none effect.

In the interval between the disunion of the College and Alms-Knights by the aforesaid Act, to their establishment by Queen Elizabeth, their Habit and Badge continued the same, and was so confirmed by King Henry VIII. Statutes: But it may be collected from his last Will, that there was then an intention to draw the Garter about the Scutcheon of St. George's Arms, but it took no effect. It is to be observed also, that in this interval, several persons who had been of considerable quality and worth, became Alms-Knights, some of them were nevertheless great objects of Charity; among whom was Sir Robert Champlain, Knt. a valiant Soldier, and one whose martial services abroad, rendered him an honour to our Nation.

It seems he had taken part in the Civil Wars here, with King Henry VI. against King Edward IV. shortly after whose coming to the Crown he left England, and travelled into Hungary (having with him an Equipage of three Servants and four Horses) where, in the assistance of Matthias Corvinus, King of Hungary, against the Turk, he behaved himself bravely, and like a valiant Knight: But prosperous Fortune not attending him at all times, he received many wounds, and at length

was

was taken prisoner, lost all, and forced to pay 1500 Ducates for his Ransom. For the justification of all which, he obtained several authentick Testimonies under the Great Seal of Matthias, King of Hungary; Jeronimus, Archbishop of Crete, Legate de Latere in Hungary; Frederick, the third Emperor of Germany; Renat, King of Sicily (Father to Queen Margaret, Wife of our King Henry VI.) Frederick, Count Palatine of the Rhine; Charles, Duke of Burgundy; and lastly, a Declaration thereof from our King Edward IV. under his Privy Seal, dated April 3, in the 19th year of his Reign. And being reduced to a low condition, by his great losses and the charge of his Ransom, he was through the favour of King Henry VII. admitted an Alms-Knight here.

But some others, made their retreat hither, and obtained admittance into this Fraternity, probably out of devotion, rather than the cause of poverty; and among these were Thomas Hulme, sometime Clarencieux King of Arms; Lodowick Carly, the King's Physician; John Mewtes, Secretary of the French Tongue; and Bartholomew Westby, made second Baron of the Exchequer, June 2, Anno 1. Hen. VIII.

It is manifest by the Will of Henry VIII. beforementioned (as also by an Indenture Tripartite between Edward VI. of the first part, the Executors of his Father of the second part, and the Dean and Canons of Windsor of the third part, dated August 4, Anno 1. Edward VI.) that he intended a re-establishment of half the antient number of Alms-Knights, viz. Thirteen; to which end he appointed, that as soon as might be after his death (if not done in his life-time) there should be a Revenue of 600 l. per Annum, in Manors, Lands, and Spiritual Promotions (above all charges) settled upon the Dean and Canons and and their Successors for ever, upon the Conditions following, that is to say, " That the Dean and Canons should for ever find two Priests " to say Mass at the Altar near his Tomb, to keep yearly four solemn " Obits for him, and at every Obit to distribute ten Pounds in Alms, " as also to pay Twelve-pence a day to each of those thirteen Alms-Knights, and they to have once in a year a long Gown of white " Cloth, and a Mantle of red Cloth, besides five Marks annually to " such one among them as should be appointed for their Governor:

" And

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 91

" And lastly, to cause a Sermon to be made at Windsor every Sunday throughout the year.

King Edward VI. (in performance of this Will) October 7, in the first year of his Reign, did settle several lands upon the College, which we shall mention by and by; immediately after which, the Dean and Canons were put in possession thereof, and received the Rents: But 600 l. per Ann. of these Rents, were by them paid back at the appointment of the then Lord Treasurer, to be employed in building of Houses for the Alms-Knights, intended to be settled as King Henry VIII. designed.

But it seems this work was not begun till the last of February, Ann. 3. and 4. Philip and Mary, and finished the 25th of September, Ann. 5. and 6. of the same King and Queen, the charge whereof came to 2747 l. 7s. 6d. These Houses are situate on the South side of the lower Ward of the Castle, and contain thirteen Rooms, besides a Hall, a Kitchen and Pastry. The Stone for building was brought from Reading, the Timber from several places in the Forest, and the Lead and Apparels for Chimnies from Suffolk-Place in Southwark.

At a Chapter of the Order of the Garter, held June 1, Ann. 4. and 5. Philip and Mary, (these Houses being near finished) debate was held about placing some Alms-Knights therein, if possible by Michaelmas following; whereupon it was ordered, " That the Marquess " of Winchester, Lord-Treasurer, should assign lands for their maintenance, that not any thing might be wanting to finish so pious a " work." And towards the compleating of all, the Queen had nominated nine of the thirteen designed Alms-Knights; namely, James Crane, Michael Whiting, Silvester Cleffop, Hugh Jobans, Robert Case, John Brigby, George Fothergill, George Thackwell, and William Berel: But that Queen falling sick of a Fever in August following, a stop was put to this business.

And now (in the third place) to come to the Establishment which these Alms-Knights obtained, and under which to this present they continue, Queen Elizabeth, immediately after her coming to the Crown, confirmed her Sister's Grants to the said nine Alms-Knights, and associated unto them, Thomas Kemp, William Barret, William Cowper, and John Aston, to make up the full number of thirteen, ordained by King Henry VIII.

Afterwards, viz. August 30, Anno primo Elizabeth. the Queen, minding the continuance of the Foundation erected by Edward III. and as near as might be the performance of the intent of her Progenitors, and advancement of the most Noble Order of the Garter, and especially of the knowledge given her of the last mind and Will of her Father King Henry VIII. to make a special Foundation and continuance of thirteen poor men decayed in Wars, and such-like service of the Realm, to be called Thirteen Knights of Windsor, and kept there in succession; and having also set forth and expressed certain Orders and Rules for their better Government, and declared how and in what manner the profits of certain Lands, of the yearly value of 600*l.* given and assigned by her Father to the Dean and Canons and their Successors, should be employed for the maintenance of these Poor-Knights, and otherwise according to his mind and Will, farther declared her pleasure, " That the Dean and Canons and their Successors, should for ever cause the said Orders and Rules to be observed and kept, which are these that follow.

First, We do establish thirteen Poor-Knights, whereof one to be Governor of all the residue, by such order as followeth; The same thirteen to be taken of Gentlemen brought to necessity, such as have spent their times in the service of the Wars, Garrisons, or other service of the Prince, having but little or nothing whereupon to live; to be continually chosen by us, our heirs, and successors.

2. Item, We ordain, that the Governor and Knights shall be chosen of Men unmarried, and shall continue, except in special case, where it shall please us the Sovereign, and the heirs and successors of us the Sovereign, Kings of this realm, to dispense with any Person to the contrary; provided nevertheless if any of them will marry, he may so do, losing his Place at the day of his marriage.

3. Item,

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 93

3. Item, We ordain, that no Man defamed and convicted of Heresy, Treason, Fellony, or any notable crime, shall be admitted to any room of the said thirteen Knights; and if any so admitted be afterwards convicted of any such crime, he shall be expelled out of that company, and lose his room.
4. Item, The same thirteen Knights to have yearly for their Liveries, each of them one Gown of four yards of colour of red, and a Mantle of blue or purple cloth, of five yards, at six Shillings and Eight-pence the yard.
5. Item, The Cross of St. George in a Scutcheon, embroidered without the Garter, to be set upon the left shoulder of their Mantles.
6. Item, The charges of the cloth, lining, making, and embroidering, to be paid by the Dean and Chapter, out of the revenue of the foundation and endowment given for that and other causes.
7. Item, The said thirteen Knights to come together before Noon, and Afternoon daily, at all the divine Service said within the College, in their ordinary apparel, and to continue to the end of the said Service, without a reasonable let, to be allowed by the Governor.
8. Item, The said thirteen Knights shall keep their Lodgings appointed unto them, and their Table together in their common Hall appointed, and to have their provisions made by their common Purse, except for a reasonable cause, any of them be licenced to the contrary, by the Dean, or his Deputy, and that licence to endure not above twenty days in no year, except it be for sickness only.
9. Item, The said thirteen Knights shall not haunt the Town, the Ale-houses, the Taverns, nor call any Women into their Lodgings, without it be upon a reasonable cause, and that with the licence of the Dean, or his Deputy.
10. And further, We will that twelve of the said Knights shall be obedient to the thirteenth, appointed for the Governor, and all thirteen shall shall be obedient to the Dean and Chapter, in the observation of these Statutes, for the good order of themselves.

11. Item, The said thirteen Knights shall be placed within the Church where the Dean and Canons shall think best, to hear the divine Service together, where they shall least trouble the Ministers of the Church.
12. Item, They shall be present at the Service, to be done quarterly for the memory of the Patrons and Founders of the said College, and specially of our said dear Father and Us, and have for every of them at each time Twenty-pence, and the Governor two Shillings; the said Service shall be used at the four quarters of the year, viz. every Sunday next before the quarter day, i. e. the Sunday next before the Feast of the Annunciation of our blessed Lady, the Sunday before the Nativity of St. John Baptist, the Sunday before the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel, and the Sunday before the Nativity of our Lord God.
13. Item, If any of the twelve Knights do not obey the Governor in the observation of these Statutes, he shall sustain for every time of such disobedience, such forfeiture as the Dean and Chapter shall put on him. The Governor shall make report of all such disobedience and other Offences committed by any of the said Knights to the Dean and Chapter; and if the offence be such, as shall seem to them to require such punishment, they shall besides a pain arbitrary, give a warning to the Offender, causing the same to be register'd; and he that shall so twice be warned by them, shall immediately upon the third offence be expelled for ever out of that Company: And if the Governor disobey the Dean and Chapter in the observation of the said Statutes, upon such warning by them, he shall receive like punishment as the other twelve.
14. Item, The Penalties of such as are punished by the Dean and Chapter, for not observing of these Statutes, shall be employed, by the discretion of the Dean and Chapter, upon any of the Ministers or Choristers of the Church, where they think best.
15. Item, When it shall please God that we, our Successors, Kings of this Realm, shall repair to the Castle of Windsor, the said thirteen Knights shall shall stand before their Doors in their Apparel, to do their obedience unto us then, at the coming, and going away.

16. Item, Yearly at the keeping of the Feast of St. George, they shall stand likewise in their Apparel, before their Doors, at the coming and going out of the Lieutenant, and of the other Knights of the Order, chosen for the keeping of the Feast.
17. Item, When any Feast of St. George is kept within the Castle of Windfor, the Governor and Knights shall set together at Dinner, in their Apparel as aforesaid, at one Table, and have allowance of Meat and Drink, at the charges of us, our Heirs and Successors.
18. Item, The said thirteen Knights shall daily in the Choir pray for us, the Sovereign, our Heirs and Successors, and for the Companions of our said Order of the Garter.
19. Item, The said thirteen Knights shall lie within their Lodgings provided for them; and if any of them shall lie without their said Lodgings, and the College, without the licence of the Dean, or his Deputy, he shall lose for every time Twelve-pence.
20. Item, If any of the Poor-Knights, after his admission into that room shall have Lands or Revenues fall unto him, to the yearly value of 20 l. or upwards, he shall immediately, upon the coming of such Lands or Revenues unto him, be removed, and put from his said room of a Poor-Knight, and another, such as aforesaid, taken in his place.
21. Item, The said Poor-Knights (excepting cause of sickness) shall be every day present in the College, at Church at divine Service, as is aforesaid, and receive there a daily distribution of Twelve-pence by the day, to be paid them monthly, if it may be, or at least in such sort as the other Ministers of the Chapel are paid; and he that shall be absent from the Church one day, without leave of the Dean, or his Deputy, shall lose his distribution of Twelve-pence aforesaid.

22. Item

96 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

22. Item, The Governor shall keep a Book, and therein note, as well the absence of every Knight from the Church, as other faults committed by them, punishable by these Statutes, whereof he shall deliver one to the Dean, or his Deputy, and another to the Steward, or him that payeth the Poor-Knights, who by order of the Dean, or his Deputy, shall default at the time of their pay, such sums as are set upon any of the said Knights for Penalties as aforesaid.
23. Item, The Dean, or his Deputy, shall once in the year at least, appoint a day and hour, at the which the Poor-Knights shall be warned to be present, unto whom the said Dean, or his Deputy, or one of the Commons to be appointed by the Dean, or in his absence, by his Deputy, shall read these Statutes, and if any of the Knights, being warned, shall be absent, from that reading, without licence of the said Dean, or his Deputy, he shall lose for every time of such absence, six Shillings and Eightpence.
24. Item, The Poor-Knights so chosen, as is aforesaid, and every of them, before he take any commodity of his Room, shall give a corporal oath before the Dean, or his Deputy, to be faithful and true to Us, and to our Heirs, and Successors, Kings of this Realm; and that he or they for the time of their tarrying there, shall truly observe these Statutes and Ordinances, so far as the same concerneth them, or such other as shall be hereafter made by Us, or our Heirs, and Successors, touching the good order of that Company.
25. Item, Notwithstanding the Articles before express'd, prescribing the aforesaid number to be chosen of Gentlemen, which we do most allow, yet considering that before the perfection of these Orders, we be advertised, that the more part of them now chosen, and admitted, be not certainly known Gentlemen, were received into the same Order, as Men well reported for honesty, and thought meet to be relieved for their poverty, we are pleased to dispence with all such, as are presently placed, being not Gentlemen born, and hereafter mean in that point, not to have any admitted contrary to the said order.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 97

The annual allowance to each of these Alms-Knights upon this Establishment of Queen Elizabeth is 18 l. 5 s. to be paid by the Dean of Windsor, besides 3 l. 6 s. 8 d. to every of them for a Gown or Surcoat of red Cloth, and a Mantle of blue or purple Cloth, on the left sleeve whereof is embroidered the Arms of St. George in a plain Scutcheon. King James I. was pleased to double their Pension, viz. to each of them 18 l. 5 s. more, and made it payable out of the Exchequer by quarterly payments. The Governor of these Alms-Knights has moreover an additional Salary of 3 l. 6 s. 8 d. with many other perquisites peculiar to his office.

To these thirteen Alms-Knights there were added, in the Reign of King Charles I. five more, viz. two of the Foundation of Sir Peter la Maire, Knt. and three of Sir Francis Crane, sometime Chancellor of this most Noble Order.

For Sir Peter la Maire, by his last Will and Testament, bearing date January 8, Anno 1631. bequeathed the sum of 1500 l. to be bestowed and settled to and for such charitable and pious uses, and in such manner and form as Sir Francis Crane (who had married his Sister) should think fit and appoint, within four years after his death.

Afterwards Sir Francis determining (very greatly to his own fame and the honour of the Order) to erect certain Houses in Windsor Castle, for the dwelling of these five Alms-Knights, did thereupon design the said 1500 l. towards that use, and added also money of his own to make up the rest; charging his Executor (Sir Richard Crane his Brother, afterwards created Baronet) by his Will, dated August 27, Anno 1635. to see the Buildings, which himself had begun, finished. He also bequeathed for ever 200 l. per Annum, to be settled in Lands by his Executor, according to the advice and direction of Thomas, then Earl of Arundel and Surry, and Henry Lord Matrevers, his eldest Son, to serve for the perpetual maintenance of these five Alms Knights, after the rate of 40 l. per Annum to every one of them.

But his Executor growing slack in the performance of this, the work being rather exposed to ruin than any way forwarded by him, by whom the same was only expected to be finished; and complaints thereof being at several times made to the Sovereign and Knights-Companions in Chapter; orders were issued thereupon to quicken him, and a peremptory Letter sent him, dated March 7, 1639. to go on with the work forthwith; which commands he evading, and bad times growing on, the Building was wholly neglected.
O by

Sir Richard Crane afterwards dying, by his Will, dated September 20, 1645. appointed that his Manour of Carbrook in Norfolk, should for ever stand bound for the payment of the said 200*l. per Annum*: Whereupon by an Inquisition taken at Windsor, March 4, 1652, by virtue of a Commission upon the Statute, Anno 43, Elizabeth, for Charitable uses, the Manours of Wodrising and Wesfield, with other Lands in the County of Norfolk, were found liable to satisfy for building and finishing the said five Houses, and payment of 200*l. yearly*; and further that the Arrears thereof from Sir Francis Crane's death, came at that time to 3200*l.*

Some contest then ensued in the Court of Chancery, between Ralph Mabb, with other Prosecutors on behalf of the Alms-Knights, and William Crane, Esq; (to whom the estate of Sir Richard Crane fell) nevertheless the 200*l. per Annum*, was, July 19, 1655. decreed to be paid out of the Lands which were Sir Richard Crane's, and the building of the Houses out of his personal estate. And upon this, about two years after, that fair pile of Building, erected between the Chancellor's and Garter's Towers, against the West wall in the lower Ward of the Castle, was taken again in hand, and finished in the following year; the charge whereof amounted to 1700*l.*

But for a final end of the Suit it was decreed, January 27, 1659. That the before-mention'd Manour of Carbrook, should for ever stand charged with 200*l. per Annum*, to be paid half yearly, at Michaelmas and Lady-Day, or within thirty days after, for the perpetual maintenance of five Alms-Knights; together with 30*l. yearly* for repairs, payable at the aforesaid times, and an assurance thereof to be made accordingly: Towards the recovery and settling of which, the care and assistance of Sir Bulstrode Whiteloke, (then Countable of the Castle of Windsor) was not wanting.

The

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 99

The Settlement being perfected, in a Chapter held at Whitehall, January 14, Anno 12, Charles II. The Sovereign decreed, that the Chancellor of the Order, for the time being, should receive the said annual sum of 230*l.* and dispose thereof thus, 200*l. per Annum*, among the five new instituted Alms-Knights quarterly, by even and equal portions, at the four usual Feasts of the year, and to employ the residue (being 30*l. per Annum*) upon repair of the new Buildings, erected for their Lodgings; which powers were inserted into the patent for his office, bearing date the 20th of the same month.

And it was further decreed at the same time, that these five Alms-Knights should be subject to the same Rules and Government under which the other thirteen were established, by Queen Elizabeth's Foundation, and made equal partakers of the same Privileges, and have the like Habit assigned to them.

The number of Alms-Knights being by this Donation of Sir Francis Crane, increased to eighteen; King Charles I. taking notice thereof (tho' they were not yet settled) intended to make them up twenty-six, as they were at the institution of the Order; to which end, in a Chapter held at Whitehall, April 18, 1637, it was ordered, "That the Knights-Companions (Commissioners for other affairs of the Order) should consider of the best way how the same might be effected, and report their Opinions to the then Sovereign:" But nothing being done thereupon, this affair yet waits a more propitious season for the compleating thereof.

We shall conclude with observing, that the 30*l. per Annum* on this new foundation, is now received by these five Alms-Knights, with their annual payment; and they are obliged to repair their several Houses at their own expence, but the Houses of the thirteen Alms-Knights, on the royal establishment, are repaired at the expence of the Crown.

CHAPTER VII.

Of the MINISTERS of the COLLEGE.

THE Ministers, or Officers of the free College and Chapel of St. George, bring up the rear in the Patent of Foundation; under which title are comprehended, first, the superior Officers, namely, the Chantor, Steward, and Treasurer.

The Chantor is ordained to be chosen from among the Canons, the chief part of whose Office is to govern those that sing in the Choir, and such as are employed about divine Service: Before the Reformation in Religion, he appointed who of them should begin the Antiphones, celebrate the Masses, and read the Lessons, Epistles, and Gospels; with these, to his care was committed the custody of the Books, Crosses, Chalices, Vestments, and all the sacred Ornaments of the Chapel: He receives the Offerings there made, and accompts for them; for all which service an annual Pension is allowed him.

The Steward and Treasurer are annually chosen on the morrow after Michaelmas Day, from out of the Canon-Residents. To the Steward's Office belongs the government of the revenue of the College; the Rents and Profits arising thence, he is to pay to the Treasurer: To his keeping is delivered the Ornaments, Jewels, and other Treasure of the Chapel, not committed to the Chantor, under the obligation of rendering an account, and he receives a yearly Pension from the College.

The Treasurer is appointed to distribute to the Custos, Canons, Vicars, and every other Minister of the Chapel, the Pensions and Allowances assigned to them; of which, if he fail eight days after the expiration of their set times of Payment, he is debarred of his own Quotidians, as Canon-Resident, until such arrears be discharged; so also the Steward, if he be faulty herein; and the Treasurer has in like manner a yearly Salary from the College.

As

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 101

As there is one Treasurer, who receives the rents of the old Lands, so was there appointed another distinct from the former, and chosen from among the Canons, to receive the rents of the new Lands, (within a few years after they were settled on the College) to whom a like annual Pension hath been also allowed; the title of the former being Senescallus veteris Dotationis, and of the latter Senescallus novæ Dotationis.

There is also the Steward of the Courts, and Clerk of the Lands, which is an Officer under both the before-mentioned Stewards: He keeps the Courts by himself, or Deputy; he is a Barister at Law, and the standing Council of the College; his yearly Pension is twenty Nobles, but the Council in Spiritualibus, is usually a graduate in the Civil Law.

The Chapter-Clerk's Office, or Registership, is to enter or register all Acts agreed upon in the Chapter-House; he also draws, ingrosseth, and registereth all Indentures, Patents, Grants, Leases, and other Writings, which pass under the common seal of the Dean and Canons; his Pension is 3*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* per Annum. The under Stewardship, and Chapter-Clerkship went sometimes heretofore together, but of late they are divided, and now this Officer is also a Barister at Law.

Of the Vergers institution, the statutes of the College take notice, and appoint, that in the Chapel, at processions and other solemnities, he shall go before the Dean and Canons, bearing his rod; for which service there was allowed him annually one Robe, and Six-pence per Diem. And besides these Officers, there are two Sextons, two Bell-ringers, a Clock-keeper, and a Porter, who attends the shutting and opening of the Gates.

CHAPTER VIII.

Of the Endowment of the COLLEGE.

THE Endowments wherewith King Edward III. invested this College, by his Letters Patent of Foundation before-mentioned, were first the Advowsons of the Churches of Wyrrardestbury (vulgarly called Rasbury) in the Diocess of Lincoln; of Southanton, in the Diocess of Exeter; and of Uttorater, in the Diocess of Coventry and Lichfield. These he gave to the Custos, Canons, Alms-Knights, and Ministers of the College, to hold in free, pure, and perpetual Alms, thoroughly and perpetually, free from all secular exactions; with licence to appropriate the same to the College, notwithstanding the Statute of Mortmain: He thereby also appointed so much of his Treasure as should be for their decent support, until he had settled an immoveable Estate of 1000 l. per Annum upon them in Lands, Benefices, or Rents.

But as for two of these Advowsons, viz. Uttoxater, and Southanton; 'tis to be doubted there was afterwards discovered some defect in the King's title to them, and that the right of Patronage lay rather in Henry Earl of Lancaster, and Thomas Earl of Warwick; for June 18, Anno 23, Edw. III. the King granted special licence to Henry Earl of Lancaster, that he should give and assign to the Custos and Chaplains of the Chapel of St. George in Windsor, and their Successors for ever, the Advowson of the Church of Uttokesbatre, it being there said to be of the Earl's proper Patronage; and the like licence to Thomas Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, for assigning to them the Advowson of the Church of Southanton, that being of his Patronage also. The King gave special licence likewise to receive these Advowsons from these Earls, and to appropriate them to the use of the College.

Another

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 103

Another like licence pass'd, January 26, Anno 24. Edward III. to William de Bobun, Earl of Northampton, that enabled him to assign to the said Custos and Chaplains and their Successors, the Advowson of the Church of Dadyngton in the County of Oxford, which he held of the King in Capite, with license for them to receive and appropriate the same.

January 28, following, this royal Founder gave unto the Custos and College, by the name of Custos and Chaplains of his Free Chapel of Windsor, one Messuage, 17 Acres of Land, one Acre of Pasture, and 3 s. Rent, with the Appurtenances lying in Wyrrardesbury in the County of Buckingham, which had been conveyed to him by Richard de Gloucester, Heir to Isabella de Ditton. And on May 22, ensuing, he also granted unto them the Advowson of the Church of Datchet near Windsor, with licence to appropriate it to them and their Successors.

In the following year (primo Martii) the King gave them the Advowsons of the Churches of Eure in Buckinghamshire, of Riston in the County of Norfolk, and of Whaddon and Carton in the County of Cambridge, to appropriate these also to them and their Successors. And May 9, after, he likewise granted and assign'd to them, the Advowson of the Churches of Symondesbourn (which the College in the Reign of King Edward IV. surrendered to Richard Duke of Gloucester) and of St. Stephen's of Saltash, with the like license of Appropriation. But the first of these was the gift of Queen Phillipa, she having purchased it of Sir John Darcy, Knt. and the other of Edward the Black Prince; and both granted by them, first to the King, that by his Grant afterwards to the College, its Title might be better strengthened.

October 26, in the same year, the King granted to the said Custos and College and their Successors, one hundred Marks per Annum, to be received out of the Farm of the Town of Northampton; and paid them by the hands of the Bailiff of that Town for the time being, at Easter and Michaelmas by equal portions, towards their sustentation and maintenance, and the supportation of the burthen of the Chapel.

104 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

It was at the instance of the Founder (and therefore we mention it here) that the Bailiffs and Commonalty of Parlmouth, granted to the College, April 1, Anno 26, Edward III. under their common Seal, a Last of Red Herrings yearly, well dried and cleansed; to the end they might take this Corporation into their Prayers. But some say it was enjoin'd them as a Penance, for murdering a Magistrate among them.

Moreover the Founder granted to them and their Successors, July 18, Anno 26, Edward III. the Manour of Eute near Weybridge, with its Appurtenances in Buckinghamshire; the Manour of Crafwell, with its Appurtenances in the parish of Bray, in the County of Berks; and a certain Meat, call'd Braybrook, placed in the river of Thames, with all the Lands and Tenements in the said Parish conveyed unto him by Sir John Philibert; together with all the Knights Fees, and Advowsons of Churches, Chapels, Chantries, and other things whatsoever, to the said Manors, Lands and Tenements belonging or appertaining. And February 23, following, a Writ issued to Henry de Greystock, Clerk, Steward of the Lands set apart for the use of the King's Chamber, and to Robert de Haddon, Escheator of the same Lands, to give full Seisin to the Custos and College of these Manours of Eure and Bray St. Philibert, as also of a Wood called Temple-Wood in Stoke-Pugeys, conveyed to the King by John de Molyns.

Afterwards, the King considering, that all the Lands he had assigned for support of this College, were yet too little for that end; and being desirous to have it better provided for, he further granted to the Custos and College and their Successors, by like Letters Patent, a Pension of 100 l. yearly, out of the Exchequer. These Letters Patent were afterwards vacated, for that by other like Letters, dated May 12, Anno 34, Edward III. he gave them Lands to the yearly value of 101 l. 11 s. 11 d. of the possessions of religious Aliens, which fell into his hands, by occasion of the French Wars. One hundred Pounds per Annum, part of this, was in recompence of the said 100 l. yearly pension issuing out of the Exchequer, and the 1 l. 11 s. 11 d. in part of satisfaction for the Lands, which the King intended to provide for the further maintenance of the College; nevertheless he thereby also granted, that that in case these possessions should by Treaty of Peace, or otherwise be restored, they should then receive the said yearly sum of 101 l. 11 s. 11 d. out of his Exchequer, as before, until there was provided for them Lands of the like annual value: And whereas, in the Patent of Foundation it is said, that the King designed to settle upon the College, Lands of the value of 1000 l. per Annum: Now in other Letters Patent, bearing teste the said 12th of May, there is notice taken only of Lands of the annual value of 655 l. 15 s. (as if his intended donation had extended to Lands of no greater value) and that the King, in pursuance of such his purpose, had already provided Lands and other possessions, rated at 604 l. 5 s. 3 d. per Annum, the residue to make up the intended sum here expressed, being but 51 l. 9 s. 9 d. he thereupon appointed the College to receive that sum yearly, out of 126 l. which the Prior of Takkele paid to him for the Farm of that Priory, it being then in the King's hands, by reason of the War with France; howbeit, in case Peace was so concluded, that the same should be restored to the Prior, the King then further granted, that the Custos and College should thenceforward receive the said sum of 51 l. 9 s. 9 d. out of his Exchequer, at Michaelmas and Easter, at even portions.

But it seems the Lands fell short of the value rated at in this account, and reached not to the total of the King's intended Endowment by 90 l. per Annum; for June 1, in the following year, by other Letters Patent, he granted to the Custos and College, so much Money to be annually paid them out of his Exchequer (to make up what yet fell short) until he should cause to be provided Lands or Rents of that value, to be settled on them and their Successors.

Lastly, April 2, Ann. 39, Edw. III. the Founder bestowed on them a piece of Ground in New Windsor (upon which had stood a House sometime of John de London) in lieu of the great Garden lying on the South part of the Castle, formerly given them by him, for the use of the Custos and Canons; and also a Garden opposite thereunto, on the other side of the way, with its Appurtenances, for the use of the Alms-Knights, Vicars, Clerks, Choristers, and other the Officers of the College; and herewith he closed his Endowments.

P

But

106 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

But besides all these Donations made by the Founder, to the Custos and College, and their Successors, there were other Lands, Parsonages, Pensions, and Portions given to them by pious and devout Persons, in free, pure, and perpetual Alms for ever, towards their sustentation; which are said to be taken into the first foundation, and made up that revenue, which William Bishop of Winchester accounted and declared sufficient, for the maintenance of the Custos, and those other of the College, according to the number by him limited in the College Statutes, as also for the due defraying of all charges imposed upon them; and these we shall let pass with the bare mention only, viz.

The Manour of Dodington Castle; two Pastures called Frith and Allcroft; the Chapel of Langley; the Parsonages of Estriton, Langley-Paries, Mantynge, Shaldeborne, Medonbeck, Clynde, and Rysepe; the Pensions of the Vicarages of Mantynge, Clyffe, Tyltehey, and Gottisford; and the Portions of Batynghorne, Wyllowke, in Valley magna, Chalgrave, Adewelle, Aston, Rowland, Sebyngdon, Byngstan, and Denton, in Stoke-Basset, and Clapcote, in Gatehampton, Whytebyrche, Spaldersham, Retherfeld, Elthenrith, Stretham, of Thernecroft, in Letherbed, of Cotynbeck, in Modredon, Chyngton, Woodmerthorne, of Fordham, Ethorpe, Nettenham, and in Collestworth.

In following times there were many other considerable Donations bestowed on the College, by the succeeding Sovereigns, and Knights-Companions of the Order of the Garter, either out of devotion, or desire to be more especially taken into their Prayers, or in honour to the military Order; some of which, as they fall into our way; we will here set down.

King Richard II. Grandchild and Successor to the Founder (Feb. 13. Anno Regni sui 13.) gave to the Custos and Canons, one Croft in the Town of Portsmouth, together with the Advowson of that Church, it being in the Diocess of Exeter, and licence to appropriate the same.

John Duke of Bedford, third Son to King Henry IV. bestowed on this College, by his deed dated December 3, Ann. 9. Hen. V. the Priory of

of Okeborne, in the County of Wilts, (a Cell to the Abbey of Bec in Normandy) together with all and singular the possessions thereunto belonging, or appertaining: This grant King Henry V. confirmed, and that it might be more valid, was likewise confirmed by King Edward IV.

K. Edw. IV. had a singular respect and favour for this College, to which, July 18, in the seventh year of his reign, towards augmentation of its maintenance, and ease of the great burthens of the Dean and Canons, he gave the Manours of Atherston, in the County of Warwick, (a Member of the Priory of Okeborne) the Manours and Advowsons of the Churches of Cheshingbury, in Wiltshire; and of Quarlt, in Hants; the Church and Priorate of Uphaven, and the Deanry, or Chapel of St. Eutien, in Cornwall; with all rights and appurtenances thereunto appertaining; as also an annual Pension which the Abbot of Sautre paid for the Church of Fulburne, to the Abbey de bona Requie; and another annual Pension of 20*l.* paid by the Abbot of Rousford, for the mediety of the Church of Rotherham.

Jan. 29, Anno Regni sui 13, he gave the Manour, or Priorate of Munclane, in the County of Hereford (parcel of the possessions belonging to the Priories Alien) with all and singular its appurtenances.

The following year (Feb. 27.) he granted to them, by the name of Custos, or Dean and Chapter of this College, the custody, patronage, and free disposition of the Hospital, or free Chapel of St. Anthony's, London (a preceptory of the Monastery of St. Anthony at Vienna) with all the Liberties, Privileges, Lands, Rents, Services, and Emoluments whatsoever thereunto belonging, upon the first vacancy, whether it should happen by death, resignation, or otherwise: He also gave them (May 17, insuing) the Priorate of Bilmsfield, in the County of Gloucester; the Manour of Blakenham, in the County of Suffolk, (parcel of the Priory of Okeburne) the Priory of St. Clint, in the Isle of Wight, in Hampshire; the Priorate, or Manour of Charlton, in Wiltshire; and and all the Lands, Tenements, Rents, and Services, in Portsmouth, Compton, and Witlegh, in the Counties of Sussex and Southampton; (which sometime belonged to the Abbey of Lucerne, in Normandy) the Manour of Ponyngton, and Wotton, in the County of Dorset, (parcel of the possessions of Okeburne Priory) one annual Pension of twelve Marks, payable by the Prior of the Priory of Monte-Acuta, together with all and singular the Lands, Tenements, Rents, Advowsons, Liberties, &c. annexed to the said Priorates and Manours, or in any manner appertaining; with licence to appropriate the same to them and their Successors.

About two months after, this King gave also to the College, the Manour of Pembury, in Devonshire; and the Lordships of Preston and Donkeshire, in the County of Somerset; the Advowsons of the Churches of Buryton and Mollavington, in the said County (being parcel of the Priory of Golalyf, in Wales, and one of the Priors aliens) together with the Knights Fees, Advowsons, Profits, Rights, &c. thereunto belonging.

In the 18th year of his Reign, the Queen, Thomas Archbishop of York, and several Bishops, Noblemen and others, being seized to the use of the King, his Heirs and Successors of the Manour of Wykecombe called Bassetsbury, the Fee-Farm of the Town of Great Wykecombe; the Manour of Crendon in the County of Buckingham; and of the Manours of Haseley and Pyrtton in the County of Oxford, parcel of the Lands of the Dutchy of Lancaster, they (at the special Command of the King) demised and granted the premises with all their Appurtenances to the Custos or Dean and Canons and their Successors, until such time as the King, his Heirs or Successors should grant to them other Lands of the like yearly value.

February 17, following, this King gave them the Advowson of the Church of Cheshunt, being of his own Patronage; with licence to appropriate the same, provided the Vicarage was sufficiently endow'd, and a competent sum of money annually distributed among the poor Parishioners, according to the Diocesan's Ordinance, and form of the Statute in such case provided.

This King, February 21, following, united the Custody or Deanery of the Free Chapel of Wolverhampton in the County of Stafford, to the Custos or Dean of this College, and his Successors for ever. This Church

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 109

Church cum membris, is exempt not only from the Jurisdiction of the Bishop of Litchfield and Coventry, but (by a Papal Bull) from all his Legates and Delegates; nor is it subject to any terrene power but the Majesty of England, and under it, to the perpetual visitation of the Lord Chancellors, or Keepers of the Great Seal pro tempore.

King Edward IV. likewise gave them the Advowson or Patronage of the Prebend of Ætern in the County of Dorset, September 27, in the 20th year of his reign, with all its Rights and Appurtenances, and also a licence of Appropriation.

And lastly, November 21, in the ensuing year, he granted them two parts of the Manours of Old-Swynford and Gannow in the County of Worcester, and the Reversion of the third part of them after the death of Margaret Wife of Fulk Stafford, Esq; with the Advowson of the Church of Old-Swynford.

These were the effects of this most noble and munificent Prince's piety and liberality towards this College: Nor was he alone bountiful, but excited others to be so likewise; and to that purpose, in the 1st year of his Reign, licenced to all his subjects in general, to give what Lands, Rents, or Advowsons they pleased, to the Dean and Canons, within the value of 300 Marks per Annum, as well such as they held of the King in Capite, or in Burgage, or otherwise, as any other Land; the same to be united and appropriated to the College and its uses perpetually, notwithstanding the Statute of Mortmaine; and afterwards increased this licence to Lands of the value of 500 l. a year but King Henry VIII. extended the like licence to the value of 1000 l. per Annum.

Hereupon shortly after, viz. June 29, Anno Reg. Sui 20, he granted licence to John Duke of Suffolk and Elizabeth his Wife, the King's Sister, to give and assign unto them the Manour or Lordship of Croxbury, otherways call'd Leighton-Bufard, with its Appurtenances in the County of Bedford, the Church of Tintagell in Cornwall, with all its Emoluments; as also 19 Messuages, seven Tofts, 140 Acres of Land, 14 Acres of Meadow, 140 Acres of Pasture, 100 Acres of Wood,

110 The History and Antiquities of WINDSOR.

Wood, and 4 l. Rent, with their Appurtenances in Pewford and Blandford in the County of Dorset; and 70 Messuages, 12 Tofts, 500 Acres of Land, 100 Acres of Meadow, 300 Acres of Pasture, 100 Acres of Wood, 100 Shillings Rent, with the Appurtenances in Stokley, Porthall, Edelesburgh, and Wodenach in Buckinghamshire; and 20 Messuages, eight Tofts, 300 Acres of Land, 60 Acres of Meadow, 200 Acres of Pasture, 40 Acres of Wood, and 20 s. Rent, with the Appurtenances, in Compton St. John in the County of Suffex; and 10 Messuages, nine Tofts, 200 Acres of Land, 20 Acres of Meadow, 100 Acres of Pasture, 10 Acres of Wood, and 20 s. Rent, with the Appurtenances, in Portsmouth and Burghesge, in Hampshire; and 1 Messuage, 3 Tofts, 60 Acres of Land, 6 Acres of Meadow, 40 Acres of Pasture, and 20 s. Rent, with the Appurtenances, in Stodham, in the County of Hertford, held of the King in capite; notwithstanding the Statute of Mortmaine, or any other restriction or proviso whatsoever.

We shall here note, that July 24, Ann. 18, Edw. IV. this Duke of Suffolk infeoffed Richard Duke of York, Thomas Bishop of Lincoln, and others of the Manour of Leighton-Busard, who June 25, Ann. 19, Edw. IV. at his special instance, demised and granted the said Manour to the Dean and Canons for ever: And in the Octaves of St. John Baptist, Ann. 20, Edw. IV. the Duke of Suffolk and his Dutcheſs levied a fine to the Dean and Canons, who thereupon agreed, that for this their so large Donation, they should be had in their perpetual Orisons.

Jan. 10, next after, Sir Walter Devoreux de Ferrers, Knt. following this pious example, together with Sir John Devoreux, and others his Feoffees, of the Manour of Sutton-Courtney (having withal obtained the King's licence to that end) did give and grant unto the Dean, Canons, and their Successors for ever, the Advowson or Patronage thereof, with all rights appertaining thereunto.

All the before-mentioned Endowments are called the Lands of the old Dotation, to distinguish them from those settled on the College by King Edward VI. which bear the title of Lands of the new Dotation; concerning which we shall speak in the next place: But let it be first noted, that several of them so given by King Edward IV. the College never enjoyed,

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. III

ed, viz. the Manour of ATHERSTONE, the Manour and Advowson of QUARLE, UPHAVEN, St. BURIEN, FULBURN Pension, BRIMFIELD, St. ELEN, CHARLETON, BLAKENHAM, PONYNGTON, WEDON, Old SWINFORD, and GANNOW; and of some other they were seized but a short time, viz. CHESINGBURY Manour and Advowson; the Lands in NEWFORD, BLANDFORD, and PORTSMOUTH. Besides these, the College was dispossessed of GOTTESFORD, in the reign of King Henry VI. of CHESHUNT Advowson, in the reign of Henry VII. and in the time of King Henry VIII. (or some time before) of WODEMERHTHORNE, TYLTEHEY, RETHERFELD, LEVINGDEN, STOKE-BASSET, STRETHAM, TOTINGBEEK, FORDHAM, ETHORP, NEWENHAM, and TOLLESWORTH: Afterwards they surrendered into the hands of King Henry VIII. the Manours and Advowsons of EURE, CLIFFE, ASHTON, ROWHAND, KINGSTON, EST-HENRITH, NORTUMUNDEN, COMPTON, WELLE, COMPTON St. JOHN'S, and SHOBINGDON Portion.

And lastly, the College lost at least 1000 Marks per Annum, upon the reformation of Religion, in the profit made by St. Anthony's PILLS, which the appropriation of the Hospital of St. Anthony, London, had brought to it; and no less than 500 l. per Annum, the Offerings of Sir John Shorne's SHRINE, at Northampton, in Buckinghamshire; a very devout Man, of great veneration with the people, and sometime Rector there. The Advowson of this Church was appropriate to the Dean and Canons, by the Prior and Convent of Dunstable; the licence of King Edward IV. being obtained for that purpose, the 15th of November, Anno Regni sui 19, in exchange for the Advowson of the Church of Wendenbeck, Bedfordshire.

The Dean and Canons having by their Deed under their Chapter Seal, conveyed unto King Henry VIII. the Manour and Rectory of IVOR, in Buckinghamshire; the Manour of DAMMERY-COURT, in Dorsetshire; and divers other Lands, Rents, Portions, and Pensions, in the Counties of Somerset, Hants, Middlesex, Oxford, and Sussex, for which they had no recompence in his life, nevertheless by his last Will and Testament he appointed them satisfaction; and thereby charged and required his Son, and all his Executors, and likewise all his Heirs and Successors, Kings

112 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Kings of England, as they would answer the neglect before Almighty God, at the dreadful day of Judgment, that they should see assurance made to the Dean and Canons, for settling Lands on them and their Successors, in performance of his Will, and the uses therein appointed.

And it being manifest to the Lord Protector, and his Co-Executors (after this King's death) that the Dean and Canons, upon the commutation and agreement of an exchange, performed on their part by assigning to the said King the Manours and Lands above specified, being of the yearly value of 160*l.* 2*s.* 4*d.* for which they were as then unrecompenced. King Edward VI. minding the accomplishing and performance of his Father's last Will, as well for the assurance of Lands to the yearly value of 600*l.* to the Dean, Canons, and their Successors for ever, to the uses in the Will, and for maintenance and performance of such other Ordinances and Things, as he and the said Executors should limit and prescribe to them; as also for the assurance of other Lands of the annual value of 160*l.* 2*s.* 4*d.* to be made to the Dean and Canons, in recompence of the Lands they had released and assigned to King Henry VIII. was pleased by his Letters Patent, bearing teste at Hampton-Court, October 7, in the first year of his reign, to give and grant to the said Dean and Canons, the Rectories, Improvements, Parsonages, Chapels, Portions, and Tithes here named, viz. The Rectories and Churches of Bradynche, Portham, Iplepen, Alington, and Southmolton, in Devonshire; and the Tithe of Corn of Otery in that County, part of the Duke of Somerset's possessions; as also Wolsoms-Inn, in St. Lawrence-Lane, London, sometime parcel of the possessions of the late College of Otery; The Tithes of Grain, &c. of the Rectory of Ambsbury, in Wiltshire; and all the Tithes of Bedwin, Stoke, Wilton, Harden, Harden-Tunridge, Knoll, Pathall, Chisbury, East-Grafton, West-Grafton, Grafton-Marten, and Wexcombe, parcel of the Prebend of Bedwyn, in that County; as also the Prebend of Alcannyns and Urche-founte; the Rectories of Urche-founte, Stapleford, Cytcombe, and Storfield, in the said County; and the annual pension of 8*l.* issuing out of the Manour of Icombe, in the County of Gloucester; the Rectory and Vicarage of Ikellington, in Cambridgeshire; the Rectory of Cast-Beckworth, in the County of Surry; the Reversion of the Portion of Tithes of Trequite, in Cornwall, and the rent of 13*s.* 4*d.* reserved upon upon the same. All the portion of Tithes of Trequite aforesaid, belonging to the Priory of St. Germans in Cornwall. The Rectory and Church of Plymton, the Chapels of Plymstoke, Wembury, Shagh, Sanford-Spout, Plymton, St. Maurice, and Byrton in Devonshire, belonging to the late Priory of Plymton, the Rectory of Mleworth and Twickenham in the County of Middlesex, parcel of the possessions of the College of St. Mary of Winchester, and the Rectory of Shiplake in Oxfordshire, lately belonging to the Monastery of Missenden in Buckinghamshire. As also all the Reversion of the Rectory of Aberguille, and of the Chapels of Llanlatwett (alias dict. Llanbadock) and Llanpenysaunt, (part of the Monastery of Caermarthen in South-Wales (with the Rent of 30 l. per Annum reserved thereon; the Reversion of the Rectory of Calgarth (part of the Priory of Brecknock in South-Wales) with the reserved Rent of 11 l. 6s. 8d. The Reversion of the Rectory of Mara in the County of Brecknock (belonging to the Priory of Brecknock) and 6 l. Rent. The Reversion of the Rectory of St. Germans in Cornwall (appertaining to the Monastery or Priory of St. Germans) with 61 l. 13s. 4d. Rent. To have and to hold all the premisses, unto the Dean and Canons and their Successors for ever; except the Tithes in Woolpall and Fitz-Waren in Wiltshire (belonging to the Priory of Bedwyn) the Vicarage-house of Ikelington, the Monies called Marriage-Money, Dirge-Money, and Mass-Money, and the whole profit of the Bedrolls of Ikelington; nevertheless to pay the King and his Successors in the Court of Augmentation, for the Rectories of Aberguille, Targarthe and Mara, the Chapels of Llanbadock and Llanpenysaunt 4 l. 2s. 8d. in the name of tenths, and for all Rents, Services, &c. of the other Rectories, &c. 48 l. 7s. 4d. annually at Michaelmas.

Furthermore, within all these premises the King (by the said Letters Patent) granted to the Dean and Canons, Court Leets, or Views of Frankpledge, and to have Fines and Amerciaments, Free-Warrants, Waifs, and Felons Goods, and all other Profits, Commodities, Liberties, Emoluments, and Hereditaments whatsoever. All which Rectories, Tithes, Pensions, Rents, &c. before-mentioned, and all other Gifts and Grants in the possession of the Dean and Canons, Anno Jac. I. Reg. 2. were confirmed and made good and effectual in law to them and their Successors, by Act of Parliament that year.

The

114 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

The 2d of August preceding the Grant made by King Edward VI. a Rental pass'd under the hand of Sir Edward North, Chancellor of the Court of Augmentation, containing the particular charges issuing out of the aforesaid Rectories, &c. whereunto certain Articles were annexed, and according to which the said Deed of Conveyance from the King was drawn.

The ancient rate of these new Lands in the King's Books was 66*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* per Ann. but according to the improved Rents, viz. as they were then turned over to the College, was 812*l.* 12*s.* 9*d.* out of which improved value (as appears by the Articles now mentioned) 160*l.* 2*s.* 4*d.* was yearly allowed them, in satisfaction of the Lands past over to King Henry VIII. and 600*l.* per Ann. for accomplishment of his Will, but the remaining sum, viz. 52*l.* 10*s.* 5*d.* was reserved in lieu of the tenths, to be yearly paid into the Court of Augmentation; howbeit this last reserved sum was not agreed unto by the Dean and Canons to be so paid, because the charges issuing out of the Lands were greater than were expressed in the Rental.

And we find, that shortly after the Rents of the Parsonage of St. Germans, the Rectories of Northam, Ilfrington, Icklington, Ambrosbury, Stapleford, and Urchefount, the Prebends of Alcanings and Urchefount, being part of the new Lands, were received and accounted for, according to the old rate in the King's Books, viz. 162*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* per Ann. by the Steward of the old Lands, in recompence for the Lands conveyed to King Henry VIII. and out of which they paid a yearly surplussage of 2*l.* 2*s.* 1*d.* This sum, together with the Rents of the rest of the new Lands, being upon the said improvement accounted to be 597*l.* 17*s.* 11*d.* made in all 600*l.* per Ann. and this was paid by the Dean and Canons for some time towards building the Alms-Knights Houses, as is before remembered.

Thus stood the Lands accounted for, till the settlement made by Queen Elizabeth, for the disposition of the whole revenue, which then was accounted to the College, but at the value entered in the King's Books; upon which settlement, the Queen appointed the Dean and Canons to convert the Rents of these new Lands, from time to time to such such uses and intents, and in such manner and form as she had set down in a Book signed with her Sign Manual, and annexed to an Indenture bearing date August 30, in the first year of her reign, made between her on the one part, and the Dean and Canons on the other: By which Indenture the Dean and Canons covenant for themselves and Successors, to distribute and employ at all times for ever, the Rents and Profits of these Lands, in such manner as in the Book is declared and appointed, and to observe and keep all the Ordinances, Rules, and Things whatsoever contained therein, which on their part and behalf is limited and appointed to be performed and executed, according to the true meaning of the same.

And if the Dean and Canons, or their Successors, should omit any thing to them appointed to be performed by the said Ordinances, Rules and Statutes, then for every such default, they are to abide such Order as shall be made by the Queen, her Heirs or Successors, or by any of the Knights-Companions of the Order, as by her or her Successors should be thereunto appointed.

In this Book, the total of the Revenue, reckoned at the ancient value, amounts to. — —	661	06	08
The annual charge and disbursements to the College therein set down, is — — —	430	19	06
And so remains —	230	07	02

Which remainder hath been, and is assigned and employed for payment of Tenths to the Crown, Vicar's and Curate's annual Stipends, Officer's-Fees, Reparation of the Premises, and for the relief of the Dean and Canons, and their Successors, in maintenance and defence of the said Lands.

It is to be noted here, that Fullmere Rectory, in the County of Bucks, in the Presentation of the Dean and Canons of Windsor, was formerly annexed to Datchet, but made a Parochial Church, and endowed with the great Tithes, by the Dean and Canons, and the first Donation to it, as appears by the College Books, was in the seventh year of the reign of Edward VI.

116 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

We shall finish this Chapter with the Letters Patent of King Edward III. Ann. Reg. 22. before frequently mentioned, whereby that Prince first endowed this Chapel. The Latin Original is extant in Mr. Ashmole's Append.

‘ EDWARD by the grace of God King of England, and France, and ‘ Lord of Ireland, to all, who shall see these present Letters, greeting.
‘ It becomes the majesty of a King to delight always in Acts of Piety,
‘ that when he shall stand before the Tribunal of the most high King ‘ (with whom there is no acceptance of Persons, but every one shall ‘ receive according to what he hath done in the body, whether it be ‘ good, or whether it be evil) he may be able to stand among the good ‘ on the right-hand, and not to be condemned with the reprobates, as ‘ a slothful and unprofitable Servant. We truly with grief of Heart ‘ carefully remembering the various labours of our Life, and our own ‘ small deserts, as also rightly considering the divine Favours shewed ‘ unto us, and the graces and honours, wherewith above others the ‘ most high hath prevented us, do greatly repent of those goods, which ‘ being granted us by God, we have above measure so often vainly ex‘ pended. And there remains nothing else for us to do, but only that ‘ unto Christ and his Mother the glorious Virgin, who hath never fail‘ ed to defend us, but has hitherto by her blessed Prayers protected us, ‘ when we were set in many dangers, we wholly convert our mind, and ‘ give unto him thanks for his favours, and ask pardon for our offences.
‘ And because it is a good way of merchandise, whereby, with an ‘ happy bartering, transitory things are exchanged for eternal: We ‘ have caused a certain Chapel of convenient beauty for eight Secular ‘ Canons, situate within our Castle of Windsor, wherein we were ‘ washed with the Water of Holy Baptism, magnificently begun to the ‘ honour of St. Edward the Confessor, by our Progenitors, to which ‘ (Canons) for their sustentation they allowed a certain sum of Money
‘ at their pleasure, and gave it them for Alms out of their Exchequer,
‘ to be finished at our royal charge, to the honour of God Almighty,
‘ and of his Mother the glorious Virgin Mary, and of the Saints ‘ George the Martyr, and Edward the Confessor. And earnestly desiring,
‘ and effectually endeavouring, that the said Canons, being there to serve
‘ the Lord, may be augmented, as well with an encrease of Revenues,
‘ as

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 117

as in the number of other Canons, Ministers, and Servants; and that in the said Chapel, the Glory of the Divine Name may be exalted with greater Worship; unto the foresaid eight Canons we think fit to superadd one Custos, presiding over them, and fifteen other Canons more, and twenty-four Poor-Knights, impotent of themselves, or inclining to Poverty, to be perpetually maintained of the goods of the said Chapel, and other Ministers of the said Chapel perpetually serving Christ under the command of the said Custos, [or Warden] and there cause to be received, as well the Canons and Knights, as other Ministers of the said Chapel, as is premised: [And this] We firmly decree, inviolably ordain, and by our royal Authority, as much as in us lies, establish for ever; willing that the said Canons and Ministers perform divine Offices for Us, and our Progenitors and Successors, in part of satisfaction for those things, whereof in the last judgment we are to give an account, they being to celebrate for ever according to the form of our Ordination thence more fully to be made: Unto whom the rights of Patronage, and the Advowsons of the Churches of Wyrrardesbury, in the Diocese of Lincoln; Southanton, of Exon; and Uttoxater, of Coventry and Lichfield; which we have lately purchased for that cause, for Us and our Heirs, we have given and granted, and do give and grant, to have and to hold to them, and their Successors, for free, pure, and perpetual Alms, altogether free and quiet for ever, from all secular exaction. We have also granted unto them, for Us and our Heirs, and given leave that they, the Warden and Canons, may appropriate the said Churches, and hold them so appropriated to their own uses, to them and their Successors for ever, notwithstanding the Statute set forth concerning Lands and Tenements, not to be put to Mortmaine. We will also, that unto the said Warden, Canons, Knights, and other Ministers of the said Chapel, there to serve, so much be paid every year out of our Exchequer, as together with the profits arising from the said Churches, shall seem sufficient and honest for their Diet, and the support of the burthens incumbent on them; according to the decency of their condition the mean while, until there shall be provided by Us, in Goods immoveable, Lands, Benefices, or Rents, to an agreeable sufficiency, and to our honour, to the sum of one thousand Pounds yearly: All which we promise and undertake for Us, and for our Heirs effectually to fulfil.

CHAPTER IX.

Of the Privileges of the CHAPEL and COLLEGE.

IN reference both to the spiritual and temporal affairs of this College, whatsoever Ordinances or Determination shall be made at the Chapters (not repugnant to the College Statutes) all Persons belonging thereunto are firmly obliged to observe, so far as they are concerned in them, until they happen to be altered by later resolves of succeeding Chapters.

This Chapel is exempt from the Jurisdiction of Archbishops, Bishops, &c. and the Dean takes no Institution from any Bishop; but the Institution, Investiture, and Installation into the Custoship, Canonship, and Prebendship, is received from such of the Canons-Resident, to whom the King (who collates) doth recommend him by his Letters; and other marks of Exemption peculiar to this College appear by the constant proving of Wills before the Dean, or in his absence before his Lieutenant; in using the power of Excommunication within their Jurisdiction (which is the Precincts of the College) and dispensing with themselves, for eating of Flesh in Lent.

Add to these, that the Ordinances for the Chantry-Priests were confirmed by the Dean and Chapter, not by the Bishop of the Diocese, so also were the Statutes of the new Commons. Nor doth the Dean, who hath the cure of Souls, pay any Synodals or Procurations; nor can any of the King's Chaplains preach in the Chapel of St. George, unless he be a Canon there, without the King's special Mandate, or leave of the Dean and Canons.

The

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 119

The Dean and Canons send no Delegates to Synods; and when this point fell into debate Anno 1640, it was carried in the negative, as being a perfect novelty, and against their Liberties, and might intitle them to the payment of Subsidies, and consequently bring a new charge upon the College: Nor have they share in the Government of the Church, as other Deans and Chapters have; so that notwithstanding any alteration or dissolution of the Government of the Church here in England, by Archbishops, Bishops, Deans and Chapters, this College cannot be concerned, more than the Colleges in the Universities, where there are many nominal Deans.

Lastly, after the Act for Uniformity, past Anno 14, Car. II. whereby every Clergyman was bound to subscribe before the Archbishop, or his Ordinary; the Canons subscribed before the Dean of Windsor, he being the Ordinary of the Place; and tho' some of them in majorem cautionem, subscribed also before the Archbishop of Canterbury, yet was it with this salvo, saving the Rights and Privileges of this Free Chapel.

Thus much in relation to the ecclesiastical Privileges of the College: As to the temporal and civil, what the Founder granted to it, being very large and beneficial (in regard he was born here, and touched with a prerogative of affection to this Place) and hath since been confirmed by several of his Successors, we shall here insert.

First then, the Founder King Edward III. by his Charter, dated March 6, Anno Regni sui 27, granted them several Profits, Privileges, and Immunities, to the effect following.

“ That the Custos and Canons, and their Successors, should for ever be “ free from Payment of any Aid, for making the eldest Son of any “ King of England a Knight, and for marrying their eldest Daughter;
“ as also of all Aids to the King, Contributions, and Tallages.

“ That whensoever the Clergy of this Realm, or of the Province of “ Canterbury or York, should give a Tenth or other Imposition, out of “ their Spiritualities; or the Commons of England should give a Tenth “ or Fifteenth, or any other Tax, out of their Temporalities or move“ able

120 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

“able goods; or that the King or his Heirs should cause his own De-“main to be taxed; or that the Pope should impose any Tax or Im“position upon the Clergy of this Realm, and give the same to the King “and his Heirs, this College with all its Lands and Possessions should “be wholly freed thereof.

“That they should be free from any charge of arraying Soldiers for
 “the service of the King and his Heirs; and from sending them for the “Custody of the Sea Coast, and from every fine or composition for the “same.

“That their Houses, as well those within the Castle of Windsor, as “elsewhere, should be free from any Livery of the King’s Stewards, “Marshals, Purveyors, Officers and Servants, and from the like Officers
 “of the Queen’s, or any of their Children, or of the Peers or Nobles;
 “and that the said Officers should not intermeddle there, without the “leave of the Custos or Canons, and their Successors.

“That no Duke, Earl, Baron or Nobleman, nor any Stewards, Marshals, “Escheators, Sheriffs, Coroners, Bailiffs, or Officers, nor any other per“son of what condition soever, should upon any colour, lodge, or stay “in the House of the Custos or Canons, without their consent.

“That the said Custos or Canons, and their Tenants, should for ever be “free from payment of Toll, Picage, Paviage, Barbicanage, Terrage, “Pontage, Murrage, Passage, Paiage, Lestage, Stallage, Tallage, Ca“riage, Pesage, and from Scot and Geld, Hidage, Scutage, working “about Castles, Parks, Bridges, Walls for the King’s Houses. And “from Suits to the County or Hundred Court, and Wapentakes, Court “Leets, Murder and common Amerciaments, whether they should “happen before the King, or any of the Justices of the Bench, or “Justices Itinerant, or other Justices whatsoever, and from every other “like Custom.

“That they should have within their Lands and Fees, the Chattles
 “of all Felons and Fugitives, and seize them to their own use.

“That

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 121

" That they should have all Fines for Trespasses, and all other Contempts, and Misdemeanors, Fines pro licentia concordandi, and for all other Causes.

" That they should have all Amerciaments, Redemptions, Issues, and Forfeitures whatsoever, Annum, Diem, Vastum & Streppum, and all things which might belong to the King and his Heirs thereupon.

" That they should have Wrecks, Waifs, and Strays, within all their Lands and Fees.

" That no Purveyance of Corn, Hay, Horses, Carts, Carriages, Victuals, or any Goods, Chattels, or any thing whatsoever, should be taken by any of the King's Officers or Ministers, in, or upon any of their Lands, or the Lands of any of their Tenants.

" That they should be free from the payment of any Pension, Corrody, or other Sustentation to be granted by the King, his Heirs or Successors.

" That they should have free Warren in all their Demain-Lands wheresoever. And that, although they lay within the bounds of the King's Forest.

" That they should have a weekly Market, to be held on Wednesday, at their Manour of Eure in Buckinghamshire, and two Fairs to endure for eight days, viz. on the Eve and Feast-Day of the Apostles Peter and Paul, and for two days next following: And upon the Eve and Feast-Day of St. Peter ad vincula; and two days following, with all Liberties and Customs to the said Market and Fairs belonging.

" That they should enjoy all their Lands, with the Liberties of Soc and Sac, Infangthef, Utsfangthef, and View of Frankepledge; with Thewe, Pillory, and Tumbrel, for punishment of Malefactors; and power to erect a Gallows upon their own soil, for executing of such Malefactors as should fortune to be apprehended within their Jurisdiction.

R

" That

“ That they should be freed and discharged from all Suits and “ Pleas of the Forest, and of all Charges or Fees which the Justices or “ other Officers of the Forest might demand. And from Expedition “ of their Dogs, and Suits of Court there.

“ That they should be free from Gelds, Dane-Gelds, Knights-Fees, “ Payments for Murder and Robbery, building or repairing of Bridges, “ Castles, Parks, Pools, Walls, Sea-Banks, Causeways, and Inclosures,
 “ and of all Affizes, Summons, Sheriff-aids, their Bailiffs or Officers, “ carrying of Treasure, and all other Aids, as also from the common “ Assessments and Amerciaments of the County and Hundred, and all “ Actions relating to them.

“ That they should be freed from the Payment of Ward-penny, “ Aver-penny, Tithing-penny, and Hundred-penny, and discharged
 “ from Grithbrech, Forfall, Homesoken, Blod-wite, Ward-wite, Heng“ wite, Fight-wite, Leyr-wite, Lastage, Pannage, Assart, and Waste “ of the Forest, so that such Waste and Offences be not committed in “ the Forests, Woods, or Parks of the King his Heirs and Successors;
 “ and if it should happen so be, that then reasonable satisfaction, “ without imprisonment or grievous recompence should be accepted.

“ That they should have a Return of all Writs and Attachments,
 “ as well relating to the Pleas of the Crown, as other, throughout all
 “ their Lands or Fees; and that no Sheriff, Bailiff, or other Officer “ should make an Execution of such Writs there, unless in default of “ the Custos and Canons and their Successors.

“ That they should have and hold Leets and Law-Days, for all “ within their Lands and Fees.

“ That they should have Cognizance of all Pleas betwixt their Te“ nants, as well of Trespasses and Contracts, as others, in their own “ Courts.

“ And lastly, that they should have and hold Wards, Reliefs, Ef“ cheats, Forfeitures, and other Profits, Issues and Emoluments what“ soever,

“ soever, within their own Fees, from all their Tenants, which might “ belong to the King, or his Heirs, and which the King might re“ ceive by reason of those Fees, in case they were in his own hands, “ as if the Tenants did hold of him or others in Capite of the

CHAPTER X.

Of the Houses of the DEAN and PREBENDS, and other Officers of the COLLEGE.

THE Lodgings of the Dean and Prebends are situated behind St. George's Chapel, in the lower Court or Ward, as may be seen by the Plan of the Castle. The Apartments of the Dean are large and commodious; the old part was built in the reign of King Henry VII.
when Dr. Urfwick was Dean, as appears by his Arms yet remaining on that part of the Building, with this Inscription,

Christofor Urfwick Decanus, 1500.

Many improvements have been since made by successive Deans, and of late especially, by Dr. Robinson late Dean of this Chapel, and Bishop of London; also by the Rev. Dr. Booth, the present worthy Dean. In the great Hall are the Arms of the Sovereign, and Knights-Companions of the Garter, removed from the Chapter-House after their Installation. In an Apartment called the Garter-Room, the Knights-Companions meet the Morning of their Installation, and put on their Robes, and from hence begins the Procession to the Chapel: In this Room is a very ancient Screen, on which are painted, and properly blazoned, the Arms of King Edward III. and of the several Sovereigns and Knights-Companions, from the Foundation of this most Noble Order, to the present time: Over this Screen, Ann. 14. Car. I. was affixed a Tablet, with the following Inscription; but let it be first remarked, that this small Compliment of a Subject, to his Prince, and this most illustrious National Order; in the following times, did not escape the Hands of Men, who in their mad fit, paid little regard, both to Religious, and Civil order and decency.

In the inner Cloyster are the several Houses of the Prebends; also the Buildings on the North side of the Chapel belong to the Prebends, or Officers of the Church, most of which partake of the delightful prospect which this part of the Hill admits of. Opposite to the North door is the House (mention'd p. 59.) called the New Commons, for some time past made one of the Prebend's Houses; and at the lower end of this Court is the LIBRARY belonging to the College, well furnished with Ecclesiastical Writers and Books of Literature. This Library lately received a considerable addition from the late Earl of Ranelagh, who by Will bequeathed to the College, a valuable collection of the best Authors.

Adjoining are the Houses of the Minor Canons, Clerks, and other Officers of the Chapel, built Circular, in the reign of King Henry VII. or rather in the shape of a Fetter-lock, in allusion as is said, to one of the Badges of that Prince, or his royal Predecessor K. Edw. IV. in whose reign probably they were first begun to be erected.

Of the Institution of the most Noble Order of the GARTER.

WE come now to treat of the most illustrious Order of the GARTER, founded by the great and noble Prince, Edward III. King of England and of France, for the Improvement of Military Honour and the Reward of Virtue; an Institution of Honour so highly valued and esteemed, that the greatest Monarchs and Princes of Europe have desired, in their times to be Companions thereof: And as it is the most ancient Order of military Honour, and instituted by the royal Founder for truly great and noble purposes, it has ever since the first Foundation, strictly retained its original dignity, and surpass'd all other Orders of Knighthood in true grandeur and nobleness.

However the concurrent Testimony of Historians, and the Records of the Order, determine and agree in the Person of the royal Founder, and the true cause of the first Institution, Ut militarem virtutem honoribus, præmiis atq; splendore decoret (Camden in Attrebat.) To adorn martial Virtue with Honours, Rewards and Splendor: To increase Virtue and Valour in the Hearts of the Nobility (Helyn Cosmogr.) yet it must be observed, common Fame has departed from truth, and given an amorous Account of the Institution of this most Noble Order, and a vulgar opinion has prevailed, "That at a solemn Ball in King Edward's Court, the Garter of Joan Countess of Salisbury, casually falling off in dancing, that Prince hastily took it up from the ground; at which his Nobles and Courtiers smiling, and giving it an amorous turn, the King taking notice of their sportive humour, immediately replied in French, Honi soit qui mal y Pense." And added, That in a short time, they should see that Garter advanced to so high Honour, as to account themselves most happy to wear it.

Another

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 127

Another Tradition of like Authority has also prevailed, "That at a time when the Queen departed from King Edward's presence to her own Apartment, he following her soon after, happened to espy a blue Garter lying on the ground (thought to have slipped from her Leg as she went along) whilst some of his Attendants passed by it, as disdainingly to stoop at such a trifle; but he knowing the owner, commanded it to be taken up and given to him, at the receipt whereof, he said, You make but small account of this Garter, but within few months, I will cause the best of you all to reverence the like." And some think that the Motto of the Garter was the Queen's Answer; when the King asked her, What men would conjecture of her, upon losing her Garter in such a manner?

That both these relations are remote from truth, and unsupported by the least authority, is evident, from the Statutes of the Order, which give not the least appearance to countenance the conceit of a feminine Institution, and the silence of the Historians of that Age, who must be best acquainted with the true purpose of the Royal Founder: Neither did this report, however it might gain credit with the common People, get admittance into History, till near two hundred years after, that Polydor Vergil, unacquainted with the affairs of this Nation, and an Author on many accounts of little esteem, speaking of this Order (Angl. Hist. lib. 1.) says, De causa autem instituendi Ordinis omnino ambigitur: fama tamen apud vulgus etiam nunc tenet, Edvardum aliquando e terra collegisse Reginæ seu amicæ tibiæ tegminis ligamen, quod forte resolutum ita, ut usu venit, ceciderat, et nonnullis heroibus id videntibus, ac jocosè cavillantibus, dixisse, brevi tempore futurum, ut ejusmodi cingulo etiam ab illis summus haberetur honor, atque non multo post istiusmodi ordinem instituisse, ac eum addidisse titulum, quo testaretur ipsos heroes contra quam erat, de se judicium fecisse. Et fama vulgi talis.

Mr. Ashmole, in his History of this most Noble Order, has sufficiently exploded this tradition, and inter alia justly remarks, 'That the Writers of the French Nation, with whom at that time a continued War had dissolved all obligations of Friendship and Civility, would readily have cast a reflection on this amorous Institution, and the Lady's Garter certainly tainly had not passed by without a sneer from their Authors, had there been the least foundation in fact to have supported the reflection.

Add to this, that Polydor Vergil is not so confident to ascertain the Lady whose Garter it was, only warily says, it was Reginæ seu amicæ tibiæ tegmini ligamen, either the Queen's, or the King's Mistress's; concerning the latter, which has more generally prevailed, Authors here again greatly differ, some calling her Joanne, some Katherine, and others Alice, Countess of Salisbury and Kent, and sometimes of both: All which Mr. Ashmole proves to be equally improbable with the Story itself; and with the learned Dr. Heylyn, who took no small pains to satisfy himself and the World in this particular, we may conclude 'this notion of the Lady's Garter to be a vain and idle Romance derogatory both to the Founder and the Order; first published by Polydor Vergil, a stranger to the affairs of England, and by him taken upon 'no better ground than fama Vulgi, the tradition of the common 'People, too trifling a Foundation for so great a Building; common 'Bruit being so infamous an Historian, that wise Men neither report 'after it, nor give credit to any thing they receive from it.' [Cosmogr. lib. 1.] And yet has it so fallen out, that many learned Men, for want of reflection, have unwarily run any with this vulgar Error.

Another opinion there is, which refers the Institution to King Richard I. tying a Leathern Thong or Garter about the Legs of a chosen number of Knights, when his Forces were employed against Cyprus and Acon, and well-nigh tired out with the tediousness of the Siege, to put them in mind of the future glory that should accrue to them, with assurance of worthy Rewards if they overcame; and that after a long interval of time, and divers Victories obtained by him, the said King returning into his Country, determined with himself to institute and settle this most Noble Order of St. George, on whose Patronage the English so much relied.—Thus much we shall find presently related in the Preface to the Black Book of the Order; but should it be admitted that King Richard I. did make use of this device in the Holy Land; yet that he thence took occasion to frame a distinct Order of Knightbood afterwards, there is not the least mention.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 129

Sir John Froissard, a Writer of that Age, in his Chronicle, lib. 1. speaking of the Institution and Establishment of this Order, says, 'that King Edward calling together the Earls, Barons, and principal Knights of his Kingdom, freely and obligingly declared his mind to them, concerning this affair:'. To which all of them being well inclined, 'entertained the motion with equal joy and applause; considering it would prove a very great advancement to piety, nobility, and virtue, and likewise an excellent expedient for the uniting, not only his Natives one with another, but all Foreigners with them in the bonds of Amity and Peace.'

And 'tis very improbable, that this great Prince should summon his Nobles, solemnly to consult about so high and noble an advancement of an Order, had it taken its first rise from so slight an occasion, as the accidental dropping of a Garter from a Lady's Leg. On the contrary it is manifest from Froissard, 'that the declaration which the King made to them of his intention and design (when they were assembled) appeared a matter very honourable, and such as contributed to the improvement of Love and Amity among themselves;'. which we see this Historian assigns to be the only cause, why they joyfully consented to his proposal.

Fabian, also an Historian of credit in the following Age, speaks of the first motive of this Institution in the following Words: In 19. yere the Kyng held a solempne feaste at his Castle of Wyndesore, wher betwene Candel Masse & Lent were holden or executed many marciall acts, as Justes, Tournaments with diverse other, at which were present many strangers of other landes, and in the ende thereof, he there devised the Order of the Garter, and after establisshed it as at this day it is continued. [Chron. p. 219.]

We may then truly affirm, that King Edward III. had no reflection, either upon a Lady's Garter, or King Richard's Leathern-Thong, when he first design'd this Institution; but that it proceeded from a much more noble Cause; viz. that this King being person of a most absolute and accomplish'd Vertue, gave himself up to a prudent management of military Affairs; and being engaged in War for the recovery of his

130 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Right to the Kingdom of France; in the prosecution of which enterprize, he had great use of the stoutest and most famous Martialists of that Age, did thereupon at first design (as being invited thereto by its ancient Fame) the restoration of King Arthur's Round Table, which he exhibited with magnificent Hastiludes and general Justes, that he might thereby inflame the Minds of his own Lords with military Glory, and to invite hither the gallant and active Spirits from abroad; and upon discovery of their courage and ability in the exercise of Arms, to draw them to his Party, and oblige them to himself.

Windsor, according to Sir John Froisard, was about the beginning of the sixth Century honour'd with the Institution of this Order of the Round Table by Arthur King of Britain. The same is supported by several antient British Histories, as also by Leland in his Affertio Arturi, &c. who says, the number of Knights elected into that Order were Twenty-four; that not only Britons were admitted, but Strangers also of other Nations, who out of a desire of Glory, came over hither, to make proof of their Sufficiency in the exercise of Arms with the British Knights, and that the general qualifications for election were, that they should be Persons of Nobility and Dignity, renown'd for Vertue and Valour, and admirably well-skill'd in the knowledge and use of Arms.

And it may add some reputation to King Arthur's Round Table, by observing farther, that the like Round Table grew into great request shortly after the Norman Succession, and continued long with us; being ordinarily set up at the grand Martial Exercises, called Hastiludes, Tilts, or Tourneaments; or as Mat. Paris explains it, Potius ludus militaris, qui mensa Rotunda dicitur. The same was permitted by King Stephen, and much encouraged by King Richard I. King Edward I. and for the same end and purpose, as King Arthur made use of it.

And thus King Edward III. having a design to restore the Honour of the Round Table, or as Vincen. Lupan. de Magistrat. Franc. L. 1. expresses, Ut Arturi memoriam refricaret, held a Juste at Windsor, in the 18th year of his reign, according to Walsingham: But according to Fabian above-mentioned, and an old MS. Chronicle, King Edward in his 19th year first began his Round Table at Windsor, and ordained the Day annually to be kept there at Whitsuntide. And this Meeting Mr. Selden has observ'd likewise, did in truth occasion the Institution of the most Noble Order of the Garter. [Titles of Hon.]

Accordingly King Edward, conceiving no place more fit than Windsor, caused this his resolution to be proclaimed, not only in his own Dominions, but also in Scotland, France, Burgundy, Hainalt, Flanders, Brabant, and the Empire, promising by his Heralds, to all Knights and Esquires, his royal conduct for fifteen days before, and as many after the ending the Solemnity; and for this purpose, upon New-Years-Day, 1344, the King issued out his royal Letters of Protection for the safe coming and return of foreign Knights, that were desirous to try their Valour at the solemn Justes by him appointed to be held there, on Monday after the Feast of St. Hilary next following (which happened that year on the 19th of January) and these Letters of safe Conduct continued in force until the Ostaves of the Purification of our blessed Lady ensuing.

At the time appointed, viz. January 19, 1344, as is most generally received, King Edward, attended with the chief of his Nobility, Knights and Esquires, at Windsor, and many valiant and worthy Knights from foreign Nations, opened the Solemnity with a magnificent Supper he had provided for their Entertainment, and many martial and brave Exercises were performed for several days successively: And to add the greater lustre to this noble Assembly, the Queen also was present, accompanied with 300 of the fairest Ladies and Virgins, in their richest Attire, all of noble and honourable families: And immediately after these first martial Exercises were over (to the end better accommodation might be provided for the Knights that should afterwards come thither) King Edward, according to Stow in his Chronicle, 'caused to be called together a great many of Artificers to the Castle of Windsor, and began to build an House, which was called the Round Table; the floor whereof, from the center or midde poynt into the Compasse, was an hundred foote, and the whole Diameter two hundred foote, and the Circumference thereof six hundred foote, three quarters.'

132 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

'Tis farther observable from the Histories in general of those times, that the French King, Philip de Valois, to render less effectual these martial Associations at Windsor, practis'd the like at his Court in France: For he also set up a Round Table, and invited the Knights and valiant men of Arms out of Italy and Almaine thither, and forbid any to depart out of France, lest they should repair to our King Edward III. But this meeting with small success, however, prov'd in some measure for the present a countermine to King Edward's main design: And it is altogether pertinent in the present place to give a remarkable instance of the Generosity and noble Spirit of King Edward, and the bad effects of the Jealousy of Philip, who at this time, and probably on this account, began to be suspicious of certain of his Lords, and others of his Court, who had hitherto served him faithfully, as if notwithstanding, they secretly favoured King Edward's Cause; that this suspicion of Philip's was truly groundless no where appears; but however, according to the Historians Proissard and Mezeray, that Prince under pretence of a solemn Tournament, which he, Anno 1344, held at Paris, in imitation of King Edward's at Windsor, drew thither the Lord Oliver Clifton, with ten or twelve other Lords of Bretagne, in Company of the Lord Charles of Blois, and there the most loyal and valiant Lord Clifton was suddenly by the jealous King's order apprehended, and clap'd in Prison, no Man being able to imagine for what reason; unless, that because King Edward had chose rather lately, to release him by exchange for the Lord Stafford, he was therefore suspected to be a secret Friend to the English; and notwithstanding, that he had so gallantly recovered Vannes from the English, and at the same time had rid King Philip of the Lord Robert of Artois, one of his most mortal Enemies, now without any process or hearing, he was adjudged to be drawn through the City to the place of execution, where, according to Fabian, he lost his Head; and after that, his Body was hanged in Chains upon a Gibbet, and his Head sent to Nantes in Bretagne, where it was advanced upon a pole over the Gates of the City, to the great astonishment, says Mezeray, of all Men, and the infinite regret and indignation of the Nobility; whose Blood, till now, was not used to be shed, but in Battle for that cruel Prince's quarrel. Soon after died in like manner Sir John, and Sir Godfrey de Malestroit, Father and Son, two valiant and worthy Bretons, also their Kinsman John Malestroit, Sir John de Mantaubon, and Sir John du Plessis,

Plessis, with many other noble Knights and Esquires of Bretagne and Normandy.

King Edward was informed immediately of these horrid Tragedies, at Windsor, by Henry Malestroit, younger Brother to Sir Godfrey before-named, and Master of the Requests to King Philip, who came over to England in deep displeasure, complaining unto the King most bitterly, 'of the death of his Father, Brother and Cousin, and how cruelly, 'and without all reason King Philip had executed several other Lords, 'Knights, and Esquires, and especially the noble Lord Cliffon, who had 'so faithfully and valiantly served against the English, only because he 'had a jealousy, that they were secretly King Edward's Friends: 'Wherefore he exhorted him earnestly, that since the French King had 'thereby broken the Truce lately concluded, he would renew the War 'against him, and revenge the Blood of those his innocent Friends.'

When King Edward had received this News, and that the Lord Cliffon, and other noble Knights had lost their lives for his sake; according to the same Authors, Froissard and Mezeray, he took deep indignation at this inveterate malice of the French King's, and was once in mind to have served the Lord Henry du Leon, a Lord of Bretagne, who was now his Prisoner, in the same manner; but the generous Earl of Darby, shewed to Him and his Council such reasons as altered his intention, and somewhat calmed his passion: 'Sir, said he, tho' King ' Philip being stung with mortal jealousy, hath rashly done so base an 'action, as unjustly to put to death such valiant and worthy Knights; 'yet for God's sake, let not the bright splendour of your Name be fulfilled with any such black and shameful deed; and to say the truth, 'your Prisoner Sir Henry, as he was no way accessory to his Master's 'fault, so methinks ought not to find any harder usage for the same, 'but rather to be put to a reasonable Ransom, as a Man of Honour 'taken in the Wars.'

Hereupon the King, who always was inclinable to hear reason, became something more pacified, and sent for Lord Henry du Leon to come before him, at which time he spake thus unto him, shaking his Head for anger: 'Ah, Sir Henry, Sir Henry! Mine adversary, Philip † de

 ‘ therefore, if I would contend with him in malice, I could now serve

In a few days after, Sir Henry took his leave of the King, and went on board at Southampton, with intent to go to Harfleur in Normandy, and from thence to Paris, to deliver King Edward’s Defiance: But meeting in his passage with a violent storm, they were obliged to fling their Horses and other goods overboard; and in a weak state of health, Sir Henry at length gained Land at Crotoy in Picardy. From thence this valiant, but unfortunate gentleman, was obliged with his company to go on foot to Abbeville, about five leagues distance, before they could get Horses. And Sir Henry grew so sick that he was fain to be carried in a Litter to Paris, where he did his message to King Philip very punctually; but on his return home into Bretagne, he died at the City of Angiers, on the borders of his own country.

But to return. King Edward finding that his Entertainment of Stranger Knights, and the revival of King Arthur's Round Table, was too general, and did not sufficiently bind them to him: He resolved upon a design more particular and select, and such as might oblige and tie those whom he thought fit to make his Associates, in a firm bond of Friendship and Honour.

And having given forth his own Garter for the signal of a battle that prov'd successful (which with Du Chesne [Hist. Gen. d'Angl. p. 670.] we conceive to be that of Cressy, fought almost three years after his setting up the Round Table at Windsor.) He thence took occasion of instituting this Order, and gave the Garter (assum'd by him for the symbol of Unity and Society) the Preheminence among the Ensigns of it; whence that select number, whom he incorporated into a Fraternity, are frequently stiled Equites aureæ Periscelidis, and vulgarly, Knights of the Garter.

And to make the bond and tye of love and friendship more close and binding, the King caused those who were (or should be) of the Order, to be called Fellows, Associates, Colleagues, Brethren, and Knights-Companions, and the Order itself a Society, Fellowship, College of Knights, and Knights-Companionship; and their Habit and Ornament to be all alike, as to Fashion and Materials; and to no other end, but to represent how they ought to be united in all chances of Fortune, Co-partners both in Peace and War, assistant to one another in all serious and dangerous transactions, and through the whole course of their lives, faithful and friendly one towards another.

But

136 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

But besides these authorities, we have met with some other testimonies, much to the same effect; namely, that this most Noble Order of the Garter was first instituted, 'to fortify the confidence of the King, the Kingdom, and Martial Virtue;' that is to say, 'to strengthen the faith of the Subjects towards him, and for their greater security. [Caii Antiq.]

By this Symbol, says Heylyn, [Cosmogr.] he designed to bind the Knights or Fellows of it, severally unto one another, and all of them jointly to himself, as Sovereign of the Order. And accordingly (saith Speed the Historian) this did not only serve as 'a vehement incentive to honour and martial virtue, but also a golden bond of unity and internal Society;' it being just, that those whom equal virtue and fortitude of mind had joined together, no fortune should separate or estrange, by occasion of any accident or difference.

In the Preface to the Black Book of the Order; by the Garter, the Knights-Companions "are admonish'd religiously, sincerely, friendly, faithfully, and dextrously to go through whatsoever they undertake; but not to undertake or attempt any thing, contrary to the Oath and Statutes of the Order, neither to frustrate the rights of Peace and Friendship, vilify the law of Arms, or to proceed in any thing farther, than Faith or Compact, or the bond of Friendship will admit." And thus have several Authors symbolically descanted upon this and the other Ensigns of the Order.

'Tis here farther to be observ'd, that whereas King Edward III. had set on foot a Title to the Kingdom of France, and in right thereof assum'd its Arms, he, from the colour of them, [Ex collect. W. Le Neve.] caused the Garter of the Order to be made Blue, and the Circumscription Gold. And it may, without any straining, be inferr'd, from the Motto [Hont soit qui mal y Pense] that he retorted Shame and Defiance upon him, that should dare to think ill of so just an Enterprize, as he had undertaken for the recovery of his lawful right to that Crown; and that the magnanimity of those Knights, whom he had chosen into this Order, was such, as would enable him to maintain that Quarrel, against all who durst think ill of it. Consonant to this, says Mr. Asmole, is the conjecture lecture of Harpfield, [Hist. Anglic.] that this Apothegme was designed to put the Knights-Companions in mind, 'not to admit any thing in the actions of their Lives, or among their Thoughts, unbeseeming themselves or their Honour;' Neither throughout the several Statutes and Injunctions of this Institution, is one word relating to any obligation or engagement on behalf of the Feminine Sex.

To lay aside then every idle report, the constant parent of falshood, it may with all probable assurance be ascertained, that from this revived feminary of the Round Table was reared this illustrious and most Noble Order of St. GEORGE, consisting of twenty-five Knights of approved Valour and Fidelity, under one Leader, the royal Edward, their great and victorious Sovereign, now in the height of Glory, by repeated Victories and Conquests over his Enemies; for in the third year, from the first meeting of these Knights at Windsor, viz. August 26, 1346, was fought the famous Battle of Cressy, between King Edward and Philip of France, wherein the French Army was entirely routed, and the flower of their Nobility, with John King of Bohemia, and James King of Majorca, slain in the Field; farther, on the 17th of October, in the same year, was also fought the no less famous Battle of Nevill's Cross, against the Scots, in which the English Army alike gained a compleat Victory, and David King of Scotland was taken Prisoner.

In the midst of these glorious Exploits, and as a reward for so great military Valour, did this heroic and warlike Prince first form and appoint this most Noble Order of Knighthood, commonly called the Order of the GARTER, that being the chief Ensign made use of in this Institution; not on account of any Female Regard, or solely from being the Ensign displayed, or Watch-Word given by King Edward at the Battle of Cressy, as has somewhat prevailed on the authority of Du Chesne, but rather as a Tye or Band of Association in honour and military Virtue, to bind the Knights-Companions strictly to himself and each other, in friendship and true agreement, and as an Ensign or Badge of unity and combination, to promote the honour of God, and the glory and interest of their Prince and Sovereign. Thus much does the Time, the Persons, and the Words, of Institution warrant; and if the Foundation of the College of St. George at Windsor, and the Institution of this military Order of Knighthood; at the same time and place by this Prince, be duly considered; it must be confessed that no slight occasion, but the more noble cause of Religion and Virtue, first gave rise in the mind of this religious and heroick Prince, to establish so great Foundations to the Glory of God, and for the Encouragement and Reward of true Valour and honourable Deeds; and upon a strict examination of what has been advanced by different Authors on this Subject, no other satisfactory account of this Institution can be found, but only vain conjectures, and idle surmises, foreign to the purpose, and unsupported either by fact or reason.

And so exactly says Mr. Ashmole, did the Founder sute the whole Habit unto the signification of this princely Ensign of the Garter, that he ordained His own, and the Knights-Companions Robes and Ornaments to be all alike, both for Materials and Fashion; thereby intimating, That they ought to conserve brotherly love among themselves: And lest at any time there should fall out the least breach of Amity, the great Collar of the Order (ordained to be of equal Weight, and composed of a like number of small Links and Knots) was so made, in witness of the like Bond of Faith, Peace, and Amity, strictly to be observed among them. In fine, all things relating to the Order, were so designed and appointed, That every one might plainly perceive, how much these things tended to the maintaining of Amity and Concord: Ut omnia ad Amicitiam et Concordiam tendere nemo non intelligat, Lib. Nig. in proem.

And now, according to Fabian, the Statutes of Institution, and other Authorities we shall soon mention, viz. Ann. Dom. 1349. Ann. Reg. 23. did this Noble Order receive its compleat Settlement, by the establishment of Laws and Ordinances, for the due and regular government of the Society; and King Edward, by his Heralds, proclaimed both at home and in foreign Countries, his royal purpose of holding a solemn Festival at Windsor, on April 23, the Anniversary of St George, afore the military Patron of England, and now declared the peculiar Patron of this Noble Order; at which time in the Morning, King Edward, as Sovereign, and his twenty-five Companions, all cloathed in Gowns of Russett, and Mantles of fine Woollen Cloth of blue Colour, powdered with Garters, each having the Great Collar of the Order, and a pair of long Cordons of blue Silk, fixed to the Collar, together with the rest of the Habit

Habit of the Order, went in solemn procession to the Chapel of St. George; where, after divine Service by William Edindon, Bishop of Winchester, appointed Prelate of the Order, the several Ceremonies of Installation were performed, and the Sovereign and noble Companions returned in like order to a magnificent Feast provided for them at the royal Expence: After this, for several days successively, were also exhibited the martial Sports of Tilting and Tournament, with other Feats of Arms, proper to the place and occasion, with great splendor and magnificence.

David King of Scotland, being at this time Prisoner in England, as is before-mentioned, was not only present at this Solemnity, but permitted to enoble himself by the use and exercise of Arms, and had a Harness provided for him at King Edward's Charge, with a Pale of red Velvet, and beneath, a white Rose embroidered thereon. The King of England also himself held a part in these solemn Jufts, having for his Devise a White Swan, Gorged Or, with this daring and inviting Motto, wrought upon his Surcoat and Shield,

Hay hay the White Swan;

By God's Soul I am thy Man.

The same Liberty which was granted to the King of Scots, was also allowed to Ralph Earl of Eu and Guisnes, and Constable of France, with the Earl of Tancarville, the Lord Charles of Blois, and many other both French and Scotch Captives; to whom the courteous King not only permitted the use of Arms upon this and other the like occasions, but impartially awarded them the Prizes they deserved: Particularly the Earl of Eu bare himself at this time with so much honour, that King Edward adjudged unto him that day's Prize, and soon after gave him leave upon Paroll to return into France, to negotiate about the redemption of himself and others his Countrymen, that were then also Prisoners here. But this favour of King Edward's, thus graciously bestowed on this worthy Personage, proved accidentally an occasion of such a mortal Jealousy to the French King, that thereby he found, or made, a pretence to bereave him soon after of his Life: In the mean while the Fame of these frequent and notable Tournaments, held by so warlike a Prince, invited hither many gallant Knights from foreign

Parts; but especially the young Noblemen of Gascoign came hither, as to the chiefest School of War, to practise themselves in Feats of Arms: And during the Summer season, both these, and others the Prisoners of both Nations, were allowed to follow the Court, and pass their time with the King and his Nobles, in hunting, near Salisbury in Wiltshire, and in several other the King's Forests. [Barnes.]

Such was the Foundation of this noble Order of the Garter, which hath now flourished 400 years compleat, with such distinguished Glory, that the Princes of Christendom, most celebrated for heroick Achievements, have eagerly solicited an admittance into this Fraternity, as the greatest accession of Honour that could happen to them; and on the Plan and Oeconomy thereof, did erect several military Orders in their own Territories, which, says Mr. Anstis, have made like Figures in comparison with this, as Copies usually bear to their Originals, or Colonies to their potent Mother Cities; tho' it is evident these derivative Orders would have shone with more Lustre, if the great Masters of them, had not suffered a deviation from the Precedent of the Garter, which hath never admitted any augmentation to the number of Companions designed in the original Statutes.

It may be expected we should here set down the Names of this illustrious Society of Knights, and the Statutes and Ordinances made for their Rule and Government, but these are more proper to be referred to distinct Chapters; and we shall now rather proceed to make farther mention of this noble Foundation, by Extracts from the Preface to the Black Book of the Order * before often mention'd, whereby the inquisitive Reader will be more fully instructed in many particulars before related in this History, and in the nature and purport of this most noble and illustrious Institution.

Ornaments of Kings, or rather Duties enjoined them by the Almighty, that is to say, a due and proper regulation of Knighthood, and continual improvement in military Achievements, as a sure and lasting defence to the Commonwealth, and what is principally necessary for it; and on which, as it were depends the other, which is a firm establishment of Religion, highly tending to the glory and honour of God, and advantage of all and every Kingdom well and truly governed, resolved at last to follow in this particular, the several Examples of his own and other flourishing Kingdoms, who at all times provided for the splendor and just magnificence of Knighthood, partly to preserve the glory of their Ancestors in good and lasting memory, and partly to encourage their Youth to imitate them and aim at true glory; wisely following the examples of the Ancients, among whom for great and good actions, the Images and Statues of their Ancestors were wont to be placed in their Houses with great magnificence and glory, and sometimes Crowns were put upon the Heads of the Statues, and in process of time, other marks and distinctions of honour were publicly made use of, as the case required, and the honour, dignity, and degree of their House and Family were distinguished by their Bearings: That their Nobility and Youth encouraged by these honours should aim at glory, and so improve the endowments both of Body and Mind, that having gone through the same labours and difficulties, they might at last attain to the like honour and glory. And it is no small advantage to a Government, that such encouragements to virtue should be laid before the noble and the brave, by which being fired, they might be wholly take up, and employed in actions becoming themselves. — Hence comes it that they hang up the Banners of Noblemen as well living as dead, and splendidly fix them over their Monuments, to the end, that the Minds of Spectators might be enflamed with true Nobility, Piety, and Virtue. — To this purpose is it that Crests, Helmets, Shields, Swords, Banners, and Arms hang up in St. George's Church at Windsor; hence are those lasting and beautiful Plates fixed up, to the intent that the honour and glory of their worthy Ancestors and Predecessors should so please the Minds of the spirited Youth, as earnestly to endeavour by the same virtues, by the same great and good deeds to attain at last to the same honour. Hence the peculiar Ornaments of the most deserving ing Knights of this Order, the Robe of State, the Gold Chain and Garter are diligently, as they ought to be, preserved at Windsor, and there, and in other places also, as the exigency of time requires, shewn on the Bodies of illustrious Men. These things tend all to this end, that the approved magnanimity of their Seniors should not want its due glory, and the enobled Youth might be encouraged to imitate them: And that when they beheld the honourable Ensigns of their Ancestors, their Minds might be vehemently enflamed with Virtue. Nor has the appearance of these things so great an influence on them only, but even the memory of past actions begets a flame in the Breasts of brave Men, which cannot be extinguished till by their own glorious exploits, they shall equal, and come up to the fame and glory of those who were before them. These things are done for a peculiar reason by Christians, viz. that there may be a provision for the salvation of the Souls of all who are departed this Life, but more particularly for those of the Knights of this Order. The cause of creating which Order at first seems to be this, that (as we said before) true nobility after long and many labours might not complain of its being deprived, through envy, of the honour it had deserved: And that the sprightlier and less governable Youth, might not be without a bright Example in virtuous Performances, which are renowned, glorious, and lasting.—Nor is Windsor improperly set apart for the worthy possession and glory of this honour: A place upon every account extremely proper, whether you consider either the nature or art of the place. Nature has drawn a compass round it, no less convenient for its defence, than beautiful to the Eye. The Mount of a good height, and of hard Chalk, so that a foundation may be securely laid there, the River Thames flowing beneath it, abundantly enriched and beautified with shady Groves, fruitful Fields, and Meadows. Wherefore our Sovereigns adding equal art thereto, built a Tower thereon, so famous and truly royal, that (if our own Country-men, or even Foreigners themselves may be believed) neither this part of the Globe, nor even all Christendom can shew the like. This is the King's Castle, and proper Seat and Palace; here have they established their own, and their Kingdom's glory; here have they taken care, that a healing Saviour of Prayers should be always offered for their Souls. And by how much the more famous and excellent they have been for their own Actions, the greater and more unbounded love have each of them had for Windsor. Arthur, who for the excellency of his Actions, has been deservedly noted and famous, and in whose reign, the Riches and Power of the Britons largely encreased, began that noble Tower, and there instituted (as they call it) his round Table. This was (if we may believe Authors) a Seat made of an extraordinary Wood, drawn round into a circle, and beautifully adorned, which Arthur had set apart for those select Knights, which he had chosen and united for himself; and was still farther ennobled, by the consecrating Hand of the then Archbishop of Canterbury. These were twenty-eight of the best Knights joined together: Which number does not differ much from that, which is now observed by this military Society, which soon after with equal glory and desert came into the place of this. For in this Order are twenty-six, [sic orig.] over which as Sovereign the King of England for the time being, always presides. As from Arthur (to say nothing of his Predecessors, or trace back so long a series of illustrious things) it is plain what regard was had to the military Affairs, and how curious they were in their Dress and Ornaments, tho' all did not proceed in the same Order and Glory. For Arthur who was wonderfully delighted with the Tilts and Tournaments of those times, and a great lover of those, who had given instances of their courage and skill in War, constituted select Champions, who were deservedly famous on these accounts, and joined them not only in familiarity one with another, but also with himself; on whose Wit, Courage, and Industry, if occasion required, in any difficult and dangerous Undertaking he might safely rely. These he ordered when they were either to banquet together, or take counsel about any business in War, to sit together in a Circle, that so no envy might arise at one's being preferred before other, but that being joined in Friendship, as they were in place and degree, no ill fortune should separate or alienate them from one another, whom an equal share of virtue and courage had joined together. The place of their sitting both our own Countrymen and Strangers call King Arthur's round Table, who very frequently mention the British Arthur, and deservedly mention him as the first of the Christians, who are reckoned amongst those nine Worthies, whose glory and memory is immortal.—But our invincible Arthur has the most deserved applause, as being the first Founder and Erector

144 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Erector of that most illustrious Order of Knighthood, which has approved itself with such merit and glory at Windsor; and other Kings following his example, have had a more favourable regard always to Windsor, and according to the lustre and dignity of their own actions, have been more intent upon the celebrating and preserving their memories in that Place: For Henry I. besides the particular endowments of grace and nature, and his glorious Actions, having obtained a great and excellent Name, from the greatness and excellency of his Learning, thought he should still add to his glory, if to so beautiful a Castle, he should add a College of Priests, whose whole labour should be devoted to the worship of God, reading of the Scriptures, and praying for the Souls of himself, and the rest who were dead. A happy omen, that tho' other Kings had done many and great things, yet the Henries should finish and compleat always what was wanting. What a glorious Soul had the seventh of this Name, the most sincere and religious King of all his Ancestors: And without doubt, as providence did not permit David to build the Temple of God, but left it to be compleated by his Son Solomon; so Henry VII. left it to the Eighth to finish what he had so gloriously begun. Nor are we here to pass by Richard I. inferior to none of our Kings for his warlike Exploits, those especially which he carried on with so much success against the Turks and Hagarenes; and was among his Englishmen the same almost, as Arthur was to his Britons: If we may give any credit to what our Historians relate, when he lay with his Army against Cyprus and Acon, and was wearied with the length of the Siege, which was carried on with a great deal of difficulty and danger, the holy Spirit inspiring him (as 'tis thought) by means of an Apparition of St. George, it came into his mind to put on the Legs of some select Knights, a Leather with a Buckle; being what they had then in readiness; by which being mindful of their future glory, they might be stirred up to behave themselves bravely and valiantly, so as to obtain the Victory; after the manner of the Romans, among whom that diversity of Crowns, with which, for various causes, Soldiers were presented and honoured, that as it were by these incitements, their sluggishness being drove away, the bravery of their Mind, and stoutness of Heart might be raised, and shew itself with great lustre. A Corona Castren- sis, or Valeris was decreed to him who should first break into the Enemy's

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 145

'my's Camp; a mural to him who first scaled the Walls of an Enemy's 'Town: A civick Crown was that which a Citizen presented, as a 'proper Testimony of his having his Life preserved, to him who had 'saved him in Battle. The Corona Obsidionalis was presented by the 'besieged, to him who freed and delivered them from the Siege; a 'naval Crown, adorned with the resemblances of the Prows of Ships,
'was ordered for him who should in a Sea Fight first board the Enemy;
'an Oval was that which was given to a General, when entering the 'City after a Victory without bloodshed; a triumphal Crown of Lawrel,
'the greatest signal of Joy and Victory, was given to him who was al'lowed a Triumph. These lasting testimonies of their great Valour
'and Conduct, wonderfully stirred up the courage of their Warriors 'minds, so that they all were encouraged to attempt any danger, and 'cheerfully go thro' it with application and vigilance, for the obtain'taining of these Honours which procured eternal Glory. Our glo'rious Richard seems also to have made use of the like Counsels, when
'he tied this leathern Garter on the Legs of his Knights, to excite
'their already forward Minds to perfect the work they had taken in 'hand, and prevent their being despoiled of this so great glory: The 'leathern Garter which was then bestowed, being to be succeeded by a 'richer and more splendid Ensign of Honour. In remembrance of 'which thing, after he had obtained many Victories, when he returned
'into his Country after a long absence, he intended to found, establish,
'and perfect that illustrious Order of St. George, on whose guardian
'protection the English so much rely: What he did not go through 'with, Edward accomplished, that third Edward, in all kind of piety,
'bravery, and conduct truly great and supreme, in the twenty-third 'year of his reign, after he had triumphed several times over the 'French and Scotch: He bent his noble Mind to the worship of God
'(to whom, as became a pious Prince, he ascribed all his success) and 'to the honouring of the soldiery, by whose faithful services he was pos'sessed of such happiness; and least forgetful of the dead, he should 'seem only to have care of the living, with great largeness and sanctity,
'he provided also for the Souls of the departed. For this intent he 'found no place more commodious than Windsor, which was as it were 'originally destined for this Work; for this is the King's own proper
'House, this is the seat of Princes: And as this House is most fit for a

146 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

kingly personage, so it has always been first made choice of. There, therefore, he began to repair, or rather re-edify, and more beautifully and strongly rebuild the Castle; which, when he had done, he purposed to institute an Order, in which the King of England should preside as Sovereign over twenty-six Knights, to which, he gave the Name of the blue Garter. Unto this also, to prevent any bad construction being put upon any thing not done with an ill design, and for a signal of their sincerity and loyalty, he ordered a Motto in French Words to be wrought round the Garter, in letters of Gold, or some other costly manner; and to be wore over one of their Shoulders, or the Leg, and sometimes on their Thumb. And he commanded the Knights to observe with solemn rites and just ceremonies, the annual Festival of St. George, and that chiefly at Windsor, to begin which Custom, and perpetually to establish it, the King called together the Princes, Dukes, Earls, Lords, and chief Knights of the Kingdom, and with a great deal of satisfaction, declared his mind in this Affair. At which they being all extremely pleased, received his royal Declaration with great joy and applause: And besides the advantages above-mentioned, saw what a vast increase of Piety, Nobility, and Vertue would accrue from thence; how our Countrymen would the easier accord amongst themselves, and Foreigners likewise be joined in the same bond of peace and friendship with us. And that he might the sooner and more firmly gain this end, he suited Vests and Ornaments with Names proper for the Order, that every one might know, that all these things tended to Vertue, Friendship and Concord. For as many as are of this Order, are called Fellows, Companions, Collegues, Brothers, and Fellow-Soldiers; and the Order itself was called a Society, a Fellowship, a College of Knights, and a Brotherhood. Why were they Fellows? but that being sharers in all fortune of Peace and War, they should in every great and dangerous undertaking assist one another, and in every part of life remain firm and faithful Friends. They were called Companions, because they did eat together, sitting at one Table; or that when they were advising and consulting for the benefit and welfare of the Kingdom, they accustomed also to sit together at one Table. After this manner our Sovereign at first instituted his Knights, that when they were called upon, either to eat or consult together, they should sit at, or stand round the same Table

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 147

'Table together, following in this method, the example of the illustrious Knights of the noble Arthur, who had before in the same manner sat round one and the same Table. All which tends only to Unanimity and Concord; and that they who have no difference in Place and Honour, should not be of a different opinion. They were called Collegues, Brothers, and Fellow-Soldiers, because in every change of Fortune, and chance of War they ought all to be united in a brotherly Love: As two only, equal in Honour and Power. After which manner, Kings, Emperors, and Generalissimos, standing as it were upon the same Level with their Soldiers, have joined themselves to them by the same Name, that from thence they might have a greater encouragement to Virtue and Boldness. O Companions, Companions! says the Trojan Æneas; Arthur calls them Copartners of his Prosperity and Adversity; and Cæsar in his Commentaries very often calls them Fellow-Soldiers, as many others which I shall not mention. But then this Equality is not to be encouraged, so as to produce Injustice. The Honour due to every one, is by no means to be denied him upon this Account, or is his Power to be lessened, for it is always to be remembered, that this Society is also called an Order. Order is the disposition of every thing in its proper Place, so that tho' there appear in Publick, a difference and distinction in Dignity, nevertheless an equality of Affection, and brotherly Friendship is inwardly, and in private preserved or cherished. Apparel likewise, and Ornaments by the Figures of them mean the same. For by that honourable and orbicular Garter round one Leg, or on the Shoulder, the Knights were reminded, whatever they undertook to go thorough it with Piety, Sincerity and Friendship, Faithfulness and Dexterity: That they should not undertake, or attempt any thing contrary to the Oath and Institution of their Order, that they should not make void the laws of Peace and Amity, or neglect and break in upon the Rights, which belong to the usage of War. That they should not stir a foot contrary to their Fidelity, or what union and band of Friendship required; and that one Friend should not in the least derogate from another. The Collar composed of these sort of Buckles and Bosses, precious with the Ensign of St. George, hanging in the midst of their Breast, and put round the Necks of Noblemen, reminds them of being bound together in the same bond of Fidelity,

148 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Peace and Friendship, that, as with a Chain, their affections might be linked together, and remain united, so as not to be separated. The George hanging down upon the Breast, puts them in mind of him, and that, as he being their proper Saint, shewed himself a glorious Soldier of Christ, and his Spouse the Church, they also should approve themselves glorious Soldiers, and faithful asserters of Christ, the Christian Religion, and their Society. The Purple Robe, or Velvet Mantle bears the mark of private Majesty, and properly signifies Presence, and Bravery of Mind: Which should be so great in these Men, that they ought rather to lose their Blood, than ever shrink from the cause of God and their Sovereign: That they should lose their Lives, sooner than be wanting in the defence of Virtue and Friendship. This is the particular signification of particular Robes; but the common Meaning of them all is, that the sight of them might rekindle those sparks of Charity, which to the very great detriment and destruction of Mankind had been extinguished. For this our illustrious King, and Sovereign of the Order he was about to found, having observed that formerly all Christendom had been disquieted, and agitated by open and bare-faced Seditions, and shamefully and traiterously drove against, and shattered upon the rocks of intestine Wars: And that it was now torn with Wounds from the ill will of private Factions, and envious designs of treacherous Dissemblers; began to think what most present Remedy might be applied to raise it from its low and weak Condition, and to confirm, strengthen, and preserve it when restored to Vigour: And having long thought upon this, Heaven at last directed him to found this noble Order, and sacred Society: And having solemnly instituted and established it in all its Grace and Glory, he dedicated it to the blessed Virgin, and George the Martyr; that their Images, on whose assistance English Warriors chiefly rely, should be bore by them with Respect and Veneration in their Ensigns.—On this Account our Edward in the Chapel of St. George at Windsor founded thirteen secular Canons, and as many Vicars, mindful of the Salvation of his own Soul, and the Soul of others. Nor did he introduce bare Worship only, but with holy and suppliant David, adapted it to proper instruments of Musick, and a vocal Choir on each side, that this Symphony of Voices might agree with the Harmony which is above, while in the mean time the Soul by these means might be rejoiced, enlivened, and exalted: To whom it was chiefly enjoyed to make particular commemoration of the Founders of this Order of Knighthood, and the Assistants and Members of this College. When Edward had thus plentifully and abundantly in this manner provided, as well for the Soul, as the Body, he bound by an Oath those Knights, whom at that time he admitted into the Order, and the familiarity of his presence, they putting their Seals to it, that they would take care to preserve, defend, and maintain the Statutes and Rules of their Order. After he had with great honour and piety finished this Work, he sent Heralds to the Emperor of Alemain, the Kingdom of France, Scotland, Burgundy, Henault, Flanders and Brabant, that their Knights and Esquires, from all parts at their discretion, might come to the appointed Celebrity and Solemnity to be held at Windsor: That all should be free for the space of fifteen days before, and after the celebration of the Feast of St. George then ensuing; to the intent that martial Trials, military Performances, publick and illustrious Exercises, Appearances, and Shews becoming and suiting the Place and Solemnity, should be presented and exhibited. At this appearance was his excellent Queen splendidly arrayed with three hundred beautiful Ladies, eminent for the honour of their Birth, and the gracefulness and beauty of their Cloathing and Dress: For heretofore when Jufts, Tournaments, Entertainments, and publick Shews were made, in which Men of Nobility and Valour shewed their Strength and Prowess; the Queen, Ladies, and other Women of illustrious Birth, with ancient Knights, and some chosen Heralds were wont to be, and as it was supposed they ought to be present as proper Judges, to see, discern, approve or disprove what might be done, to challenge, allot, by speech, nod, discourse, or otherwise to promote the matter in hand, to encourage and stir up Bravery by their words and looks.: Heralds were placed with, and joined to them, that they might be able to judge with the more skilfulness and exactness; and that the Heralds according to their duty and office, should understand that the weak and tender Sex was committed to their charge and protection, and that they were to defend Female Modesty from all indignities, and guard them on all occasions from all injuries. About twenty years after, when on the Feast of St. Stephen he had put an end to his Wars, he on that account, and in honour of that Saint, began royally royally to build a Brother Chapel, as it were, to that at Windsor, near the Western Monastery without London; but being prevented by Death, and (what is equally to be deplored) deprived of his Son, he left it to be finished by his Grandson Richard II. who succeeded him and perfected it. After him reigned Henry IV. His most renowned Son, who was fifth of that name succeeded him, and obtained never to be forgotten glory and honour among his People, for his most prosperous and happy successes in War: He founded with a great deal of Religion and Piety two noble religious Houses of Syon and Charterhouse at Sheen. He was the first who deservedly wore an imperial Crown. His Son Henry VI. succeeded him, a Man godly, righteous, honest, fearing God and eschewing Evil, just before God, walking in all his Commandments, and Judgments without any complaint. — Edward IV. succeeded him, who mindful of the illustrious renown of his Ancestors, turned his Eyes towards Windsor, that royal Seat of military honour; where by the ornament and grace of his own frequent Presence, he confirmed and settled this knightly Order, increased the Allowance of the Canons Commons, augmented the Salaries of the Vicar, Priests, and secular Chanters, and enlarged the number of Choristers, and gave them better Provision: And this he did to the end, that he who had left nothing unfinished to the beautifying and gracing of this Order, might not want the memory of eternal Honour: For which reason he ordered his Body to be nobly interred there, having first taken care to bring thither the venerable Corps of King Henry VI. to which the numerous Company of the faithful continually resorted, God calling them (as it was thought) by the Miracles which were worked there. He intended out of the Temple which King Edward III. had built, to have erected one much more spacious and august, which the Knights of the Order who lived there afterwards would not suffer to remain unfinished: Among whom, Reginald Bray, Privy-Councillor to the wise King Henry VII. being well affected (as it seems) to that Place, did not contribute the least share or part, as appears by the Monuments there. Moreover this Edward IV. who excellently copied after his Ancestors, the Father and Son of the same Name, gave many valuable Grants and Monuments to Windsor. After these came the young King Edward V. and the intruder Richard.

Henry

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 151

‘ Henry VII. most justly succeeded these, and was not, among the many ‘ noble and pious Acts of his time, forgetful of Windsor; but with great ‘ industry and application improved and promoted this military Order.’

In this manner does the Preface to this original Register of the Garter, account for the Institution of this Noble Order; and to this let it be added, that Leland the Antiquary, in his Cyanea Cantio, first published in the year 1545, and in the 9th Volume of the Itinerary, by Mr. Hearne, Ann. 1710, seq. * makes his Swan in her passage down the River Thames, say, — tandem penetro impetu volucris

Pontem Vindelesoricum, duarum
Qui vel limina gentium coarctat.
Hic alas cobibens meas, ocellos
Verto in fideream quietus arcem.

Et turres validas, sacrumque templum,
Dulce exaudio cœlicumque melos:
Clari quale quidem canunt olores
Undis in mediis vagi Caystri.

This Quotation is mentioned for the sake of the following Commentary by the same Author, who on this occasion speaks largely of Windsor, both in relation to the Town, the Chapel of St. George, as also on the peculiar Subject of this present Chapter, the Order of the Garter; for which reason it rather claims Place in this part of this History, and in Mr. Leland’s own Words is as follows.

These two accounts of this Order were both wrote in the reign of King Henry VIII. and as the first Annals of the Order have perished among the ruins of Antiquity, or more probably through neglect, or the disorders of Government, during the unhappy Contests between the rival Houses of York and Lancaster, they are to be esteemed the most authentick accounts of this Institution; and as they agree in most particulars, we shall not here enter into disquisitions and enquiries altogether uncertain, and which serve only to amuse, not instruct the Reader.

Proceed we then after this large and double account of the Institution, to the Patrons of this illustrious Order, under whose protection (according to the custom of the Age) King Edward III. put himself and all the Knights-Companions, that the affairs of the Order might be defended, preserved, and governed.

The First, and chiefeft which he elected, was the Holy Trinity, which in a more especial manner was invoked to the aid and assistance of this Order.

Secondly, King Edward III. intituled peculiarly the blessed Virgin Mary, accounted then the general Mediatrix and Protectress of all Men.

Thirdly,

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 155

Thirdly, St. George of Cappadocia, a most choice Champion of Christ and famous Martyr, was also elected one of the Patrons to this Order by King Edward III. not so much as he was a Professor of the Christian Faith, or for that he was an armed Soldier or Knight of Christ, but so much the more because in those Wars, which were waged by the Christians against the Infidels, he by several Appearances manifested his presence as a most certain encourager and assistant to the Christians; the relations whereof may be seen in Dr. Heylin's History, who hath laboriously and judiciously maintained the History of this Saint, against those that will not allow him a place in Heaven, or a being in the Church, In like manner the learned Selden hath avouched him to be the special Patron, Protector, Defender, and Advocate of this Realm of England; and has made it plainly appear in what veneration he hath been honoured abroad, especially among the Eastern Nations. To whose corroborating Testimonies we shall add, that this title of Patron to our Nation, is given to St. George by the Founder of this Order, in a Patent granted to the Dean and Canons of the Chapel of St. Stephen at Westminster, and St. George at Windsor, which dischargeth them from payment of Tythes: Beatus Georgius invictissimus Christi Athletæ, cujus nomen et patrocinia Gens Anglicana veluti Patroni sui singularis, in expeditione presertim Militari invocat et implorat, instinctu divino ut credimus excitati. Pat. de anno 25. E. 3. p. 2. m. 12.

King Henry VIII. in the preamble of the Statutes, set forth by him, calls him, The blessed Martyr St. George, Patron of the right noble Realm of England. Also, Sanctus Georgius Martyr, qui totius Militiæ Anglicanæ Spiritualis est Patronus, Regist. MS. Arundel. Arch. Cant. par. 1. fol. 53. art. 37. And tho' in general he is stiled the principal Patron of the Affairs of Christendom, and a tutelar Guardian of military Men, yet among all Christians of the English in particular; and for this reason the Founder of this Order, did make choice of this approved expert Captain and Patron; in particular respect of whom the Knights had the Title of Equites Georgiani, St. George's Knights; and the Order itself called Ordo Divi Sancti Georgii, the Order of St. George.

156 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

It is remarkable that Du Chesne, a noted French Historian, acknowledges it was by the special invocation of St. George, that King Edward III. gained the Battle of Cressy, which afterwards bringing to his remembrance, He founded, says he, a Chapel within the Castle of Windsor. But if we may ascend a step higher, and give credit to Harding, it's recorded King Arthur paid St. George particular Honours, for he advanced his Picture in one of his Banners, which was about two hundred years after his Martyrdom, and very early for a Country so remote from Cappadocia to have him in reverence and esteem.

Lastly, The Founder added a fourth Patron, whose Name himself bore, viz. St. Edward the Confessor, his Predecessor, King of England; and we find he was wont to be invoked by this Founder, as well as St. George, in any great Difficulties and Streights. Walsingham gives an instance at the Skirmish of Calais, A.D. 1349. when King Edward, in great Anger and Grief, drew out his Sword, and most passionately cried out, Ha St. Edward, Ha St. George; which his Soldiers hearing, ran presently to him, and rushing violently upon the Enemy, put many of them to the Sword. These four Patrons we find recorded together in the preamble of the Foundation of Windsor College by King Edward III. tho' in the preamble to his Statutes of the Order, and to King Henry V. Statutes, St. Edward the Confessor is omitted; nevertheless he is enumerated with the rest in the preamble to King Henry VIII.'s.

As a farther proof of the high esteem paid to our Patron St. George, let it be noticed here, on the authority of the Black Book, that Sigismund, Emperor of Almain, on his being elected into this venerable Order, presented the Heart of St. George to the invincible Monarch Henry V. which together with part of his Skull, was said to be kept at Windsor with due veneration and honour; and how naturally does this bring to mind the credulity of former Ages, and instance how far the influence of Education and Custom may prevail, even over great Princes, who could countenance such idle Impositions: But this, among many others, is the bad effect of Papish Superstition, and a blind submission to the de-cits of Men principled in Craft and Cunning.

Other

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 157

Other Authors have treated largely on this subject, both with regard to the Institution and Patron of this Noble Order, particularly the learned Dr. Heylin, in his History of St. George; and the great Selden, in his Titles of Honour; Mr. Barnes also in his History of Edward III. endeavours to prove the original of King Arthur's Round Table, and consequently of this Order of the Garter, from the Samothracian Cabiri, or Gods of the Phœnicians; but this we shall pass over without farther notice, and conclude this Chapter in the Words of a modern Historian, according to whom, 'King Edward being engaged in a War with France, for the obtaining that Crown, in order to draw into England great multitudes of Foreigners, with whom he might negotiate either for their personal Service, or aids of Troops to assist him in that undertaking, ordered, during the Truce that then subsisted between the two Crowns, publication to be made of a great Tournament to be held at Windsor; an expedient, says this Author, which could not fail of success, because it was entirely agreeable to the taste of that Age. Accordingly many Persons of distinction came over, to all of whom he gave an honourable Reception, caressing them in such a manner, that they could never sufficiently admire his politeness, magnificence, and liberality. To render these Entertainments the more solemn, and to free himself also from the Ceremonies, to which the difference of rank and condition would have subjected him, he caused a circular Hall of Boards to be run up at Windsor, 200 feet in diameter. There it was that he feasted all the Knights at one Table; which was called the Round Table, in memory of the great Arthur, who, as it is pretended, instituted an Order of Knighthood by that Name. Next year he caused a more solid Building to be erected, that he might continue yearly the same Diversions. During that time he treated with these several Lords about the aids, wherewith each could furnish him, in proportion to his Forces. His rival King Philip could not see without jealousy, Spaniards, Italians, Germans, Flemings, and Frenchmen themselves flock to England to assist at these Tournaments. He suspected some hidden design in these Entertainments, and to break Edward's Measures, caused the like to be published in his Dominions; which meeting with success, proved a countermine to Edward's main design, so that he did not long continue to keep up his Round Table. From thence, however, it is generally agreed, he took the first hint of instituting the Order of the Garter.

158 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

But as his purpose in erecting this Order was very different from that which had induced him to revive Arthur's Round Table, as he had in this no private views, no ambitious scheme of engaging such as should be admitted into this Fraternity to assist him in his Wars, he thought proper, in order to obviate the like Jealousies and Suspicion as had alarmed King Philip, to signify by his Motto the purity of his Intentions; and to retort shame upon all those who should put any malignant construction upon his design in instituting this Order. This therefore I take to be the true meaning and import of the famous Motto, HONI SOIT QUI MAL Y PENSE. The not understanding the purport of which, gave rise in all probability to that vulgar story of the Countess of Pembroke's Garter. A modern Poet also on this subject thus expresses himself;

*Nor thee, O Windsor, shall I pass unsung, Mansion of Princes, and fit haunt of Gods,
Who frequent shall desert their bright abodes,
To view thy sacred Walls with Trophies hung:
Thy Walls by British Arthur first renown'd,
The early Seat of chivalry and fame;
By EDWARD now with deathless honour crown'd,
Illustrious by his BIRTH, his GARTER, and his NAME!*

CHAPTER XII.

The STATUTES of Institution of the most Noble Order of the G A R T E R.

AD honorem Omnipotentis Dei, Sanctæ Mariæ Virginis gloriosæ, et Sancti GEORGII Martyris, Dominus noster supremus Edwardus tertius Rex Angliæ, anno Regni sui post Conquestum 23<sup>o</sup> ordinavit, stabilivit, et fundavit quandam Societatem sive Ordinem Militarem, infra Castrum suum de Windsore, in hunc modum: primò seipsum statuît dictæ Societatis sive Ordinis Superiorem, filium suum seniore Principem Walliæ, Ducem Lancastriæ, Comitem Warwici, Capitaneum de Buche, Comitem Staffordiæ, Comitem Sarum, Dominum de Mortimer, Dominum Johannem Lisle, Dominum Bartholomeum Burghersb filium, Dominum Johannem de Beauchamp, Dominum de Bobun, Dominum Hugonem de Courtenay, Dominum Thomam de Hollande, Dominum Johannem de Grey, Dominum Richardum de Fitz Symond, Dominum Milonem de Stapulton, Dominum Thomam Wale, Dominum Hugonem de Wirterflay, Dominum Nelelatum Loryng, Dominum Johannem Chandos, Dominum Jacobum D'Audeley, Dominum Otonem de Hollande, Dominum Henricum de Em, Dominum Sanchetum Dabrichcourt, et Dominum Walterum Pavely.

I. Concordatum est quòd Rex Angliæ, qui pro tempore fuerit, in perpetuum erit Superior hujus Ordinis Sancti GEORGII, sive Societatis Garterii.

II. Item concordatum est, quòd nullus eligatur in Socium dicti Ordinis nisi generosæ propaginis existat, et miles, carens opprobrio; quoniam ignobiles aut reprobos Ordinis Institutio non admittit.

III. Et xxxvi. Commilitones et Consocii hujus Ordinis prænominati deferent mantella et garteria apud dictum Castrum ordinata, quotiens ibidem præfentes fuerint, videlicet quâlibet vice quâ Capellam intrant Sancti GEORGII aut domum Capitularem, pro Capitulo celebrando, aut ali-

quid statuendo quod ad Ordinem pertinebit. Et simili modo incedent in vigilia Sancti GEORGII, per modum proceffionis, proficiscentes cum Superiori Ordinis, aut suo Deputato, de magnâ Camerâ Regiâ usque ad Capellam, vel Domum Capitularem, et eâdem serie revertentur. Sedebunt itaque cum Mantellis et Garteriis in dictâ vigilia tempore cœnæ, tam illi qui cœnare volunt, quam etiam alii non cœnantes quousque de magnâ Camerâ prædictâ consuetum tempus fuerit separandi. Sic etiam induti incedere debent in crastino versus dictam Capellam, et abinde revertentes, ac etiam tempore prandii et postea, quousque Superior, aut suus Deputatus sua Ordinis Insignia deposuerit. Sic etiam proficiscentes ad secundas Vesperas et revertentes nec nec * tempore Cœnæ et postea sicut in Vigilia induentur, quoad usque Superior Ordinis tempus esse decrevit separandi.

IV. Et ordinati sunt 13 Canonici seculares, qui tempore Institutionis suæ aut infra annum proximum teneantur ad Sacerdotium promoveri; sic etiam 13 Vicarii, qui tempore admissionis suæ erunt Sacerdotes, aut saltem tempore proximæ Collationis Ordinum extunc sequentis, celebraturi continuè pro animabus omnium fidelium defunctorum. Isti autem prænominati Canonici præsentabuntur per fundatores Ordinis supra dictos, viz. quilibet fundatorum modernorum Custodi Collegii suum Canonicum præsentabit. Ita tamen, quod si quis Canonicorum moriatur, nec ipse qui eum ultimo præsentabat, nec quispiam alius Sociorum Garterii postea præsentabunt, sed solus Superior Ordinis ad eundem Canonicatum extunc in ante pro perpetuo præsentabit. Et sic est unanimiter concordatum de præsentationibus omnium aliorum Canonicorum solo † Superior Ordinis reservandis.

V. Item concordatum est, quod prædicti Canonici habeant suam Mantellam de panno coloris purpurii, cum unâ circumferentiâ Armo- rum Sancti GEORGII.

VI. Item ordinatum est, quod 26 Milites veterani, non habentes unde vivant, ibidem ad honorem do § et beati Georgii competentem habebunt exhibitionem, continuè Deo in Orationibus servituri. Et de Electionibus eorum Veteranorum ordinatum est modo simili sicut et de præsentationibus Canonicorum prædictorum, sic quod Veteranorum Electiones quemadmodum Canonicorum præsentationes soli Superiori Ordinis reservabuntur.

* Forte necnon.

† Soli Superiori.

§ Dei.

VII. Item concordatum est, quod dicti Milites veterani habebunt sua mantella de rubeo cum uno Scuto Armorum Sancti GEORGII carente tantum tamen Garterio.

VIII. Item concordatum est, quod si Superior hujus Ordinis, five Societatis, fortassis esse non poterit apud solemnizationem festivitatis Sancti GEORGII, Capitulum tenebitur, horâ terciarum ad solemnizandum festivitatem in Crastino, sumptibus Superioris Ordinis: Sed novas observancias aut Ordinationes non faciet Deputatus hujusmodi: Corrigere tamen et reformare sibi licebit transgressores Statutorum Ordinis quæ sequuntur.

IX. Item singulis annis in vigiliâ Sancti GEORGII fit una congregatio omnium confociorum Ordinis Sancti GEORGII, apud dictum castrum de Wyndesore, five sint infra Regnum Angliæ, five extra, dum tamen illic commodè venire valeant, & ibidem debent apud servitium ecclesiasticum interessè, & sua mantella tempore celebrationis divinorum defferent seriatim in suis stallis existentes. Et quilibet eorum habebit in Capella supra stallam suam galeam & ensen quæ in sui memoriam & ecclesiæ tuicionem ibidem pro tempore vitæ suæ remanebunt, quemadmodum militaris Ordo nobilis hoc exposcit. Sed in casu quo festivitas Sancti GEORGII contigerit infra quindecim dies proximos post diem Paschæ, fit dicta festivitas Sancti GEORGII prorogata usque ad illam diem dominicam quæ semper erit dies quintadecima post diem Paschæ, ad finem quod quilibet sociorum Ordinis ille valeat apud dictam Festivatatem rationabiliter convenire, non equitando per aliquem trium dierum proximò sequentium diem Paschæ.

X. Item quod conveniat in dictum locum in vigiliâ Sancti GEORGII horâ terciâ, & si qui non veniant hujusmodi tempore assignato † ne habeant excusationem Superiori Ordinis aut suo Deputato acceptabilem, per Superiorem Ordinis & Capitulum taliter puniri debent, quod propter hujusmodi negligentiam, non intrabunt ad Capitulum illâ vice, sed foris ad hostium expectabunt, nec vocem habebunt in aliquo quod in dicto Capitulo fieri || contingere illâ vice. Et si qui ad vespervas ante Principium non veniant, sua Stalla nullatenus tunc intrabunt, sed in basso, ante Stallam suam, in consueto loco Ceroferariorum se constituent, durantibus vesperis supradictis, ad quas non venerant tempestivè. solemnis aut vesperarum in crastino. Et quisquis est qui ad celebrationem festivitatis non veniat, non habens excusationem Superiori Ordinis acceptabilem, sibi præcipiatur nomine poenæ quod Stallum suum non intravit festivitate proximâ tunc sequente, sed se tenebit ante & extra stallum, in loco quo supra tempore primarum vesperarum, & tempore processionis in crastino perante tres cruces processionales transibit, & redeundo in Chorum stabit in loco basso quo supra toto tempore Missæ usque ad Offertorium, novissimè oblaturus. Et hujusmodi poenitentis sic peractis, incontinenti veniet ante stallum Superioris aut sui Deputati superinde veniam petiturus. Et deinde dictus Superior aut suus Deputatus eum ad Stallum suum & primæum statum restituet. Quod si à secundo festo Sancti GEORGII anno proximo tunc sequente absque excusatione Superiori acceptabili, aut ejus Deputato, denuo se absentet existens infra regnum Angliæ, extunc Stallum suum non intrabit, quoadusque infra dictam capellam apud Altare Sancti GEORGII unum Jocale obtulerit valoris xx. marcarum Monetæ Anglicanæ; Et extunc singulis annis inantea ipsam multam, donec reconciliatus fuerit, duplicabit.

XI. Item quod omnes Consozii Ordinis, ubicunque locorum constituti, deferent Mantella sua de blodio singulis annis, ab hora primarum vesperarum in vigilia Sancti GEORGII, usque ad secundas vespervas in crastino inclusive, quemadmodum facturi essent, si cum Superiori Ordinis aut suo Deputato personaliter interessent, toto tempore hujus festivitatis celebrandæ, dum tamen sint in loco ubi gaudeant propria libertate.

XII. Item, concordatum est, quod si quis dictæ societatis incedat publicè sine Garterio, quantocius fuerit exinde ammonitus aut notatus, custodi et Collegio solvet dimidiam marcam, sicut alii ante solverunt qui in eadem culpa fuere constituti.

XIII. Item, concordatum est, quod, tempore Offertorii apud altam Missam, semper duo ex sociis qui sunt in stallis oppositi simul ad offerendum incedant. Et si ex eis quenquam contigerit absentari, socius suus, qui sibi deberet esse oppositus, solus et per se ad offerendum transibit. Et notandum quod Superior Ordinis tempore Processionis in dicta capella transibit retro totam sociorum commitivam.

XIV. Item, concordatum est, quod, in quolibet crastino Sancti GEORGII, antequam socii mutuò separentur aut recedant, celebretur una missa de Requie, pro animabus omnium fidelium defunctorum, et quod quod tota societas fit tunc ibidem integraliter, si non fuerit eorum aliquis rationabiliter præpeditus, vel si non habeat licentiam Superioris Ordinis aut sui Deputati, antequam ab illic recedat.

XV. Item, concordatum est, quod quilibet sociorum dimittet ibidem suam clamidem, pro accessibus hujusmodi repentinis, et pro observandis præceptis et monitis salutaribus Superioris prædicti.

XVI. Item, conventum est, quod, si quenkum ex dicta societate five ordine per dictum Castrum de Wyndesore itinerare contigerit, pro honore loci intret, si commode poterit, nec sit ex juxta et rationabili causâ præpeditus. Et quod antequam capellam ingrediatur, omnino clamide se induat, ita quod non nisi clamide indutus intret, et Canonici per tunc ibidem præsentibus sibi venient in obviam, et ipsum in capellam devotè conducent. Et si fortassis ipsum contigerit illuc accedere horâ Missæ, expectet ad honorem Dei et Sancti GEORGII, et audiat ipsam Missam. Quod si post meridiem veniat, intret modo et forma expressatis, et tunc expectet donec Canonici semel dixerint Psalmum de Profundis, pro animabus omnium fidelium defunctorum, et ibidem offerat, Psalmo dicto. Siquis autem ex dicta societate per medium villæ equitaverit et Capellam non intret et offerat veluti concordatum existit, qualibet vice qua hoc non faciat pedester transeat, virtute Obedientiæ, unum militare versus dictam capellam, et offeret unum denarium, ob honorem Sancti GEORGII.

XVII. Item, concordatum est, quod Superior Ordinis, incontinenti postquam mors alicujus Sociorum fit sibi cognita, faciat celebrari pro anima ipsius mortui Mille Missas, et quilibet Rex foraneus pro anima illius mortui faciet celebrari DCCC. Princeps Walliæ DCC. quilibet Dux DC. quilibet Comes CCC. quilibet Baro CC. et quilibet Miles Bacallarius C. Missas. Et si Superior Ordinis aut alius quispiam hoc fieri non faciat, infra unum quarterium anni postquam fit certificatus de morte, numerum missarum in toto ad quas ab initio juxta status sui conditionem tenebatur, duplicare, et si medietas anni sic à retro sit, etiam eodem modo duplicare debet, et ita de tempore in tempus usque in finem anni, et si infra annum fieri non faciat, annos eodem modo duplicabit.

XVIII. Item, concordatum est, quod quoties aliquis consociorum Ordinis fuerit sublatus de medio, Superior Ordinis aut suus Deputatus certificato sibi de merito faciat omnes consocios existentes infra regnum suum Angliæ qui accedere poterunt, per suas literas admoneri, quod, pro eligendo novo Consocio, coram eo conveniant, infra sex ebdomadas postquam certificati fuerint de morte in loco ydoneo quem Superior ad hoc duxerit assignando. Quibus omnibus sic congregatis, aut sex eorum ad minus præter Superiorem aut suum Deputatum, quilibet eorum qui præsens in electione fuerit novem de sufficientioribus, quos omni ignominia et opprobrio crediderit expertes, five sint de subditis Superioris Ordinis aut alii foranei, sibi non subjecti, dum tamen partem dicto Superiori adversantem non faveant aut defendant, nominabit, viz. tres Comites aut de statu sublimiori, tres Barones, et tres Milites Bacallarios, et istas denominationes scribet Principalis Praelatus Ordinis, scilicet Episcopus Vintoniensis qui pro tempore fuerit, et in suâ absentia Decanus Collegii, vel Registrator, et in * eos absentibus antiquior Recidentarius Collegii supradicti, et denominationes sic factæ per omnes Consocios aut sex eorum ad minus ut præfertur, per eum qui eas scripsit, Superiori Ordinis aut suo Deputato monstrabunt, qui de nominatis hujusmodi eum prælegit et admittet cui major vocum pluralitas suffragatur, et quem sibi ad honorem Ordinis et utilitatem Regni et Regis magis videbitur expedire. Et in casu quo nullus sociorum ad electionem veniat modo sequenti, veniet puniendus saltem si non iusta de causa fuerit impeditus. Si tamen causam absentia justam et probabilem allegaverit, per Superiorem, aut suum Deputatum debet approbari. Quod si causa absentia reperta forsan fuerit minus iusta, et accitus ad electionem non veniat, ut præfertur, concordatum est, quod custodi et Collegio, nomine pænæ solvat unam marcam, et cum proximò fuerit in Capitulo sedebit ante Superiorem Ordinis aut suum Deputatum, et totam societatem, in medio Capituli super terram, quousque per Superiorem aut suum Deputatum, et societatem fuerit reconciliatus.

XIX. Item, concordatum est, quod in casu quo aliquis Militum dictæ societatis Garterii moriatur, et in ejus locum alius eligatur, quantocius post electionem electus habebit Garterium, in signum quod est unus sociorum Garterii, et habebit Mantellum sibi pro suo habitu liberatum, quando in stallum suum inducetur, et non ante; et in casu quo moriatur priusquam fuerit installatus, non nominabitur unus fundatorum ex quo non habet plenariam possessionem sui status, ymmo habebit medietatem Missarum prædictarum, pro eo quod habuit liberatam Garterii, et penitus nichil magis. Et si talis electus non veniat ad dictum locum

XXXIV. Item fit unus Registrator Ordinatus per Superiorem et societatem Ordinis, qui inter cæteros de Collegio fit scientior, et interesse debet in quolibet Capitulo Ordinis celebrando, ad registrandum et inactitandum Electiones singulas, et nomina Electorum, punitiones inflictas, et punitionum causas, ad dictum Ordinem pertinentia, de Capitulo in Capitulum annuatim. Et fit dictus Registrator juratus in receptione sui officii de fideliter registrando, et quæ in Principio cujuslibet Capituli in Vigiliâ Sancti GEORGII annuatim celebrandi, sint omnia Registrata anni præcedentis ibidem publicè lecta, coram Superiore et societate Ordinis; Ad finem quod siquid fit malè conceptum et correctione dignum, valeat in formam debitam reformari.

Besides these Statutes made at the Institution of the Order, there are two other Bodies or Exemplars establish'd since; the one by King Henry V. the other by King Henry VIII. The former made the following Additions, causing them to be inserted in their proper Places, viz. to Article III. That the Knights should make their Obeysance in the Choir, first to the Altar, and next to the Sovereign.

VIII. That the Deputy should elect, if the Sovereign (when Abroad) had not six Knights with him.

IX. That the Feast of St. George should not be kept on St. Mark's Day, May-Day, &c.

XII. That when a Knight should ride, he might wear a Blue Ribband instead of his Garter.

XIV. That the order and manner of offering up the Atchievements of deceased Knights, should be such as is there prescribed.

XX. That Knights absent in the Sovereign's service, might be install'd by Deputy.

XXXI. That the Sovereign should take a Signet of the Order abroad with him.

XXXIV. That no Charge should be admitted upon the College, by the Custos or Canons, without the Sovereign's consent.

These Statutes of Institution, with these Additions, were translated into French by the said King Henry V's order, and may be seen in that Language, together with other Exemplars of these Statutes, in Mr. Ashmole's Appendix.

King Henry VIII. did properly complete the Body of Statutes belonging to this Order; and to this purpose on St. George's day, Anno Regni sui 9, he summoned all the Knights-Companions to convene next year at the time of the Solemnity, about the abrogation of what tended to darken the honour of this Order (if any such were) and for the advancement of what might promote the grandeur and lustre of it. But these Resolves came to no perfection till May 28, Anno Regni sui 11, when he entered upon this Reformation with all magnificent Ceremony imaginable, for being accompanied with nineteen Knights-Companions of the Order proceeding in cavalcade to the Chapter-House, and taking into consideration their former Statutes, the Knights-Companions with all due reverence implor'd the Sovereign to reform and explain them as he should think convenient, which he brought to a successful Period, by the advice and consent of the Society assembled: That done, all present entreated the Sovereign, kneeling, that where any of them had been peccant against the Order, he would please to remit, and issue out a general Pardon, which he granted and ratified in Chapter next day. This was a task of three years compleat before it rose to perfection, viz. April 23, Anno 14, Henry VIII. for then the Sovereign, out of right singular Love, well-temper'd Zeal, and entire Affection to this most Noble Order, to the Estate of Chivalry, and the continuance and encrease thereof; as also at the humble request and instant importunity of the then Knights-Companions, and by their advice, counsel, and consent, did interpret and elucidate all the obscurities, doubts, and ambiguities of the former Statutes and Ordinances, divers Affairs contained in many of them being explained and amended; he made likewise necessary additions; the original whereof in Latin being signed and sealed, was commanded to be carefully laid up in the Treasury of Windsor College, and entered in the Black Book of the Order, to remain as a Standard to succeeding times: These being afterwards translated into English by Sir Thomas Wriothesley, then Garret King at Arms, have been delivered to all succeeding Knights-Companions, sealed with the Great Seal of the Order, and are as follow.

The Statutes and Ordinances of the moost Noble Ordre of Saynt GEORGE, named the Gartier, reformed, explained, declared, and renewed by the moost high, moost excellent, and moost puissant Prince Henry VIII. by the Grace of God Kyng of England and of Fraunce, Defensor of the Faith, Lorde of Irland, &c.

WHEREAS the moost famous, moost happiest, and victorious Prince, Edward, the thirde of that Name, his noble Progeni-tour somtyme Kyng of England and of Fraunce, and Lorde of Irland, &c. To th'onnoure of Almighty God, and of the blessed and immaculate Virgyn Marie, and the blessid Martir Saynt GEORGE, Patron of the right noble Roialme of England; and of Saynt EDWARDE, King and Confessour; to the exaltation of the holy Faith Catholique ordeyned, establiſhed, created, and founded, within the Castel of Windeſore, a company of twenty-fix noble and worthi Knyghtes, for to be of the ſaid moost Noble Ordre of Saynt GEORGE, named the Gartier, and for the honorable continuance, augmentation, and interteyning of the ſame.

The ſaid moost victorious Kyng did devyſe and institute divers honorable Eſtatuts, and laudable Ordinances for to be obſerved and kept by the cobrethern, and confreres Knyghtes and Compaynons of the ſaid mooste Noble Ordre; among the which Eſtatutes been certeyne doubtis an addition to these Statutes of King Henry VIII. of a fourth Point of Reproach, tho' not entered in the Body of the Statutes, yet nevertheless the substance thereof appears to have been approved of in a Chapter held at Windsor, Ann. 8. Henry VIII. Liber Nig. p. 204.

The fourth Point of Reproach is, that if any Knyght of the Order from henceforth, by Prodigality or Ryot, wilfully and negligently mispend, sell, aliene, or do away his Patrimony or Livelihood, by reason whereof he shall not be able honourably to maintain himself and his Estate, in such honourable manner, as may conserve the honour of the said Order, and of himself: In this case he shall be summoned by the Usher of Arms of the Order, called the Black Rod, by commandment of the Sovereign, his Lieutenant, or Deputy, to appear before his Majesty, or his Commissioners, and the Knights of the Order, at the next Chapter ensuing, there to be examined before the Sovereign, or his said Commissioners, and the Knights and Companions of the said Order; and if he be found in such great default of Prodigality, insolent Riot, or wilful Negligence, that then the Sovereign, with the advice of the Company of the said Order, may deprive and degrade him of the said Order, at the said Chapter, if it be their pleasure.

These Statutes to this day have had no very great or considerable Alterations made in them, tho' often designed by the succeeding Princes; and Commissions frequently issued out for that purpose, by Queen Elizabeth, King James I. Charles I. and lastly by Charles II. as is at large related by Mr. Ashmole, but as nothing material was altered from these Statutes of King Henry VIII. no farther notice is here necessary.

CHAPTER

CHAPTER XIII.

Of the HABITS and ENSIGNS of this most Noble ORDER.

THE Habit and Ensigns of this most Noble Order, are most eminently distinguishable and magnificent, and consist of these particulars, viz. the Garter, Mantle, Surcoat, Hood, George, and Collar. The four first were assigned by the Founder, and the two last by King Henry VIII.

And first, the Royal Garter justly challenges the preheminance, as being that, from which the Order itself received a Name and Title. It is the first part of the Habit presented to foreign Princes and absent Knights, and that wherewith they and all other elect Knights are first adorned; and of so great honour and grandeur in this Institution, that by the bare investiture with this noble Ensign, the Knights are reckoned and accounted Companions and Fellows of the greatest military Order in the World.

Of what Materials this principal Ensign was at first made, does not so plainly appear; nor is it described by any, before Polydore Virgil, and he, but in general, as to the ornamental part of it, viz. that it was adorned with Gold and Precious Stones, and had a Buckle of Gold at the end, wherewith to fasten it about the Leg. In these later Ages this Ensign has been distinguished in a very particular manner; the Garter sent to Gustavus Adolphus, King of Sweden, by King Charles I. exceeded all others, bestowed by former Sovereigns, for richness and glory; each Letter of the Motto being composed of Diamonds, in number four hundred and eleven, according to an Inventory given in, by the Sovereign's command, to the Dean and Chapter of Windsor: The Garter also which that unfortunate Monarch wore on the last stage of Life,

192 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Life, was compos'd also of Diamonds, to the number of four hundred and twelve.

This Ensign, the Garter, was at the Foundation of the Order, appointed to be worn on the left Leg, a little beneath the Knee, and so has the usage in all time since continued. But the use of this Ensign is extended also to some other particulars, as well as being ornamental to the left Leg; namely it was (and that anciently also) made use of to incircle the Scutcheon of St. GEORGE's Arms, worn by the Sovereign and Knights-Companions, on the left Shoulder of their Mantles; who, within a short time after, took it to surround each of their proper Coats of Arms; which usage their Successors, in this most Noble Order, have retained, as a peculiar Privilege; the like has been permitted to the Prelate and Chancellor of the Garter, their principal Officers.

King Henry VIII. was first of the Sovereigns, who introduced into his Great Seal, the Scutcheon of his Arms incirled within a Garter; as may be seen placed on either side of his Portraiture, sitting in his royal Throne, in Speed's Chronicle. Since his reign, all succeeding Sovereigns have borne their Arms within the Garter, not only in their Great and Privy Seals, but also in those other belonging to their Courts of Justice; and generally in all things (except Coins) whereon the Scutcheon of their Arms have been since cut, carved, graved, painted, or wrought; in Imitation of whom, the Knights-Companions have done the like: However, as to Coins, there were Anno 21, Car. I. certain Half Crowns stamped in the West of England, having the Sovereign's Arms so encompass'd; and this was the first money, whereon the royal Garter appeared amongst us. And his late Majesty, King Charles II. intending the Augmentation of the Honour of this renowned Order, as in many other things, so in advancing the reputation of this noble Ensign by a more publick way, did cause the irradiated Cross of St. GEORGE, encompass'd about with the royal Garter, to be stamped in the centre of his Silver Coin, made upon the alteration of it, Anno 14, Car. II.

We have seen Gold Rings cast into the Figure of Garters; the Ground on the outside enamelled with a deep Blue, through which the Golden Letters

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 193

Letters of the Motto appearing, set them off with an admirable beauty. And it seems, such Gartrings have been of antient use: For the Preface to the Black Book of the Order, takes notice not only of wearing the Garter on the Left Leg and Shoulder, but adds also the Thumb, Interdum pollice gestare, by which we suppose is meant Gold Rings, made into the fashion of Garters, and bestowed by the new installed Knights upon their Relations and Friends, to wear in Memorial of so great an Honour conferred upon them.

The next Habit or Ensign is the Mantle, and at first no other Robe was appointed for the Habit of this most noble Order, but only this upper Garment or Mantle; which, in the Sovereign, is distinguish'd from the Knights-Companions, only by a long Train. That which was made for the Founder against the first Feast of this Order, appears to have been made of fine Woollen Cloth. And 'tis not unlikely, the Founder made choice of Cloth for the Robes of the Order (rather than any richer Material) to the end He might give a Reputation to that our home bred and native Commodity; notwithstanding, leave was given for the Proxies of foreign Princes to bring over with them Mantles of Silk or Velvet, when they came to receive the possession of their Principal's Stalls.

The first time it appears the Sovereign's Mantle was made of Velvet, is about the beginning of the reign of Henry VI. when those presented to foreign Princes likewise, were made here of Velvet.

As touching the Mantles of the Knights-Companions, there is no question, but they were of the same Materials with those made for the Sovereign, and had the same Changes or Alterations; tho' this be not so easy to discover, because the Mantle was provided at the proper Charge of the Knights-Companions themselves, and therefore not upon any publick Record.

The colour of these Mantles is appointed by the Statutes to be Blue; and of this coloured Cloth, was the first Robe made for the Founder; by which, as by the Ground-work of the royal Garter it is not unlike, he alluded to the colour of the Field in the French Arms, which a few years before he had assumed in Quarter, with those of his Kingdom of England; in Queen Elizabeth's reign (upon what ground is nowhere mentioned) the colour of the foreign Princes Mantles was changed from Blue to Purple, and so continued till about the 12th year of King Charles I. when that Sovereign, restored the colour of the Mantle to the primitive Institution, viz. a rich Celestial Blue, and this Habit has so continued to this day.

The Left Shoulder of these Mantles have, from the Institution of the Order, been adorn'd with one large fair Garter, as has been observ'd, containing the Motto, HONI SOIT QUI MAL Y PENSE. Within this Garter was embroiderd the Arms of St. George, viz. Argent, a Cross Gules; and was heretofore wrought upon Sattin, with Gold, Silver, and Silk; but in succeeding times, more cost was bestowed upon this Ensign; the Embroidery being curiously wrought upon Velvet, with Damask, Gold, and sundry sorts of Purls, Plates, Gold Twist and Silks, and the Letters of the Motto and Borders of the Garter, composed of the like Twist, and sometimes of fair oriental Pearl.

About the time of King Henry VI. the lining of this Robe was white Damask, and afterwards white Sattin; but of later times it was lined with white Taffaty, which continues yet in fashion. For farther ornament, the Mantle had fixed to its Collar a pair of long Strings, anciently woven of blue Silk only, called Cordons, Robe-Strings, or Laces; but of later times twisted round, and made of Gold Twist and Silk of the colour of the Robe; at each end of which hung a Knob or Button wrought over and raised with a rich caul of Gold, and Tassels thereunto of like Silk and Gold; and at the Collar was usually fixed an Hook and Eye of Gold, for the surer fastening the Mantle about the Shoulders:

The next Habit or Ensign is the Surcoat or Kirtle, which, tho' it be not taken notice of in the Founder's Statutes, is as ancient as the Mantle, being made use of at the Institution of the Order. These Surcoats were heretofore annually bestowed by the Sovereign on the Knights-Companions, and therefore called his * Livery. They were at first made * Spelm. Gloss in V. Liberatio.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 195

made of Woollen Cloth, as the Mantles are observed to have been, and did so continue, after the Mantle was changed to Velvet, for some time, at least till after the Office of Chancellor of the Garter was erected by King Edward IV. as appears by the Precedent of this Livery in the Sovereign's great Wardrobe. At length these Surcoats came to be made of Velvet also, which is still retained.

The colour of this Vesture was anciently changed every year, commonly into one of these four colours, either Blue, Scarlet, Sanguine in Grain, or White; but always changed to the same colour with the Sovereign's.

In the reign of Edward IV. we find the four Colours above-mentioned were laid aside, and others brought into use, as Purple Velvet; and towards the latter end of the reign of King Henry VIII. 'tis manifest from the Warrants entered in the great Wardrobe, that the Surcoats both of the Sovereign and Knights-Companions were Crimson Velvet: Nor was this colour altered in the Surcoat, tho' King Charles I. restored the Mantle to its first and ancient colour.

The ornamental Trimmings of these Garments at the time of instituting the Order, and a long time after, deserve our notice; being garnished or powdered all over with little Garters, embroidered with Silk and Gold Plate; in each of which was neatly wrought the Motto, HONI SOIT QUI MAL Y PENSE. Besides, the Buckles and Pendants to these small Garters were Silver gilt: Of these embroidered Garters, there were laid upon the first Surcoat and Hood made for the Founder, no less than one hundred and sixty-eight; and in the reign of King Henry V. the number of these Garters appears to be settled, according to the degrees of honour of each Knight-Companion. But this manner of adorning grew at length quite out of fashion.

These Surcoats, whilst made of Cloth, were lined with Fur; the Sovereign's purfled with Ermin: But in time these Furs also were laid aside, and then the Surcoats came to be lined with white Sarcenet, to which, in Queen Elizabeth's reign, white Taffaty succeeded, and that still continues.

196 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

We will next say something of the Hood and Cap. Hoods were anciently worn for defence of the Head, against the inconveniencies of Weather, &c. but in later times Caps and Hats have supplied their place. This Hood was ordained, and is yet retained as part of the Habit of this most Noble Order, being of equal antiquity, tho' not remembered in the Statutes, with the rest of the Habit. 'Tis now generally made, as heretofore, of the same Materials as the Surcoat, and consequently of the same colour. 'Twas anciently trimmed and garnished, with a proportion of little embroidered Garters, lined with Cloth of a different colour, and such as would best set off to view; but now with Taffaty, as is the lining of the Surcoat.

As to the Cap, which in use and place succeeded the Hood, it has been and yet is made of Black Velvet, lined with Taffaty, but the fashion has several times varied. In the reign of King Henry VIII. the Cap was flat: In Queen Elizabeth's time, a little raised in the Head: And in King James I. much more high-crown'd, and has so continued.

This Cap has been usually adorned with Plumes of fine white Feathers, with a stately Heron's Feather rising in the middle, and bound about with a Band, enriched with Diamonds of great value; and sometimes the brims have been tack'd up with a large and costly Jewel.

The Cross of the Order, encompassed with the Garter, and irradiated with Beams of Silver, called the Glory or Star, was ordained by King Charles I. to be worn upon the left side of the Sovereign's and Companions Cloaks, Coats, and Cassocks, when they did not wear their Robes, and at all times in publick.

It may not be improper to observe here that soon after the Institution of this noble Order, a custom was taken up, of honouring the Queen, the Knights-Companions Wives, and other great Ladies, with Robes and Hoods, of the gift of the Sovereign, and of the same Materials, as were the Sovereign's and Knights-Companions Surcoats, garnished also with little embroidered Garters, and lined with rich Furs; which Robes they likewise wore during the Solemnity of the Feast of St. GEORGE.

The

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 197

The first mention of this is Ann. 7. Richard II. where against the Feast of St. GEORGE that year, such kind of Robes and Hoods were provided for the Queen, &c. The Robes were made of Cloth Violet in Grain, like as the Sovereign and Knights-Companions Surcoats that year: They were lined with Fur, but the Hoods with Scarlet, and both embroidered over with little Garters; and the proportion of Cloth, Furs, and Garters, were allowed according to their several degrees. The last mention we find of these Liveries was Ann. 16. Edward IV. when, at Windsor on the Feast of St. GEORGE, the Queen, &c. had Murrey Gowns embroidered with Garters.

After a long disuse of these Robes, 'twas moved in Chapter (14. Car. I.) that they might be restored, and in particular, that the Ladies of the Knights-Companions might enjoy the ancient Privilege of wearing a Garter of the Order about their Arms; upon which motion, another Chapter was appointed to consider more of the matter: But what was then or after done, does not appear; and the unhappy War coming on, this matter wholly slept.

Proceed we next to speak of the Collar, another Ensign and Ornament of this most Noble Order of the Garter, composed after a peculiar manner, exactly relative to the name and title of the Order; to the wearing of which, the Sovereign obliged both himself and Knights-Companions, and his and their Successors. This Collar, as is before related in Henry VIII. Statutes, Art. XXXVIII. was ordained to be Gold, thirty Ounces Troy Weight; tho' sometimes it has weighed more. By the same Statutes it was appointed, that this Collar should be composed of pieces of Gold, in fashion of Garters, the Ground enamelled Blue, and the Letters of the Motto Gold. In the midst of each Garter, two Roses placed, the innermost enamelled Red, and the outermost White; contrarily in the next Garter, the innermost Rose enamelled White, and the outermost Red; and so alternately continued: But of later times these Roses are wholly Red. The number of these Garters are so many, as be the ordained number of the Sovereign and Knights-Companions, by the Institution of the Order, viz. twenty-six; being tied together with as many Knots of Gold; and this fashion has in all particulars hitherto continued invariable. At the middle of the Collar before, is to be be fastened the Image of St. GEORGE armed, sitting on Horseback, who having thrown the Dragon upon his Back, encounters him with a tilting Spear. This Jewel is not surrounded with a Garter, or row of Diamonds, as is the lesser George, but is garnished with Diamonds, and other Enrichments, at a great expence, at the pleasure of the Knight-Companion who owns it.

The next Ensign of this Noble Order is the lesser George, so called in respect of that other George we have just mentioned, as fastened to the middle of the Collar before, and called the great George: This lesser George does not appear to have been worn before the Breast, or under the right Arm, as now used, until the 13th of King Henry VIII. when a Decree was passed to this effect, Lib. Nig. p. 212. That every Knight of the Order, should wear loosely before his Breast, the Image of St. GEORGE, in a Gold Chain, or otherwise in a Ribband; the same to be thenceforward placed within the ennobled Garter; to the end a manifest distinction should thereby appear, between the Knights-Companions, and others of the Nobility and Knights, who, according to the fashion of those times, wore large Gold Chains, the ordinary Ensign of their Knighthood.

This George was for the most part made of pure Gold, but divers of them are exquisitely cut in Onixs, as also in Agats. This lesser George by degrees came to be worn in Silk Ribbands as well as Gold Chains, each at pleasure. The colour of these Ribbands, at their first use, was Black, afterwards Blue, which, 'tis thought, began in Queen Elizabeth's reign, and grew into so great esteem, that towards the latter end of the reign of King James I. it was decreed, Lib. Rub. p. 12. That for the future, it should always be of a Blue colour and no other: Nor in time of Mourning for any of the Knights-Companions, of what degree soever, should the colour be changed. The ordinary manner of wearing this Ribband, in time of Peace, was, formerly, about the Neck, down to the middle of the Breast, where the lesser George hung; but now for the more conveniency of riding or action, the same is spread over the left Shoulder, and brought under the right Arm, where the Jewel hangs; and to give the Reader a more perfect Idea of the grandeur and magnificence of this truly Noble Order, we shall here insert a Print of the Habit and Ensigns as wore by the Sovereign and the Knights-Companions.

It is here to be observed that there are solemn days and occasions, on which the Sovereign and Knights-Companions are enjoined to wear, either the whole Habit of the Order, or some part of it. The more solemn, and which require a full conformity, as to wearing the whole Habit, viz. the Garter, Mantle, Surcoat, Hood, Collar, great George, and Cap, are first, the high Festival of the Order (commonly called St. GEORGE's Feast) whether it be solemnized on the 22d, 23d, or 24th days of April annually, or any other days within the following year by prorogation. In like manner, at the Feasts of Installation, such Knights-Companions as are appointed by the Sovereign to assist, are to wear the whole Habit. The less solemn occasion are those which require wearing the Mantle or Collar of the Order only: Such is the morrow after the grand Feast day, when the Sovereign and Knights-Companions proceed to the Chapel, and make their Offering of Gold and Silver; for then it suffices, that they put on the Mantle only: And, Service being ended, they were wont to leave the Mantle at the Chapter-house door, as they went out of the Chapel. The same Mantle likewise to be worn at all Chapters held; also as often as 'tis requisite for the Sovereign or any of the Knights-Companions to enter into the Chapel of St. GEORGE at Windsor; it having been ordained, says Mr. Ashmole, p. 232. for that purpose, that every one of the Knights-Companions should leave a Mantle at Windsor; and, in pursuance of this article, it appears that anciently both the Sovereign and Knights-Companions left Mantles in the Vestry at Windsor, for such accidental occasions.

The Collar of the Order, with the great George appendant, is worn at the principal and solemn Feasts of the year, and by an order Ann. 4. Eliz. on the following days, viz.

The Holy-Days and Sundays ,	St. JAMES's Day.

Besides

200 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Besides these, the Sovereigns and Knights-Companions have been accustomed to wear this noble Ensign, upon the Anniversary of the Sovereign's Coronation, of Gunpowder-Treason, and other great State-Holidays, and all publick Occasions. And as to that other principal Ensign, the Garter; it ought daily to be worn, as the Statutes do strictly enjoin, with Penalties annex'd: But King Henry V. admitted of a Qualification, and in case of Riding with Boots, ordained, that it might suffice, if the Knight-Companion wore some Ribband, or Silk Lace, to represent the Garter, with this Proviso, That no Knight-Companion should enter into Chapter, without his Garter buckled about the Leg.

Thus much concerning the Habit and Ensigns of this noble Order.

Of the OFFICERS of the ORDER.

AFTER this account of the Habit and Ensigns, it is necessary to treat of the Officers appointed for the service and honour of this most Noble Order: Those constituted by the Founder were, the Prelate, Register, and Usher; to these were afterwards added a Chancellor, and Garter King at Arms. The first and principal Officer is the Prelate; this office was originally annexed to, and has since continued in the See of Winchester, and the Bishop of that Diocese, in respect of the honour and preheminance of this illustrious Order, challenges precedence and place above all Bishops, next to the Bishops of London and Durham.

This Officer is to celebrate Divine Service at the Feast of St. GEORGE; to write down and present to the Sovereign the denominations of the Election of Knights; and in regard to the honour of his office, has the peculiar privilege of marshalling his Arms impaled with those of the See of Winchester within the Garter; also as often as any procession is made, being covered with his Habit, he shall walk before the Sovereign, having the Chancellor of the Order on his left hand: He has also Lodgings assigned him within the Castle, called Winchester Tower, and as often as he shall come to Windsor, or at other place attend the Sovereign's commands relating to the Order, he has allowed him of the Court Livery for himself and Servants, according to the rate that Earls resident in Court are accustomed to have. By his Oath at his admission into the office of Prelate, he is obliged,

1. To be present in all Chapters, whereunto he is summoned.
2. To report all things truly, without favour or fear.
3. To take the Scrutiny faithfully, and present it to the Sovereign.
4. To keep secret and not disclose the Counsels of the Order.
5. To promote and maintain the honour thereof.
6. To withstand and reveal what is designed to the contrary.

This Officer's Mantle or Robe was formerly of Crimson Velvet, with inside lining of white Taffeta, richly embroidered with sumptuous and costly Badges; but at present his Robe is of Purple Velvet, as appears by Warrant, bearing date February 19, Ann. 13. Car. II. for the delivery to the then Prelate, from the Sovereign's Wardrobe, eighteen yards of Velvet of Purple colour, and ten-yards of white Taffeta for the lining, as also a Scutcheon of St. GEORGE within a Garter, wrought with Letters of Gold and Pearls, which he wears on the right Shoulder of his Mantle, together with Cordons of Purple Silk, interwoven with Gold.

The present Prelate of the Order, is the Right Rev. Dr. Benjamin Hoadly, Bishop of Winchester.

II. King Edward IV. by Patent, Anno Regni 15<sup>o</sup> appointed Richard Beauchamp, Bishop of Salisbury, Chancellor of the Order of the Garter, for the term of his own Life; this Grant was afterwards confirmed by the Sovereign and Knights-Companions, in Chapter held Ann. 17<sup>o</sup> of the said King, and the office of Chancellor was continued to his Successors, Bishops of Salisbury, in consideration that the Chapel of St. George in Windsor Castle is situate within that Diocese, till *Ann. 7. ed Chancellor; and it does not appear that the Bishops of Salisbury afterwards executed this office, tho' they frequently laid in their claim, till 21 Car. II. when Seth Ward, Bishop of Salisbury, revived the claim of this office due to his See, by a Petition presented in Chapter, held by the Sovereign, and the most noble Companions hereafter named, at Whitehall, the 19th of November, 1669. Present,

His Majesty Sovereign.

His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

Duke of Ormond.

Earl of Oxford.

Earl of Manchester.

Prince Rupert.

Earl of Bristol.

Earl of Sandwich.

Duke of Monmouth.

Officers, { Prelate, the Bishop of Winchester.
Register, Garter, Usher.

At which time the Sovereign declared, That the reason of calling this Chapter was to consider of the pretensions of Dr. Seth Ward, Bishop of Salisbury, exhibited in a Petition, concerning the title and claim of himself and his Successors, unto the Office of Chancellor of the most Noble Order of the Garter (when the same should become void) the Bishop grounding the equity of his claim, upon a Charter first granted by King Edward IV. in the 15th year of his reign, unto Richard Beauchamp, Bishop of Salisbury, and his Successors for ever; which Charter hath been since confirmed under the great Seal of England, by other Kings and Queens, and particularly by King Charles I. of ever blessed memory: Hereupon the Bishop being called in, and commanded to produce his proofs to make good that his pretension; accordingly the Bishop humbly offered an authentick Copy of the original Charter, of the said King Edward IV. renewed and confirmed by the said King Charles I. in the 4th year of his reign: The which being read and duly considered, together with the Objections to the contrary, particularly that the possession and execution of the said Office of Chancellor, had been for above an hundred years, committed unto Laymen; notwithstanding which, the Sovereign and Companions, being fully satisfied with the justness of the claim of the said Bishop, grounded upon the aforesaid Charters, and likewise considering, that the returning
of

of the said Office to the first Institution, would be for the honour and dignity of the said most Noble Order; the Sovereign thereupon, with the unanimous consent of the most Noble Companions then present, did declare and ordain, 'That the Bishop of Sarum, and his Successors for ever, shall have and 'execute the Office of Chancellor of the said most Noble Order, and receive 'and enjoy all Rights, Privileges, and Advantages thereunto belonging, 'immediately upon the first vacancy of the said Office.' Lib. Carol. p. 65.

The Chancellor's Oath is the same with the Prelate's aforementioned, which he takes in like humble manner on his Knee, and it is customarily administered by the Register of the Order.

His Robe was heretofore the same with the Prelate's, and soon after the Restoration, viz. Ann. 13, Car. II. was also changed to purple, and by the Warrant beforementioned of King Charles II. had like allowance with the Prelate of Velvet and white Taffata for his Robe, also the Scutcheon of St. George, together with a Purse of blue Velvet richly embroidered. Besides this Robe, the Chancellor has an honourable Badge assigned him to wear; first granted to Sir William Peters and his Successors, Ann. 1. Pb. and Mary. viz. a Rose Gold, enclosed within a Garter, which he and the succeeding Chancellors of the Order have ever since worn daily about their Necks; at first in a Gold Chain, but since in a purple Ribband.

The Chancellor has place next beneath the Prelate, and in all Proceedings and Sessions goeth and sitteth on his left Hand. And King Charles I. in a Chapter held A. D. 1629, was pleased to confer some farther note of honour upon this Officer, in relation to place and precedence without the Order; for it was then decreed, Sir Francis Crane being Chancellor, that he and all others that shall succeed him in that place hereafter, shall, in right of that place, in all Assemblies, and upon all Occasion, be ranked and placed immediately after Knights Privy Counsellors, and before the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Lib. Rub. p. 49.

The Chancellor has farther, Lodgings within the Castle of Windsor, in the lower Ward, hence called the Chancellor's Tower; and this Officer has the like Diet and Liveries in the Sovereign's Court, as are allowed the Prelate.

To the Chancellor it appertains to declare the reason of holding Chapters, also to note and declare the famous and laudable actions of the Knights of the Order, or if any on the contrary have demerited, to recount their reproachful actions, that the Register may with more ease reduce them into writing, for a perpetual Memorial.

By the Constitutions of the Order, the Chancellor also is appointed to keep the common Seal of the Order, together with the Signet, to sign the Statutes, Commissions, Letters, and all other things appertaining to the said Order; and upon an order of the Sovereign, Ann. 13. Car. I. to make a new Seal, of a larger size than what was before used, it was decreed in Chapter, that the two Seals of the Order be from henceforth born before the Sovereign in all publick Assemblies, during the celebration of St. GEORGE's Feast, or other its Solemnities by the Chancellor of the Order, in a Purse of blue Velvet, having the Arms of St. GEORGE impaled with the Sovereign's, within the Garter crowned, and richly adorned with Gold and Silver Work. By the same Chapter it is farther decreed, 'That all Legations to deliver the Order to foreign Princes, all other Acts bearing the stile of Commissions, all Patents of Offices and Fees, all Grants or Licenses to go out of the Kingdom, should be sealed with this Seal, which should be thenceforward called the great Seal of the Order. So also the Book of Statutes sent to Knights Elect or foreign Princes, being fixed to a Label of blue Silk and Gold, according to ancient custom: And that all Letters concerning the Order, whether of signification of Election, or Lieutenancy, or Summons upon Prorogation, or other directions from the Sovereign, should only be sealed with the Signet.' Lib. Rub. p. 119.

At the erection of this Office, the Chancellor had no Pension allowed him, towards defraying his charge in the execution thereof; nor until the Constitutions relating to the Officers were established; but thereby is settled on him a Pension of 100 l. per Ann. in consideration of his Employment, or else an allowance proportionable in Fees, Offices, or other Promotions, over and beside his Lodgings in the Castle, and Liveries at Court.

Farther,

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 205

Farther, the Chancellor is Treasurer of the Order, and in Chapter, Ann. 13. Car. I. the Sovereign assigned the sum of 1200*l.* to be annually received from his Exchequer, by the Chancellor, to discharge the Officer's Pensions, and all other Expences and Disbursements for the necessity or reputation of the said most Noble Order, of which an account is to be rendered to the Sovereign and Companions yearly; and accordingly all Pensions, Salaries, and other Payments, to any of the Officers of the Order, Alms-Knights, or Others are paid by him quarterly. Lastly, let it be noted, that in a Chapter held at Whitehall, 22 May, Ann. 20. Jac. I. it was ordered, that all things concerning the Order should hereafter be passed under the Seal of the Order only; and in particular that the Grants of Poor Knights places, after their being signed by the Sovereign, should be passed under the great Seal of the Order only and none other.

The present Chancellor of the Order, is the Right Rev. Dr. Thomas Sherlock, Bishop of Salisbury.

III: The next Officer is the Register, who, as is before observed, was one of the three constituted at the Institution of the Order, under the Title of Registrator and Registrarius: In the Black Book he is often stiled Scriba, and in the Registrum Chartaceum, and Blue Book, Actuarius. It is uncertain who the Registers were till the reign of Henry V. but it may be presumed they were Canons of Windsor, because this Office was by the Statutes appointed to one of the College; and from the Black Book it appears, the Canons were all along Registers from Henry V. to the beginning of Henry VIII.

The first Dean of Windsor, constituted Register of the Order, was Job Vesey, Ann. 8. Henry VIII. And 'tis not unlike, but that the Deans were made choice of for this employment, as being better enabled to support the reputation of the *Register*ship with the revenue of this Deanery. However, at a Chapter held 11 Car. I. 'twas then determined, and entered among the Annals of the Order, that for the future the Dean and Register should meet in one and the same Person.

By the Statutes of Henry VIII. the same Oath is enjoyned the Register as the Prelate and Chancellor took; the nature of which Oath we have have already observed. When he is admitted, he takes the Oath kneeling at the Sovereign's Feet, whilst the Prelate, if present, or else the Chancellor administers; the Black Rod holding the Evangelists, and Garter reading the Words.

By the Constitutions of the Order, Ann. 14. Henry VIII. "it is decreed, that if the Register be an Ecclesiastick, he shall be a Person learned, and Doctor of Divinity, or of the Canon or Civil Law, that he shall have the yearly stipend of fifty Pounds of lawful Money of England, or so much in Fees, Offices, or other Emoluments. As often as any Knight admitted into this Order, shall be introduced into his Stall, the Register shall receive from him thirteen Shillings and four Pence, and the Habit. It is incumbent on this Register to make two Books, or Indexes, on Parchment, or rather Annals, in which the Ordinances, Statutes, and other causes relating to this Order shall be wrote; whereof one shall be laid up in the Treasury at Windsor, where it shall remain for ever, but the other shall be in the keeping of the Register, which he shall shew to the Sovereign whenever he requires it, the first shall be called the Windsor Register, the other the Register of the Court.

It is his duty to describe the Elections made, and the names of the Electors, and to reduce to remembrance the Designs, Exploits, and Achievements, worthy of notice and of credit, as well of the Sovereign, as of the Companions, as he shall be able to understand of himself, and his own diligence in searching, or by the industry of the King of Arms, which he shall first note and reduce into writing yearly as they happen, which shall be read to the Knights assembled in the Chapter that shall be next held, to the end that if any thing wants to be corrected or amended, it may be there corrected, which shall likewise be done again in another Chapter, and then he shall take care that these be fairly transcribed into the aforesaid Books or Annals for a perpetual Memorial." Anstis.

The Habit of the Register was heretofore of Crimfon Sattin, lined with white Taffeta, and so continued till after the Restoration, when by Warrant, Feb. 20. Ann 13. Car. II. it appears that the Habit of the Register, Garter, and Usher was changed; and from the King's Wardrobe was delivered to each of them eighteen yards of Scarlet Sattin, tin, and ten yards of white Taffeta for their Liveries, with an Escutcheon of St. GEORGE, placed on the left Shoulder, as also Laces, Buttons, and Tassels of Scarlet Silk, and Venice Gold.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 207

King Charles I. gave command to Dr. Christopher Wren, then Register, to cover the Red Book of the Order with Crimson Velvet, and assigned for the device, two Pens in Saltier, within the Garter; the whole richly embroidered with Silk, Gold and Silver Plates, and other costly Ornaments: This Book he was commanded to bear before his Breast on all solemn occasions, when he wore his Mantle; and the Register at all times wears this Badge of his Office pendant in a blue Ribband.

The present Register, is the Rev. Dr. Booth, Dean of Windsor.

IV. Proceed we next to Garter King of Arms, an Officer ordained by King Henry V. for the peculiar honour and dignity of the Order, and on that account appointed Garter Rex Armorum Angliæ, principal Officer within the Office of Arms, and chief of all the Servants of Arms: By the Constitutions of King Henry VIII. "he is to be a Person of gentile Blood, of an honest Name, bearing Ensigns, born within the Kingdom of England, and to be superior to all the other Officers of Arms, who are subject to the noble Crown of England. He shall have from the Sovereign an annual stipend of forty Pounds of lawful Money of England; moreover every one of the Companions shall yearly give him for the honour of his degree, a Duke four Pounds, a Marquess five Marks, an Earl four Marks, a Baron forty Shillings, a Knight Batchelor twenty-six Shillings and eight Pence, that he may live and execute the Office more honourably for the credit of the Order. As often as the Creation of a Prince, Duke, Marquess, Earl, Viscount, or Baron, shall happen, the same Garter shall challenge the Vestments which he uses, before he receives the Robe of that dignity and high degree.

To him shall belong the correction of Arms and all Ensigns whatever, which are usurped and born unjustly; and also authority and power to grant such Arms and Ensigns to those who by their valiant and laudable Actions, their Virtues, and Honours of their Degrees shall deserve them according to ancient custom, and to make Letters Patent thereon.

208. The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

thereon. He in all places, where the King shall walk solemnly (in procession) shall go next before the Sword, no one interposing, unless perhaps the Constable and Marshal, who themselves shall carry the Rods belonging to these their Offices: By him also, or by one appointed by him, shall be administered the Oath to all the Officers of Arms, Subjects of the Sovereign, receiving for it as hath been usual.

He shall likewise have an Habit like that of the Register, and Barons Service in the Court, for whom a Table shall be spread after the Dean of the Chapel and his Mefs brought in, and other Provisions of his Diet, as the custom hath been, and shall receive Lodgings within the Castle of Windsor: And when the Festival of St. GEORGE is solemnized, and the Sovereign be present, he shall bear his white Rod, of which the both ends shall be gilt with Gold, and a small Banner of the Ensigns of the Order above.

The same Garter King of Arms shall diligently and sedulously enquire for the valiant and successful Actions, the noble Exploits, as well of the Sovereign, as of the Companions of this Order, which he shall faithfully and truly report to the Register, so as these may be conveniently reduced by him into Writing for perpetual Remembrance.

This Garter shall also carry, or take care to be carried all Letters which shall relate to the Brethren, or Companions of this Order; and shall signify to the Sovereign, or Register, the death of any Knight of this Order, that Letters of Suffrages be made and sent as ought to be; and shall carry, or cause to be carried (notice of) the Elections of those who shall be named, and report their answers. Lastly, he shall do, or procure to be done, what the Sovereign, or the Prelate, or Chancellor (who are the principal Officers) shall enjoin relating to the Order." Anstis.

At his admission he takes the Oath of his Office, administered by the Register, kneeling at the Sovereign's Feet, the substance of which is,

1. To yield obedience to the Sovereign and Knights-Companions.
2. To keep silence, and not disclose the Secrets of the Order.

3. To

3. To make signification of the death of each Knight-Companion.
4. To execute all things faithfully, committed to his care.
5. To enquire diligently after all the noble Acts of the Knights-Companions, and certify them to the Register.
6. To be faithful in the exercise of his Office.

As to the Habit of this Officer, it does not appear, he had any assign'd him at first, but was distinguish'd from the rest of the Officers of the Order, by his Coat only, embroidered with the Sovereign's Arms. But after the Constitutions of the Officers were established, there was appointed him a Habit, in all things like to the Register's (saying that the Ground whereon the Lions and Flowers de Lis were embroidered, was wholly Red) and this to be worn only at the publick Solemnities of the Order. Queen Mary caus'd it to be made of Crimfon Sattin; but soon after the Restoration, viz. Anno 13, Car. II. it was alter'd to Scarlet, and he received from the King's Wardrobe the same Livery as the Register as is before observed.

This Officer is appointed to bear a white Rod, or Scepter at every Feast of St. GEORGE (the Sovereign being present) gilded at both ends, and at the top a Scutcheon of the Arms of the Order, impaled with the Sovereign's Arms.

Queen Elizabeth assign'd this Officer a Badge of Gold, to be worn daily by him and his Successors, before the Breast, in a Gold Chain or Ribband, and thereon enamel'd the Sovereign's Arms, crowned with an imperial Crown, and surrounded with the princely Garter: But Sir Edward Walker, when made Garter, obtained licence of the Sovereign, King Charles II. to impale therein St. GEORGE's Arms with those of the Sovereign of the Order.

In the Castle of Windsor was appointed a Habitation for this Officer, called Garter's Tower, but long since gone to decay and not habitable; his Pension was by King Charles II. fixed at one hundred Pounds per Ann. to be paid by the Chancellor, out of the Revenue assigned to the use of the Order. Farther, he is allowed Barons Service in the Sovereign's reign's Court, and his Table served next after the Dean of the Chapel, with the like Liveries as were afore accustomed.

The Duty of this Officer is very large and extensive, and as it varies occasionally according to the business of the Order, or pleasure of the Sovereign, it will best be learnt from the occurrences that fall out relating to this most Noble Order.

V. The last Officer of the Order is the Usher, or Black Rod, instituted by the royal Founder, and in a Grant, Ann. 50. of the said Prince, he is stiled Hostiarius Capellæ Regis infra Castrum de Windesore, with a Fee of Twelve-pence a day out of the Exchequer; he is also stiled Virgæ Bajulus, Virgarius, or Nigri Virgifer; and by the Constitutions of the Order, Ann. 14. Henry VIII. Hostiarius, wherein it is ordained, "he shall be a Gentleman, famous in Arms and Blood, and born within the Dominions of the Sovereign, who for the dignity and honour of the Order, shall be chief of all the Ushers of this Kingdom: He shall have the care and custody, and preheminance of keeping of the King's secret Chambers, of the House where the Chapter is held, and of all the Doors where Council shall be held, as well in the High Court called the Parliament, as in any other places, whose yearly Stipend shall be thirty Pounds. If by the command of the Sovereign and the Companions, he shall touch with his Black Rod any Knight of this Order, who shall be convicted of any Crime, for which he is to be degraded from this Order, he shall receive five Pounds for it. If by the command of the King and Chapter he shall admonish any (Companion) of a less offence, he shall challenge from him for that reason twenty Shillings, and whenever the (Knight) elect shall be introduced into his Stall, he shall receive ten Shillings: He shall have a select Lodging within the Castle of Windsor: He shall have the Custody of the said Castle, and the two Parks adjoining: He shall also have an Habit like that of the Register and Garter King of Arms, the Messes of Barons and his other Diet belonging in the Court; who if he be not a Knight upon his admission, ought then to be made so; but wherever the Sovereign shall be every year on the Feast of St. GEORGE, or the following Festival, he himself, or another to be by him sufficiently assigned, shall carry the Black Rod before the Sovereign, and upon (the end of) the Rod shall stand the the Lion, the Ensign of the English. The Rod is indeed carried in lieu of a Mace, whereof he hath the authority, (the same) serving for (to arrest) those who do offend, and sin against the Ordinances and Statutes." Ans.

His Oath is truly and faithfully to observe and keep all the Points of the Statutes of the Order, and every Article in them contained, as to his Office doth belong and appertain. He has the like Habit with the Register and Garter before-mentioned, and by a Decree in Chapter, April 24, Ann. 8. Eliz. has assigned him a Gold Badge, to be openly worn in a Gold Chain, or Ribband, before his Breast, composed of one of the Knots of the Collar of the Garter, which tie the Roses together, and this encompassed with the ennobled Garter.

Ann. 6. Car. I. In a Chapter it was decreed, and the same was afterwards confirmed, Ann. 13. Car. II. That the Office of Black Rod should from thenceforth successively be annexed to some one of the Gentlemen Ushers daily Waiters, whom the Sovereign should appoint; and besides the annual Pension from the Exchequer of thirty Pounds, he had anciently a Fee of one Shilling per Diem.

By the Constitutions of the Order; the Register, Garter King of Arms, and the Usher named from the Black Rod, they remaining in their Offices, together with their Goods and Servants, shall securely remain under the perpetual protection and defence of the Sovereign; so that if any injury or violence be offered to them, either by Subjects to the Sovereign, or by Foreigners, so often as they shall submit their Causes to the pleasure of the Sovereign, he with the Companions shall do them justice, or shall procure it to be done them according to equity and reason. But if the adverse Party shall refuse to submit the Cause to the Sovereign, he with the Companions shall have that regard to those Officers, that he shall with due favour defend their Cause so far as it is just and equitable.

Within the Quire of the said Chapel, while the solemn (Services) are performed, before the King's Stall shall be placed two Seats, one before the other, in one whereof shall sit the Prelate and Chancellor of the Order; the Register, King of Arms, and the Usher on the other. Anstis,

The present Usher, is the Hon. Sir Henry Bellandine, Knt.

Farther, let it be noted that all the Officers of the Order are strictly obliged personally to attend the Duties of their several Places; yet in case of Sickness, absence out of the Kingdom, or other lawful or emergent Cause, the Sovereign hath pleased to dispense with their Attendance, and appointed others to officiate in their stead; who on such occasions wear the Robe of that Officer for whom they serve; so also in case of Vacancy.

It may be proper to observe in this Chapter, that the Great Seal of the Order, represents on the upper side, the Patron St. GEORGE on Horseback armed, with a Shield bearing the Red Cross, and encountering the Dragon; the whole most nobly designed; round the Rim is this Reading, MAGNUM SIGILLUM NOBILISS. ORDINIS GARTERII; on the lower side is the Cross of St. GEORGE impaled with the Arms of the Sovereign within the Garter, and the Motto HONI SOIT QUI MAL Y PENSE. The Signet, or Small Seal, is the same Cross of St. GEORGE and Sovereign's Arms within the Garter only; and the use and destination of each of these Seals of the Order is fully described in the account of the Office of Chancellor abovementioned; and so peculiar regard has at all times been had to this Patron, that the Red Cross of St. GEORGE has been at all times displayed in the British Standard, both at Land and at Sea.

CHAPTER

CHAPTER XV.

Of the ELECTION and INVESTITURE of a KNIGHT-COMPANION.

BY the Statutes of Institution, it is ordained, That whensoever any of the Knights-Companions happened to depart this Life, the Sovereign (or his Deputy) after certain notice had thereof, should forthwith by his Letters summon all the Knights-Companions then within the Realm, who were able to come to meet him within six weeks after such notice, in what convenient place soever he was pleased to assign, for the electing a new Companion into the Society. Thus did the Law of this most Noble Order, in case of Death, and to avoid long vacancies, at first provide; wherewith the practice of elder times did punctually concur. This was farther explained in a Chapter held the 21st of King James, at Windsor; where in the first place it was thus decreed, that the Sovereign being advertised of the Death of a Knight-Companion of the Order, the Knights-Companions remaining at the Court should move him to declare his pleasure, whether he would that Letters should be sent to all the Knights-Companions within the Realm, to attend his Person for the choice of a new Knight, at a Day by the said Sovereign appointed, according to the ancient Statutes of the Order; or be pleased to defer the Election until the Day and Feast of St. GEORGE, at what time Elections have been most usually made; wherein the Sovereign's pleasure and direction was to be followed and observed; and according as he resolved, in what place it should be, so it ought to be made known unto them: But of later times, this formal way of Summons by Letter to Knights-Companions attending at the Court, hath been left off (yet continued to such as are remote) and notice given them by a verbal Message only; for the Chancellor of the Order having known the Sovereign's pleasure, as to the day and place, usually acquaints Garter therewith, who thereupon goes immediately to the Knights-Companions then then at Court, and desires their attendance at the Chapter, according to the Sovereign's appointment. But no Knight-Elect ought to be summoned to a Chapter of Election, or is capable of giving his Vote therein, until they be compleatly installed, either in Person or by Proxy; nor indeed did any necessity fall out, from the Foundation of the Order, that did require they should, until Ann. 1644. when the Castle of Windsor being garrisoned by the Parliament's Forces, it was not impossible for his Royal Highness the Duke of York. and his Highness Prince Rupert, to take possession of their Stalls, in such manner as the Law of the Order enjoined; which therefore was dispensed with by the Sovereign King Charles I. Those Princes being invested with all the Privileges of the Order, among which, the power of giving their Votes in Chapter was one; provided, these Princes should first take the Oath given at Installations, and afterwards perform the accustomed Ceremonies at Windsor, when it shall be thought fit and possible for them to perform the same; all which was done and performed by the said Princes, upon the Restoration.

214 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

To constitute a compleat Chapter of Election, the Statutes require, there should be six Knights-Companions at the least, besides the Sovereign, or his Deputy; the due observation of which has been so strictly stood upon heretofore, that Elections were ordinarily deferred, where the Chapters consisted not of so many: And tho' Dispensations in this matter have been made use of by the Sovereign in later times, yet it ought to be considered, that the Licence herein, is generally no other than an advantage to be laid hold of in cases of necessity only, and withal to shew, that the power and prerogative of Dispensation is reserved to the Sovereign of this most Noble Order, in all cases of exigency; albeit not to be made use of where there is a possibility of performing the Rules and Injunctions of the Statutes.

When the Chapter opens, neither the Sovereign of the Order, nor any of the Knights-Companions are to enter, without wearing both their Mantles and Garters; for so the Statutes of the Order ordain, and so hath the Law been understood, in case where a Chapter has been held elsewhere than at Windsor; as for instance, at a Chapter held at Whitehall, for the Election of John Count Palatine of the Rhine, Ann. 20. Eliz.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 215

Eliz. the Earl of Huntingdon, and the Lord Grey of Wilton, not having their Mantles then at Court, were not permitted to enter into that Chapter, to give their Votes for the Election.

At the opening of a Chapter for Election, the Sovereign himself, or the Chancellor of the Order by his command, declares the business of the present Meeting, and the number of Stalls void and now intended to be filled; and by the Statutes of Institution, every Knight-Companion present in Chapter, and none other, is to nominate for himself nine sufficient Persons whom he shall judge free from all reproach and scandal, whether Subjects to the Sovereign, or Foreigners, provided they are known not to favour or abet any Party at enmity with him, viz. Three Earls, or Others of higher degree, three Barons and three Knights; tho' in all cases concerning Strangers, the Sovereign doth but permit, and may direct and confine the Knights-Companions to the nomination of such as He intends to Elect, which Prerogative was more particularly asserted in the 31st of Queen Eliz. and 3d of King Charles I. And in the 19th of the said King's reign, 'twas moved in Chapter, that it might become a custom for the Sovereign to declare beforehand, whether He would elect any foreign Prince, and whom; that so the Knights-Companions might be sure to name him in the Scrutiny.

It is the proper Business of the Prelate, or in his absence of the Chancellor of the Order, to collect the Knights-Companions Votes, and to present the same to the Sovereign, with all reverence, in whom the sole Right of Election is vested; and tho' great regard is had to the majority of Votes in the Scrutiny, yet the Sovereign by his absolute Authority, has right to elect whom he conceives most like to contribute to the Honour of this Order, and prove most serviceable to himself, or most useful to his Crown and Kingdom; and whomsoever the Sovereign appoints and chooses is forthwith admitted into this illustrious Society, and the consent of the Knights-Companions entered down among the Annals of the Order, and sometimes mentioned in the Commission of Legation to foreign Princes elected into this illustrious Order of Knights, which is to be understood as an honorary Respect given them, and to signify rather an approbation or applauding the Sovereign's chioice than a necessary circumstance contributing to the Election, as if defective without it. Asbmole.

216 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

If the Knight Elect be in the Court ready to enter the Chapter, Garter is appointed to give him notice of his Election, and two Knights-Companions conduct him between them, preceded by that Officer, into the presence of the Sovereign, in order to receive the Investiture of the Garter and the George, the first and principal Ensigns of this most Noble Order; and upon the entrance of the Knight Elect into the Chapter, and after due obeisance and acknowledgment made by him to the Sovereign for so great honour, and the mutual salutations of the Knights-Companions passed, one of the Knights Companions, by the Sovereign's appointment, assisted by Garter, buckles the ennobled Garter on the left Leg of the Knight Elect, kneeling on his right Knee; at the same time the Words of admonition or signification following are read by the Chancellor.

To the honour of God omnipotent, and in memorial of the blessed Martyr St. GEORGE, tie about thy Leg for thy renown this Noble Garter; wear it as the Symbol of the most illustrious Order, never to be forgotten or laid aside: That thereby thou mayest be admonished to be courageous, and having undertaken a just War, into which only thou shalt be engaged, thou mayest stand firm, valiantly fight, and successfully conquer.

This Princely Garter being buckled on, the Elect Knight is brought before the Sovereign, who puts about his Neck the George pendant at a skie coloured Ribband; during which is read this admonition.

Wear this Ribband about thy Neck, adorned with the Image of the blessed Martyr and Soldier of Christ St. GEORGE; by whose imitation provoked, thou mayest so overpass both prosperous and adverse encounters, that having stoutly vanquished thy Enemies, both of Body and Soul, thou mayest not only receive the praise of this transient combat, but be crowned with the Palm of eternal Victory.

The Solemnity of Investiture being ended, the Elect Knight with all humility renders Thanks to the Sovereign for these Ensigns of Honour; and after, with due respects, salutes the Knights-Companions present in Chapter, who also return the compliment, and joyfully receive him him into their Fellowship and Society, and as is observed above, p. 191. he is from this time accounted a Knight-Companion of this most illustrious Society, altho' not intitled to the full rights and honours of the Order, till his Installation at Windsor is compleated.

By the Statutes of Institution, great care is taken to guard against the Election of a Companion that is not free from Infamy or Reproach; so also is it provided that he be girded with the unstained Girdle of Knight-hood, which is so necessary a qualification, that no Person however great his Degree, if he be not a Knight, can be a Companion of this Noble Order: A remarkable instance of this is noted in the Black Book of the Order, p. 247. Ann. 17. Henry VIII. at the Election and Investiture of the Earl of Arundel, and Lord Roos, when "the Sovereign afterwards understanding that Lord Roos was not a Knight, he immediately called the Companions back to Chapter, declaring the Election of Lord Roos to be void, and ordered the Badges of the most Noble Order to be received from him; and then immediately with his drawn Sword dubbed him a Knight, and proceeded to a new Election, in which the aforesaid Lord Roos was presently again unanimously elected a Companion of the Order, and declared so by the King's Mouth, and by his Command all the Badges of the Order were restored to him by the Dukes of Norfolk and Suffolk." It is always however understood by the Sovereign and Companions, that this qualification does not relate to foreign Princes, resident in their own Countries, but only to the immediate Subjects of the Sovereign and his Crown." Placuit Supremo, ut solos Majestati suæ Subditos Lex ea comprehenderet, non autem Principes Exteros superiori Gradu ornatos. Lib. Rub. p. 117.

So great respect has also been paid to foreign Princes, who have received the Ensigns of this Noble Order in Person, that the Sovereign most usually has invested them himself; for we read, that Philip King of Castille, Ann. 21. Henry VII. received a personal Investiture in the Chapter-house at Windsor, from the Sovereign's own Hands, who receiving the Garter from the Herald, put it about the King's left Leg, and the Prince of Wales affixed or buckled it: Supremus acceptum a Caduceatore subligar, sinistra ejus tibiæ induxit et Princeps affixit. Lib. Nig. p. 184. Queen Elizabeth also buckled the Garter about the Leg of John Farther, as to the Investiture, if the Knight Elect be remote from the King's Court, or beyond Sea, Garter is sent with Letters of Notification of his Election, and frequently carries with him the Ensigns of the Order, to invest the Elect Knight by the Sovereign's Command therewith: Garter also is joined in commission and accompanies the Ambassadors sent to present the Order to foreign Princes elected Companions; and the whole Ceremonial relating to the Investiture of Elect Knights, either Subjects or Foreigners, is most commonly committed to this Officer.

The Letter of Notification to an Elect Knight is drawn up by the Chancellor, signed with the Sovereign's Sign Manual, and the Signet of the Order, and is most commonly in the following Words, and only varied according to the quality, and particular merit of the Knight Elect, and as the place requires.

'We, with the Companions of the most Noble Order of the Garter,
' assembled in Chapter holden this present day at our Castle at ' Windsor, considering the virtuous fidelity you have shown, and
' the honourable exploits you have done in our service, by vindicating and maintaining our just Right, &c. have elected and ' chosen you one of the Companions of our Order. Therefore we ' require you to make your speedy repair unto us, to receive the ' Ensigns thereof, and be ready for your Installation upon the ' day of this present &c.'

CHAPTER XVI.

Of the INSTALLATION of a KNIGHT of the GARTER.

BY the Statutes of the royal Founder, every Knight Elect is within a year after his Election to be ready to proceed to his Installation, in St. GEORGE's Chapel at Windsor; and it is therein declared, that in case a Knight Elect die before his Installation, he shall not be named one of the Founders, forasmuch, as he hath not had the full possession of his State. The same is confirmed by the Statutes of King Henry VIII. and it is also declared, that if he exceed the time allowed, his Election is to be absolutely null and void, unless he send or produce an excuse for such delay, sufficient and accepted by the Sovereign, and the whole Society of Knights; or that the Knight Elect be a Foreigner, or the Sovereign himself thinks fit to put off the Ceremony of Installation for a longer time.

At the time appointed by the Sovereign, and the several Commissions and Warrants necessary for the Installation, being obtained under the King's Sign Manual, and the Seal of the Order, the Knights and Officers of the Order repair to Windsor, to the Chapel of St GEORGE, within whose Choir are erected the Sovereign's and Knights-Companions Stalls, and under its sacred Roof their Banners and Atchievements are set up, as Monuments of their high deservings and great honour; and it is the peculiar privilege of this royal Chapel, that the Feast of Installation is expressly appointed to be solemnized and held therein.

In former times the Knights Elect frequently went in a solemn and stately Cavalcade to Windsor, attended by their Friends, with exceeding great pomp and splendor, and the last of this kind was that of Algeron, Earl of Northumberland, Ann. 11. Car. I. Also the Procession of the Knights from their Lodgings in the Castle, to the Chapel of St.

220 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

GEORGE has sometimes been on Horseback, but most frequently on Foot as is the present custom, in solemn and stately Procession.

The Installation or Inauguration of a Knight of this most Noble Order, consists in a conjunction of many Ceremonies, the sole ordering of which, by a Decree in Chapter, Apr. 24, Ann. 1663. was declared by the Sovereign and Companions, to belong only unto Garter, and accordingly it was ordered that he only should have the care thereof for the future to direct and order the same.

Mr. Anstis, the late Garter King of Arms, in the year 1720, published the Form of an Installation of a Knight of the Garter, which with the account of the Installation of his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, together with the Earl of Chesterfield, and the Earl of Burlington, June 18, Ann. 3. of his present Majesty, in the presence of the Sovereign, will give the Reader a perfect Idea of this last most solemn Act of Installation, without which the Elect Knight is not intitled to the full Honours of the Order. According to Mr. Anstis, in the above Formulary

THE Commissioners appointed to Install the Knights Elect being robed in the compleat Habit of the Order, meet in the great Chamber in the Dean of Windsor's Lodgings, where the Officers of the Order attend in their Habits, and the Knights Elect come thither in their Under-habits, with their Caps and Feathers in their Hands.

When there is a Proctor, he comes in his ordinary Habit.

Such Knights as are not named in the Commission, are first to be conducted in their full Habits to the Chapel, preceded by the Poor Knights and Prebends in their Habits, and the Officers of Arms in their Coats, who enter the Choir with the usual Reverences; and when such Knights have taken their respective Stalls, the Poor Knights and Prebends return and attend in the Cloister, and the Officers of Arms in the Dean's Hall.

Then the Procession begins in the following order.

Poor Knights two and two:

Prebends two and two:

Officers of Arms two and two:

The Elect Knights two and two; having their Caps and Feathers in their Hands, the Junior going first; and if the number be odd, the Junior passeth alone.

The

The Officers of the Order in their Crimson-satin Mantles, the Register having on his Right-hand Garter King of Arms, carrying the Sovereign's Commission and the Black Rod on the Left.

The Knights Commissioners two and two, covered with their black Caps and Feathers, the Juniors first;

And thus proceeding into the North Isle of the Chapel, the Poor Knights make a stand at a distance beyond the Chapter-house Door;

The Prebends do the same nearer to the Chapter-house Door.

The Officers of Arms next to the Chapter-house Door.

The Knight Elect retires to a Chair placed for that purpose behind the Altar.

The Proctors (by a late decree) are not to go in the Procession, but retire privately to their Chairs at the back of the Altar.

The three Officers of the Order enter into the Chapter-house, after them the Commissioners, who seat themselves at the sides of the Table, according to their seniority and form of the Stalls in the Chapel.

Garter, with reverence, presents the Commission to the senior Commissioner, who gives it to the Register to read, which being done, he presents the same to the Lords Commissioners, who re-deliver the same to the Register to be entered.

Then Garter is sent to conduct the senior Knight, by Election, from his Chair to the Chapter-house Door, where he is received by the Commissioners; Garter then proceeding before them to that part of the Table, where the Ensigns of the Knight Elect are placed.

Garter is then sent to bring in all the other Knights Elect, or Proxies, according to their seniorities, who are all singly introduced and received in the same manner.

Garter then presents the Lords Commissioners the Surecoat of the senior Knight Elect, who invest him therewith, the Register reading the Admonition.

Take this Robe of Crimson, to the increase of your Honour, and in token or sign of the most Noble Order you have received, wherewith you being defended, may be bold, not only strong to fight, but also to offer yourself to shed your Blood, for Christ's Faith, the Liberties of the Church, and the just and necessary defence of them that are oppressed and needy.

Then

222 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Then Garter presents the Crimson Velvet Girdle to the Lords Commissioners, who buckle it on over the Surcoat.

Then the Hanger and Sword which they also gird on.

The same is repeated to all the Knights Elect in their Order, but the Proxies are not invested.

The Knights Elect continue in the Chapter-house while the Procession is made to the Choir, and the Hatchments of the deceased Knights offered.

Proceedings to the Choir.

The Poor Knights enter first, make their Reverences altogether in the middle of the Choir, first to the Altar, then to the Sovereign's Stall, and proceed up as near as they can to the Rails of the Altar, placing themselves below each other, on each side.

The Prebends follow making the like Reverences, and stand all below the Poor Knights, excepting two, who go to the Altar.

The Officers of Arms next enter, with the same Reverences, and stand below the Prebends on both sides.

The Officers of the Order come next, in the same manner, and stand before their own Seat or Form.

The Commissioners enter together, if they are Companions, make their Reverences, and stand under their Banners, before their respective Stalls; but if not Companions, the junior enters first, and the other follows.

Offering Achievements.

Garter goes into the middle of the Choir, where he makes his Reverences, and then repairs to the place where he before had ordered the Hatchments to be laid on a Stool, and takes up the Banner, which he holds almost roll'd up.

The Provincial Kings then meet, make their Reverences, and pass down into the middle of the Choir, repairing to the Lords Commissioners, who thereon join, and receiving the Banner from Garter, make their Reverences towards the Altar, and then to the Sovereign's Stall; and being preceded by the two Kings of Arms, carry the same, the point forward a little declining, to the first Step of the Altar, where they make the like Reverences, and from thence go to the Rails, where they make their Reverences only to the Altar, then (kneeling) deliver it to the two Prebends, who place it upright at the South end of the Altar;

Altar; and then the Lords Commissioners, having made the same Reverences as they did in their coming up, return to their former place under their Banners, being waited on by the said Kings of Arms, who return to their former station.

Then the two eldest Heralds in like manner meet, make their Reverences, repairing to the Lords Commissioners, to whom Garter delivers the Sword, the Pomel or Hilt upwards, which is in like manner carried up and offered, and the Commissioners then return as before.

The two next Heralds then meet in the like manner, and repair to the Lords Commissioners, to whom Garter delivers the Helm and Crest, which are offered in the same manner.

The Hatchments of each deceased Knight are to be offered one after the other in this form.

The Knights then standing under their respective Banners.

Return to the Chapter-house.

The Poor Knights forthwith join, make their Reverences, and go out of the Choir two and two.

The Prebends the same.

Then the Officers of Arms in like manner.

The Officers of the Order the like.

The Commissioners, if Companions, together with the like Reverences, but if not Companions, the junior first goes out, and stays outside the Choir Door, 'till the other Commissioner hath done the like; and then the procession is through the Isle towards the Chapter-house, where the Poor Knights make a stand, and divide themselves on both sides, at a distance from the Door.

The Prebends divide in like manner next them.

The Officers of Arms in like manner nearest the Door.

The Officers of the Order enter the Chapter-house, before the Lords Commissioners.

Return, and Installation.

Then the Poor Knights, Prebends, and Officers of Arms, having rang'd themselves, the Procession is again made into the Choir.

The Poor Knights pass on into the Chapel, make their Reverences, and place themselves on both sides, as before, near the Altar.

The Prebends then enter with the same Reverences, and go to their respective Seats.

The

224 The History and Antiquities of WINDSOR.

The Officers of Arms stand next below the Poor Knights.

The Officers of the Order follow, Garter in the middle, carrying on a Cushion the Mantle, Hood, Great Collar, George, and Book of Statutes, having the Register on his Right-hand carrying the New Testament, and the Oath, fairly wrote on Parchment, and the Black Rod on his Left: They enter with the like Reverences, and proceed towards the Seat before, or below the Stall of the Elect Knight, where Garter places the Cushion with the Ensigns on the Desk; and the Officers of the Order stand below in the Choir.

The Commissioners having between them the Knight Elect, carrying his Cap in his Hand, enter making the like Reverences together, and then these go into the Seat below, or under the Knight's Stall, the senior Commissioner entering first.

If three Commissioners, the two seniors conduct the Knight, and the junior goes before them.

Then one of the Officers of the Order holding the New Testament open, the Knight-Elect lays his Right-hand thereon, and the Register having read the Oath to him, he kisses the Book.

About this time, two Prebends are to be conducted to the Altar by the Verger, to officiate.

The Commissioners and Knight Elect come out of that under Seat, and the senior Knight enters the appointed Stall of the Knight Elect, who follows him, and then the other Commissioner enters also.

Then the Register and Garter enter into the under Seat, the Black Rod continuing in his former place, where Garter presents to the Commissioners the Mantle, who invest the Knight therewith; the Register, during that time, reading the Admonition.

Receive this Robe, &c.

Garter then presents the Hood to the Commissioners, who put it over the Knight's right Shoulder, bringing the Tippet athwart his Breast, and tucking them under the Belt.

Then Garter presents to them the Great Collar and George, which they fasten over the Mantle and Hood upon the Knight's Shoulders, whilst the Register reads the Admonition.

Wear this Collar about thy Neck, adorned with the Image of the blessed Martyr and Soldier of Christ St. GEORGE; by whose imitation provoked, thou mayest so overpass both prosperous and adverse encounters,
that

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 225

that having stoutly vanquished thy Enemies, both of Body and Soul, thou mayest not only receive the praise of this transient combat, but be crowned with the Palm of eternal Victory.

Garter then presents the Statute-Book, which the Commissioners deliver to the Knight, and the Commissioners then place the Cap and Feathers on his Head, and seat him in his Stall; whereon the Officers of the Order retire with the usual Reverences and stand before their Seats.

The Knight being thus installed, rises up, makes his Reverences, first towards the Altar, then to the Sovereign's Stall; and then the Commissioners, embracing him, congratulate him, and descend.

The Commissioners being come down into the middle of the Choir, make their Reverences: And if no more are to be installed, the junior Knight stands in the Choir before his Stall, 'till the senior ascends his Stall, when the other also takes his Stall, and both make their Reverences as soon as they are in them.

The Officers of the Order then make their Reverences, and sit in their Seats.

The Officers of Arms in a Body, do the like, and come down towards the Sovereign's Stall, placing themselves on both sides.

Lastly, The Poor Knights do the same, and retire towards their Seats.

If any other Knight is to be installed, the Commissioners descend in the former manner, and stand under their Banners; and then the Poor Knights join, make their Reverences, and go out two and two, [the Prebends continuing in their Seats] Then the Officers of Arms do the same; then the Officers of the Order in like manner; then the Commissioners (if Companions together) otherwise the junior first, and go to the Chapter-house as before, and from thence introduce the other Knight elect, and install him in the former manner.

But in case the same be done by Proxy, he enters bear-headed between the Commissioners, and is conducted as above, to the Seat under the Stall of his Principal, where the Register gives him the Oath; and then he is in the former method led into the Stall, where the Commissioners put the Mantle over his left Shoulder, or Arm, in such manner as the Cross, embroidered within the Garter, may be seen; and then the Commissioners seat him in the Stall, who forthwith rises up, makes his reverences to the Altar, and to the Sovereign's Stall; and then the Commissioners embrace him, and congratulate him in the Name of his Principal; and then the Officers of the Order, and the Commissioners retire as is abovesaid, and the Proxy afterwards stands up, or leans on the Cushion, holding the Mantle in the form abovementioned.

then

Offering.

When these words in the Prayers are pronounced, Let your Light so shine, &c.

The Poor Knights forthwith come from their Seats, join, make their Reverences, and pass up near to the Altar where they place themselves as before.

So the Officers of Arms, the Pursuivants first.

Garter then rises from his Seat, repairs to the middle of the Choir, there makes his Reverences, and coming before the Stalls of the junior Knights, summons them, if they are Pairs, or Companions, to descend together, who having made their Reverences in their Stalls, come down into the Choir, where meeting, they again make their Reverences together, and go under their Banners, and then all the other Knights and Proxies are summoned, who descend in like manner; but if any Knight or Proctor wants his Companion, he descends single.

The Knights and Proxies all thus standing under their Banners, Garter making his Reverences, repairs to his Seat; and the Provincial Kings of Arms meet and make their Reverences, and repair to the Senior Knight, or Knights, if Pairs, who go from under their Banners, make their Reverences, and being preceded by these Kings of Arms, pass up to the first Step of the Altar, where they again make their usual Reverences; and coming to the Rails, make only Reverence towards the Altar, and, kneeling down, offer Gold and Silver into the Basen held by two of the Prebends.

Then they make again their Reverences to the Altar only, and at their return on the lowest Step, to the Altar and to the Sovereign's Stall; and thence are conducted into the Stalls of the junior Knights on their respective Sides, where, being ascended, they again make their Reverences, and then pass on thro' the Stalls to their own, where they do the same, and then set down.

The two eldest Heralds then go down in the like manner, and conduct the next Knight or Knights who offer, and return to their Stalls

in

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 227

in like manner; and the same is repeated 'till all the Knights have offered: This Rule being constantly to be observed, That if any Knight hath not his Companion, he offers singly by himself.

After the Offering, the Officers of Arms make their Reverences in a Body, and stand in their former Places near the Sovereign's Stall.

The Poor Knights retire to their Seats.

Prayers ended.

The Prebends at the Altar continue on the Prayers, which being ended, they are conducted by the Verger to their Seats, having made their Reverences.

The Officers of the Order then move from their Seat, make their Reverences standing before it.

Garter leaves them, and going into the middle of the Choir, makes his Obeisances, goes up to the Stalls of the junior Knights, if Companions, summoning them to descend; who, having made their Reverences, come down, and meeting below, make their Reverences together, and then retire under their Banners.

The same is repeated to, and by all the Knights and Proxies: But so as Companions descend together, tho' otherwise single.

Procession to the Castle.

All the Knights and Proxies being thus under their Banners, the Poor Knights join, go down, and make their Reverences in the middle of the Choir, and go out of the same.

Then the Prebends do the like.

Then the Officers of Arms the same.

Then the Officers of the Order the like.

Then the junior Knights go first in like manner, and the rest of the Knights in their Order, either single, or with their Companions.

It is to be observed, that the Proxy goes in the place of the Principal, carrying the Mantle in the manner abovementioned, but at the Door of the Chapter, the Sexton receives the Mantle from him, and he goes no farther in the Procession.

These Processions have been to different places, and in different ways and forms, according to the Weather, and the place where the Dinner is to be.

228 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

It hath of late been through the middle Isle down to the West Gate of the Chapel, and so up through the South Isle, and out of the South Door, and then on to the upper Castle, between the Castle-Wall and the Keep, and so into the Lodgings, the Drums and Trumpets going before; in which the Officers of the Order, after they come out of the Church, are to be covered, as at other times, when neither the Sovereign, or his Lieutenant, representing his Person, are present; in which cases they proceed in another place.

The Drums and Trumpets stay at the foot of the Stairs going up to the Guard-chamber, but the Poor Knights go into that Chamber, and there stand off on both Sides for the Procession to pass between them; the Prebends do the like: The Officers of Arms go into the Prefence-chamber, and there place themselves in the like manner, the Pursuivants next the Door: In which place the Officers of the Order are uncovered. Dinner.

If the Knights dine in their Robes or Surcoats, Garter, with the Officers of Arms following him, at the second Course, proceeds from the lower end of the Room, to the place where the then installed Knight sits, who stands up uncovered, when Garter pronounces Largeffe, and then proclaims the Knight's Style, either in French or English, and then all the Officers of Arms cry Largeffe, and making their Obeisances, retire.

The Oath mentioned in this Account to be taken by a Knight-Companion is in this manner;

' You being chosen to be one of the honourable Company of this ' most Noble Order of the Garter, shall promise and swear by the ' Holy Evangelists, by you here touched, that wittingly and wil' lingly you shall not break any Statute of the said Order, or any ' Articles in them contained, the same being agreeable, and not ' repugnant to the Laws of Almighty God, and the Laws of this ' Realm, as far forth as to you belongeth and appertaineth: So
' help you God and his holy Word.'

The Ceremonies observed at the Installation of his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, the Earl of Chesterfield, and the Earl of Burlington, in presence of the Sovereign and Knights-Companions of the most Noble Order of the Garter, at Windsor, on Thursday the 18th of June, 1730.

THERE were present at this Ceremony, the following Knights in the several Stalls belonging to them.

The Duke.	Sovereign.	Prince of Wales .
		Duke of Somerset .
		Duke of Argyll .
Duke of Kent .
Earl of Strafford .		Earl of Peterborough .
Duke of Dorset .		Duke of Montagu .
Duke of Newcastle .
Duke of Grafton .		Duke of Bolton .
Earl of Scarborough .
Duke of Richmond .		Sir Robert Walpole .
Earl of Chesterfield .		Earl of Burlington .

The following Persons attended, and placed themselves in this method.

The Poor Knights stood in the North Isle of the Chapel of St. GEORGE in a body, habited in their Mantles, two and two, according to their Seniorities.

The Prebendaries of that Chapel also in their Mantles stood in the like manner, two and two, next to the Poor Knights, the seniors standing nearest to the Door of the Chapter-house.

Next to the Prebendaries, and nearer to the Chapter-house, all the Officers of Arms stood according to their respective degrees.

The Pursuivants in their Tabarts of the Sovereign's Arms.

The Heralds in their Tabarts, and with their Collars of SS.

The Provincial Kings of Arms in their Tabarts, and Collars and Badges; Lion King of Arms of Scotland, in his Tabart, with his Under-habits of Crimfon Velvet, wearing his Jewel, and Collar; all in their orders, next above the Prebendaries, and nearer to the Chapter-house.

In

230 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

In the Dean's Lodgings attended the five Officers of the Order in their different Habits, and with their respective Badges of the Order. The Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, carrying the Black Rod in his Hand, and with his Badge about his Neck; Garter Principal King of Arms, carrying his Rod or Scepter, with the Arms and Ensigns of the Order enamelled thereon upon Gold, and with his Badge; the Dean of Windsor, Register of the Order; all three habited in their Crimson Sattin Mantles.

Next to them, the Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Sarum, Chancellor of the Order, and the Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Winchester, Prelate of the Order, apparell'd in their Mantles of Purple Velvet, and with their respective Jewels or Badges.

The Earls of Burlington and Chesterfield, the Knights Elect, in their Under-habits appropriated to the Order, having their Caps with Feathers in their Hands.

The Duke in the like Under-habits, with his Cap in his Hand, and having the Badge of the Order of the Bath, at a Red Ribband.

The Sovereign apparell'd in the full Habits, and with the great Collar, was received upon his entry by all the Companions, who made their Reverences to him, and he saluted them. And from thence a Proceßion was made into the Chapter-house, the junior Knights entering first, then the Officers of the Order, preceding the Sovereign.

The two Earls (the Knights elected) retired to Chairs placed for them near the entry of the Chapter-house Door.

The Duke retired to a Chair placed in the same manner, having waiting upon him his Herald Blanc Courfier invested with a Tabart of the Coat of Arms of his Royal Highness, and with his Jewel or Badge.

The Sovereign having seated himself in his Chair in the Chapter-house, his Majesty commanded that John Anskis, junior, should be called in, and that the Oath of the Office of Garter King of Arms should be administred unto him; who having taken it kneeling, his Majesty was pleased to put the Ensign of that Office, hanging at a Gold Chain, about his Neck, and to permit him to kiss his Royal Hand. Garter King of Arms was then commanded by the Sovereign to introduce his Royal Highness the Duke from the Chair, where he had placed placed himself behind the Altar, who at the Door of the Chapter-house was received by the two senior Companions present, the Dukes of Somerset and Argyll, who (with Reverences to the Sovereign) conducted him to the upper end of the Chapter-house, where Garter had before placed the Surcoat, Girdle and Sword.

Garter then presented to these two Knights-Companions the Surcoat of his Royal Highness, who invested him therewith; during which time, the Chancellor read the proper Admonition, Take this Robe, &c.

Then Garter in the same manner presented the Crimson Velvet Girdle to these two Knights-Companions, with the Hanger and Sword, which they buckled and girded his Royal Highness withal.

Garter was then commanded to introduce the Earl of Chesterfield, who was received at the Door by the two junior Knights present, Sir Robert Walpole and the Duke of Richmond, who conducted him with the like Ceremonies, and coming to the place where his Surcoat and other Ensigns had been placed, Garter then delivered to the above-mentioned two junior Knights the Surcoat wherewith he was invested, while the Register read the Admonition, Take this Robe, &c.

And then Garter presented the Crimson Velvet Girdle with the Hanger and Sword, which were buckled and girded about the Knight Elect in the former method.

Then Garter was commanded to introduce the Earl of Burlington, who was received, conducted, and invested with the same Ceremonies as the Earl of Chesterfield.

The Duke, and these two Knights Elect continued in the Chapter-house, while the Procession was made from thence into the Choir of the Chapel in this manner.

The Poor Knights moved from their station in the North Isle, going by pairs down to the Western end of that Isle, and then passing up through the middle Isle, entered into the Choir, and in the middle thereof, they, in a joint Body, made their Reverences first to the Altar, and turning about in a Body, made their Obeisances towards the Sovereign's Stall; and passing up to the Steps near to the Altar, there divided themselves, and stood on each side one below the other, the juniors nearest to the Rails.

The Prebendaries stay'd at the Door of the Choir until the Poor Knights had thus placed themselves, and then entered by pairs, making the

the like double Reverences in a Body together, and entered into their Seats under the Stalls, wherein they all stood (except two that attended at the Altar) until all the Knights Companions had taken their Stalls, and the Officers of the Order were seated upon their Forms.

While the Prebendaries were thus entering into their Seats, the Officers of Arms, according to their degrees, entered into the Choir, made their double Reverences in a Body jointly, and passed up near to the Rails, next to the Poor Knights on each side.

Then the Knights Companions according to the situations of their Stalls, those in the lower Stalls entering first, either by pairs, or single, when the Companion in the opposite Stall was absent, entered into the Choir, and being come a little way beyond the Sovereign's Stall, made double Reverences in the middle of the Choir, and being come up against their respective Stalls, repeated their Obeisances, and retired under their Banners where they stood.

The junior Knight or Knights thus standing under their Banners, the next junior Knight or Knights entered in like manner, made the like Reverences at their entries, jointly when they were Fellows, and opposite to their Banners, and retired under them, where they stood; which same Ceremonies were performed by all the Knights present, the juniors entering first, either by pairs, or single, according to their Stalls.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales entered with the like Reverences, and stood under his Banner.

The Black Rod, Garter, and Register of the Order entered in breast, and made their Reverences, and retired to their places, standing before their Forms.

The Chancellor and Prelate did the same.

The Duke of St. Albans carried the Sword of State, and held it erect before the Sovereign during the greatest part of the Solemnity, his Majesty being pleased to grant him leave sometimes to rest himself; the Vice-Chamberlain went upon the left Hand of this Duke, who carried the Sword; and they both stood on the Steps before or under the Sovereign's Stall, the Sword of State on the right side thereof.

The Sovereign at his entry into the Chapel, made his Reverence to the Altar only, his Train being born by the eldest Sons of the Dukes of Grafton and Dorset, and the Master of the Robes, (who when his Majesty had ascended his Stall, and made his Reverence therein to the Altar)

Altar) placed themselves upon the Steps going up to the Sovereign's Stall.

The Sovereign being thus placed, Garter went into the middle of the Choir, and after his double Reverences, having his Rod or Sceptre in his Hand, turn'd himself to the Prince of Wales, who thereupon came from under his Banner into the middle of the Choir, and there made his Reverence to the Altar, and to the Sovereign in his Stall, and then went up the nearest way to his Stall, where he repeated the same Reverences, and then sat down.

All the other Companions continued standing under their Banners.

The Prelate was conducted by the Serjeant of the Vestry to the Altar, who made the like Reverences, and two Prebendaries went likewise conducted thither in like manner by the Verger.

Garter then went into the middle of the Choir with the usual Obeisances, and repaired to the place under the Stall of the late Duke of York, where he had before laid his Hatchments upon a Stool, and took up the Banner, holding it in his Hand almost rolled up, whilst Lion King of Arms, and the eldest Provincial King of Arms met, and came down from the Haut-pas near the Rails of the Altar, who having made their Reverences in the middle of the Choir jointly, came to the two senior Knights, the Dukes of Somerset and Argyll standing under their Banners and bowing to them; these Knights thereupon came out into the middle of the Choir opposite to their own Stalls, and made their Reverences, then joined and advanced towards the place where their Hatchments were laid, where Garter delivered to these two Knights, making a bow to them, the Banner, which these Knights received and carried with the point thereof forward a little declining, being preceded by these Officers of Arms; and being advanced to the degrees, or first Step towards the Altar, made their Reverences to the Altar and to the Sovereign, and at the Rails, to the Altar only, and then these Knights kneeling, delivered the Banner to the Prelate, who gave it to the Prebendaries assisting, who placed the same upright at the South end of the Altar. These Knights then descended, making the like Reverences, and attended by those Officers of Arms, retired under their Banners, and these Officers of Arms, making their double Obeisances in the middle of the Choir, retired to their former stations.

H h

Then

234 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Then the two next Officers of Arms in seniority descended in like manner, and came to the next two senior Knights the Duke of Kent and the Earl of Strafford, who removed from under their Banners, to whom Garter delivered the Sword of the late Duke of York, the Pomel or Hilt held upwards, which was carried up to the Rails of the Altar with the same Ceremonies; and then these Knights descended as the former did, and retired, standing under their Banners, and these Officers of Arms returned to their former stations.

The two next Officers of Arms in seniority, came to the next two senior Knights present, the Earl of Peterborough and the Duke of Dorset, to whom Garter delivered the Helm and Crest of the said late Duke of York, which were carried in the same manner, and with the same Ceremonies; and these Knights returned under their Banners, and the Officers of Arms to their places.

Garter then went into the middle of the Choir, made his Obeisances, and coming opposite to the place where he had laid the Hatchments of the late Duke of Devonshire, took up the Banner, and then two Officers of Arms waited upon the above-mentioned two senior Knights, who offered it with the former Ceremonies, and retired under their own Banners.

Two other Officers of Arms waited upon the two next senior Knights above-mentioned, who offered the Sword in the former method.

Then two other Officers waited upon the two next Knights in seniority above-named, who carried up the Helm and Crest with the former Ceremonies.

Garter then made his Reverence in the middle of the Choir, and coming opposite to the place where he had laid the Hatchments of the late Earl of Lincoln.

His Banner was likewise offered by the same two senior Knights present.

His Sword by the two next Knights in seniority.

His Helm and Crest by the two Knights next to them in seniority, in the same manner as the other Hatchments were before carried.

The Knights-Companions standing thus under their Banners, during all the time of these Offerings of these Atchievements, Garter then went into the middle of the Choir, and making his Reverences, turned himself himself to the eldest Knight, pointing to him with his Rod, who thereon came from his station under his Banner into the middle of the Choir opposite to his Stall, and there made his Reverences, and then went up by the nearest way to his Stall, where he repeated his Reverences, and sat down.

Garter repeated the same to the next senior Knight, and to all other the Companions present in like manner, according to the situation of their Stalls, which all of them, the seniors first, entered into, through the nearest Passages, with the like Ceremonies; but where the Knights were Companions in opposite Stalls, they removed at the same time from under their Banners; and after making their joint Reverences in the middle of the Choir, at the same time entered into their Stalls.

All the Knights-Companions being thus seated in their Stalls, Garter, after the usual Obeisances, summoned down the two senior Knights present, the Dukes of Somerset and Argyll, appointed by the Sovereign to install his Royal Highness the Duke; who after making Reverences in their Stalls, descended, and in the middle of the Choir made their Obeisances, and retired under their Banners.

The Poor Knights forthwith joined and came down into the middle of the Choir, and there made their Reverences in a Body, and proceeded two and two out of the Chapel, towards the Chapter-house.

The Officers of Arms did the same.

The Usher of the Black Rod, Garter, and Register in the same manner.

The Chancellor of the Order.

Then the said Knights appointed to install the Duke.

These Officers of the Order, and these two Knights entered into the Chapter-house; the Poor Knights and Officers of Arms staying on each side without the Door, in their usual manner of placing themselves.

The Poor Knights then began the Procession into the Chapel.

The Officers of Arms followed them.

Garter King of Arms carrying upon a Velvet Cushion of Crimson colour, the Mantle, Hood, great Collar of the Order, George, and Statute Book, having upon his right Hand the Register of the Order, and upon his left the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod.

The Chancellor of the Order.

H h 2

These

236 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

These two Knights-Companions having his Royal Highness the Duke (invested in his Surcoat, and girt with his Sword, and holding his Cap in his Hand) between them.

The Procession was thus made from the Chapter-house to the West end of the Chapel, and thence up the middle Isle into the Choir.

The Poor Knights entered the Choir in the manner accustomed.

The Officers of Arms in the usual manner, and proceeded up through the Area of the Chapel, where they made a stand on each side, below the Poor Knights.

Then Garter thus carrying the Cushion, with the Ensigns between the Register and the Black Rod after the usual Obeysances, placed the same under the Duke's Stall, while the two Knights-Companions conducted the Duke directly up into his Stall (because the Sovereign had dispensed with the Duke's taking his Oath by reason of his tender years, which otherwise was to be administered to him before his Entry into it) and then Garter King of Arms, with the Chancellor, standing under the Stall, Garter, delivered the Mantle to these Knights, who invested the Duke therewith, the Chancellor at that time reading the usual Admonition, Receive this Robe, &c.

Next Garter presented to these Knights the Hood, who put it over the Duke's Right Shoulder, bringing the Tippet or Pendant overthwart, fastned under the Girdle.

Then Garter presented the great Collar, and George appending thereto, to these Knights, who fastened the same over the Mantle and Hood whilst the Chancellor read the Admonition, Wear this Collar, &c.

Garter then presented the Statute-Book to the Knights, who delivered it to the Duke, and then placed the Cap and Feather upon his Head, and seated him down in his Stall, who rising up, made his double Reverences; when the Knights, who install'd him, after embracing and congratulating him, descended into the middle of the Chapel, and there made their double Reverences, and then ascended into their own Stalls, and repeated the Obeysances therein and sat down, and the Officers of the Order returned to their places before their Forms.

Then Garter going into the middle of the Choir, summoned down the two Knights-Companions in Seniority the Duke of Kent, and the Earl

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 237

Earl of Strafford, who descended with the accustomed Reverences, and stood under their Banners.

The Poor Knights then join'd again, and proceeded out of the Chapel with the former Ceremonies.

The Officers of Arms in like manner.

Then the Usher of the Black Rod, Garter, and Register.

After them, these two Knights so summoned, who all proceeded in the former manner to the door of the Chapter-House, which the Officers of the Order, and these two Knights entered; and these Knights from thence conducted the Earl of Chesterfield, Knight elect, between them (being in the Surcoat of the Order, carrying his Cap in his hand) through the North Ile turning below the Organs into the Choir, which they all enter'd in the usual manner, and Garter King of Arms (having the Register on his right Hand, carrying the New Testament, and the form of the Oath fairly wrote; and on his left, the Gentleman-Usher of the Black Rod) laid down the Cushion, having thereon the Mantle, great Collar, with the George and Book of Statutes, upon the Desk of the lower Seat under the 13th Stall on the Sovereign's side.

The eldest of these two Knights-Companions, who install'd him, enter'd into that lower Seat, then the Earl of Chesterfield, the Knight elect, and after him the other Knight-Companion also enter'd.

The Gentleman-Usher of the Black Rod held the New Testament open, on which the Earl of Chesterfield laid his right Hand while the Register read the Oath, which done, the Knight elect kiss'd the Book.

Then these Knights, and the Knight elect, came out of this under Seat, and the senior Knight enter'd into the 13th Stall, appointed for this Knight elect, who follow'd him into it, and the other Knight entered also.

The Register of the Order, and Garter then enter'd into the under Seat, the Black Rod continuing in the Area, and from thence Garter presented to these Knights the Mantle, who invested the Earl of Chesterfield therewith; during which time the Register read the Admonition, Receive this Robe, &c.

Then Garter presented the Hood in like manner, which these Knights put on the Earl's right Shoulder, fastening the Pendant overthwart under the Girdle.

Garter

238 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Garter then presented the great Collar and George in the same manner to these Knights, who put it over the Mantle and Hood upon the Earl's Shoulders, fastening it whilst the Register read the Admonition, Wear this Collar, &c.

Then Garter presented in like manner the Statute-Book, which was delivered by the Knights to the Earl; who likewise placed on his Head the Cap and Feathers, and seated him down in his Stall, and then the Officers of the Order retired with usual Reverences, and stood before their Forms.

The Earl being thus Install'd, rose up, made his Reverences first towards the Altar, and then to the Sovereign in his Stall, and the Knights-Companions who performed the Ceremony, embraced and congratulated him, and then descended into the middle of the Choir, and having made their Obeisances ascended into their own Stalls, where repeating the same they seated themselves.

Garter then went into the middle of the Choir, and summon'd down the two next senior Knights, the Earl of Peterborough and the Duke of Dorset, appointed to install the Earl of Burlington, Knight elect; and thereon the like Procession was made, and the same Ceremonies were performed as in the case of the Earl of Chesterfield, in every particular.

These Installations being finished, and the Officers of the Order being returned to their Forms, and all the Companions in their Stalls.

The Officers of Arms came down in a Body, and making their joint Reverences, stood in the Area under the higher Stalls, or those of the senior Knights, Blanc Courfier Herald standing under the Stall of his Master the Duke.

The Poor Knights making Reverences in a joint Body, retired to their Seats.

Divine Service then began; and, after the Creed, the offertory Words being pronounced, Let your Light so shine, &c. the Organ then playing.

The Officers of the Wardrobe spread the Carpet over the Steps that lead up to the Rails of the Altar.

The Poor Knights remov'd from their Seats, made their double Reverences in a joint Body, and pass'd up near to the Rails of the Altar, where they divided and placed themselves as before.

The Officers of Arms did the like, and placed themselves as before.

The

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 239

The Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod making his Obeisances, went up to the Rails of the Altar, and standing upon the right side, received from the Yeomen of the Wardrobe a rich Carpet, which, with his assistance he spread upon the other Carpet; and then the Yeomen deliver'd to him two Cushions, of which they took the Assay, and then laid them down for the Sovereign to kneel on.

While this was doing, Garter arose; and, after his wanted Reverences, summoned all the Knights Companions to descend from their Stalls, and to come into the Area under their Banners, beginning with those in the lowest Stalls, summoning them either single or by pairs, when they were Fellows in opposite Stalls, pointing to every one of them with his Rod or scepter, which he held in his right Hand.

Each Knight having made Reverences in his Stall, came down; and, in the middle of the Choir, before his Stall, repeated his Reverences, and retired under his Banner.

His Royal Highness the Duke did the same.

The Prince of Wales, with the like Ceremonies, came down and stood under his Banner.

The Prelate of the Order placed himself in the midst before the Altar, holding a gilt Bason, two Prebendaries assisting him.

All the Companions standing thus under their Banners, the Sovereign having made his Reverences towards the Altar in his Stall, descended from it; and, in the middle of the Choir, made another Reverence, and at the Steps of the Altar; and proceeding up to the Rails of the Altar, there repeated the same.

Which procession of the Sovereign was in this manner.

Garter King of Arms, and the Register of the Order, in Breast.

The Chancellor of the Order.

The Duke of St. Albans carrying the Sword of State, supported by the Vice-Chamberlain going on the left Hand.

The Sovereign; his Train born as before.

The Duke of Somerset appointed to deliver the Offering to the Sovereign, came from under his Banner, making Reverence to the Altar, and to the Sovereign then in the procession, and placed himself somewhat behind the Sovereign upon the right Side.

The Sovereign being come against the 9th Stall, the Duke of Grafton, he being Lord Chamberlain of the Household, in virtue of that Office, removed removed from under his Banner, and waited upon the Sovereign, going somewhat behind on the left Hand of the Knight-Companion, who thus carried the Offering.

The Sovereign being at the Rails of the Altar, the Usher of the Black Rod having taken Assay of the Offering, delivered it kneeling to the Duke of Somerset, who, in like manner, delivered it to the Sovereign, who, taking off his Cap, and kneeling, put it into the Bason held by the Prelate, assisted by two Prebendaries.

The Sovereign rising, made his Reverence at the Rails, at the bottom of the Steps of the Altar, and again in the middle of the Choir, and ascended into his Stall, and making another Reverence therein (all of them towards the Altar only) then sat down.

All the Attendants in this Procession, turned as the Sovereign did, made their Reverences in the same manner, without any Obeisances towards the Sovereign's Stall, his Majesty being in the Procession.

The Lord Chamberlain, in his return, being come opposite to his Stall, made his Obeisances, and retired under his Banner.

The Knight who carried the Offering retired in like manner.

During this time, the Officers of the Wardrobe removed the upper rich Carpet and Cushions whereon the Sovereign kneeled, leaving the first Carpet laid over the Steps to remain, and placed two other Cushions near the Rails of the Altar for the Knights Companions to kneel upon.

In the mean time, the Usher of the Black Rod returned with his accustomed Obeisances, and stood before his Form.

All the Knights-Companions thus standing under their Banners, Lion King of Arms, and the eldest Provincial King of Arms joined, came down from the places where they stood, and making their Reverences in the middle of the Choir, went towards his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and bowing to him, he then removed from under his Banner into the middle of the Choir, made his double Reverences, and was conducted by these Officers to the first Step ascending to the Altar, where the same Reverences were repeated; and at the Rails of the Altar, to the Altar only, where his Royal Highness taking off his Cap and Feather, kneeled down, and put his Offering of Gold and Silver into the Bason held as before; and, rising, made his Reverence to the Altar singly, and repeated his double Obeisances at the lowest Step, and was thence thence conducted by those Officers through the Area of the Chapel, where, after the accustomed Reverences, he ascended into his own Stall, and there repeating his Reverences, sat down therein.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 241

These Officers of Arms returned to their former stations.

Then Blanc Courfier, Herald to his Royal Highness the Duke, and after him the two senior Officers of Arms, next to those who waited upon the Prince of Wales, in like manner went to the Duke, who made his Offering with the same Ceremonies, and returned to his own Stall in like manner.

The next two eldest Officers of Arms in like manner conducted all the other Knights, either by pairs when they were Fellows in opposite Stalls, or single when their Fellows were absent, with the like Solemnities; which Ceremonies were done to all the Knights present respectively, according to the seniority of their Stalls.

The Sovereign and Knights being all thus in their Stalls, and the Officers of the Order placed upon their Forms, Divine Service proceeded; and, being ended, the Prelate was conducted down to his Seat by the Serjeant of the Vestry, and the two Prebendaries by the Verger.

The Poor Knights standing at this time on both sides, near the Rails of the Altar, and the Officers of Arms next to them.

Garter then went into the middle of the Choir, and in the former manner summoned down the Knights from their Stalls, either by pairs or single, who all retired under their Banners, with this only distinction, That he began by summoning the Knights in the lower Stalls, and proceeded on according to the juniority of the Knights in a succession, who all descended with the usual Ceremonies, and stood under their Banners respectively.

The Officers of the Order stood before their Forms.

The Poor Knights came down by pairs, made their Reverences in a joint Body, and began the Procession out of the Chapel, and being passed by the Sovereign's Stall,

The Prebendaries immediately came out of their Seats by pairs, and with the same Ceremonies followed the Poor Knights.

Then after the Prebendaries, all the Officers of Arms in like manner.

The Knights-Companions then removed from under their Banners, either by pairs, or single, the juniors going first out of the Chapel, observing observing this rule, that as soon as the junior Knight was come opposite to the Sovereign's Stall, the next junior or juniors removed in like manner from under their Banners.

His Royal Highness the Duke.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

Then the Black Rod, Garter, and Register of the Order in breast.

The Chancellor and Prelate in breast.

The Sword of State, and Vice-chamberlain, as before.

The Sovereign having made his Reverence to the Altar, descended from his Stall, repeated the same, and proceeded out of the Chapel, his Train born as before.

This Procession was made through the middle Isle, down to the West Door of the Chapel, and then up the South Isle, and out of the South Door to the upper Castle, between the Castle-Wall and the Keep, the Trumpets sounding all the way to the Stairs foot, that leads up to the Chamber of Presence, where the Drums and Fifes, placed at the foot of the Stairs did beat and sound.

The Poor Knights and Prebendaries entering the Guard-chamber, filed off on each side, for the Procession to be made between them.

The Officers of Arms proceeded into the Presence-chamber, and there filed off on each side in like manner, the Pursuivant standing next to the Door whereby they entered; and then the Knights-Companions filed off in like manner, standing on each side according to the situation of their Stalls; those Companions in the highest Stalls nearest to the State. The Sovereign having the Officers of the Order before him, passed through, while the Companions made their Reverences to him, and the Officers of the Order having disposed themselves on the outside of the Knights near the State; the Sovereign standing under the State, saluted the Companions by putting off his Cap and Feather, and then retired into the Privy-Lodgings untill Dinner time.

The Lord Chamberlain, or Vice-Chamberlain, gave order to the Gentlemen Ushers, to give warning to the severall Officers concern'd to prepare Dinner according to their respective Duties.

When the first Service had been placed both on the Sovereign's Table, and on the Tables of the Knights, the Sovereign, having the Officers of the Order going before him (who waited at the Door coming from the Privy-Lodgings for that purpose) entered again the Presence-chamber, where where the Knights having ranked themselves in the former manner, according to their Stalls, his Majesty saluted them, and a Procession was thence made into St. George's Hall in this manner.

Officers of Arms, two and two.

The Knights single, or by pairs, according to their Stalls, the juniors going first, all in their full Robes and Ensigns.

His Royal Highness the Duke.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

The Black Rod and Garter a-breast.

The Prelate alone, the Sovereign having dispensed with the absence of the Chancellor.

The Sovereign.

The Officers of Arms, who stood at the lower end of the Hall upon their entrance into it, the seniors nearest to the State.

The Knights-Companions passed up beyond them, and stood each above the other, according to their seniority (the seniors nearest to the State) and continued all in a line or row on the right Hand side of the Hall.

The Officers of the Order coming up before the Sovereign at the Haut-pas, retired on the right Hand at the top of the Hall, standing behind the Knights.

The Duke and the Prince of Wales stopped at the Haut-pas until the Sovereign had ascended, and placed himself under the State, and then the Prince of Wales and the Duke ascended the Haut-pas, and stood at the right and left end of the Sovereign's Table.

As the Sovereign passed through to the Haut-pas, all the Knights-Companions took off their Caps and Feathers, bowing to him as he passed, who being under the State, there standing, saluted the Knights; and Grace being then said by the Prelate, the Sovereign sat down in his Chair, placed in the middle of the Table, and then the Prince of Wales on the right, and the Duke on the left end thereof.

Then all the Knights put on their Caps, who, according to their Seniorities, were conducted from the places where they stood, by the Officers of Arms, to the inside of the Table, where they all sat in a row or line, one below the other according to their seniorities in this Order.

244 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Towards the latter end of this first Course, a large gilt Cup with Wine was brought to the Sovereign by the Nobleman who waites as Cupbearer, with the usual Ceremonies.

The Sovereign then was pleased to drink to the Companions, while the Prince of Wales, the Duke, and all the Companions stood uncovered; and a Glas of Wine being brought to every Companion, they altogether thus standing up uncovered, pledged the Sovereign, and then sat down and put on their Caps.

The second Course was then brought in the following manner to the Sovereign's Table.

Four Serjeants at Arms, with their Maces going two and two.

Comptroller and Treasurer of the Household a-breast with their white Staves.

The Sewer.

Gentlemen Pensioners bearing the Dishes.

Two Clerks of the Green-Cloth.

Two Clerks Comptrollers.

A Clerk of the Kitchen.

The second Course was then served to the Table of the Knights-Companions by the Yeomen of the Guard.

Garter in his Mantle bearing his Rod, and attended by all the Officers of Arms following him in their degrees, made his Obeisance at the lower end of the Hall, and again in the middle thereof, and lastly, at the foot of the Haut-pas, and then ascended the lowest Step thereof, and having there thrice cry'd Largeffe, proclaimed the Sovereign's stile in Latin.

Then he, with the Officers of Arms, (who continued under the Haut-pas) making another Reverence, proclaimed the Stile in French.

And again, after the like Reverence, proclaimed the stile in English.

Then Garter and all the other Officers cry'd Largeffe thrice.

Garter then bowed to his Royal Highness the Duke, and crying Largeffe twice, the Duke stood up, taking off his Cap and Feathers, while Garter proclaimed his stile in English.

Then all the Officers of Arms cry'd Largeffe twice; which done, Garter and all the Officers of Arms retir'd keeping still their faces towards the Sovereign, and having made their Reverences, repeated the same in the middle of the Hall, and at the lower end thereof.

Garter

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 245

Garter then making his Reverences, with all the other Officers of Arms, came opposite to that part of the Table where the Earl of Chesterfield the new-install'd Companion sat, where they again made their Obeisances towards the Sovereign; and Garter then turning his face towards the Earl of Chesterfield, and bowing to him, the Earl stood up uncover'd, while Garter cry'd Largeſſe once, and then proclaimed his ſtile and titles in Engliſh.

Garter and the other Officers of Arms having cryed Largeſſe once, the Earl of Chesterfield then ſat down covered.

Garter then bowed to the Earl of Burlington, who likewise ſtood up uncovered, and Garter crying Largeſſe once, proclaimed his ſtile.

Garter and the other Officers of Arms having cry'd Largeſſe once, and retired.

The Banquet was afterwards brought up to the Sovereign's Table with the ſame Ceremonies; ſave only that in place of the Clerks of the Kitchen, the chief Clerk of the Spicery waited in that place; and the Banquet of the Knights-Companions was alſo brought up by the Yeomen of the Guard.

Dinner being ended, the Knights-Companions aroſe from their Tables, and the Juniors went off firſt, being followed by all in that Order, who placed themſelves again on the right ſide of the Hall one below another; and Grace being ſaid by the Prelate, having waſhed, the Knights altogether made their Reverences to the Sovereign, who put off his Cap, and re-ſaluted them.

Then all the Knights and the Officers of the Order preſent, proceeded before the Sovereign back again to the Prefence-Chamber, in the former method; where the Sovereign having ſaluted them, they all departed to their Lodgings.

Mr. Ashmole, in his History, has given a particular Account of the Sovereign, and this illustrious Society of Knights, his Companions and Associates in honour, and of their respective Families, which is not to our present purpose; however, for the Reader's farther satisfaction, we shall make brief mention of these Knights usually stiled the First Founders of this most Noble Order.

1. Edward

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 247

1. Edward III. was the eldest Son of King Edward II. and Isabella, Daughter to Philip the Fair, King of France, and after the Death of her Brother, Charles IV. without Issue, King Edward laid claim to the Crown of France as next Heir Male, and the glorious Conquests in assertion of his right to that Kingdom, by the Battles of Sluce, Cressy, and Poitiers, fill the Annals of Europe: His many Victories over the Scots and other Enemies, are so many Monuments of his Glory, and make the brightest part of the English History, and have constantly been the subject of the several Historians of Europe; we shall here therefore not enter into this Prince's History, but give his Character, as drawn by Mr. Barnes, in his History of this Prince, according to whom, 'He was the soonest a Man, and the longest that held so of any we meet with; his Sature not exceeding the usual bigness of Men, but of the middle sort, that is, just six feet or two yards high, his Limbs neat and well made, his Body strong, his Shape exact, his Visage something long, but exceeding comely, graceful, and angelical; his Nose long, straight, and manly, his Eyes sparkling and majestick, but with so much sweetness, that it was reckoned of good omen to behold his Face, tho' only in a Dream. Fortunate he was beyond measure, especially till the six latter years of his reign; wise and provident in Counsel, well learned in the Laws, in History, Humanity, and Divinity. He understood Latin, French, Spanish, Italian High and Low-Dutch, besides his native Language; he was of quick Apprehension, judicious, and skilful in Nature, elegant in Speech, sweet, familiar, and affable in Behaviour; stern to the Obstinate, but calm and meek to the Humble. Magnanimous and courageous above all the Princes of his days; apt for War, but a lover of Peace; never puffed up with Prosperity, nor dismayed at Adversity. He was of an exalted, glorious, and truly royal Spirit, which never entertained any thing vulgar or trivial; as may appear by the most excellent Laws, which he made; by those two famous Jubilees he kept, and by the most honourable Order of the Garter, which he first devised and founded. His Recreations were Hawking, Hunting, and Fishing, but chiefly he loved the martial Exercise of Jufts and Tourneaments. In his Buildings he was curious, splendid, and magnificent, in bestowing of Graces and Donations, free and frequent; and to the ingenious and deserving always kind and liberal: devout to God, bountiful to the Clergy, gracious to his People, ple, merciful to the Poor, true to his Word, loving to his Friends, terrible to his Enemies. And because he was so strictly observant of his Faith and Honour, and withal so valiant, politick, and fortunate; his Subjects imagined, that to live under him was to reign in triumphs; and his renown ran abroad even to barbarous and foreign Nations; and all thought themselves happy and secure, if they were either under his Protection, or any way confederate with him. The Turks and Saracens feared him; the oppressed Christian Princes humbly implored his Assistance; the Germans he had at his Command, during the time of his Lieutenancy under Lewis of Bavaria, and might have had them entirely, had he accepted their proffer of the Empire. The Flemings were his Confederates, the Italians he obliged unto him by the Bond of Affinity; the French, Spaniards, and Scots he subdued by Force of Arms; he won Calais, recovered Aquitaine, Normandy, and Ponthieu, and had John King of France, and David King of Scots his Prisoners; being the first of English Kings, that bore the Arms and Title of France. In short, he had the most Virtues and the fewest Vices of any Prince that ever I read of; he was valiant, just, merciful, temperate, and wise; the best King, the best Captain, the best Law-giver, the best Friend, the best Father, and the best Husband in his Days.

This great and heroick Prince, after a reign of fifty years in great glory, died at Shene (now Richmond) in Surry, in the sixty-fifth year of his age, and was buried in Westminster Abbey, under a Monument of Grey Marble, upon the Superficies whereof lies his Portraiture of Copper gilt, and on the Verge of the Monument are the following Verses in rude Latin, according to the custom of that age;

Vic Decus Anglozum, flos Regum Præteritorum.
Forma Futurorum, Rex Clemens, Pax Populorum, Tertius Edvardus, Regni complens Jubileum,
Indicus Vardus, Bellis pollens Machabeum.
Prosperæ dum vixit, Regnum Pietate revixit:
Armipotens Rexit: Jam Coelo (Coelice Rex) sit!
Tertius Edvardus Famâ super æthera Notus.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 249

2. Edward Prince of Wales and Duke of Cornwall, usually named the Black Prince, was the worthy Son of his royal Father. At sixteen years of age, this Prince entered upon the stage of War, and being knighted by his royal Father, led the van of the King's Army at the battle of Cressy, An. 1346. and it is worthy of notice, that being hard pressed by the Enemy and word sent to the King, that the Prince stood in need of his Assistance, after enquiry if he was either dead or wounded, his heroick Father bid the Messenger return, and send to him no more, so long as his Son lived, for, says he, he shall this day win his Spurs, and I design him the honour of this Expedition; and the Prince gaining a complete Victory, his royal Father embraced and kissed him, saying, Fair Son, God give you resolution to pursue Honour; you are my dear Son, and have acquitted yourself nobly; you are worthy to govern a Kingdom. At the battle of Poitiers also, Sept. 19, Anno 1356. Prince Edward gained a second compleat Victory over the French Army, and took John King of France and his Son Philip prisoners, whom he brought into England to his royal Father: By him also was Peter King of Castile restored to his Throne; and by a constant pursuit of great and heroick Deeds, this Prince became the flower of Chivalry, and delight of the English Nation. He died, to the great grief of his royal Father and the whole Nation, June 8, Anno 1371. in the forty-six year of his age; and according to his appointment, was buried in the Cathedral Church of Canterbury with great Solemnity, and over his Grave was erected a stately Monument.

3. Henry, Earl and afterwards Duke of Lancaster.

4. Thomas Beauchampe, the thrice noble Earl of Warwick.

5. Piers (or John de Greilly) Captal of Buch, which is a great Lordship in Aquitain, the Governor whereof is stiled Captal, and the Country itself is called le Captalat de Buch, or Busch; the chief Town whereof, called la Teste de Buch, is about seven Leagues Westward of Bordeaux: This Gentleman was a mighty Man of valour, and most firm of all others to the English side; so that after many renowned Exploits, whereof History is not silent, being at last taken Prisoner by the French, he chose rather to die in Prison, than to swear never more to bear Arms for England.

6. The next Knight in order was Ralph Lord Stafford, Earl of Stafford.

7. William

250 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

7. William Montagu, the hopeful young Earl of Salisbury.
8. Roger Lord Mortimer, Grandson to Roger Earl of March, who five years after obtained a Revocation of the Judgment against his Grandfather, and thereupon was restored in Blood, and to the Earldom of March, and to all his said Grandfather's Lands, Honours, and Possessions: Being for his Valour and Worth highly meriting to be inserted into this most Noble Order.
9. After him was invested the courageous Knight John Lord Lisse.
10. Then Bartholomew Lord Burghersh, alias Burwash, junior, at that time but twenty years old; but every way worthy of this Honour.
11. John Lord Beauchamp, younger Brother to Thomas Earl of Warwick; a noble Martialist of that age.
12. John Lord Mobun of Dunstow, a constant attendant on the Black Prince in all his Wars.
13. Hugh Lord Courtney, Son to Hugh Courtney, Earl of Devonshire.
14. Thomas Lord Holland, of Holland in Lancashire, who about the time of this his Creation, or the 23d of King Edward, was married to the Beauty of England, Jean Sister to the Earl of Kent.
15. John Lord Grey of Codenore in Derbyshire.
16. Sir Richard Fitz-Simon, whose Services in War raised him to this honourable Title.
17. Sir Miles Stapleton, a Man of great Nobility and Integrity, and expert in martial Affairs.
18. Sir Thomas Wale, a Knight of great Virtue and Worthiness; but one, who tho' by his early Valour he merited so high a Rank, yet by his too early Death, which happened within three years after the Institution, left his Stall void the first of all these Founders.
19. Sir Hugh Wrottesley, of Wrottesley, in the County of Stafford.
20. Sir Nele Loring, a Knight of great Valour and Nobility; and who was first Knighted for his signal Courage in the naval Fight at Sluce.
21. The Lord John Chandos, a most illustrious Hero, of whose Generosity and Valour to write sufficiently, would require a large Volume.
22. The Lord James Audley, a most adventurous and fortunate Commander, and Cousin to Nicolas Audley, Earl of Gloucester.
23. Sir Otto Holland, Brother to the Lord Thomas Holland aforesaid.
24. Sir Henry Eam of Brabant, commonly by Historians called Sir Henry

270 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

It is to be noticed here, that the Duke of Saxe-Gotha, and Prince Frederick of Hesse, were elected Knight-Companions of this most Noble Order, Anno 1741. the 14th of his present Majesty, and were invested at their respective Courts by special Commission from the Sovereign, but as no Installation of Knights has since been made at Windsor, the Banners and Atchievements of Honour of those Princes, are not yet set up in St. George's Chapel; and the several Stalls at present are according to the above Plan, for no Stalls are deemed Void till the Banner, Sword and Helmet of the deceased Knight has been taken down, and solemnly offered up at the Altar, agreeable to the Laws and Statutes of the Order.

Farther let it be observed, that besides the several Sovereigns, and the chief Nobility of the Nation, there have been of this most Noble and Illustrious Order of the Garter, eight Emperors of Germany, five Kings of France, three Kings of Spain, seven Kings of Portugal, one King of Poland, two Kings of Sweden, six Kings of Denmark, two Kings of Scotland, one King of Prussia, one King of Arragon, two Kings of Naples, one King of Sicily and Jerusalem, and one King of Bobemia, five Princes of Orange, seven Counts Palatine of the Rhine, one Duke of Savoy, one Elector of Bavaria, one Elector of Saxony, three Electors of Brandenburgh, four Dukes of Brunswick-Lunenburgh, two Dukes of Holfstein, two Dukes of Burgundy, two Dukes of Urbino, one Duke of Guelderland, one Duke of Holland, one Duke of Milan, one Duke of Wirtembergh, one Duke of Ferrara, and other Free Princes of the first States of Europe. And to conclude, in the Words of our learned Selden, [Notes on Poly Albion.] as The Order of the Garter bath precedence of Antiquity before the eldest rank of Honour of that kind any where establisshed; so according to the same Author also, it exceeds in Majesty, Honour, and Fame, all Chivalrous Orders in the World; having at all times been honoured with the Companionship of divers Emperors, Kings, and Sovereign Princes of Europe, who, according to Du Chesne, have reputed it among their greatest Honours to be of this illustrious Society: Cet Ordre est la supreme marque d'Honneur de la Noblesse Angloise, et tres rare, et que les plus grands et puissantes Princes de la Chrestienté tiennent mesme a quelque gloire d'y estre receus et associez. [Hist. d'Angleterre, &c. p. 671.] To the same purpose also Polydor Virgil, Rex instituit Garterium Ordinem, cui tantus deinde accessit Honor, ut maximos quos-

Angl.] Our learned Camden also, on this occasion says, In hanc Societatem potentissimi quique orbis Christiani Principes cooptari, instar maximi honoris duxerunt. [Britan. in Attr.] And indeed there is no royal or princely Family in Europe, but has been of the Company of this most illustrious Society, which, as has been before observed, has now flourished four hundred years compleat, with great splendor and glory, and been the most distinguished mark of Honour and Nobility among the Princes of Europe, the reward of Merit, and great and heroick Deeds.

CHAPTER XVIII.

An Account of the PLATES of ARMS of the KNIGHTS of the GARTER in St. GEORGE'S Chapel.

IT was appointed by the Statutes of Institution, Art. 23. that when any one of the First Founders should die, there should be made in Metal an Escutcheon of his Arms, with his Helm or Crest, and fixed to the back of his Stall, for a continued mark of Honour to the deceased Knight; and the like to be continued by their Successors. However this Injunction might at first be regularly observed, there is good room to conjecture, that in tract of time, by neglect, or other intervening Causes, this Law of the Order was not duly observed, and that the Plates were not always set up, agreeable to the first Purpose of the royal Founder; and for this reason probably it was, that upon a review and declaration of the Statutes, Anno 14. Henry VIII. Art. 25. it was appointed, that every Knight, within the first year, after his Installation shall affix, or set up a Plate of his Arms cut in Metal of what kind the Knight pleases, only that in Size they should not exceed those of the First Founders, excepting only the Plates of Knights Strangers, which may be made of any Quality or Size at their pleasure.

272 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

The Plates of the First Founders were for the most part of Copper with their Arms blazoned thereon, and frequently without any Name or Inscription. In the reign of King Henry VIII. the Arms and Titles of the Knights-Companions began to be enlarged and more expressive, as may be observed by the following Catalogue: Shortly after it became the Custom, and now continues, to gild the Plates, and richly blazon thereon the Arms of the Knight, and underneath, to engrave their several Titles and Dignities at full length; and indeed this Metal seems the best Preservative against the Temptation which one more rich might occasion, as is evident in the case of Frederick, Duke of Wirtemberg, elected Knight-Companion in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, whose Plate being of Silver and large withal, became the Prey of sacrilegious Hands in the time of the late Civil Wars.

Whether by the like fate of Avarice and Rapine, or the length of Time, is uncertain, but many of these noble Memorials of this illustrious Society of Knights, it appears, have been lost or imbezzled; and in some measure to provide against so great a Mischief for the future, it was decreed in Chapter, Anno 1628, Ann. 3. Car. I. That all the Stiles of the remaining Plates should be described in a Book by the Dean of Windsor, Register of the Order; which was accordingly performed and laid up in the College, but afterwards could no where be found by the diligent Enquiry of Mr. Ashmole; and no doubt this Repository was lost in the following Times of Disturbance and Civil War, when all Honour was laid in the dust, and the Memorial of all that is great and noble, was no sooner found but destroyed.

However therefore it was not at first intended; in the prosecution of this Work it is judged a necessary piece of Justice, due to this most Noble Order, to preserve from the like future Disasters, these Monuments of Honour of its illustrious Members; and accordingly, with all possible care and exactness, the following Account of the Plates of the Knights-Companions, as they now stand in their several Stalls is here set down; and the Reader is desired first to observe, that it never was usual to affix any Plate to the Sovereign's Stall; also, that to those Names in this List whereto an Asterick is set, there is no Inscription on the Plate, and that the Sovereign's name, where printed at the end, denotes the Prince in whose Reign the Knight was installed, there being no date of the year on the Plate to point it out.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 317

After this Register of the Plates of the Knights of this most noble Order, it is proper to remark, that by the Statutes of Institution, Art. 21. It was ordained, If any Earl, Baron, or Knight Batchelor should depart this Life, he that does succeed in his Place, of what Condition or State soever, except the Prince of Wales, should possess the same Stall which his Predecessor held before without changing; and it was at first thus appointed, that it might be known who were the first Founders of this most noble Order, and as is expressed in the Preface to the Black Book of the Order, that all should tend to Unanimity and Concord, as Companions, Collegues, Brothers, and Fellow Soldiers; and the Order itself is therefore called a Fellowship, a College of Knights, and a Brotherhood, equal in Honour and Power: And agreeable to this Statute of Institution, it is observable from the above Register, that the Plate of Sir John Daubricécourt stands first in the Prince's Stall, that Knight being elected An. 1. King Henry V. on this Prince's Succession to the Crown, there being then no Prince of Wales.

But Mr. Ashmole observes, that John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster first obtained the Honour of that Seat, by a decree of the Sovereign and Knights Companions in the Reign of King Richard II. who had no Issue, the Duke by this decree being removed from the seventh Stall on the same Side, wherein he had been installed at his first Admission into the Order.

It is likewise to be observed from the same Author, that Sir Philip la Vache was the first Knight Companion from the Black Prince, that had the Honour of a personal Installation in this Stall, it falling to him by this Law of the Order, being elected in the room of the said Duke of Lancaster; however afterwards, upon the accession of King Henry IV. to the Crown, his eldest Son being created Prince of Wales, laid Claim to this Stall, by virtue of the aforesaid Statute, and it was accordingly surrendered to him; but that Sir Philip might suffer as small a diminution of Honour as possible by this Removal, he was removed only to the Stall which King Henry himself before held, being the third on the Sovereign's Side, where his Plate now remains.

318 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

And according to this account, and the ancient Tables of the Order kept in the Chapter House at Windsor, the succession of the first Knights in the Prince's Stall was in this wise.

1. Edward Prince of Wales, first Founder.
2. John of Gaunt duke of Lancaster.
3. Sir Philip la Vache.
4. Henry Prince of Wales.
5. Sir John d'Abricbecourt.
6. Sigismund Emperor of Germany.

Farther also, according to the same Tables it is evident, that Ericus King of Denmark, in the Reign of King Henry V. was installed not according to his state and degree of a King, but into the Stall of the Knight Companion whom he succeeded, namely the Duke of Bavaria, in the eighth Stall on the Sovereign's Side, and the succession of the first Knights in this Stall was in this manner.

1. Sir John Grey, first Founder.
2. Sir Walter Manny.
3. Sir Guiscard d'Anguillesme.
4. Thomas Duke of Gloucester.
5. Robert Duke of Bavaria.
6. Ericus King of Denemarc.
7. Sir Anthony Wideville, Lord Scales.

John King of Portugal also succeeded Sir William Arundell in the third Stall, which, with other Knights of lower degree, succeeding in the Stalls of the highest state, sufficiently evidence that the antient Usage and practice of succession was strictly kept, agreeable to this Statute of Institution.

It is however to be observed, that the Sovereigns on a Vacancy, notwithstanding this Law of the Order, have made a Removal of Stalls, and advanced a Knight Companion to a higher Stall than that wherein he was first seated; but this but rarely, and that by allowance and decree creed of the Sovereign and Knights Companions in Chapter, as in the case of the Duke of Lancaster before-mentioned.

After this King Henry VIII. thinking it requisite that the Sovereign should be impowered by an established Law of the Order, to do that at pleasure, what former Sovereigns did only by the particular Acts or Orders in Chapter; upon the declaration of the Statutes, Ann. Regn. xiv. ordained, That if there be eny Place or Stall voyde, the Soverayne at his Pleasure may advance and translate, by his speciall License, any Knight of the said Company into the said Stall, so be it that it be more hyer than the Stall that he was in afore: Alsoe the Soverayne onys in his Life may make a general Translation of all the Stalls at his pleasure, excepte of Emperours, Kings, Prynces, and Dukes, the which allway shall kepe theyr Places and Stalls after theyr Estate, and very nexte unto the Soverayne, if they be not translated into more hyer Rome and Stall. Art. xxii. xxiii.

Accordingly we find that King Henry, and the succeeding Sovereigns frequently made Use of this Law of the Order; and Mr. Ashmole has minutely remarked several Translations, both of Stranger Princes and Knights Subjects to higher Stalls, and Removals lower of Knights also, to make room for Stranger Princes of higher degree; but at length to avoid the danger of Emulation, and to put the whole upon a more equal Footing, the antient Law of succeeding in Stalls was altered by a Decree in Chapter, April 24. Ann. 6 Elizab. That all Knights who for the future were admitted into the Society of the Order, should take and be installed in the lowest Stall, according to the Course and Seniority of their Election, except only Stranger Kings and Princes: And by Chapter, An. 20. Jac. I. the like exception was made to the Sovereign's Childaen: Lastly, An. reg. Char. II. Dom. 1669. at a Chapter held at Whitehall, upon consideration of the several Orders made by preceeding Sovereigns, both in regard to the placing of Strangers and Knights Subjects, it was ordained,

1. That the Princes of Wales, and such Emperors and Kings that should be of the Order, should be placed in the nearest Stalls to that of the Sovereign, according to their Elections and Installations.

U u 2

2. That

320 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

2. That all other Sovereign Princes, and Princes of the Blood, should be placed in the Stalls next unto Kings, according to their Seniority in the Order.
3. That all other his Majesty's Subjects and Strangers, not of the Dignity above-mentioned, should be installed in the lowest Stalls, according to their Antiquity in the Order, and the antient Practice.

In this manner was the settlement of Stalls regulated by this Decree, and the Practice has since continued; and upon the Installation of a Knight Subject, the Achievements, Banners, and Plates of the Knights Companions, are in due Time, by Warrant from the Sovereign, removed by Garter into the higher Stalls, according to their respective Successions in the Order; and the new Elect Knights, of what Degree soever, are installed in the lower Stalls: And agreeable to this Usage, the four lowermost Stalls are at present filled with four Dukes, or first Peers of the Kingdom, as appears by the Scheme of the Stalls, page 269.

And now I cannot leave this, and the preceding Chapter, without taking Notice of the Words of Sir John Denham, who, in Allusion to Windsor Castle, and the Knights of the Garter, says,

*A Crown of such majestick Towers doth grace
The Gods great Mother, when her Heavenly Race
Do Homage to her; yet She cannot boast
Among that numerous, and celestial Host
More Heroes than can Windsor, nor doth Fame's

CHAPTER XIX.

Of the Feast of St. GEORGE, and Processions of the SOVEREIGNS and KNIGHTS COMPANIONS.

TO the greater Honour of the Patron of this most noble Order, the Royal Founder directed, that the Anniversary of his Festival in the Church, should be kept with solemn Observance by the Knights Companions of this illustrious Society at Windsor: for by the 9th Article of the Statutes of Institution it was ordained, that singulis annis in vigilia Sti. Georgii sit una Congregatio Consociorum Ordinis Sti. Georgii apud Castrum de Windsor, there to attend in the full Habit of the Order during divine Service, on that, and on the following Days of the Solemnity of the Feast of St. George: And although the first Memorials of this most noble Order have perished among the Ruins of Antiquity, or remain yet undiscovered (a Loss, as the late Mr. Anstis observes, that can never be sufficiently lamented) and thereby leave us in the dark as to the particular Time and Manner of the Solemnization of this annual Festival; it is however evident from Records, and other Authorities collected by that Gentleman, in his additional Notes to the Black Book of the Order, that the Celebration of St. George's Feast was constantly observed by the royal Founder and his noble Companions; for he takes Notice, that in the Wardrobe Account, An. Reg. Edw. III. 25. mention is made of Payment for twenty four Habits of the Order: It is also observed from Joan. a Leydis Chron. Belg. that Ann. Dom. 1353. Reg. Edw. 27. In festo Sancti Georgii Martyris, tertius Edwardus Rex Angliæ, celebravit solemnissimam curiam et fecit grande Convivium cunctis Principibus & Baronibus suis: In the 32d Year of his Reign, King Edward also held a most solemn Feast of St. George: Anno Dom. 1358 in festo S. Georgii Dominus Rex Angliæ solemnissimam curiam fecit suis principibus. Baluz. Vit. Pontif.

Knyghton

322 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Knyghton the Historian speaks particularly of this last mentioned Feast, Rex fecit proclamationem, &c. Coll. 2167. "In the Beginning of the Year 1358, King Edward issued forth his royal Proclamation throughout all England, that all Knights Strangers from any Part of the World, who had a mind to come to the Feast of St. George, to be solemnly held by him on the 23d of April at Windsor, should have his Letters of safe Conduct to pass and repass the Realm at their pleasure, for the space of three Weeks, without the least Impediment or Danger, there to partake, every one according to his Degree and Merit, of those Honours and Prizes which attended the princely Exercises of Jufts and Tournaments." And this high Feast the King held in the greatest Splendour imaginable, beyond all that he had ever done before, and this for the Entertainment of his royal Prisoner John King of France, and the Nobility of that Nation, at that time Prisoners in the Castle of Windsor. To this solemn Feast came the Duke of Brabant, and many noble Lords and Knights from Almain, Gascogne, Scotland, and other Countries: The Queen of England also was at this Solemnity in costly Array, for in the Wardrobe Account of this Year, there is an Entry for the Payment of five hundred Pound to the Queen towards providing Apparel against this Feast. The Queen of Scotland also, and many other great Ladies, as well of England as of other Nations, came to Windsor to this Feast in their gayest and richest Apparel; and it is observed by Historians, that the Pomp and Magnificence of this famous Feast of St. George set forth King Edward's Greatness and noble Spirit, who thus splendidly provided for the Entertainment of his royal Prisoner; and it is set down, that King John, who might expect by a high Ransom to pay something towards these vast Profusions of Expence, said on this Occasion, That he never saw or knew such royal Shews and Feastings, without some after Reckoning for Gold and Silver.

Mr. Anstis, as is above remembred, in some Measure to supply the Deficiency in this early Part of the Annals of the Order, has collected what remains in publick Records or Offices, relating to Orders for the Celebration of this Solemnity, throughout the several Years of this King's Reign, whereby it is sufficiently evident, that strict Regard was paid by the royal Founder to this Statute of Institution, and that the

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 323

Feast of St. George was annually kept at Windsor with great Splendor and Devotion. The like Observance of the Feast of St. George, by succeeding Sovereigns of this most noble Order, by Mr. Anstis's Collections is made to appear, though by a Chasm before noticed, in the Black Book of the Order, till Ann. 4. Henry V. no Particulars as to the exact Time and Manner can be ascertained, whether the Solemnity was kept on the Day peculiar to the Patron St. George, or by Prorogation to some other Day, at the Pleasure of the Sovereign; for by the same Statutes of Institution, the Sovereign might prorogue the Solemnization of the Festival to any Time within fifteen Days after, and agreeable to this, in the fourth Year of the last mentioned Prince, the invincible King Henry V. about the seventh of May, the Solemnity of St. George's Feast was celebrated at Windsor, at which Time the most noble Sigismund, Emperor of Germany, was created a Knight of this most illustrious Order, and it is in the Black Book observed on this Occasion, that the Finery of the Guests, the Order of the Servants, the Variety of the Courses, the Invention of the Dishes, with the other Things delightful to the Sight and Taste, whoever should endeavour to describe could never do it with Justice, si quis explicare studuerit, haud plene queat. Lib. Nig. p. 57.

It is also farther noticed in the same Book, that the said heroick Prince Henry V. in the following Year, or rather in the 6th Year of his Reign, being at Caen in Normandy, in Prosecution of his Right to the Crown of France, took Care to have the Feast of St. George, pro temporis exigentia, celebrated at the Castle of that Town, with great Solemnity; yet so strictly was the Celebration of this Feast observed in those early days at Windsor, according to the first Appointment, that the like Feast of St. George, was also the same Year held at Windsor, by John Duke of Bedford, appointed the Sovereign's Lieutenant for that Purpose; and it was usual, if the Sovereign for weighty Affairs of State was absent, or could not himself in Person attend the Feast of St. George, to appoint a Deputy or Lieutenant, to keep the same annually at Windsor: And in the Absence of his royal Brother King Henry V. and in the Infancy of the succeeding Sovereign, his royal Nephew Henry VI. the said Duke of Bedford frequently held by Deputation the Feast of St. George at Windsor; and in the Black Book of the Order, p. 80 is a Commission in Latin to this most noble Duke, by the last mentioned Prince, which we shall here insert according to Mr. Anstis's Translation, “ Henry by the Grace of God of England and France King, and “ Sovereign of the Order of St. George, to all our Fellow Knights, “ Greeting. Since for many and various Causes, we our self cannot “ be present at the next Feast at Wyndesore, and by our Statutes we “ can effectually depute another in our Stead, who may hold Chap“ ters in like Manner as we our self, reform what Things are amiss, “ compleat, approve, or disapprove Elections, and do all other Things “ which are proper for a necessary Observance of the Statutes, We “ therefore by Virtue of these present Letters, have chose our faith“ ful and right well-beloved Uncle, John Duke of Bedford, and the “ dread Regent of France, to do these Things prudently and substan“ tially in our Stead. And forasmuch as we in the mean time enjoyn

 “ you our Fellow Knights to be altogether dutiful to him, and render “ him all due Service and Obedience, as you would to our self, if “ we were present there. Farewell at Leicester, in the fourth Year of “ our Reign, the Kalends of April.”

King Henry VI. and his Successor Edward IV. kept annually this Feast of St. George at Windsor, but not without some small Interrup- tion, occasioned by the unhappy Broils between those rival Princes; Authors in particular make mention of a grand Solemnization of the Feast of St. George by King Edward IV. who according to Stowe in his Chronicle, Ann reg. 16. “ kept the Feast of St. George at Windsore in most “ royal Manner; First on the Saturday before Noon, the King being “ Sovereign with the Knights of the Order, entered the chapter with-
 “ in the Castle, which Chapter was also continued in the Afternoone
 “ in this manner, towards Evensong Time, being all mounted on Horse“ backe in their Habites of blew, rode to the Chapter, from whence
 “ they went to the Quire on Foot, where they remained till Evensong “ was done, and then rode again to the Castle (in their Habits as “ before) where they had their Void of Spices, &c.

“ On Sunday Morning, the Sovereign with the Knights rode to “ Mattens, which being ended they entered the Chapter, from whence “ they

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 325

“ they went to the Dean’s House to breakfast, and after to the quire “ againe, every Man to his own Stall. Then came the Queene with
 “ the Lady Elizabeth her eldest daughter, the Dutchesse of Suffolke
 “ the King’s sister, the Lady Marchionesse of Montague, the Lady “ Marchionesse of Dorset, the Lady Hastings, &c. all in one livery of “ murrey embrodered with garters, except the Marchionesse of Mon- “ tague, who rode in a gown of silke, and these Ladies were placed “ in the roode loft. And in the same order and habite came the So“ veraigne, and Knights, with the Queene and her Ladies in the aftere “ noone to evensong. The King this day dined in his great cham“ ber, on whose right hand sat Richard Bewchamp, Bishop of Salis- “ burie, Chancellor of the Order, and on the left hand the Duke of “ Clarence, and the Duke of Suffolke. At a side table sat the Mar-“ quesse of Dorset, the Earles of Arundale, Northumberland, and “ Essex, the Lord Maltrauers, the Earl Dowglas, the Lordes Dudley, “ Ferrers, and Howard, and Sir John Astley Knight, all on one side.
 “ And at a table on the other side, sate Master Dudley, Dean of St.
 “ George’s chappell, and with him all on one side, the Cannons of the “ same chappell in their mantles of murrey, and rundlet of St.
 “ George.

“ On the Munday, the Soveraigne and Knights of the Order entred
 “ the chapter, where they had a short communication, from whence
 “ they went to the quire, where every Knight stood before his Stall, “ whiles the King had offered a rich sute of vestments, and certaine “ coapes of the same sute, which the Deane received; that done, the “ King went to his Stall, and every Knight sate him down in their “ own Stals, till the offertory, and then the Marques Dorset and the “ Duke of Suffolke, offered the sworde of John Mowbray, late Duke of “ Norffolke deceased, the Lord Maltrauers and Howard, his helme;
 “ which being done, and obeisance made, every Knight stooode before “ their Stals, while the King had offered, and then euerie Knight of“ fered according to his Stall, to wit, the Duke of Clarence, the Mar“ ques Dorset, the Duke of Yorke, the Earle of Arundell, the Earle
 “ of Essex, and the Duke of Suffolke, the Earle of Northumberland,
 “ the Earle of Dowglas, the Lord Maltrauers, and the Lord Howard,
 “ the Lord Dudley, the Lord Ferrers, Sir John Astley.”

326 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

King Henry VII. in the third Year of his reign, solemnized the Feast of St. George at Windsor in great splendor, at which was present the Queen, and the King's mother, with an illustrious company of Ladies and Attendants, robed with the ornaments of the Garter, and having their horse's furniture, trappings, and every thing thereto belonging exceeding beautiful, at which Solemnity, it is observed in the Black Book of the Order, no kind of Magnificence was omitted: Embassadors also from various kingdoms were present at this solemnity, particularly from the Emperor, Spain, Scotland, and other Potentates; and this Feast is commemorated in Verse by the Laureat of that Age, in the following Stanzas presented to the Sovereign.

O most famous noble King! thy Fame doth spring and spreade,
Henry the Seventh our Soverain in eithe Region,
All England hath cause thy grace to love and dread,
Seeing Embassadors seeke fore protection,
For Ayd, helpe, and succore, which lyeth in thie Cledryone.
England now rejoyce for joyous mayest thou bee,
To see thy Kyng so floresthe in dignetie.

This Realme a Season floode in greate Iupardie,
When that noble Prince deceased King Edward;
Which in his dayes gate honore full nobly,
After his decesse nighe hand ail was marr'd,
Eich region this Land dispised mischefe when they hard:
Wherefore rejoyse for joyous mayest thou be,
To see thy Kyng so floresthe in high dignetie.

Fraunce, Spayne, Scoteland, and Britanny, Flanders also,
Three of them present keepinge thy noble Feast;
Of St. George in Windsor, Ambassadors coming more,
Eche of them in honore bothe the more and the lesse,
Seeking thie grace to have thie noble begeste;
Wherefore now rejoise and joyous maist thou be,
To see thie Kyng so flourishing in dignetie.

O Knightly Ordere, clothed in robes with Gartere,
The Queen's grace and thy Mother clothed in the same;
The nobles of thie Realme riche in Arape, Altare.

Lords

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 327

Lords, Knights and Ladies, unto thy greate fame,
Now shall all Embassadors know this noble name,
By thy Feast royal; now joyous mayest thou be,
To see this King so flourishing in dignety.

Here this day St. George, Patron of this Place
Honored with the Garter; cheefe of Chevalrye, Chaplenes synging processyon, keeping the same,
With Archbushopes and Bishopes be seene nobly,
Much People presente to see the King Henrye;
Wherefore now St. George all we praye to thee
To keep our Soberaine in his dignetye.

In this splendid manner was the Feast of St. George and the holding Chapters, annually observed at Windsor by successive Monarchs, Sovereigns of this most noble Order, either by themselves in person, or by their Lieutenant deputed for that purpose, according to the Laws of Institution, and the rites and ceremonies were exactly observed at this Chaple of the Patron of the Order, till Ann. 14 Henry VIII. when by the declaration of the Statutes then made by that Prince, Art. 4. the Observation of St. George's Feast was no longer confined solely to Windsor, but it was declared, that upon any Prorogation of the Festival, the Knights of the Order should give their Attendance on the Sovereign, in what place soever he be within the realm of England, also that at Chapters of Election, or other great affairs of the Order, they shall wear their Mantells, and use the accustomed Ceremonies as though present in the said Castle of Windsor; but it is at the same time provided, that the Feast Day of St. George be nevertheless duly observed singly by itself, in what place soever the Sovereign, if within the realm, should reside; and Mr. Ashmole on this occasion observes, that notwithstanding this allowance of keeping the Feast of St. George, and holding Chapters of the Order elsewhere than at Windsor, "That all things were ordered, both on the Eve, the Day of St. George, and the morrow after, with full as great State, all affairs as legally dispatched, and all ceremonies as magnificently performed (except those peculiar and local to St. George's Chaple in Windsor) as could be observed at the Grand Festival itself."

328 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

In the foregoing part of this history, mention is made of this Reformation of the Statutes of the Order, first entered upon May 28. Ann. reg. 14. Henr. VIII; Mr. Asmole in his History from the Office of Arms, relates a magnificent cavalcade made by that Sovereign, and the Knights Companions on the Eve of the Grand Feast appointed to be held on that day; which as it relates both to the Solemnity of the Festival, and shews with what state and dignity the Sovereign set about the great work of reforming and explaining the Statutes of the Order, we shall here insert at large;

“ On the 27th day of May being Friday, the King removed from “ Richemont towards his castle of Windefor, and appointed them “ about one a clock at Afternoon the same Friday, that all Noble“ men, and oder which should wayte upon his Grace, should be ready “ between Richemont and Honslowe to attend upon him, and in confi-“ deration of a scarcyte and straitnes of lodgings, as well as in avoid“ ing and in eschewing of the corrupt air, every Nobleman was taxed
 “ and rated to a certain number of horse, that is to say, every Duke
 “ at 60 horses, a Marquess at 50 horses, every Earl at 40 horses, every “ Baron at 30 horses, every Knight of the Garter batchellor at 20 “ horses, and no odre Knight or Nobleman to have above 16 horses, with “ their carriages and all. And the King, thus right nobly companyed, “ rode to Colebroke, and at the sign of the Katherines Wheel the King “ took his courser, and his Henchmen richly apparrelled followed,
 “ and also the King's horse of state led, Gartier King of Arms wore “ his coat of arms, the Lord Richard Fox, Bishop of Winchester and “ Prelate of the Order, with many odre great Estates, gave their At“ tendance upon his Highness. The Queen and the Ladies, and their “ compaignies stood in the feild at the town's end, besides the high“ way towards Windefor, to see the King's noble compaignie pass by,
 “ and then the Queen rode to the fery next way to the castle. The “ King rode by Slow; and so to Eton Colledge, where all they of the “ Colledge stood along, in manner of procession, receiving his Grace “ after their custom.

“ The King entered Windefor with his great horses, that it is to say “ nine coursers with nine Children of Honor upon them, and the “ Master

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 329

" Master of the King's horses upon another great courser's back, following them, having and leading the King's horse of estate in his hand, that is to say, a rich courser with a rich saddle, and trapped and garnished following the King, and so entered the castle.

" At the Castle Gate, the Ministers of the Colledge received the King with Proceffion, and the King and Knights of the Ordre, at the church dore, took their mantles and entered the quere, and stood before their Stalls, till the Sovereign had offred and returned to his Stall; then every Knight offred according to his, as by Statute is ordained, and entered their Stallys, which was a long ceremony or ever they had all offered, because of the great number of Knights that then was present, which were 19 in number besides the Sovereign.

" The offering doon, the Sovereign and all the aforesaid Knights of the Ordre, (putting of their mantles at the church dore) with the Prelate and odre Officers of the Ordre, as the Register, King of Armes, and Huishier of the Ordre, called the Black Rod, borne by Sir William Compton, according to his Office of Hueshier; all the rode before the King from the Colledge, unto the quadrate of the castle, and so conveyed his Highness to his lodgings.

" The King had attendant on him, all his Officers of Armes, wearing their Coates of Armes; and all his Trumpetts, which blew the entry of the King, all the tyme of the said entry. The Lord Mountague, Henry Poole, bare the Sword before the King, and Garter King of Armes rode next before the Sword, and Sir William Compton rode on his left hand bearing the Black Rod."

But to return; notwithstanding the allowance by these new Statutes to keep this Feast of St. George in any part of the kingdom, at the pleasure of the Sovereign, it was afterwards frequently solemnized at Windsor during this King's reign, who being of a most princely soul and more than ordinary well affected to the Military College, every year observed the Feast of St. George, the rites and ceremonies thereof in their proper proper time and place; and Mr. Anstis from a curious limning in the Black Book of the Order, has given a representation of the magnificent State of this Sovereign in Chapter, Ann. reg. xxiv with his Companions, as also of their procession to the high altar, wherein are represented in the Habit of the Order, with a surtout of their respective Arms, Charles V. Emperor, Francis I. King of France, Ferdinand King of the Romans, and James V. King of Scotland, at this time Companions of this illustrious Society of Knights; to so great a height of renown and dignity did this most noble Order attain, under the influence of this high-minded and magnificent Sovereign, that in his reign the greatest Sovereign Princes of Europe, were at one and the same time Fellow-Members and Companions thereof, les plus grands et puissants Princes de la Chrestienté tiennent meme a quelque gloire d'y estre receus & associez. And Polydore Vergil, speaking of the Election of the King of the Romans, says, Ferdinandus Archidux Austriae, frater Caroli Imperatoris, factus est Eques Garterii Ordinis, qui sibi magno honori duxit, in id nobile Equitum Collegium aggregari, vir ipse multo nobilissimus, clarissimusq; Hist. Angl. p. 675.

It must however be confessed, that towards the end of this Prince's reign, the Grand Feast of St. George began to fail in its wonted solemnity, whether it was by this allowance of the removal of the Feast, and the observation elsewhere than at Windsor, or by means of the dawn of the Reformation, whereby many outward ceremonies, which had been long practised on these occasions, and addresses to particular Saints, were looked upon as the dross and abuse of true religion; but from whatever cause it might proceed, certain it is, that about this time, and in the reign of this Prince's son and successor, King Edward VI. the solemnity of this Festival was not kept up with its wonted State and Splendor; and in the second year of this last mentioned Prince, Orders were taken for abolishing and changing certain Rights in the Order of the Garter, and new Injunctions were issued concerning Processions, Reverences to the King's Majesty only, Offerings, &c. And the necessary reformation of the ceremonial parts in the church offices, in some measure for the present, eclipsed the State and Magni-

Magnificence of this Grand Festival, in as much as no Anniversary of the Patron was held at Windsor in this Prince's reign.

In the short reign of his successor Queen Mary, a repeal was made of King Edward's Injunctions, and An. 1. a Chapter was held at St. James's on the Vigil of St. George, and the Grand Feast adjourned until the coming of Philip, then Prince, after King of Spain; and Mr. Asmole takes notice of a pompous cavalcade made by this Queen on her marriage with this Prince; which being the only particular there is occasion to mention in her reign, we shall give at large according to his relation, namely, "That King Philip and Queen Mary, after the marriage solemnized by them at Winchester, the 15th of July, 1544. arrived at Windsor the 3d of August following, where at the nether end of Pescod-street, they were met by the Maior of Windsor and his brethren, and thence (the trumpets sounding) they proceeded with the Officers of Arms before them, into the castle, till they arrived at the West door of the chapell, where was prepared a form with carpets and cushions, and at their entry the Bishop of Winchester sensed them."

"The Queen having received the Mantle of the Order, with a reverential kifs from the Earls of Derby and Penbroke (to whom it had been presented by the Register of the Order) put it upon the King. (assisted by the said Earls) the Earls of Arundell and Penbroke, receiving the Collar of the Order from Garter, presented it to the Queen (with the like Ceremony as was the Mantle) who put it about the King's neck.

"Then all the Knights Companions put on their Mantles, within the chapel dore, and proceeded into the choire, and stood before their Stalls according to antient order. Then the Queen went into her Stall, taking the King by the hand, and setting him in the same Stall with her, and after a little space, they both descended and proceeded up to the high altar (the Queen keeping the right hand) and there offered; after which, they returned to their Stall, where they reposed themselves, while all the Knights Companions present did offer, according to their degree, and had taken their Stalls according

 " ately going out of the chapell, they took their horses at the chapell

 " themselves that night."

In the reign of Queen Elizabeth, this most noble Order, did not altogether retain its wonted state and magnificence, either as is before remarked, by the Grand Festival being withdrawn from Windsor, or the disuse of ceremonies inconsistent with the reformation of religion: This however notwithstanding, Ann. reg. 6. the Feast of St. George was on its proper day held at Windsor by the Sovereign, when many things were added to heighten the glory and splendor of the Grand Feast, by reason the Peace, then newly made between England and France, was proclaimed with great solemnity, in the presence of the French ambassador, in the morning, near St. George's chapel in the lower ward of the castle, at which time the Sovereign and Knights Companions with the Officers of the Order proceeded in a magnificent and well ordered cavalcade, and proclamation being made, they continued the procession to the Chapter in like state and order. Ashmole.

The Feast of St. George was observed during the long reign of this great Queen, by solemn Processions of the Sovereign and Knights Companions, and holding of Chapters of the Order, if not at Windsor annually, at Whitehall, Greenwich, St. James's, and other places of residence of the Sovereign, at which time, all the Knights Companions were obliged to attend, every one in their proper place and order, and to assist in holding of Chapters, and the celebration of divine service: And the solemn processions made in the reign of this Princess were continued by her royal successors, Sovereigns of the Order, though the number of attendants, and many particulars which had hitherto been received ad augendam pompam were somewhat restrained, for in Chapter, Ann. 14. reg. Jac. I. it was decreed, That every one of the Knights Companions of the Order, should have to attend upon his person at the yearly

Lib. C. p. 189.

After this fashion did the solemnization of the Feast of St. George continue for several years with great state and splendor, and Mr. Asmole makes frequent mention of the increasing dignity and magnificence of this most noble Order, under the benign influence of the royal Sovereigns James and Charles I. And among many instances given by that author, it may not be improper to introduce a foreign testimony of the celebration of St. George's Feast by this last mentioned Sovereign, Ann. Dom. 1634. reg. 9. "Le Roy de la Grande Bretagne s'employa a la feste et solemnité de la Jarretiere, laquelle il celebra au chasteau de Windesore. In the reign of this Sovereign, it was found neceſſary to hold frequent Chapters, for the better regulation, and new ordering of many particulars relating to this moſt noble Order, and ſolemn Proceſſions were frequently made, and the installation of a Knight Companion was performed with the greateſt ſtate and magnificence: Mr. Aſhmole in his History has given a curious representation of the Grand Proceſſion of the Sovereign and Knights Companions, Ann. reg. 23. of this Prince, in the full habits of the Order; the like Proceſſions have ſince continued with little or no variation, through the ſeveral reigns of ſucceſſive monarchs, Sovereigns of this moſt noble Order; and the laſt Proceſſion of this kind was by his preſent majeſty, June 18, 1730. at the installation of his royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, the Earl of Cheſterfield, and the Earl of Burlington, when the Sovereign and Knights Companions made a moſt ſolemn and magnificent cavalcade in the full habits of the Order, as is before fully related.

Neither is the royal dinner on theſe occaſions to be paſt by unnoticed, being great part of the ſolemnity, and always performed with the greateſt ſtate and magnificence, either in St. George's hall, if the Sovereign be preſent, or in the ſtately guard-chamber next adjoining, when the Knights Companions dine in their Robes of the Garſter, attended by the ſeveral Officers of the Order, and the coſtly and elegant decoration of the table on theſe occaſions cannot be exceeded, which, as it is the concluſion of the ceremony, is at all times conducted with the greateſt ſtate and ſplendor; but more is not here neceſſary, as it is before particularly deſcribed in this work, p. 242, & ſeq.

CHAPTER XX.

Of the FEES payable on INSTALLATION, and DUES to the Officers and College of Windsor.

SUCH was the piety and bounty of our ancestors, that they thought no work well performed, that was not attended with some charitable donation; especially, if it had relation to the church. Hence it was, that the Statutes of Institution, as also those of Henry VIII. do both of them ordain, that every Knight Companion should at his entrance bestow a certain sum of money, according to his quality and degree: And the Reader may find the sums specified in both bodies of Statutes; only the titles of marquis and viscount do not occur in the former, there being no such titles, when the Statutes of Institution were established.

What use these sums were applied to, and how distributed, appears also by the appointment there set down, viz. towards the relief of the canons of Windsor, the alms knights, and augmentation of the alms deeds there appointed perpetually to be done. To the end that every one entering into this military Order, might thereby more worthily obtain the name, title, and privilege of one of the founders of the Order, It being supposed a worthy and just thing, that whosoever obtained this privilege, should add some small increment to the foundation.

The Sovereign of the Order stands charged with payment also of these fees to the college, yet it is to be understood only of those Sovereigns who were not (before the assumption of their stall) elected into this Order: For we see in the case of King Henry VI. (the first Sovereign that had not before been elected a Knight Companion) there passed an order in Chapter for payment of his fees, upon assum-

p. 75.

This matter of Installation-fees was, upon the Restoration of King Charles II. represented by several petitions to the Sovereign and Knights Companions in Chapter; and in the 22d of his reign, a report was made, whereby such Installation-fees were thought reasonable and requisite to be paid by the Knights Companions, as were contained in an annexed schedule; and the said report and schedule being afterwards read over and approved by the Sovereign, part of it, containing the fees due to the Dean and Canons, Choir and Alms-Knights of Windsor, the Register, Garter, Black Rod, and Officers of Arms, was ordered to be entered upon the Register of the Order in perpetuam rei memoriam, to prevent all future questions and controversies that might otherwise arise; the other part, wherein were set down the fees payable to the rest of the Sovereign's servants, was appointed to be only signed in Garter's bills, with all the other fees as they became due.

In this decree the Installation-fees made payable to the Dean and Canons are these, viz.

A stranger Prince	10	0	0
The Prince of Wales	20	0	0
A Duke	10	0	0
A Marquess	8	6	8
An Earl	6	13	4
A Viscount	5	16	8
A Knight-Bachelor	3	6	8

These fees ought to be paid at the time of the Knight's Installation, whether personal or by proxy, so also for a stranger; and as to the practice, it hath been usuall to pay them by the hands of some one of the Knights-Companions servants, so soon as the ceremonies of installation were ended.

Anciently

338 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Anciently the Alms Knights shared in the fees paid to the College; as is manifest from the Statutes of Institution; and so say the succeeding bodies of the Statutes. Howbeit, since their re-establishment by Queen Elizabeth upon a new constitution, they have received Installation-fees apart from those paid to the College, which by the fore-said establishment of Installation-fees, Ann. 22. Car. II. are made equal and alike to those thereby payable to the Dean and Canons.

The Choir of Windsor, under which not only the Vicars, but the Vergers, Choristers, Sextons and Bell-Ringers are comprehended, reap some benefit by the Installation of a Knight, and have in all times been thought deserving of fees among others, who performed service at these solemnities: Hereupon were they taken into the establishment made An. 22. Car. II. which has settled on them these following fees, viz.

	l.	s.	d.
A stranger King	16	0	0
A stranger Prince	8	10	0
A Prince of Wales	16	0	0
A Duke	8	10	0
A Marquess	6	15	0
An Earl	5	10	0
A Viscount	4	0	0
A Baron	4	0	0
A Knight-Bachelor	3	0	0

Among the Officers, to whom Installation-fees are due, stands first the Register, who by the constitutions of his office, is to have of every Knight Companion, 13 s. 4 d. in money, and a robe, Lib. nig. p. 235. This fee of the robe was for some time neglected, till Dr. Wren, Dean of Windsor and Register of the Order, petitioned the Sovereign, that it might be restored and settled; which was afterwards done in the time of his brother and successor in that office, Dr. Christopher Wren, out of the Sovereign's wardrobe, value 28 l. 1 s. And according to this valuation of a robe, the like value was proposed (by way of composition) upon the Knights Companions Bachelors (the lowest degree degree among the Knights of the Order) to be paid the Register in lieu of the said robe, supposing they could not give him less: And hence were raised the proportions, for each several degree of honour, upon those who should be admitted into this most noble Order, viz.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR 339

Baron	13	4	30	0	0
Viscount	13	4	32	0	0
Earl	13	4	34	0	0
Marquess	13	4	36	0	0

King Charles I. in the 14th of his reign, when his son Prince Charles had been installed, was graciously pleased to think it most reasonable, on the Register's behalf, and ordered, that at every Installation of a Prince, the Register should receive for his fee, 13s. 4d. and 40l. in lieu of his robe, and that Prince Charles should pay him the said sums, which was accordingly done: And the same were since settled on this Officer by the establishment of Installation-fees made the 22<sup>d</sup> of Car. II. and also the same sum ordered to be paid for the Installation of a stranger King; and for a stranger Prince, 38l. 13s. 4d. But those thereby made due from Knights subjects of other degrees, are the same as above.

Next to the Register does Garter claim both droits and fees, who hath a greater share of business than any other Officer of the Order. As to this Officer, it was ordained by the constitutions of his office, That as often as any Knight should be installed, he might challenge for himself the garments worn by him, immediately before his investiture with the surcoat of the Order, Lib. nig. p. 236. And the constant practice hath interpreted this to be the Knight's upper garment, antiently a short gown, of later times a cloak, but now a coat; which he puts off in the Chapter-house, when the investiture begins: and heretofore Garter immediately put it on, and wore it during the whole ceremony of Installation. Sometimes Garter had not this garment in kind.

340 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

kind, but received a fine in lieu thereof, or a composition in money, according to the estate of the Knight Companion.

But as this upper garment at length grew richer, so the composition grew higher: For, by order of King Charles I. at the Installation of his son Prince Charles, *Gar*ter received for his fee 40*l.* and for the composition of his upper garment 60*l.* in the whole 100*l.* And by the establishment of Installation-fees (Ann. 22. Car. II.) the composition set on each Knight Companion, for his upper garment, was thus rated, proportionably less than what was paid for the said Prince, viz.

A Knight Batchelor	_____	30	0	0

Besides this droit or composition, there hath in all times been paid to *Gar*ter, by every Knight Companion, a fee for his Installation, proportioned also to his state and dignity, which was likewise brought to the following certainty by the said establishment, viz.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 341

The Black Rod's ancient fee, like all other fees, hath in succeeding times been augmented: For the fee paid him at the installation of Prince Charles, ann. 14. Car. I. was 40*l* and by the foresaid establishment he hath allowed him, as follows, from each Knight Companion.

		l.	s.	d.
A stranger King	—	20	0	0
A stranger Prince	—	20	0	0

A Viscount	—	14	0	0
A Baron	—	12	0	0
A Knight Batchelor	—	10	0	0

The Officers of Arms likewise have by custom received fees, as a reward of their attendance and service at these solemnities; which having been encreased by the bounty of the givers, were by the said late establishment, made the same with those allowed the Black Rod; only in the fee of a stranger King, they have an addition of 10*l*. more, his fee to them being 30*l*.

In the said list of Installation-fees established ann. 22. Car. II. we find admitted, fees or benevolences to the Sovereign's servants, to be given in, under the hand of Garter, with the other fees payable at installations, and to be paid by every Knight, according to ancient custom. The table of such fees, is as follows, viz.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 343

The fees due for stranger's installations, being by the Statutes the Sovereign's charge, were usually paid out of the Exchequer by a Privy Seal directed to the Lord Treasurer, until the 13th of King Charles I. when an annual pension, as has been observed already, was settled, for defraying not only the ordinary, but also extraordinary charges of the Order.

Sir Henry de Vic, when Chancellor, made some scruple of paying the fees due to the College, upon the installation of strangers: But the College, in conjunction with the Register, Garter, and Black Rod, petitioned the Sovereign for their accustomed fees, who thereupon appointed four Knights Companions, to consider the matter of the said petition, and upon their report, was pleased to approve and confirm the same, and ordered the Chancellor to pay to the College and Officers, out of the said annual pension of 1200*l.* the several sums following, for the stranger Princes then lately installed Knights Companions.

But

344 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

And though the Sovereign hath discharged the Installation-fees due from strangers, yet they themselves, or their Proctors for them, did always bestow particular largesses and rewards upon the College, the Officers of the Order, and of Arms, the Alms-Knights, and others who attended, and performed their duty at this great solemnity.

Further it is necessary to observe, that the Statutes of this most noble Order expressly provide, that the Knights achievements shall not be permitted to be hung up, until the dues and fees enjoined by the Statutes to be paid to the College be first discharged; and by Chapter, ann. 22. Char. II. it was ordained, that not any of the achievements of an elect Knight, shall be set up in the chapele of Windsor, before he be installed, and the fees of installation paid. Lib. Car. p. 81.

Lastly, it is a duty incumbent on each Knight Companion, to provide that, at his decease, his mantle and other ensigns of the Order should be delivered to the Dean and Chapter of Windsor, to be laid up in honourable remembrance of them to whom they belonged; for so it is decreed by several Chapters of the Order, and by a Statute made in Queen Elizabeth's reign, the Knights Companions were bound by oath to take care by their wills, that after their decease, all the ornaments which they had received should be restored, the robes to the College, and the jewells to the Sovereign that gave them, and these robes or maniles became a certain and unquestionable right, or due to the Dean and Canons; and by them were reserved either for publick use of the Knights Companions when they casually came to Windsor, or accounted for to the College, according to the appointment of the Dean and Canons; and many examples of the Knights Companions strict compliance with these orders are entered in the College books, tho' they have not always been punctually observed; and one instance is remembred, that the mantle of Sir Henry Lee being not sent to the College, happened to fall into low hands, and was openly exposed to sale, to the no small dishonour of the Order.

To inforce a due compliance with this necessary Statute, Decrees were made in subsequent Chapters, viz. ann. 4 & 13 Car. I. And in Chapter at the feast of St. George, ann. 1667. reg. 19. Car. II. Statutum est ut exterior vestis, viz. mantellum singulorum Commilitonum defunctorum, Collegio Windesor. in usum Sacellanorum nobilissimi Ordinis mitterentur: Again, two years after, viz. Ann. 1669. was it decreed in Chapter, that the mantle of each Knight Companion, and the book of Statutes should be sent to Windsor immediately after his decease, and that the Chancellor of the Order should be obliged by letter to their heirs and executors, to put them in mind of sending them thither accordingly, and a late instance of a due compliance with these orders, is that of the present Earl of Orford, who in conformity to these laws of the Order, sent the mantle of the late right hon. Sir Robert Walpole to the College, soon after his decease.

est

CHAPTER XXI.

Of the Investiture of STRANGERS, elected Knights Companions.

FORASMUCH as Strangers elect are usually emperors, kings, or sovereign princes; the necessity of whose affairs oblige them to abide in their own dominions, and seldom or rarely permit them to receive a personal installation in the College of the Order; therefore several privileges were thought fit, by the wisdom of the founder of this most noble Order, to be offered and established in their favour; as principally, the giving them honourable notice of their elections; allowing convenient time of consideration for acceptance; affording them investiture in their own countries, and permitting their installations to be performed at Windsor by substitutes or deputies.

It was therefore by the statutes of the Institution ordained, that when any such were chosen into the Order, they should be certified of their elections by the Sovereign; and besides, that at his charge, the garter should be sent over to them, with the mantle and Statutes of the Order, sealed with the common seal. And this to be done with all convenient speed, speed, so that they might have notice thereof, at least within four months, from the time of election, to the end they might advise and determine with themselves, (from consideration had of the tenour of the statutes) whether they would receive or refuse the honour of this most noble Order.

In pursuance of these directions, it became customary for the Sovereign, together with his letters to the elect stranger giving signification of his election, to send (and that by way of solemn embassy) the habit and ensigns of the Order, as also a book of the statutes; and in case the election was accepted, then the elect stranger might receive investiture, before the return of the persons by whom the habit was sent.

The right of bearing these letters signifying election, and returning the Stranger's answer, belongs to Garter; being confirmed to him by the constitutions appertaining to his office.

The statutes of Henry VIII. with more caution than those of the Institution, do ordain, that letters signifying election, and the book of statutes only be sent at first; but not the garter and mantle, till a return be made by certificate of the acceptance, and desire of ratification by the elect stranger. And in the 13th of Car. I. there was a provisional decree passed, that Garter and all others (whom it pleased the Sovereign jointly to commissionate with him) should be most punctually careful, that they deliver not the ensigns of the Order into the hands of any such prince, till they were fully satisfied by his letters patent of his kind and grateful acceptance thereof. Lib. rub. p. 120.

This being duly declared on the part of the Stranger elect, a commission of investiture is issued out by the Chancellor of the Order, at the command of the Sovereign, and is directed most commonly to one of the Knights Companions, or other personage of high rank and distinction, as principal in the legation, to whom is always joined Garter king of arms, to manage the ceremonious part of this solemnity, for by decree in Chapter, ann. 13. Car. I. it is declared, that the carrying the ensigns of the Order to stranger princes doth belong properly to Garter; Norroy also, or some other herald, commonly goes in quality of attendant tendant on this service, not only for the honour of the Sovereign, but of the elect stranger also, in regard the ceremonies of investiture with the habit, require the presence and assistance of two officers.

The Ambassadors or Commissioners appointed to attend upon the stranger elect, being provided with the several ensigns and habits of the Order, repair with convenient speed to the court, or residence of the elect Knight, where all things requisite for the solemnity being prepared, the commission from the Sovereign, under the great seal of the Order is solemnly opened and read, and the investiture is performed by the ambassadors and officers of the Order with great state and solemnity.

Mr. Asmole has given many instances of the ceremonies observed at a stranger prince's receipt of the habits and ensigns of the Order, both with regard to the manner of investiture performed by the Sovereign's ambassadors, and the festivity and triumphs made on the occasion by the new invested stranger, whereby is manifest the high honour, at all times paid by the greatest Emperors, Kings, and sovereign princes of Europe to this illustrious, and most noble Order of the Garter: To that Author therefore we refer the reader, that may desire further information relating to these pompous solemnities; and to come down to the present times shall only observe, that in the year 1741, and since the last installation of Knights Companions, there have been elected Knights Companions of this most noble Order, the following stranger princes.

1. Frederick, prince of Hesse, March 20, 1741.
2. Frederick, duke of Saxe Gotha, May 2, 1741.
3. Frederick, duke of Saxe Weissenfelds, April 15, 1745. Since deceased.

Neither of these princes have yet been installed at Windsor, as is before observed, p. 270. but have been invested with the ensigns of the Order at their respective courts; the investiture of the prince of Hesse was performed at Hanover, June 29, 1741, O. S. in the presence of the Sovereign in this wise:

His

348 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

His majesty, Sovereign of the most noble Order of the Garter, was pleased to give his commands to Mr. Anstis, Garter king of arms, then at Court, to wait upon his most serene highness prince Frederick of Hesse-Cassel, with a copy of the statutes of the Order; which his highness having considered, did, by an instrument under his hand and seal, promise to observe in every article not contrary to the religion professed by him, or derogatory to any rights or privileges of the sacred Roman Empire. The Sovereign having appointed the ceremonies of the investiture to be performed at five in the afternoon in the great gallery before the court, there was a chair of state placed in the middle of that spacious room, and near to it a little table, whereon the mantle, hood, and collar of the Order, with the George appendant to it, were laid. At the hour appointed the Sovereign seated himself in that chair, whereof notice was forthwith sent to his most serene highness, who attended in a room near adjoining with Garter king of arms habited in his mantle, and with the other ensigns of his office, who immediately thereon took up the Garter and George, both enamelled and set with diamonds, on a crimson velvet cushion; and upon his entry into the great gallery, made his obeisance to the Sovereign, and again when he had proceeded on about half the distance towards the chair of state, and again at the approach near to it: His serene highness followed, making the like reverences. Then the Marquis de la Foreſt, great chamberlain of Hanover, who stood near to the chair of state, drew his own sword by the Sovereign's command, wherewith his majesty conferred on the prince, then kneeling, the honour of knighthood. Then Garter king of arms on his knee presented the garter adorned with diamonds to his majesty, who put it on the prince's left leg, and which was buckled on by Garter king of arms, reading the admonition in this case; and then Garter king of arms, in the like posture presented the George adorned also with diamonds, hanging to a blue ribbon, to the Sovereign, who put it over the prince's shoulder, while Garter king of arms read the admonition. Then his most serene highness the prince, with the great chamberlain of Hanover, and Garter king of arms, making their reverences, withdrew, and through a side door returned to the room above-mentioned near adjoining, where the prince being first disrob'd of his upper habits and sword, was invested with the crimson velvet surcoat of the Order by

by Garret king of arms, who read the proper admonition, and was then also girt by him with the sword and hangers of the Order; whereupon the prince was pleased to take up the velvet cap with the plumes of feathers, and to carry it in his own hands, and then an entry was made into the long gallery with the like ceremonies as at first. The Sovereign being then standing before his chair of state, the escutcheon of his majesty's arms and titles was held behind it, and his most serene highness standing on the sovereign's right hand, near the table where the habits and ensigns of the Order above-mentioned had been formerly laid, and having the escutcheon of his arms and stiles held behind him, Garret king of arms took up the great mantle of the Order, and invested the prince therewith, reading the admonition accustomed, and over it placed, on the prince's right shoulder, the hood, bringing the tippet athwart his breast in the usual manner, and tied on the great collar with the george pendant thereto, reading the admonition enjoined upon that occasion, and then placed the cap with the plumes of feathers on the prince's head, who made his low reverences to the Sovereign. There was a numerous appearance at this ceremony of persons of quality of both sexes, in very rich habits.

CHAPTER XXII.

Of the Degradation of a KNIGHT COMPANION.

HAVING thus amply treated of the several particulars of honour relating to this most noble Order, we come next to observe, that Knights that have been thus ennobled, have sometimes forfeited the same; and to treat briefly, in what manner such Knights Companions have been degraded from this principal height of honour, and deprived of the dignity of this most noble Order of Knighthood.

350 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

High-Treason against the Sovereign and kingdom, has always been deemed an offence so heinous, as not only to merit the loss of life but honour also, and thereupon when sentence has been ready to pass on a Knight for so great a crime, degradation from honour has sometimes preceded, and this Mr. Selden saith is done in respect to the honour of Knighthood in general; lest so much ignominy as accompanied the judgment for such an offence, should lie on any one that was a Knight when he suffered it.

The ceremony of such degradation has formerly consisted in a solemn taking away the sword of the Knight, and chopping off his spurs, the chief ensigns of his honour; and sometimes with the addition of tearing his coat of arms from his body, and putting on another coat whereon his arms were reversed; as also bruising every piece of the Knight's armour, and casting it aside. But to speak more particularly,

The ensigns of this noble Order are not to be withdrawn from a Knight Companion, unless he be found guilty of some of those points of reproach mentioned in the second article of King Henry VIII's Statutes, viz. Heresy, Treason, or flying from Battle.

When a Knight Companion is found guilty of any of these offences, and is in the dominions of the Sovereign, he is usually degraded at the next Chapter after; and therefore, where the Sovereign intends to have this ceremony put in execution, after he hath acquainted the Knight Companions therewith, he commands Garter to attend such of them as are appointed to go to the convict Knight, who in a solemn manner, first take from him his George and ribband, and then his garter. And at the following feast of St. George, (or sooner if the Sovereign appoint) publication of his crimes and degradation is made by Garter, and a warrant issued out to him, for taking down the achievements of the Knight, which is performed in the ensuing order.

First Garter, in his coat of arms, usually before morning prayer, in the grand feast, or feast of installation be then held, standing on the highest step ascending to the brazen desk, (placed in the middle of the choir in St. George's chapel at Windsor) the Officers of Arms standing about about him, and the Black Ro! also present, reads aloud the instrument for publishing the Knight's degradation. This being read, one of the Heralds deputed thereunto, being placed on the back of the hall of the convict Knight, when Garter pronounces these words, viz. be expelled, and put from among the arms, &c. takes his crest, and violently casts it down into the choir, and after, his banner and sword; and when the publication is read out, all the Officers of Arms spurn the achievements out of the choir into the body of the church; first the sword, then the banner, and last of all the crest; so on, out of the West door, thence through the castle gate, and then thrown into the ditch; and the last degradation of a Knight of the Garter, was that of the late Duke of Ormond, Ann. 1. Geo. I.

The HISTORY and ANTIQVITIES of WINDSOR. 351

Nor has degradation alone been thought sufficient; and therefore in a Chapter held 32 Henry VIII. it was determined, that wheresoever the actions and names of such offenders should be found in the books of the Order, these words (Vah Proditor) should be written in the margin as a mark of ignominy, and by which means the Registers also would be preserved fair, and not defaced with razures and blots.

CHAPTER

CHAPTER XXIV.

Of the MONUMENTS, and famous PERSONS buried in St. George's Chapel.

IN the preceeding part of this History, that treats of this Chapel, mention is made of the Interment of several Princes in this Church, viz. Henry VI. Edward IV. Henry VIII. his Queen Jane Seymour, Charles I. and a still-born Child of Queen Anne, when Princess of Denmark. Of these Princes I shall make brief mention before I proceed to the Monumental Inscriptions.

King Henry VI. was buried in the South Isle of this Chapel, near the Choir-door: This Prince, after a Life of Piety, and Reign of Trouble, died in the Tower of London, May 21. Ann. Dom. 1472. or according to the more general opinion, was there murdered by Richard Duke of Gloucester: His Corpse was the next day carried to St. Paul's Church, and from thence conveyed by water to the Abbey of Chertsey in Surry, and buried; from hence it was removed, in the Reign of Richard III. to this Choir, and a second time buried, In mense Augusti effossus est corpus Regis Henrici sexti, et usque novam Ecclesiam Collegiatam de Windzovr est translatus, ibi honorifice receptus, et cum maxime solemnitate iterum tumulatus, ad australem partem summi Altaris. *Rossi Warwic. Histon. Reg. Angl. p. 217.**

This Author farther intimates, that this Prince's Body was afterwards removed from Windsor, and buried a third time, iterum tertio creditur a pluribus sepeliendus, p. 210. And Stowe, in his Chronicle, says his Tomb was removed from Windsor, and it was not commonly known what became of his Body.

* Rossi Warwicensis Historia Regum Angliæ, was first published at Oxford by Mr. Thomas Hearne, Ann. 1716, and reprinted at the Theatre for J. Pote. 1745.

It is notorious, from the sanctity of this Prince's life, and the circumstances of his death, a general opinion prevailed, that Miracles were wrought through his Intercession, and his Relicks were had in great veneration by the People, insomuch, that King Henry VII. applied to the Court of Rome for his admission into the Calendar of the Saints of that Church, and also for a licence from the Pope to remove the Body from Windfor to Westminster Abbey, to be buried with great Solemnity, and probably in his new-erected Chapel: The exorbitant demands of the Church of Rome however, did not agree with the temper of King Henry VII. and therefore, as the first Intention was dropped, the latter also of removing the Royal Body was laid aside; though the Pope's Bull was obtained for that purpose, and may be found in the Publick Acts. Rymeri Fæd. Vol. 13. p. 104.

From this application, and return of the Pope's Bull, the notion might arise, and gain credit, that the Royal Body was actually removed, yet it is evident, this purpose of Henry VII. was never put in execution, from the Will of that Prince, in which, speaking of Westminster Abbey, he says, That we propose right shortly to translate into the same, the bodie and reliques of our Uncle of blessed Memorie King Henry VI. Farther also, King Henry VIII. by his Will before-mentioned, pag. 57. speaking of his own Interment in this Chapel, ordains, That the Tombs and Aultars of King Henry VI. and also of King Edward IV. be made more princely in the Place they now be, and at our charge; which certainly this Prince would never have ordered, had the Body of Henry VI. been before removed; and it appears at present, though much defaced by time, that the whole Arch near which this Prince is buried, was according to this direction in Henry the VIIIth's Will, sumptuously decorated, and adorned with the Royal Ensigns, and other Devices peculiar to that Prince, and the Royal Arms are neatly cut and blazoned on the Centre Stone of the Arch.

Leaving then this Prince (to whom Learning is so greatly indebted to rest quiet in his grave, I shall only add this his short Character, from the same Historian, Rex iste Henricus sextus ut crevit ætate, crevit summe liter et virtutibus, omni ætate discretionis capace Deo & beatæ Virginis Mariæ

King Edward IV. Rival and Successor to Henry VI. lies on the opposite, or North side of the Altar, under a large Stone of Touch, over which is erected a Monument of Steel, polished and gilt, (but now impaired by time) in the form of a Tower with Gates, Port-holes, &c. of curious workmanship in the Gothick, or ancient Taste: The Trophies of Honour over this Prince's Grave were richly embroidered with Pearl and Gold, interwoven with Rubies, and hung secure till the general Plunder of this Royal Chapel, (which I have been so often obliged to mention) Anno 1642. at which time, these Ensigns of Royalty became the prey of Men, whose Zeal was Profit, equally void of every religious and civil Regard.

There never was any Epitaph or Inscription on this Tomb; one has indeed appeared in Print from a Book in the College of Arms, which may be expected to be inserted here, though it argues the bad Taste of the Age in which it was wrote, by the Poetry, and low strained Encomiums.

The Burial of these two Kings, in this Chapel, under the same Roof, and the unhappy Fate of King Henry, is by Mr. Pope's plaintive Muse, in far better Terms expressed in these words:

*Let softest Strains ill-fated Henry mourn,
 And Palms eternal flourish round his Urn.

 The Grave unites; where ev'n the Great find Rest,
 And blended lie th'Oppressor and Oppress'd.*

Queen Jane Seymour, Wife of King Henry VIII. and Mother of Edward VI. is buried in a Royal Vault in the Choir of this Church; and to obviate a common report raised by Saunders, and other Enemies to the Reformation, it may not be improper to observe on this occasion, that this Queen lived several days after the Birth of Prince Edward; and it appears by her Letter to the Privy-Council, dated Oct. 12, 1537. and other Evidences, that this Queen died, not by any immediate Act, or Order of K. Henry, but of the unhappy consequences of Child-birth, about twelve days after her delivery. (Guthrie, p. 1074.)

King Henry VIII. is also buried in the same Vault, against the eleventh Stall, on the Sovereign's side, which he appointed by his Will to be made, and his Body to be entered in the Queere of Windsor, midway between the Statte and the High Altar with the body of his true and loving wief Queen Jane: And farther, he mentions an honourable Tomb then began, and far forward for his interment; which, if it be not not finished in his life-time, he directs his Executors to finish and complete with all convenient speed, Vide pag. 57. of this History. King Henry died Jan. 28. Ann. Dom. 1546. and was interred in this Choir with great State and Solemnity, as will appear in the Note*.

King

* His body remaining privately in a chamber, was there cered and put into a coffin of lead, while a sumptuous hearse of virgin's wax, was prepared within the Chapel at Whitehall, with six goodly pillars, weighing, by estimation, two thousand pounds; under which hearse was a canopy of rich cloth of gold, whose valences were half of gold, and half black silk, into which the corpse was conveyed, covered with a pall of cloth of tissue, an altar being erected at the East end, richly adorned with black velvet, and escutcheons of the king's arms. The hearse was railled about with timber covered with black cloth, with which the Chapel, Cloister, Hall, and Chamber, were likewise hung. Within the rail, were seats for the twelve Lords, Mourners, to kneel or sit; and here the corpse remained from the 2d of February to the 14th, served with day and night watches, a herald standing at the West end of the hearse, and desiring the people to pray, saying, "You shall, of your charity, pray for the soul of the most famous Prince King Henry VIII. our late most gracious King and Master."

On the 14th of February, about ten in the morning, the king's body set forward towards Windfor, in a stately chariot, his effigies lying on the coffin, with the true imperial crown on the head, and under it a night cap of black satin, set full of precious stones, and apparelled with robes of crimson velvet, furred with minever, powdered with ermine, the collar of the garter, with the order of St. George about the neck; a crimson satin doublet embroidered with gold, two bracelets of gold about the wrists, set with stones and pearl; a fair armouring sword by the side, the sceptre in the right hand, and the ball in the left, a pair of scarlet hose, crimson velvet shoes, gloves on the hands, and several diamond rings on the fingers, drawn by eight great horses, trapped with black, adorned with escutcheons, and a shaffedon on their heads, on each of which rode a child of honour, carrying a bannerole of the King's arms.

Thus, with an exceeding great train of four miles in length, the body was conducted to Syon, where it was received, at the church door, by the Bishops of London, Bristol, and Gloucester, who performed dirige that night and next morning. The corpse being brought into the Church, was placed in a hearse like that at Whitehall, but the effigies was conveyed into the vestry.

The next morning, about six of the clock, after the third sound of the trumpets, the whole company, (the Marquess of Dorset being chief mourner) proceeded for Windfor, and brought the corpse to the Castle College-gate, about one of the clock, from which place, to the West door of the Church, a large way was railled in on both sides, and hanged with black cloth, and escutcheons, the Church and Choir being likewise hanged round with black. The Bishops of Winchester, London, and Ely in their Pontificalibus, with the Sub-dean of the King's Chapel, and all the singing men of the same. and the Dean of Windfor, with all the Canons, and their whole Choir, received the corpse at the aforesaid place; whence, after censing, and such like ceremonies, it was carried into the Church, the singing men of the King's Chapel, on the right hand, and they of Windfor, on the left, preceding it. Thus the effigies was first conveyed into the Choir, by divers knights and gentlemen, and then the coffin, by sixteen yeomen, with black staves in their hands, was brought into a hearse, made in the midst of the Choir, under which was provided a goodly vault to bury the corpse in, over which was laid a grate, whereon stood the said hearse with the coffin and picture. This hearse was like that at Whitehall, only it consisted of thirteen great pillars, and weighed, by estimation, 4000 pounds, having about it the twelve banners of descents. Thus, the usual ceremonies being performed, the body remained there that night.

Wednesday being the 16th of February, about four o'clock, began the Communion of the Trinity, performed by the Sub-dean of Windfor, and the Sub dean of the King's Chapel, where, after

361 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

King Charles I. was buried also in this Choir, in the same Vault with King Henry VIII. and his Queen; and as some Insinuations have been spread abroad, as if the Royal Corps had not been buried here, or was afterwards removed, it will I hope be excusable to insert, that I remember to have seen a few years since, a Manuscript Memorandum of Mr. Sewell, a man of probity, and above forty years Chapter Clerk of Windsor College, to this purpose, That, upon the opening this Vault, for the interment of a still-born Child of the Princess of Denmark, afterwards Queen Anne, he went into the Vault, and there saw the Coffins of King Henry VIII. and Queen Jane, also the Coffin of King Charles I. covered with Velvet, with a label on the cover, whereon was marked KING CHARLES 1648. that the Velvet of the Coffin and Pall was found, and no ways rent; and that the Pall laid over the Coffin as at first flung in at the Burial; that the Vault was small, and the new-born Child was laid upon the Coffin of King CHARLES I. This has been again ascertained this 8th of March, 1748-9, by a Relation of Mr. Sewell's, who lived many years with him, often heard him declare the same, and being his Executrix, had this Paper among others, for some time in her possession; other persons of credit at Windsor were also in the Vault with Mr. Sewell, neither has it ever been doubted by the Officers of the Church, that the Corps was here buried.

Thus much is judged necessary to observe on this occasion, more especially as a Noble Historian*, gives some colour for these suspicions, by intimating, that on a search made by order of K. Charles II. after the Restoration, the Body could not be found: If that Prince did give orders for that purpose, they were certainly badly executed, and probably with design an offering of gold, by the chief Mourner of the Knights of the Garter to St. George, and of the king's hatchments, banneroles and banners, and other trophies, as also of the King's hearse richly trapped, came four Gentlemen-ushers, and took away the pall of cloth of tissue (the picture being conveyed away before by six Knights into the Vestry) after which, sixteen strong yeomen of the Guards took the coffin, and with five strong linnen towels, which they had for their fees, let it into the vault, near unto the body of Queen Jane Seymour, his third wife, the grate being first taken away. Then the Lord Chamberlain, the Lord great Master, Mr. Treasurer, Mr. Comptroller, and the serjeant porter, breaking their white slaves upon their heads in three parts, as did likewise all the Gentlemen ushers, threw them into the grave, when Garter, assisted by the Bishops of Canterbury and Durham, declared the state and the name of the most goodly Prince their Master, King Edward VI. Thus the Funeral ending, the trumpets sounded in the Rood-loft, and the company departed.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 363

sign for reasons of State, and a report made to the King, more agreeable to the mind of his Ministers, than the Royal Intention, and this probably might lead the Noble Author into this error; neither on this occasion, is it possible to forbear reflecting, how far the prejudice of men may carry them, Many having been forward to spread this story with an air of Triumph, and rather than let this unfortunate Prince rest quiet in his grave, have endeavoured to fix an everlasting Mark of Infamy on those Men, whose Principles they avouch, and whose Names, without farther addition of guilt, appear sufficiently on the dark side in History.

After the interment of the Child of Queen Anne above-mentioned, the Royal Vault was ordered to be closed up, and has never since been opened.

From this account of the Royal Princes buried in this Chapel, I shall proceed to the Monuments, and begin at the East end of the South Isle, and take them in regular order, as they appear. In the Chapel at this end is buried the most noble Edward Earl of Lincoln, Lord High Admiral in the Reign of Q. Elizabeth, for above thirty years; a Nobleman wise, valiant, and fortunate, high in the favour of his Royal Mistress, and after a life spent with great Honour, his Lordship died, Anno 1584, and was buried in this Chapel, and a handsome Monument is erected to his Memory by his Lady, who also is here buried; the Monument is of Alabaster, with Pillars of Porphyry, which we here present to the Reader, by the favour of the most noble, the present Earl of Lincoln.

On the Basis round the sides is this Inscription:

XII.

Adjoining, on a Gravestone are the Initial Letters S. M.
and underneath,

*Here Shrined are, beneath this Marble Stone,
The Precious Relicks of that little One,
Whose Wit, Grace, Devotion soon out went,
His Tender Years: they drew Astonishment;
For till the cruel hand of Death had stroke him,
You for a Masked Cherub might have took him
Six Years he labour'd, Then did fast;
To keep the Sabbath of Eternal Rest.
And that's what many Thousand able Men,
Are toyling for till Threescore Years and Ten,
This Blessed Child, attain'd to in Years Seven;
And now enjoys it, with the Saints in Heaven.*

serve a Memorial of him, after ten

Weeks Pilgrimage, under this Marble,

The Infant in a Cradle, is on a Brass Plate, and underneath are these Verses.

Next to this is another, like to this last mentioned, and inscribed
DOROTHY KING, lent to her Parent
John King, Doctor of Divinitie, Præbendarie of this Chappell, and Maria his Wife, but speedily requir'd again, Octob. 18. 1630.

On a Brass Plate, in the middle of this Stone, are these Verses.

*Here lyes a Modell of frail Man,
A tender Infant, but a Span

Nyne Months imprison'd in the Womb,
Eight on Earths Surface free, the Tombe
Must make compleat her Diarie,
So leave her to Eternity.*

In the small Chapel adjoining, is buried OLIVER KING, Bishop of Bath and Wells, mentioned before p. 26. 66. under an Altar Tomb of Grey Marble; Bishop Godwin in Præsul. Angliæ. doubts if this learned Bishop was buried in this Church, excessit e vivis 24 Jan. 1503. & sepultus creditur a Nonnullis (quod mihi non est verisimile) in Capella Windsor. and the same is supported by a Note in the new Edition of this Author, published lately at Cambridge by Dr. Richardson, legat Testamento Compus ad sepeliendum in Choro Ecclesiæ Bathon. &c. Not to lessen the Strength of these Authorities, it must be confessed however, appearances are certainly against them; the building this Chapel the Tomb, with the antient Altar, and the Decorations yet visible, relating to this Bishop, and his being Register of the Order of the Garter; also the decorations of the Arch in the Isle, with the Paintings and Inscription mentioned p. 66. alluding to the Princes to whom this Bishop was Secretary, are certainly strong indications that this Bishop was buried in this Chaple, which has allways gone by his Name.

VI.

On the pavement, on a small stone.
 Here lies the Body of ELIZABETH COWPER, second Daughter of
Sir Jhn Cowper, who died the 17th of June, 1701.
 Aged seven Years, six Months.

VII.

In the middle of this Chapel is buried the late Reverend and Learned Dr. Waterland, worthy of all honourable remembrance, and upon a black marble is this plain Inscription:

DANIEL WATERLAND, S. T. P. Hujus Ecclesiæ Canonicus, Ob. December 23, 1740. Ætat. 58.

In this Chapel is buried Sir Reginald Bray, so often mentioned in this History, and probably under this very stone, where lies Dr. Waterland; for on preparing the Vault for that Gentleman, a leaden Coffin of antient form and make was found, which, by other appearances also, was judged to be the Coffin of Sir Reginald, and was by order of the Dean immediately arched over with great decency. This Gentleman has no Monument, and probably this Chapel itself was thought the best memorial of this great and faithful servant of the Crown, many years in the service of Margaret, Countess of Richmond and Derby; a principal Instrument in advancing her Son Henry VII. to the Throne, and Promoter of the Marriage of this Prince to Elizabeth, Daughter of King Edward IV. by which the two Royal and Rival Houses of York and Lancaster became happily united. Polydor Vergil, speaking of Sir Reginald, gives him this Character: Vere Pater Patriæ, homo severus, ac ita recti amator, ut si quid interdum peccatum esset, illud acriter in Henrico (Rege) reprehenderet, p. 612. To his great experience in affairs of State, this Gentleman had joined a happy knowledge in Architecture, as this Chapel of St. George, and also the Chapel built by this King at Westminster, in which Sir Reginald had a principal concern and direction, do both sufficiently testify. He died Anno 1502, and was buried in this Chapel, according to his own appointment, as will appear from part of his Will inserted in the Note.*

VIII.

Lower down, in this South Isle, is erected a handsome Monument of grey marble,

To the memory of THEODORE RANDUE Esq;
Who having spent his youth during the Exile of the Royal Family in the service of

Henry Duke of Gloucester,

Was upon the Death of that Prince taken into the service of King Charles the Second.

And in the Year 1673, in consideration of his long and faithful services, by his said Majesty was constituted and appointed Keeper of the Palace of Windsor.

Which Office he executed with the greatest Care and Fidelity, and having spent a long and happy Course in Acts of Bounty, Charity, and Benevolence, departed this Life, April 30. 1724, in the 82d Year of his Age.

And that the Fruits of his Labour might be employed in doing good,
he gave and bequeathed by his last Will and Testament,

* Sir Reynold Bray Knight to be buried in the Church of the College of our Lady and St. George within the Castle of Windsor, at the West ende and South side of the same Church in the Chappell there new made by me for the same entente, also in the honour of Almighty God, oure Saviour, oure Lady St. Mary, and of alle the Saints in heven, and for the helthe of my Soule, and for the Soules of them, that I am mooste bounde to doo and pray fore, and for all Christian Soules, I will that myn Executours immediately after my decease indevoyre themself with all diligence with my goodes, and thissues and Profits of my seid lands and tenements by them to be received and had, to make and perfourme, and cause to be made and perfourmed the work of the newe Works of the Body of the Church of the College of our Lady and St. George within the Castell of Windsore, and the same works by themn hooly and thurgly to be performed and finished, accordyng and after the fourme and entent of the foundation thereof, as well in Stone-work, tymbre, ledde, Iron, glasse, and alle other things necessary and requisite for the utter perfourmance of the same. Also I will that my Executours underwritten immediately after my deceffe shall cause a convenient tombe to be made in the said Chapell upon my grave in all goodly haste after deceffe as may be, if it be not made in my lif. That myn Executours shall cause as much of my lands as shall amount to the yearly value of xl marks above all charges to be graunted and amortised to the Dean and Chanons of the said College of Wynndesore, and their Successors for evermore, so that the same Dean and Chapter and Chanons, and their Successors shall be bound for the same, in suche maner and fourme as shall be thought by myn Executours to be sure, perpetually whiles the world shall endure, at the dore of the said Chapell, where my body shall be buried to xiii poor men or women xiii l. that is to say to every of ym. xl &c.

376 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

the Sum of Two Thousand two Hundred and Fifty Pounds, To be by them employed in such Charities as they should think most for the honour of God, and good of Mankind.

This Monument was erected by the care and direction of the above-named Executors, and the said Sum of Two Thousand Two Hundred and Fifty Pounds, hath been by them applied to the following Uses.

To the Incurables of Bethlehem Hospital the Sum of One Thousand Pounds.

For providing Linnen, and other Relief for the poor Patients in St. Thomas's Hospital, One Thousand Pounds.

And

For making the Addition to Archbishop Laud's Charity more effectual, Two Hundred and Fifty Pounds.

On a Grave-st on at the entrance of the South door, is the following Inscription:

In this Chapel is buried also, the most loyal Henry, Marquis of Worcester, as appears by the following Inscription on a Marble Table:

*' This Chappell (belonging to his Ancestors) wherein lye buried, not ' only the Bodies of those, whose Tombs are erected, but likewise that of ' Henry, late Marquess of Worcester, his Grandfather (so eminent for ' the great Supplies of Men and Money afforded to his Sovereign King
' Charles the Martyr, whose Cause he strenuously espoused) and for the keep' ing his Castle of Raglan with a strong Garrison at his own sole expence,
' till it became the last in England or Wales, but one, that held out against
' the Rebels, and then not yielding it, but after a long Siege, and to the ' Lord Fairfax, Generalissimo of the Parliament Forces, in revenge of ' which Obstinacy, as they termed it, it was demolished, and all his Woods
' and Parks (which were vast) cut down and destroyed, and his Estate
' sold, by the Act of the then rebellious Parliament, to the great Damage
' of himself and Posterity: And (wherein also lyes the Body of ' Henry the Restorer's first borne Sonne.)*

*' This Chappell being in the Time of the aforesaid Rebellion, upon the ' forementioned Account, much defaced, and the Brass Work, to a consi' derable Value, plunder'd and imbezzeled, was restor'd to its primitive ' Form and Shape, and what was wanting thereunto supply'd, at the Ex-

388 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Whole Soule, we hope, abides in Bliss of heavenly Joy and Rest,
With Prophets and with Patriarchs, in faithful Abraham's Brest,
His vertuous Steps in Lyfe on Earth, God grant we may ensue,
To Gods Glory, who grant that we his godly Wette pursue.

XXXIV.

On a brass Plate fixed on a Grave stone, in the North Isle was inscribed:

William Wilson, late of Wellsbourne, in the County of Lincolne, Gent. departed this Lyfe, within the Castle of Windsor, in the Yeare of our Lord 1587. the 27th Day of August, and lyeth buried in this Place.

XXXV.

Here underneath lies interr'd the Body of WILLIAM WILSON, Doctour of Divinitie, and Prebendarie of this Church by the space of 32 Years. He had Yssue by Isabell his Wife six Sons and six Daughters. He dy'd the 15th of May, in the Year of our Lord 1615. of his Age the 73, beloved of all in his Life, much lamented in his Death.

*Who thinkes of Deathe in Lyfe, can never dye,
But mounts through Faith, from Earth to heavenly Pleasure.
Weepe then no more, though here his Body lye,
His Soule's possesse of never ending Trefure.*

On another small Plate, on the same Grave-stone, is this Inscription:

Neere unto this Place lyes buried WILLIAM WILSON, the third Son, who, after a long Tryal of grievous Sicknes, did comfortably yeild up his Spirit in the Yeare of our Lord 1610. of his Age 23.

In this North Isle, is a neat marble Monument, erected to the Memory of Dr. Wade, thus inscribed:

Here lies interred the Body of Mr. WILLIAM WADE, who was remarkable for his Benevolence and true Christian Temper; He received his first Education at Westminster School, from whence he was elected to Trinity College in Cambridge; of which Society he afterwards became a Fellow. And in the Year 1720, was constituted one of the Canons of this Royal Chapel: He had learning and abilities that might have raised him to the highest Stations in the Church; but such was his Modesty, and the Meekness of his Mind, that he chose rather to devote himself to the Practice of all social Virtues in private Life. He died at Bath, the 1st of February, 1732, in the sixty-second Year of his Age. His most affectionate Brother Lieutenant-General George Wade erected this Monument to his Memory.

In the middle of this Isle is a handsome large Chapel, named the North, or Rutland Chapel, mentioned before, p. 68. In this Chapel is a very neat Alabaster Monument, erected to the Memory of Sir George Manners, Lord Roos, in the Reign of King Henry VIII. and the Lady Anne his Wife, Neice unto King Edward IV. A Print of which is here inserted, by the favour of his Grace the present Duke of Rutland: Round the Edge of the Table is cut this Inscription:

sacri Collegii Canon. Qui obiit 8 Die Augusti, Anno Dni. Millesimo quingentesimo nono.

Ejusus anime propicietur Deus. Amen.

In the same Isle also is a Grave-stone from whence the brass Figure has been taken, but this Inscription remains.

Here under this Stone lyeth John Bockle, Preeste, Maister of Arte, Batchelour of Divinitie, who at the Tyme of his Death was one of the secular Canons of Wyndesore, and in his former Lyfe time was Pryor of the Regular Chanons of the dissolved Monastery of Merton in the County of Surrey, who dyed the 15th of Aug. 1559.

There are Remains of other Monuments in this Church, which time or sacrilege have destroyed, or so far defaced, that no account can be taken of them. At this East end hang the Helmet and Crest of Bowyer Esq; Gentleman-usher of the Black Rod to K. Charles II.

And having before advanced, from the appearance of the antient Tomb, and other particulars relating to Richard Beauchamp, Bishop of Salisbury, and first Chancellor of the Order of the Garter, mentioned
p. 65. that he was buried at this East end of this Chapel, I find the same supported by Dr. Richardson in a note to this Bishop's Life, in his Edition of Godwin de Præsul.—Sepultus jacet apud Windsor. ex Epi-

*He liv'd Content with mean Estate,
And long ago prepared to die,
The Idle Person he did hate,
Poor People's Wants he did supply.*

This is the original Inscription. Farther,
Out of a Respect to the Memory of the Deceased, and also to the Honour and Antiquity of the said Guard, this Plate was repaired, enlarged, and engraven at the sole Charge of Edward Phillips, Citizen and Merchant-Taylor of London, and one of the 100 Yeomen of the Guard to King William the III. and Queen Mary the II. of Blessed Memory, and now to her Majesty Queen Anne, in the 6th Year of her Reign, and the 52d Year of his Age, Anno Dom. 1707.

The said Edward Phillips also served King Charles II. and King James II. in the General Post Office, and Yeoman of the Guard to King George I. Obiit the 24th Day of December, in the 69th Year of his Age, Anno Domini 1724.

*Like Brooke he liv'd, and did dispence
His Charity where Need appeared,
He much encouraged Diligence,
And Young and Old with Bounty cheared.
Industry Him to Wealth did raise;
Honesty did his Life adorn;
True Briton He was all his Days;
In Fertile Shropshire was He Born.*

On a handsome Monument, on the lower Pavement, is the following Inscription:

CANONS of WINDSOR.

AS this Work has already exceeded the first intention to an uncommon length, and the Succession of the Canons of St. George's Chapel, in the more early times, has been collected by Mr. Thomas Frith, to Ann. 1625, and printed in Ashmole, & Le Neve's Fasti Eccles. Anglic. of which can be only given a bare Copy, it may be thought of small consequence to reprint them here, therefore the Reader is referred to those Authors for the Succession of the Canons before the Restoration; It is however judged proper to add here, the Christian Names of some Canons inserted, and the Names of Others, not mentioned in either of those Lists, and to take notice that they have been kindly communicated by the Industrious Mr. Brown Willis.

CHAPTER XXVI.

A Discription of the Royal Apartments in WINDSOR CASTLE.

IN the Plan of the Castle, inserted in the former part of this History, the several Apartments are particularly described, both in regard to their exact Situation and true Measurement, the Description therein laid down, I shall follow in this Account, that being the most accustomed method of shewing the Royal Apartments to the Publick.

The Reader will readily perceive these Apartments are on the North side of the Castle, and commonly go under the Name of the Star Building, from the Garter and Star fully displayed in Gold, and fixed in the middle part of the Building on the outside, next to the Terrace.

The usual Entrance is from the upper Court or Ward, thro' a handsome Vestibule, supported by Pillars of the Ionian Order, with some antique Bustos in the several Niches; From hence you pass to the Great Stair Case, which is finely painted with several fabulous Stories, from Ovid's Metamorph. particularly the Story of Phaeton, who is represented on the Dome petitioning Apollo for leave to drive the Chariot of the Sun, and on the Stair case, in large Compartments are the transformation of Phaeton's Sisters into Trees, with this Inscription, Magnis tamen accedit Ausis, and of Cyncus into a Swan; over these, and on the several parts of the Ceiling supported by the Winds, are represented the signs of the Zodiack with basketts of Flowers, beautifully disposed; and at each corner are the Elements of Earth, Air, Fire, and Water, with variety of Representations expressing each Element; also Aurora, with her Nymphs in waiting, giving Water to her Horses. In proper Attitudes in several Parts of this Stair Case are represented Musick, Painting, and other Sciences, and the whole Stair Case is most beautifully disposed and heightened with Gold, and has a View to a back Stair Case, whereon is painted the Story of Meleager and Atalanta.

416 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

The Queen's Guard Chamber is the first Apartment into which you enter: This Room is compleatly furnished with Fire Arms, as Guns, Bayonets, Pikes, Bandeleers, &c. beautifully ranged and disposed into various Forms, with the Star and Garter, the royal Cypher, and other Ornaments intermixed. Over the Chimney is a full Portrait of Prince George of Denmark on horseback, by Dabl. with a View of Shipping, by Vandewell. On the Ceiling is Britannia, in the person of Queen Catherine of Portugal, Consort to King Charles II. seated on a Globe, bearing the Arms of England, and Portugal, with the four Quarters of the World, viz. Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, with their respective Symbols attended by Deities making Offerings to her. The signs of the Zodiack are on the outer part of this beautiful Representation. In different parts of the Ceiling are Mars, Venus, Minerva, and other Heathen Deities, with Zephyrs, Cupids, and other Embellishments properly disposed.

Next you enter The Queen's Presence Chamber: On the Ceiling of this Room is Queen Catherine, attended by Religion, Prudence, Fortitude, and other Virtues, under a Curtain spread by Time, and supported by Zephyrs, with Fame sounding the happiness of Britain, underneath is Justice driving away Sedition, Envy, and other evil Genii. In this Room is a Prometheus by Young Palmer. a Magdalen, by *Sir. 422 The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR.

Many of the Paintings in this Chamber are best seen by the reflection of the Sun.

The Carving of this Room is very beautiful, representing great variety of Fruit, Fish and Fowl, done to the utmost perfection on Lime-wood, by Mr. Gibbons, a famous Statuary and Carver in the Reign of King Charles II.

The King's Audience Chamber. On the Ceiling is represented the Establishment of pure Religion in these Nations, on the Restoration of King Charles II. in the Characters of England, Scotland, and Ireland, attended by Faith, Hope, and Charity, and the Christian Virtues; Religion triumphs over Superstition and Hypocrisy, which are drove by Cupids from before the face of the Church; all which appear in proper attitudes, and the whole highly finished.

The Paintings in this Room are,

The Apostles at our Saviour's Tomb, by Scavoni.

Peter, James, and John, by Michael Angelo.

The Dutchess of Richmond, by Vandyke.

The Canopy of this Room is of green Velvet, embroidered with gold, very rich, set up in the reign of K. Charles II.

The King's Presence Chamber. The Ceiling is Mercury with a Portrait of King Charles II. (an Original, and true likeness) shewing the Monarch to the four Quarters of the World, introduced by Neptune, Fame declaring the Glory of the Prince, and Time driving away Rebellion, Sedition, and their Companions. Over the Canopy is Justice in Stone-colour, shewing the Arms of Britain to Thames and his River Nymphs, with the Star of Venus, and this label, Sydus Carolinum; at the lower end of the Chamber is Venus in a Sea-carr drawn by Tritons and Sea-Nymphs. This Cieling is in all parts beautifully painted, and highly ornamented with gold and Stone-colour.

The Paintings are,

Henry Duke of Gloucester, Brother to King Charles II. by Vandyke.

The

The Countess of Dorset his Governess, by ditto.

Father Paul the Venetian, by Tintaret.

The Tapestry of this Chamber is the History of Queen Atthaliab.

The King's Guard-Chamber. In this Room is a large Magazine of Arms, viz. Pikes, Pistols, Guns, Coats of Mail, Swords, Halberts, Bayonets, Drums, &c. to the amount of some Thousands, all beautifully disposed in Colonades, Pillars, Circles, Shields, and other devices in the most curious manner, ranged by Mr. Harris, late Master-Gunner of this Castle, the same Person who made that beautiful Arrangement of the small Arms in the Great Armory in the Tower of London.

The Ceiling is painted in Water-Colours: In one Circle is Peace and Plenty, and in the other Mars and Minerva. In the Dome lately new erected, is a Representation of Mars, and the whole Room is decorated with Instruments of War adapted to the Chamber. Over the Chimney is a whole Portrait on horseback as big as Life, of Charles XI. King of Sweden, by Wyck.

In this Room the Knights of the Garter dine in great State at an Installation, in the absence of the Sovereign.

St. George's Hall. This Room is set apart particularly to the honour of the most illustrious Order of the Garter, and is perhaps the most noble Chamber in Europe, both with regard to the Building and the Painting, which is here performed in the most Grand Taste. In the Centre of the Ceiling is a large Oval, wherein is represented King Charles II. in the Habit of the Order of St. George, or Garter, attended by England, Scotland, and Ireland: Religion and Plenty holding the Imperial Crown of these Kingdoms over his Head, Mars and Mercury with the Emblems of War and Peace, are on each side the Monarch: In the same Oval is Regal Government supported by Religion and Eternity: Justice, attended by Fortitude, Temperance and Prudence, beating down Rebellion and Faction in a Hydra of evil Genii; in one of which the Painter is said to have introduced the E. of Sb—, a Statesman of that Reign, dispersing Libels. On the lower part of the Ceiling, towards the Throne, in an Octagon, is St. George's Cross, environed with the Garter, within the Star or Glory supported by Cupids, with the Motto, HONI SOIT QUI MAL Y PENSE.

with the Muses attending in full Consort, and other Embellishments relating to the grandeur of the Order. On the back of the State, or Sovereign's Throne, is a large Drapery, whereon is painted, as large as Life, St. George encountering the Dragon, and on the lower border of the Drapery, is inscribed, VENIENDO RESTITUIT REM.

In allusion to King William III. who is painted under a Royal Canopy, in the Habit of the Order, by Sir Godfrey Kneller: The Ascent to the Throne is by five Steps of fine Marble, to which the Painter has made an addition of five more to great perfection, which agreeably deceive the Sight, and induce the Spectator to believe them equally real.

The Measurement of this Room in length, is, as appears by the Plan, 108 feet 8 inches; and the whole North side is taken up with the Triumph of Edward the Black Prince, Son to the renowned Edward III. in the manner of the Romans. The many Conquests of this heroick Prince, are partly mentioned before in this History, and fill the Histories of several Nations in Europe. On the upper part of the Hall is the Royal Edward III. the Conqueror of France and Scotland, the Builder of this Royal Castle, and the illustrious Founder of this most noble Order of the Garter, seated on a Throne, receiving the Kings of France and Scotland Prisoners; the Prince is seated in the middle of the Procession, crowned with Lawrel, and carried by Slaves: preceeded by Captives, and attended by the Emblems of Victory, Liberty, and other Ensignia of the Romans, with the banners of France and Scotland displayed; and, to indulge the Painter's fancy, he has closed the Procession with the fiction of the Countess of Salisbury, in the person of a fine Lady making Garlands for the Prince, and a representation of the Merry Wives of Windsor, made famous by Shakespeare's Muse.

Of

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 425

Of this most glorious Prince, Edward III. and his victorious Son, Sir John Denham, in his excellent Poem, speaks in these words:

*Of Thee Great Edward, and thy Greater Son,
(The Lillies which his Father wore, He won)
And thy Bellona, who thy Consort came
Not only to thy Bed, but to thy Fame;
She to thy Triumph, led one Captive King,
And brought that Son which did the Other bring.*

Cooper's Hill.

Alluding also to Queen Philippa, who in the absence of her Royal Consort in France, was with the King's Army at the Battle of Nevil's-Cross, when the King of Scotland was taken Prisoner; and was Mother of this heroick Prince Edward, who took the King of France Prisoner at the Battle of Poitiers.

But to return; at the lower end of the Hall, is a noble Musick Gallery, supported by Slaves, larger than Life, in proper Attitudes, and is said to represent a Father and his three Sons, who the valiant Black Prince made Captives in his Wars abroad. Over this Gallery, on the lower compartment of the Ceiling, is the Collar of the Order of the Garter, fully displayed, and the Paintings in the several Parts of this Room are highly finished, and heightened with Gold, and allude to the Ensigns of the Garter, to the Honour of which most illustrious Order, this noble Room is particularly set apart and dedicated; and when the Sovereign is present at an Installation, the Knights Companions dine in this Hall of the Order. The Painting was performed by Verrio afore-mentioned, as appears by this Inscription at the lower end over the Musick Gallery.

St. George's Chapel, is next to this Hall, and no less royally adorned, on the Ceiling is the Ascension nobly painted, and the Altar Piece is the Last Supper of our Lord, doneto great perfection. On the North side of this Chapel are the Raising Lazarus from the Dead, the Curing the Sick of the Palsy, with other Miracles of our Saviour, beautifully painted also by Verrio, and among the Spectators the Painter has introduced his own Effigies, with Sir Godfrey Kneller, and Mr. Cooper, who assisted him in these Paintings. The Closets for his Majesty and the Royal Family make the East end of this Chapel, the Canopy, Curtains, and Furniture are of crimson Velvet, with Fringe of Gold, and the Sovereign always goes to Chapel in great State. The carved Work also of this Chapel is worthy the attention of the Curious, done by the famous Artist Gibbons before-mentioned, in Lime tree, representing great variety of Palms, Doves, Pelicans, and other allusions to Scripture History, also the Star and Garter, and other Ornaments, done to the greatest perfection, and this Chapel no less than St. George's Hall equally strikes the Spectator with veneration and surprize.

From this Chapel you return into the Queen's Guard Chamber, where you first entered, and this closes the several State Apartments, which are only shewed to the Publick, the other Apartments are not open but when the Court resides at Windsor, and consist of many beautiful Chambers, with Paintings by the best Masters; and it must be confessed, besides the great beauty of the Situation, the several Apartments that compose this glorious Palace, are spacious and noble, worthy of a Monarch of Great Britain, and are not exceeded by the most boasted Palaces of Foreign Princes.

The Inner, or Horn Court, as commonly called, from a Pair of Stag's Horns of exceeding largeness, taken in the Forest, and set up in this Court, is usually looked into by Strangers. This Court is painted in bronze and Stone-colour; on one side is represented a Roman Battle, on the opposite a Sea-fight, with the Images of Jupiter, Neptune, Mercury, and Pallas. In the Gallery is K. David playing before the Ark, with other Paintings, and the whole Court is ornamented with several Battles of of the Greeks and Romans. On the East Front, is cut in Letters of Gold:

CAROLUS SECUNDUS REX, Anno 1677.

From this Court, by a noble flight of Steps, you enter the King's Guard-Chamber before mentioned; In a cavity, under these Steps, and fronting this Court, is a figure of Hercules in like Painting: On the Dome over the Steps, is painted the Battle of the Gods, and on the sides of the Stair-case is a representation of the Four Ages of the World, and two Battles of the Greeks and Romans in Fresco.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 429

To the foregoing History, let farther be added the following Account of the late Chapter of the Order of the Garter, held by the Sovereign and Knights-Companions.

KENSINGTON, June 22 1749.

THE Sovereign having determined to hold a Chapter of the most Noble Order of the Garter, and the Knights Companions resident in and near London, being summoned to attend here this Day, there appeared habited in their Mantles his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, and the Knights herein after mentioned, with the Dean of Windsor the Register, and Garter King of Arms, in their respective Mantles, and wearing their different Badges, who waited the Sovereign's coming; and upon his Appearance, Garter, by the Sovereign's Command, called over the Names of the Knights Companions present, beginning with the Juniors in the Order, who thereon proceeded to the Gallery where the Chapter was appointed to be held in the following Method, the Juniors first; and the Knights, whose Companions in the Stalls opposite to them were absent, went single.

Duke of Kingston,

Duke of Portland,

Duke of St. Albans,

Duke of Richmond,

Duke of Newcastle,

Duke of Grafton,

Duke of Dorset,

His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland,

Garter King of Arms, having on his Right Hand the Dean of Windsor, Register of the Order.

The SOVEREIGN.

Upon entering the Gallery, the Knights stood behind their several Chairs (placed there as at the Time of holding of the Privy Council) till the Sovereign had seated himself in the Chair of State at the upper End of the Table, and then, by his Majesty's Leave, took their Chairs. Then Garter with Reverence acquainted the Sovereign, that the Honourable Henry Bellenden, Esq; attended without the Door, and most humbly beseeched His Majesty to be admitted to take the Oath of Office, as Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod of this most Noble Order; and he was accordingly introduced in his Mantle; and being come to the Sovereign, he kneeling down took the Oath enjoined by the Statutes; His Majesty having put the Gold Chain with the Jewel about his Neck, was pleased to confer on him the Honour of Knighthood; then having kissed His the Sovereign's Hand, he withdrew to the Bottom of the Table.

430. The History and Antiquities of WINDSOR

Garter then in like Manner having acquainted the Sovereign, that the Lord Bishop of Salisbury attended without the Door, and most humbly besought his Majesty, that he might be admitted to the Office of Chancellor of this most noble Order; which is annexed to that Bishoprick.

And his Lordship in his Episcopal Habit was introduced accordingly between Garter and Black Rod, Black Rod carrying on a Velvet Cushion the Mantle, Gold Chain and Purse; and being come to the Sovereign, Black Rod invested his Lordship with the Mantle; and the Oath of Office being administered to him kneeling, Black Rod on his Knee presented to His Majesty the Gold Chain and Jewel, which His Majesty put round his Neck; and his Lordship having received from the Sovereign the Purse, and kissed His Majesty's Hand, placed himself on the Left Hand of the Chair of State.

Then the Chancellor, by the Sovereign's Command, declared His Royal Pleasure, that the Six * vacant Stalls in the Royal Chapel at Windsor, should now be filled; and each Knight having wrote down the Names of nine Persons whom they esteemed most qualified to be elected in a Scrutiny; and having severally subscribed their hands thereto, the same was collected by the Chancellor, and presented by him on his Knee to the Sovereign, who after inspecting them, commanded the Chancellor to declare his Royal Highness Prince George, eldest Son of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, duly elected.

The Second Scrutiny was in like Manner presented to the Sovereign, who after inspecting the same, commanded the Chancellor to declare his most Serene Highness the Margrave of Anspach duly elected.

* vide Pag. 270. 347.

The HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES of WINDSOR. 431.

Garter then was commanded to bring in his Grace the Duke of Leeds, who being introduced by Garter, kneeled down before the Sovereign, and being knighted with the Sword of State retired; and the Third Scrutiny being collected by the Chancellor, and delivered to the Sovereign in the former Manner, the Chancellor by the Sovereign's Command, declared the Duke of Leeds duly elected.

Upon which Garter and Black Rod were sent to introduce his Grace, who being brought to the Door of the Chapter-Room, was there received by the Dukes of Kingston and Portland the Junior Knights, and conducted by them to the Sovereign with the accustomed Reverences; Garter carrying on a Velvet Cushion, the Garter and George hanging to a Blue Ribbond, did upon his Knee present the Garter to the Sovereign, who gave it to his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, and the Duke of Dorset, the two Senior Companions, which they buckled about his Grace's Left Leg, whilst the Chancellor read the Admonition enjoyned by the Statutes; and then Garter having with like Reverence presented to the Sovereign the Blue Ribbond and George, His Majesty, assisted by his Royal Highness and the Duke of Dorset, put it over his Grace's Left Shoulder, who was then kneeling, the Chancellor in the mean Time reading the proper Admonition. And his Grace having kissed the Sovereign's Hand, and thanked his Majesty for the great Honour done him, rose up and saluted all the Companions severally, who returned their Congratulations, bowed to his Royal Highness, and withdrew.

Then his Grace the Duke of Bedford, and the Right Hon. the Earls of Albemarle and Granville were elected, and received the Ensigns of the Order in like Manner, and withdrew.

Garter then called over the Names of the Knights Companions, and the Procession was made back in the Manner before described, save only that the Chancellor and Black Rod went in their proper Places.

Garter then was commanded to bring in his Grace the Duke of Leeds, who being introduced by Garter, knelt down before the Sovereign, and being knighted with the sword of State retired; and the Third Garter being collected by the Chancellor, and delivered to the Sovereign in the former Manner, the Chancellor by the Sovereign's Command, declared the Duke of Leeds duly elected.

Upon which Garter and Black Rod were sent to introduce his Grace, who being brought to the Door of the Chapter-Room, was there received by the Bishops of Exeter and London, the Junior Knights, and Garter carrying on a Velvet Cushion, the Garter and George hanging to a Blue Ribbon, did upon his Knee present the Garter to the Sovereign, who gave it to his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, and the Duke of York, the two Senior Companions, which they buckled about his Grace's Left Leg; whilst the Chancellor read the Addition enjoyed by the Statutes; and then Garter having with like Reverence presented to the Sovereign the Blue Ribbon and George, His Majesty, assisted by his Royal Highness and the Duke of Devon, put it over his Grace's Left Shoulder, who was then kneeling, the Chancellor in the mean Time reading the proper Addition. And his Grace having kissed the Sovereign's Hand, and thanked his Majesty for the great Honour done him, rose up and saluted all the Companions severally, who returned their Congratulations, bowed to his Royal Highness, and withdrew.

Then his Grace the Duke of Bedford, and the Right Hon. the Earls of Albemarle and Granville, were elected, and received the Banners of the Order in like Manner, and withdrew.

Garter then called over the Names of the Knights Companions, and the Procession was made back in the Manner before described, save only that the Chancellor and Black Rod went in their proper Places.
